War Between Reflex, Reason, Assails Man

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"Hypocrisy," said La Rochefoucauld a long time ago, "is the homage that vice pays to virtue." And so it is with language — for the very groups which are the most ruthless in their acts are also the most devious in their speech.

Totalitarian governments do not "kill" dissenters and heretics; they "liquidate" them. Goering did not speak of "gassing" the German Jews; he spoke of "the final solution" to the Jewish problem.

The fine art of double-talk has been raised to the ultimate degree by modern communist and fascist governments; and the more vicious their practices the more they seem to feel the need to use the soft word.

If one carefully examines a speech by a totalitarian official, it will be filled with words like "truth," "peace," "liberty," and "the will of the people." And the more vicious their practices, the more they will use these words, in further examination, turn out to mean something quite different, and much uglier, than their accepted definition.

"Truth" means the dogma of the ruling clique; "peace" means acquiescence in the party line; "liberty" means the right to stir up sedition; "the will of the people" means exactly nothing.

In a sense, such euphemisms are customary in all diplomatic and political negotiations; but the unconscious sense of guilt that seems to haunt the totalitarians compels them to find the most tortuous and abstract phrasing to conceal their grim and slippery state of mind.

We find this same psychological tendency among criminals: the more heinous the crime, the more reluctant they are to call it by its proper name. A thief will cheerfully admit he is a thief — a burglar, a pickpocket, a safe-cracker.

But a killer is never called a killer, by himself or by his own associates. There are a dozen euphemisms for this, the currently most popular being "hit." A man who is murdered is "hit" by a "hitter." Some nagging vestigial conscience prevents even the professional murderer from uttering the true name of his occupation.

The victim, the dead, the more the need to dress it in taffeta phrases. An aggressor never goes to "war"; he defends the boundaries of the father-land," or he "takes preventive action." Likewise, it is the sinful enemy who "brainwash" our soldiers; what we do is "indoctrinate" theirs.

The more a person has to conceal and the more he is ashamed of — whether he is aware of his shame or not — the more repressing becomes his need to find another word for the right one, the plain one, the true one. Simplicity of speech is always the enemy of injustice.

So-Called 'Pep Pills' Can Be Habit-Forming

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband started taking so-called vitamin "pep pills" two years ago under a doctor's advice. He was then working very long hours.

He no longer is employed by that company but he still takes four and five of the things at a time.

He says his body feels as if he is burning up. He has no desire for food and is so thin he looks like walking death.

What can I do to make him stop taking the pills? I just know they are slowly killing him. — Mrs. P.W.

The pills you mention contain some vitamins but more important they contain one of the amphetamine of "pep" drugs, plus a barbiturate which can be habit-forming.

If he is taking four and five at a time, he most certainly is not following instructions. Under a doctor's supervision, the recommendation is usually two and occasionally three a day, so he is obviously stuffing himself with more than the intended amount, and this is the typical walking example of the reason why these drugs should not be taken under supervision, if they should be taken at all.

It would not surprise me if some additional medication is required now to help him over the period of breaking the habit, but break it he must, or collapse sooner or later.

The amphetamine content suppresses his appetite and gives him false pep — false because he is using up his reserves of energy without replacing them.

These pills were contrived originally for people on reducing diets. They slow the appetite, provide some vitamins, and a sedative to help take the edge off the "pep" part of the mixture.

If the correct amount isn't used — and this may vary from one person to another — and if correct diet isn't observed, and if the pills aren't stopped after a short time, the result can be considerably harmful.

That's why I repeatedly caution against the use of drugs to reduce, and sanction them only under medical supervision.

In today's sad case, your husband must have a cut loose entirely from medical care. I doubt that anything can be done to help you get him back into the hands of his doctor. Since he is gobbling the pills at such a rate, he appears to have lost all perspective of what is happening to him.

Dear Dr. Molner: What does it mean to see colored halos around street lights at night? Might it be a sign of glaucoma that can cause blindness? — R.S.

In few words, yes, it might. It also might not. Have your eyes checked! One visit will determine whether you have any trouble.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does milk devour Vitamin A? That is, is it possible to take Vitamin A if you are going to drink a quart of milk? — Donald M.

No, sir, milk does not "devour" Vitamin A. Milk contains it. (Other sources are butter, fat, yellow vegetables.)

If you drink a quart of milk a day, and also get reasonable amounts of foods containing Vitamin A, you need have no fear of itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Chicago Tribune Syndicate, P.O. Box 138, Dundee, Ill., requesting a copy of the booklet, "Rectal Pain — Cure Few Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope and 25c in coin to cover printing and handling.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

This month's hunting and fishing outdoor magazines are on the news stands, and all of them devote many of their pages to what they call camping.

The word camping has come to have an entirely new meaning in recent years. It means having a trailer, or a hitch-on mechanical device to which you pack a patent tent, a gas stove, a TV, a portable ice box and so on — that all the comforts of home. Thus equipped, you go camping to one of the established camp sites which both government and private enterprise are establishing all over the country. There you are allotted, for a small sum, a space for your car and trailer or boat. Water is laid on; and often electricity, into which you plug your TV and other camping appliances. And around you, cheek by jowl, are scores or hundreds of other campers, and you have a lovely time, a camp meeting, so to speak, without the hymns.

What camping used to mean was a canoe trip, and the canoe laden with the kit you could carry on portages. The only equipment you carried over portages. But you kept on until you found a place where nobody had ever camped before, and from which you devoutly hoped you would see nobody, not even a mile away. A whole week.

Joel Aldred Wants to Run In St. Paul's

OTTAWA (CP)—Joel Aldred, broadcaster and businessman, announced Thursday his intention to seek the Progressive Conservative nomination in Toronto St. Paul's.

He made the announcement in a statement following meetings with Conservative party officials here.

The riding was represented in the last Parliament by Liberal Ian G. Wahn, a lawyer who defeated former Speaker Roland Michener in the 1962 federal general election.

In Toronto, H. W. Bigger, second vice-president of the St. Paul's Progressive Conservative Association, said the association does not want anyone foisted on it. He emphasized that he was expressing the view of all officers.

Mr. Bigger said the date for the nominating convention was set more than a year ago, long before Mr. Aldred's name came up. He added Mr. Aldred's announcement suggested that a convention would be held only because he was ready to stand for nomination.

The names of several other candidates have been put forward to association officers.

"St. Paul's has plenty of good material" he added. "We want the best to replace Mr. Michener."

Claims Accused Not in Area Night of Slaying

KITCHENER (CP) — Owen McCusker, a 28-year-old Waterloo tinsmith charged with capital murder in the strangulation death of a night watchman July 31, was in Hamilton area all day Aug. 1, a witness told an Ontario Supreme Court jury here Thursday.

Mrs. Edward Hanlon of Boston, a sister of Mrs. Henry McCusker, aunt of the accused, said that at about 8:30 p.m. Aug. 1 she received a phone call from McCusker and with her husband drove to pick him up at a transit station.

She said a taxi driver who is charged with the slaying of John Dowbush, 46, "did not appear to be drunk at all" and had no visible injuries.

She said McCusker had been in the Hanlon home all day trying to locate his uncle's home which is only two houses away from the Hanlon's.

McCusker, she said, told them he had travelled from Albany, N.Y., by bus after having car trouble at that point. Evidence has indicated Dowbush, who was found strangled with a 10-inch piece of nylon cord, died about 11 p.m. July 31 at the Mansfield Precision Equipment plant in Waterloo.

The trial continues.

Egypt and Syria Compete For Favor of Iraq Regime

BAGHDAD (Reuters) — Iraq's week - old revolutionary government today received fresh backing from Egypt as Syria spoke of setting up a Syrian-Iraqi federation.

Cairo's authoritative newspaper Al Ahram says President Nasser of the United Arab Republic demanded that all Egyptian efforts "be directed to consolidate support for Iraq's revolution."

An article by Al Ahram Editor Hassanein Heykal says Nasser decided to support Iraq's revolution 15 minutes after its first announcement "whatever its motives" since it was not instigated by the United States, Britain, Communism or reaction.

In Damascus, Syrian Foreign Minister Adal Mahasin said the sudden military uprising overthrowing the regime of executed Premier Abdel Karim Kassem had removed all obstacles to a federation of Iraq and Syria, which his government was willing to set up.

Mahasin said such a federation could be a "nucleus and model for a pan-Arab federation comprising all Arab countries."

Syria joined Egypt in the U.A.R., Feb. 1, 1958, but seceded from it Sept. 28, 1961.

MOSCOW ISN'T HAPPY

(An unfavorable reaction to the Iraqi coup came from Moscow where the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda said the Soviet people were "deeply concerned over the wave of terror and persecution of Iraqi democrats."

(Pravda said in an editorial sinister forces were trying to "physically annihilate the most devoted defenders of the interests of the Iraqi people; the most consistent fighters for the happiness of the Arab peoples.").

Moscow radio said Thursday the Communist quarter of Baghdad as soldiers rounded up Communists. Communists were being removed rapidly from influential positions in schools, universities and government ministries.

Meanwhile, observers noted the Iraqi government statement favoring "links with other Arab states still under imperialism." It was thought this might herald a new wave of pro-Nasser activity in the Middle East.

Iraq's new president, Col. Abdul Salam Arif, who spoke of the links, also hit out at "imperialist - dominated states." It was thought this meat could be aimed at Jordan and Saudi Arabia.

President Romulo Betancourt ordered an all-out effort to intercept the hijackers, identified as nine members of the Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN), a Communist organization with links to Fidel Castro's regime. Betancourt called on friendly nations in the area to help.

The Communists boasted of seizing the freighter Wednesday to dramatize their fight against Betancourt and his efforts to call off a trip to Washington next week for talks with President Kennedy. The president showed no inclination to cancel his trip even though the sea action was accompanied by mounting terrorism in Caracas and other Venezuelan cities.

CALLS HIJACKERS PIRATES

Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez called the hijackers pirates and said all nations under international law are obligated to help capture them. He ordered a reported broadcast offer by the hijackers to trade the captain of the Anzoategui and his crew of 25 for parties for imprisoned Venezuelan terrorists.

"This ridiculous propaganda because they have to surrender the ship eventually," he said.

The U.S. Coast Guard picked up a radio message from the freighter Thursday night which said:

"Crew is well. Officers and men under arrest. All are well."

Kinsmen Club Here to Mark 30th Birthday Monday Eve

The week of February 18th to February 23rd, Kinsmen Clubs all across the Dominion of Canada will be observing National Kin Week.

On Monday, Feb. 18, the Belleville Kinsmen Club will be celebrating its 30th anniversary. Special guests who will be present for the occasion will include Mayor A. M. Haig, Zone 1 President, Walter Bellon; Deputy-Governor for District 6, Zone 1, Kenneth G. Thompson and guest speaker L. C. Lawson from the Aluminum Co. of Canada, Kingston and invitations have been extended to the presidents of all other service clubs in Belleville.

During 1933 times were hard, in the midst of a depression the thoughts of many men were on what they could do to help their fellow man.

Jim Norris of the Ottawa Kinsmen Club, who, while enjoying the fellowship of his club members, and the work they were doing to help others, decided that a Kinsmen organization must expand. Having a brother, Jack Norris, working in Belleville, he started the logical place to form a new club.

And so it began with Jim Norris and Percy Doherty, contact in Belleville and talking to men like Bill McIntosh, first president of the Belleville Kinsmen Club. After several dinner meetings and a "get together", the club was finally chartered early in 1934.

30 CHARTER MEMBERS

Money was tight in those days and one of the first projects, both to raise money and public line the club, was a play, but such is not the case. The members have had a ball with the fun of working together; such as the shows which were put on during the 30's. There was just one other way in which the club raised money to support projects.

Last year the club sponsored a show, South Pacific staged by the Kingston Club, which played in Belleville for one day. This year the club plans to stage a similar show to Belleville for a two-day showing.

The club is still active in the eye glasses campaign and they are still selling light bulbs, a yearly project.

It is expected nearly one hundred members and their wives and special guests will attend the dinner-dance on Monday evening for this gala occasion.

Gourmet Foods Are for You

Cookbook No. 12—Recipe No. 2

THE GOURMET FOODS COOKBOOK

Food which is perfectly prepared and served testifies to the imagination and artistry of the hostess. Gourmet foods, foods which evoke that special flavor and aroma, are not the exclusive property of professionals. The new Ontario Intelligencer's Cookbook, Gourmet Foods is the answer to the housewife's dream — how to create new and exciting meals. The secret is the simple step-by-step method of explanation, plus an honest respect for fundamental principles tempered by good taste.

RICE WITH MUSHROOMS

Set out a medium-size skillet. Bring to a boiling in a small saucepan 3 cups water and 1 teaspoon salt. Meanwhile, wash in a colander or sieve 1 cup wild or regular rice.

Add rice gradually to water so that boiling will not stop. Boil rapidly, covered, 20 to 40 minutes, or until a kernel of rice is entirely tender when pressed between fingers. Drain rice in a colander or sieve. If necessary, keep rice warm by placing colander over hot water and covering with a folded towel.

While rice is cooking, clean and slice ½ lb. mushrooms. Heat in skillet ¼ cup butter and add mushrooms with 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion.

Cook slowly, occasionally turning and moving gently with a spoon until mushrooms are lightly browned. Remove from heat and reserve about ¼ cup mushrooms, onions, rice and 1-3 cup melted butter.

Toss gently until mushrooms and butter are evenly distributed throughout rice. Turn hot mixture into a warm serving dish and garnish with the reserved mushrooms.

For serving meals with a flair, Gourmet Foods is a good compare.

CNRA Ladies' Aux. Presents Hilarious Skit

On Tuesday, the CNRA ladies treated their husbands to a steak dinner on the occasion of their 15th anniversary, at Club Canara, with approximately 100 attending.

The main auditorium was attractively decorated with cupids and hearts, while the tables looked radiant with white damask cloths, floral arrangement of red and white roses, flanked by candelabra with red and white candles.

The entertainment was arranged by the ladies' executive and members of the auxiliary, which was in the form of a skit to choose "Miss Calorie Queen of Club Canara." Those taking part chose a name for themselves and wore the name on a ribbon throughout the performance.

CONTESTANTS

Contestants were: Peggy Ronsky as (Miss Steak); Ebonie Mattis as (Miss Bar Glass); Vera Reynolds as (Miss Turkey Cutter); Mabel Galbraith as (Miss Lotta Fat); Gladys Fitzgerald acted as commentator.

Special guest was Mr. Jack Fitzgerald as (Mr. Low Calorie of 1963), also as Mr. Atlas of 1963).

Each contestant entered in turn wearing bathing suits of bygone years, along with "Mr. Atlas" (J. Fitzgerald), in his bathing suit of way back.

The group all sang a chorus of "By the Sea" and danced off stage.

Secondly came the time for talent which was strictly amateur. The participants entered in a costume suited for their particular act. There was a tap dance by Miss Bar Glass (R. Mattis); reading by Miss Turkey Cutter (V. Reynolds); Charleston dance by Miss Steak (P. Ronsky) vocal selection by Miss Lotta Fat (M. Galbraith), which proved to be hilarious to the end.

Special guest, Mr. J. Fitzgerald as "Miss Low Calorie", favored with two Pearl Bailey selections in pantomime, dressed in a white satin gown trimmed with rhinestones, which caused some side splitting reaction on the part of the guests.

Lastly, the contestants appeared one-by-one wearing formal gowns and stood to wait the decision of the judges.

MISS LOTTA FAT

After some thought, the decision was handed to Mrs. Alice Storms, result being that "Miss Lotta Fat" was chosen to be "Miss Calorie Queen, 1963, of Club Canara."

Immediately a crown was placed upon her head and a dozen (artifical) red roses presented. Lotta became overwhelmed while everyone congratulated her.

The remainder of the evening was spent dancing, everyone agreed this was indeed a splendid evening.

Mrs. Alice Storms, president of the auxiliary, was in charge of wardrobe by designing and making the costumes worn in the skit. Mrs. Margaret Campbell played the background music.

The judges for the contest were: Mr. Bill Adams, Mr. Bill Smith, Mr. Cy Long and Mr. Herbert Barragar.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

Question: We live in the country and, when it snows, my husband often has trouble getting to the station. If the car won't start or he can't get it out of the garage because of ice on the ground, he then has to ask a neighbor to give him a lift in his jeep. The man is employed locally and his firm is located near the station anyway, so he doesn't have to go out of his way. My problem, though, is this: Another neighbor, I've discovered, goes to the station every morning in the jeep and pays the man who drives a weekly rate. Do you think my husband should offer to pay when he asks for a lift? I've always thought of it as one neighbor doing another a good turn, but this arrangement puts a new light on things. What do you suggest? — Mrs. M.B., Mount Kisco, N.Y.

Answer: Your husband isn't a steady passenger, so, regardless of what the other arrangement might be, I don't think your husband is obliged to pay it. Neighbors are always doing favors for each other in the country, so I'd keep it on that basis. Your good neighbor might very well feel insulted if a "tip" were offered in return for a lift. Someday you might be called upon for a reciprocal favor. In the meantime, your husband might show his appreciation with an occasional gift, such as a bottle of liquor, a box of cigars or tickets to some sports event the man might like to attend.

Question: When I serve breakfast style, I'm not quite sure how the flatware should be arranged. To serve, say, on occasion, I'll put all the forks together with the tines one on top of the other and the knives spread out fan shape. Can you suggest an arrangement that would be more suitable? — Mrs. H.R., Boston, Mass.

Answer: I'm not in favor of piling the silverware as you describe. It's not the most attractive arrangement, and there's always the danger that a guest might pick a handle attached to a level on the bottom of the heap and send the pyramid crashing to the floor. At a luncheon or dinner the most practical arrangement is to place a knife and fork atop a folded napkin at the guest can pick up everything at once when he's finished filling his plate.

Question: My grandson is six years old and normally well-behaved. When company is around, he sometimes puts up a little by interrupting at times and trying to show off, which I don't think is any great harm. But when this happens, my daughter-in-law bawls him out in front of everyone and sometimes gives him a slap. I don't think this is the polite way to do in public, since it is an embarrassing experience both for the child and the guests. Good discipline should be maintained at all times, but I think it would be more considerate of everyone if she chastised him in private instead of in full view of everyone. — Mrs. H.B., Chicago, Ill.

Answer: I agree. When a child acts up in front of guests, it's more polite to take him out of the room to remind him of his manners than to scold him publicly. This saves guests from what is usually a one-sided spectacle. It protects the child's feelings, too. Most youngsters are extremely sensitive to disapproval. Being dressed down so impolitely in front of others can be very humiliating. A quiet conference is much more effective, since it gives the child time to simmer down and he usually bounces back better-behaved and in much better humor than if he had been publicly chastised.

Question: My fiance and I have broken our engagement by mutual consent. When it was announced, my parents gave a large party and invited all of our relatives and friends, some of whom live out of town. I'd like to notify them in some way that the engagement is off, so they won't be expecting invitations to the wedding which are to have been in a few months. Would it be proper to send some sort of formal announcement? I don't feel like writing everyone a personal note giving reasons. — M.D., New Haven, Conn.

Answer: If the engagement was announced in the newspaper, a brief notice saying it has been broken may be sent to the same papers by you or parents. An engraved notice to friends would be improper and in bad taste. Personal notes may be sent, but it's not necessary in view of previous why you decided to cancel the engagement.

Canadian Fashion & Fad

BY pegg rogers

IT TAKES ALL KINDS

There are moments, in the world of fashion, when the ridiculous triumphs over the sublime. Fashion is such a lucrative business that it draws all sorts of people, from artistic dreamers to cold-eyed fledgling tycoons. A good percentage of both types manage to survive financially, within its hectic confines. The very differences of these many kinds of personalities, all in one field of endeavour, often produce a comic opera effect.

The manufacturing milliners in Canada are, for the most part, the founding-owners of their firms. They are well-groomed and well-mannered. Their wives, if any, are equally pillar of this industry, attired in the conventional chemise-suit, silk to second with tie-back, puffing on a good cigar. The scene is a busy, buzzing office. The factory floor has just remarked on the head size of a wide-brimmed, pink, straw hat, the workers agree with velvet ribbons and a large rose.

Question a manufacturer about the head size of one of his hats and he will immediately illustrate that this particular chapeau fits superbly — he places it on his own head and stares reproachfully, at the questioner! The mark of the professional milliner is that the absolutely blank return stare, with not a quiver of an eyelash to show his inward laughter, which inevitably wells up inside her. This is a serious business discussion which must not be interrupted by levity.

Maida U. — Now that his job has ended, she has no use for him.

Mrs. G.U. — Now I realize what a dull stupid fellow he is.

Maida U. — Late in life my brother was fortunate enough to marry a spinster of 55. He was a travelling man, running errands all over the continent for his firm, but he was nearing retirement age and he wanted to settle down. As for her, she just wanted to have her name changed, so it was a case of "Me and a wedding ring. Because, as it turns out, she acts as though she can't stand having him around!

It hurts me to see what lies ahead for my brother-in-law. The Council can tell my sister-in-law a thing or two on what marriage means and how to treat a husband.

Mrs. G.U. — When a woman my age changes the whole pattern of her life and expects it to be a big improvement, else she'd leave matters as is. The poor fool has retired my husband painted a glorious picture for me. He had friends all over the world, he said, and if I married him we'd be companions on interesting trips. Now that I've given my home to rest up in, in between trips, he was tired of furnished rooms. He said he didn't want to move-in with his sister.

While he continued to work, I went ahead with my end of the bargain. We were married and he moved into my apartment. And that's all. He has no friends, that was a lie, and he just sits around. Now that I have such a steady diet of his company I realize how empty and boring he really is.

The Council: Anyone would resent the continuous presence of a man who resembles another log of wood in front of the fire place. Only he doesn't burn. His wife does!

It's obvious that each of these middle-age "contractors threw a bit of sand in the other one's eyes, in the form of little white lies. To get what each wanted, she a "home" and he a "home port," they portrayed selves which just didn't, and it still don't, exist. Sister Council only has eyes for Mrs. U.'s defalcations on the account. But obviously Mr. U. "overdrew" too. He hasn't all those interesting friends, nor any yen to go places and do things. He's set and just wants to stay "set." Or does he? Maybe he just wants to be drawn out. It seems impossible that a man who has spent most of his life travelling can really be as uninteresting as Mrs. U. paints him. Certainly he knows some geography, has struck up conversations with the colorful people, has had unusual adventures. If only from missing a train! And there must have been "moments of glory," when it was he who turned up in the nick. But sensing his wife's general displeasure with his return, he gives up his life's claims up now. With a what's-the-use shrug, he gives up.

Maida U. — Maybe I'm a fool Mrs. U. is unfair to give up like she does. She must realize that her job is to bring out the "best" in Mr. U. Cruelly she says he has no "best". Actually he may be suffering a paralysis of despair by the time he's retired. He has been between his former active life and the "wasteland" of retirement. She dismisses him as a "bore" his wife never really knew him, and now, rather than bother, she dismisses him as a "bore."

If Mrs. U. has any humanity in her, never mind love, she will turn to this man and uncover, one by one, his fine qualities to appreciate. She will give him the confidence to enjoy his well post-retirement activities, either as volunteer or paid worker outside the home. Mr. U. isn't dead. With some warmth from Mrs. U., he'll glow.

Other Nations Follow Our Stamp Policy

BY ZENA CHERRY

Note from the Hon. Ellen Fairclough, our Postmaster General

"For some years the most frequently voiced criticism of the Canada Post Office by stamp collectors was that the department issued too few special and commemorative stamps. Critics claimed this has always felt and still feels that for a postage stamp to be of any real value it must be issued in short supply for the carriage of mail — not as a revenue-producing gimmick.

At last the wheel has turned full circle.

The philatelic press has recently carried articles severely criticizing some special administrations for indiscriminate issuing of frivolous special stamps and even the fact that Canada has never fallen into this attitude.

Now the Canada Post Office is the fair-haired one, exemplifying integrity and discipline. The despicables are those left wearing a halo, but it has gotten rid of the horns and tail.

The following has just announced it is reducing the number of special and commemorative stamps issued each year — represents only issues of real and lasting interest.

Canada for this year, as well as bringing out the remaining commemoratives for the late Queen Elizabeth series (2nd of May, 2c and 3c) the Canada Post Office announces 11 stamp production is as follows:

5th of March, Sir Casimir Gzowski for the centenary of the great Polish-Canadian builders of this country (the Grand Trunk Railway, the international bridge at Niagara and widening of the Welland Canal).

14th June, $1.00 regular issue, Export.

19th July, Sir Martin Frobisher who gave his name to a great bay in Canada.

23rd August, Presentation of post offices at Quebec, Montreal and Three Rivers.

30th September, the regular issue, Canada Geese; picturing a flight of Canada geese on the wing.

The department is considering ; but please, only considering . . . the possibility of producing a series of stamps featuring flowers of the various provinces. Such a series would probably come out during

Question: I wonder if you have in your files directions for how to cook tongues? Some years ago, in a select French restaurant in Montreal, I was served a most delectable dish of boiled beef tongue with a special "sauce piquante" containing sliced mushrooms, some sort of wine and various herbs. I would appreciate such a recipe. — Mrs. W. N.

Answer:

MUSHROOM SAUCE

(for beef, tongue and egg dishes)

Saute ¼ lb. washed and sliced mushrooms, 1 teaspoon chopped onion and 2 tablespoons chopped parsley in 6 tablespoons butter until tender but not brown. Stir in 4 tablespoons flour until blended. Now stir in 1¼ cups chicken broth (or broth from boiling tongue if not too salty). ½ cup table cream and ½ cup cooking sherry until thick. Add chicken bouillon cube, ½ teaspoon salt and, if desired, ½ teaspoon paprika and ½ clove garlic chopped. Stir over low heat until bouillon cube is dissolved. Delicious.

Top with Cherry Sauce: Drain 1 can Bing cherries. Pit them. Reserve juice. Add 1 tablespoon grated orange rind. Heat. Mix ½ cup sugar with 1 tablespoon cornstarch and stir into heated cherries and juice until thick stirring constantly. Cook over low heat, stirring 5 minutes. ## Teen-Age Canada

Would Rather Be English Teacher Than An Actress

By JACK HUTTON

Canada's latest film star is a quick-to-smile 18-year-old girl already seen in a 30-minute film by thousands of Canadian high school students.

But Jacqueline McCall, a Grade 13 student, has not the smallest desire to become an actress.

"I want to be an English teacher," Jacqueline told me firmly this week as we chatted about the film "Right From the Start" which has also been seen by a great number of American teenagers.

The film, believed to be the first of its kind produced in Canada, is based on the driver-training instruction given after school hours at Jacqueline's school, Weston Collegiate.

Professional actors took the parts of the driving instructor, the high school principal, a garage attendant and the school board chairman. But the students, including Kim Gate, Victor Dusty and Gordon Moore, all played themselves.

The movie, Jacqueline told me, was finished last summer. "We worked on it after school hours for about one month," she said. "Then we spent one day each at places like a garage and an automobile plant."

So far it's been seen by teenage and adult audiences in most of Canada's provinces, in Washington, D.C., Florida, Illinois and Michigan. It's a safe bet that many of this column's readers have either seen the film—or soon will.

What about the instruction, I asked Jacqueline. Does classroom instruction actually help a teen-age driver, or do teenagers who learn from friends or their family do just as well?

"Oh, I think the instruction definitely helps," Jacqueline insisted. "You learn a lot about the car itself. I'd still call a garage if my car broke down, but I understand more about the brakes and other important items."

Maybe becoming too interested in cars is more of a hindrance than a help to some teenagers, I suggested. Surveys tell us so every so often.

"I don't think it's possible to generalize like that, at least from my own experience," said Jacqueline. "I know quite a few dents who own cars, and poor students who can't drive."

But teen-agers who complain that they don't get the family car often enough are usually the ones who don't treat the car with respect. If they do borrow the family car, the family usually recognizes this.

"From what I've seen, a student who has had driver-training from good instructors respects the car. I hope this includes keeping the car from dominating his or her spare time."

How does it feel to sit back and watch yourself move and speak on the screen?

"It's the eeriest feeling," Jacqueline admitted. "For one thing, they used fifteen lenses for the movie cameras, and we all look as though we had great summer tans."

And it's quite different than looking at yourself in a mirror, Miguoh, you think, is that really the way I look and act? It's almost like watching a different person. Sometimes you grow up there."

But feelings like this have not prevented Jacqueline from a variety of hobbies that would tax many teen-agers. She is active in sports, her school yearbook, and will soon be seen by her schoolmates in a play called "Voices of Desire."

"It's quite a change," said Jacqueline. "The play is about a group of Americans visiting Paris, and I'm an ill-tempered and unwilling sister who breaks up a romance that my sister is having with a Frenchman. I'm not very nice at all."

This estimate, of course, does not ring true at all with Jacqueline's school friends who would call her anything but "conniving and ill-tempered."

Maybe this just proves more than anything else what a good actress Jacqueline is — even though she will someday be an equally good English teacher.

SINGING STUDENTS

What chance would you have of singing your way through college?

The answer is that you probably wouldn't do anywhere near as well as five fellows from Montreal who are literally earning their way through college with their voices.

Eighteen-year-old Jacqueline McCall has had a taste of being a movie picture star, but decided she would rather study to become an English teacher.

It all started two and one-half years ago for Bob Bouret, Jerry Hill, David Vorsion, Eddy Scott and Henry Roy when they sang folk songs for skiing groups in the Laurentians.

These after-skiing sessions, all very informal, led to professional singing jobs. And, before the boys knew it, they had become a group, earning enough tuition money with their caroling chores.

Last summer they toured Canada and part of the U.S. on a 6,000 mile trip. By now they've become so well-known — especially among the college set — that their group, known as the Newlanders is booked up for three or four months.

Watch for their first record, which features folk songs sung by the fireside of a Quebec skiing lodge.

SHOOTING PUZZLE

My father, who's been a school principal longer than he cares to remember, asked me to solve this "teaser" the other day. How would you do?

Two fathers and two sons went out shooting and each shot a rabbit. When they reported the rabbits home there were three animals. How come?

Give up yet? The answer is that the hunting party included a grandfather, father and son — two fathers and two sons.

That reminds me of the puzzle we've quoted before from the man who looks at a picture and says: "Sisters, brothers I have none, but that man's father is my father's son". Who is the person in the picture?

The answer: his own son.

Successful Living

(A Canadian Social Worker Helps with Human Problems)

Frantic After a Date

DEAR DORIS—I'm seventeen and no one's ever explained anything about sex to me.

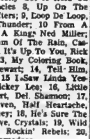
I don't know what got into me the other night when I was out with a boy before this. I could control myself and I knew how to. This time I lost all the power I had. It never occurred to me until the next day that I might be in trouble and since then I've really been worried! If I am, my mother would never understand because she always thinks her daughters never do anything wrong. My father would kick me out.

Please tell me how to find out or what to do. I can't keep my mind on anything else.—FRANTIC.

DEAR FRANTIC—Past generations found sex a topic to avoid. But without knowledge you are clueless about handling the boys and yourself.

There are books about the facts of life to be found in your own library and I am sending you the name of one. But if you are already in trouble, get your regional welfare officer to refer you to a social agency. The worker there can help you think things through.

DEAR DORIS—When I was in my teens I had a very bad case of acne that has left permanent scars. Lately I have read articles about a new surgical process, skin planing. Whenever I bring the subject up to my husband I get the "old wives' tales" routine.



Now I would like to know where I can get information on techniques, costs and specialists.—COMPLEXION BLUES.

DEAR BLUES—Well, this is a new wives' tale, and a true one, thank goodness! Skin planing or dermabrasion is now fairly common. The specialists don't claim 100 percent success, but great improvement. Ask your general hospital to recommend a skin specialist to consult.

DEAR DORIS—My mother and father are having an argument. My mother says brown goes with blue. My father says it doesn't. Who is right? P.S.—My mother has a new blue dress.—MOLLIE.

DEAR MOLLIE—Some shades of brown and blue look super together; some look unreasonable. Suppose you let said Mom and Dad settle it themselves.

is changed, a new Liberal government would put Canada's armed services in a position to discharge fully commitments for Canada by its predecessor. (Toronto speech, Jan. 12, 1963).

"A new Liberal government would make a complete and thorough review of our whole defence policy . . . In this re-examination, one which cannot, of course, be concluded over night and which would require quite ful. consultation with our NATO allies, we should seek a defence role for our country which would be more appropriate for us than our present one and which would enable us to make a more effective contribution to collective security, to our own defence and to defence of peace" (House of Commons, Jan. 25, 1963)

Much emphasis had been placed on conventional forces and such a new might establish that this "may well be the best role." However, "that the results would be, I don't know." (Ottawa press conference, Feb. 12, 1963)

Social Credit

Robert Thompson: "We are unquestionably opposed to offensive nuclear weapons" . . . Social Credit policy does not rule out defensive nuclear weapons for Canadian forces at home or abroad—provided this is based on arrangements with the United States and a "non-partisan parliamentary defence committee."

"If nuclear warheads are considered necessary in light of military necessity and in light of the international situation, in light of the overall picture as it relates to defending our country as part of this continent we will have to look at them when we would have to have them. Personally I am not in a position to know because I am not an expert on these things." (Ottawa press conference, Feb. 14, 1963).

Deputy-Leader Real Caouette: "We of the Social Credit are officially taking no stand on whether it be in Canada or outside the country. We stand in favor of bread and butter, we stand in favor of the hungry people in the world." (House of Commons, Jan. 25)

New Democratic Party

T. C. Douglas: " . . . We need a government which is prepared to pledge itself to a non-nuclear role for Canada so that this country can make its contribution to world peace by strengthening the United Nations, by giving of our personnel and our resources to raise living standards throughout the world." (House of Commons, Feb. 5, 1963) ferences all the facts should be laid before the commission," he argued. "One of the salient facts which I think should be taken into consideration is the vast number of private detectives that were employed by Upper Lakes Shipping and where they were employed."

President J. D. Leitch of the Upper Lakes line, second largest inland shipping line on the Great Lakes, told the inquiry Thursday that his company spent $361,000 on private detectives to protect its ships and crews during what he called "murder incorporated."

Mr. Nuss suggested that the history of labor strife in Canada showed that private detectives were used to commit acts of violence for which unions were blamed.

Mr. Leitch was to continue today under cross-examination by the SIU lawyer.

Sunday School Lesson

Looking Good to God

By ROY L. SMITH

A friend of mine was watching an eccentric creature go down the street, arrayed as one of the old Hebrew prophets might have dressed. He happened to know the man, slightly, and knew that he was a religious fanatic. Following him with eyes that betokened a great pity, he said, half under his breath, "It is very strange, the way some people think they are making God happy when they are making themselves ridiculous."

Deep down inside the soul of every religious man is a desire to make a good impression on God. This is true of the man in the African jungle, with his voodoo charms, as it is also true of the doctor of philosophy in the modern seminary. The question arises, then, how can it be done?

MASTER OF CEREMONIES

There are those among the devotees of all faiths who seem to believe that they can make themselves acceptable in the sight of God by a meticulous observance of ceremonies and ritual.

The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for February 17: "Jesus Calls for Vital Religion," Mark 7:1 through 8:26.

Let there be no mistake about it. Ceremonies in religion have their place exactly as ceremonies in patriotic observances have. They empower to display the American flag with the blue field and stars on the lower side to the left as one goes to offer a careless worship to Almighty God.

The ceremonies for ceremony's sake is as ineffectual in religion as it is in patriotism. There is an old proverb to the effect that "patriotism is the last refuge of scoundrels." And it can be said with equal truth that ceremonialism in religion is the overstretcher in faith as in citizenship.

All of us have known grafters who have used ritual in their praise of the flag, and we have also known crooks who were "orthodox" in their worship.

To be a master of ceremony requires much more than a perfect memory. It needs tact, and a quick response to the "order of worship." These are the things that Jesus called "the outside of the cup."

PROPHETS HAD A WORD FOR IT

The ancient Jews worked the principle of ceremony to the limit. They burned rams by the thousand on their altars, in the belief that if they burned a sufficient number they could satisfy God's demands.

The Jews of Jesus' day were forever washing their hands, in the belief that this would give God the impression of holiness thereby.

The great prophets like Isaiah and Jeremiah warned the nation that burning rams were of no avail if the nation were sinful. And Jesus warned the Jews of His day that what man's heart meant nothing to God if the inner heart was unclean.

This principle still continues to operate to this day. The fact that gives effectiveness to the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, is not the mode in which the wine is administered, but the spirit in which it is accepted.

IT IS AN INSIDE JOB

I happen to know a man who is very insistent upon certain doctrines which have great pride in the fact that he can "argue a man down" on any of the questions in which he so firmly believes. His conversation is liberally sprinkled with quotations, and assertions that sound devout.

Unfortunately, however, he is about the most self-righteous individual with whom I am acquainted. When he talks about religion" with someone who fails to agree with him, he becomes arrogant, dictatorial and mutually abusive. And having had this kind of experience with him, on one occasion, I am well assured that if I have a business deal with him I must read all the fine print.

Piety and righteousness are matters of the inner heart. Somewhere in the Scriptures we are warned that, whereas men take up on the basis of our appearances, "God looketh upon on the heart."

ter union and company officials arrived here Wednesday by plane from Timmins. They lasted until 8:30 a.m Thursday when delegates left for breakfast and a brief sleep. The talks resumed again at 11 a.m. and the agreement was reached at about 9:30 p.m.

Mr. Rownitree circulated constantly among the two six-man teams representing the Sawmill Workers and its parent union, the International Union of Carpenters and Joiners (CLC), and the two affiliated companies, Spruce Falls Power and Paper Company of Kapuskasing and Kimberly-Clark Pulp and Paper Company of Longlac.

APPLAUDS SETTLING

In Kapuskasing, Ross Patterson, an official of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Papermill Workers (CLC) said: "Nothing greater has happened in the North than a settlement in this strike."

Staff Inspector Ralph Taylor, heading a 230-man provincial police detachment moved into the area after Monday's shooting, said he would start reducing strike squads as soon as he receives orders from Attorney-General Fred Cass.

Coulombe surrendered at the home of lawyer Gerard Cloutier who is helping Toronto lawyer Joseph Haffey, 39, to defend the 19 settlers.

The two lawyers drove him to the municipal jail, where he turned himself in to provincial police. He was kept there overnight before being taken to Haileybury to join the other 18 settlers.

Mr. Haffey said he intends to seek bail for the settlers when they appear in court Tuesday. He intended to start selecting other defence lawyers today.

Another 95 strikers charged with rioting surrendered Thursday after 96 burned themselves in Wednesday. Union organizer Raoul Paquin led a group of 46 through the town to the Kapuskasing inn where provincial police have established headquarters.

TAKE TO FARM

All were charged and taken to Monteith, 130 miles south of Kapuskasing, where they will be held until they appear in court Tuesday.

Officials of the Carpenters union said they are still waiting for money sent from the union's international headquarters in Washington to pay $200 bail for each striker.

They said they are prepared to spend up to $50,000.

Police originally charged 227 strikers, but dismissed a charge against one after he convinced them he was not involved in the clash.

They said they intend placing more charges, but were unable to say how many.

Topics this week: Duplicity in the insect world and clues to how memory works.

INSECT CADS

Among balloon flies, continuation of the species is complicated by the fact that the female often eats her mate.

But males of some species developed an answer — they distract the female with an engagement present of food. Some bring a large insect for the female to devour. Others put a small insect inside a wrapping of silk-like threads. Still others get a very small insect inside a very large silk balloon.

But one species of highly sophisticated males plays a trick, giving the female a very large silk balloon, with naught inside it at all. The gift distracts her attention long enough for mating to occur.

This behavior presumably evolved stepwise, from bringing no gift at all to bringing an unwrapped insect, to food in a light wrapping, a small offering in a big package, and then duplicity playing on the female insect's gullibility, says Dr. Andrew J. Meyer-rieks, University of South Florida biologist. He tells the story in a new booklet, Courtship in Animals, published by the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

MYSTERIES OF MEMORY

Evidence is increasing that the basis of memory is a chemical change in cells, possibly involving ribonucleic acid, or RNA.

Some of this intriguing research is being done with flatworms (planaria) by Prof. James V. McConnell of the University of Michigan psychology department.

Flatworms can learn to expect a shock when they see a flash of light, and cringe at the light. When a trained worm is cut in two, both halves develop into full-fledged new flatworms, and each has the same built-in memory of an untrained worm eats an "educated" worm, it learns better than if it had eaten an untrained worm.

McConnell and others are trying to extract RNA and other chemicals from trained worms, to inject into untrained cannibal worms, hoping to determine what causes the transfer of memory. It might be just the RNA.

A Bedside Battle Begins As Human Torch Develops The Will to Live Again

Paul Staples almost lost his will to live after suffering severe burns over 52 per cent of his body. Here, in the second of three articles, is his story of how he fought back to life.

By PAUL STAPLES
Of the SEATTLE TIMES

SEATTLE (AP)—Each hour I lived after suffering burns over 52 per cent of my body in a riding lawnmower accident last June was credit on my account.

Time was on my side, the doctor said. But time was heavy.

The nights were endless. The daylight, what little that seeped through my swollen and dimmed eyes, was brief. And I was cold, always cold.

Shortly after the ambulance delivered me to the hospital, doctors and nurses worked swiftly to help me. I drifted in and out of consciousness. Bad dreams and reality mingled in my mind. At times I was in a hospital room. At other times, I was in a deep tunnel.

A nurse, my conception of an angel, pushed through my bad dreams. A fluid she poured on my blistered body was soothing. I tried to thank her. I imagined I was drifting through cool, white clouds instead of lying naked on my back on a sheet in a hospital room.

CAUGHT ON

An awareness of voices came to me. Both men and women were speaking. They seemed to be coming from the next room. Then a woman's voice struck a pattern. I began to understand.

"117 over 96." She spoke at intervals of what seemed like a minute or so. "114 over 92 . . . 112 over 97 . . ."

They were blood pressure readings. It was my blood pressure and it was going down, down.

Finally, I heard the woman's voice again.

"It seems to be checked, doctor. It's moving up again."

A crisis was over. I slept.

The shadow that was my wife, Alice, leaned near the bed. It was difficult for me to speak. The doctors had inserted a tube in my windpipe from outside the throat.

"You are supposed to go into deep depression," Alice said. "That's what the doctors say will happen if you follow a pattern.

"They told me my job would be tremendous. They said patients are psycho-oper-ative. They refuse to obey doctors' orders. They whine. They fight the nurses."

NO REASON

Alice was reading from notes she had written on the arm of her hospital gown. I did not reply. My thoughts drifted.

My sense of reason was gone. I tried hard to think clearly, but could only conclude I was being mistreated. I wondered why the doctors were keeping me cold by denying me covers. Eventually I relaxed. I could think with more clarity. I worried about the energy I had wasted and the damage I probably had done my right arm in thrashing about the bed. I was lessening my chances for recovery.

Alice and I made a pact. Most doctors had doubted that I would live Together we would make up the difference between life and death.

Alice would get information from the doctors on what I had to do to live. I would do it.

I gasped for air with which to speak.

"So, I'm supposed to go into deep depression!" I asked.

A fit of stubbornness overwhelmed me. My temper flared.

"Like hell I will!" I said.

Company Puts The Twist On Record for Irish --In Gaelic Yet, Be Dad!

By CAROL KENNEDY

DUBLIN (CP)—"Let's twist again," in Gaelic, is the latest inspiration of Gael - Linn, Ireland's restful native - language organization, to popularize the ancient Irish tongue among teen-agers.

Founded and directed by Donall O Morain, a hawk-nosed Dublin barrister of 37, the organization is largely financed by a weekly football pool. Some private donations filter in but mostly the movement runs on faith and a sense of mission.

It operates from a cluster of shabby offices in the smart shopping district of Dublin, with notices in the strange angular script on the doors and secretaries murmuring lilting Irish into the telephones. Its incongruous situation is somewhat symbolic for Gael-Linn workers know they are up against a formidable wall of apathy in the city, plus the pull of more sophisticated influences.

TEEN-AGERS TARGET

Only in the far northwest and southwest corners of Ireland is the native language, sometimes called Erse, still in daily use. Irish schoolchildren have to learn it up to primary level and it is compulsory for some government jobs, but the teenagers are far more interested in keeping up with British and American fashions than in speaking an ancient language.

Despite official billguisism on road names and notices, it's even been known for a Dublin youth not to understand the once - inflammable nationalist slogan Eirin Fein — "Ourselves Alone."

Pop songs in Gaelic are only one way in which Gael-Linn is trying to fire the interest of Irish youth.

Other, more successful ideas have been Irish country dancing on television—"the country's dance-mad," said one executive at Teleifs Eireann—documentary films and newsreels and occasional Irish plays produced in Dublin.

POPULAR SAMPLE

Popular with both critics and public was a translation of J. M. Synge's classic one - act tragedy, Riders to the Sea, played in the Aran Island dialect from which, as one Gael Linn enthusiast explained, "Synge got the rhythms of his English."

The organization is some times thought to have hidden political motives by Irish people who feel the whole issue is out of date anyway, but Donall O Morain maintains its basic aim is to draw the two sections of Ireland together by a common language inheritance, it nothing else.

"No matter how our political or religious opinions may differ, all the Irish people north and south are anxious to maintain their national identity," he says. "This is exactly why we should strengthen the whole basis of our identity—by our language."

UNIFYING MISSION

In a CBC interview broadcast last summer, O Morain stressed this unifying mission. "We must cling to everything which is common ground between Catholic and Protestant, for though Irish nationality is more secure than it was, we still have to work for the unity of the country."

Apart from its cultural activities, Gael-Linn pours much of its income into schemes for developing the desperately poor peasant farming and fishing areas of the western tip of Ireland.

The organization has built factories, quick-freeze plants and boat-building workshops, established market gardens and helped put the barren, pebble-strewn soil of the west coast back into fertile condition.

It also regularly sends schoolchildren down to the Irish-speaking western districts on "Gaeltacht" scholarships and organizes national contests of singing and dancing after the pattern of a small - scale Eisteddfod.

Yaremko Told Last June Not to Issue Any More Race Charters Says Premier

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Robarts told the legislature Thursday that he had told Provincial Secretary John Yaremko last June not to grant any further applications to revive the corporate powers of racing association charters.

The premier said he had investigated the procedures under which old charters for which corporate powers had been forfeited were granted new life by the provincial secretary's department.

New Democratic Party Leader Donald C. MacDonald charged in the legislature Monday that Earl Rowe, named to be the next lieutenant-governor, and his son, Lennox, had falsified an affidavit in 1961 to revive one of several horse-racing charters "strung together" for the Windsor Raceway.

Mr. Robarts said Thursday that his study last spring had shown that the revived procedures were "not a neat and tidy way of dealing with racing charters when other methods are available."

(Racing charters, with pari-mutuel betting rights, can be granted by a special bill in either the provincial legislature or the House of Commons.)

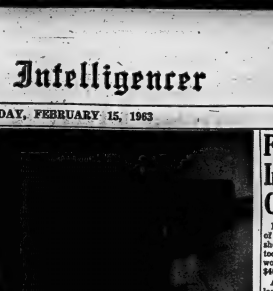
Opposition members asked why the decision to discontinue the revived practice had not been made earlier.

Farquhar Oliver (L — Grey South) said Mr. Robarts had waited "until your Tory cohorts got all they wanted" before stopping the practice. He asked why a public statement had not been made in June.

Mr. Oliver said the decision had been "an administrative matter" and not something to be trumpeted from the rooftops."

He said "no one has proven to me there was anything illegal" about the practice, although it had been a "highly artificial and legalistic procedure."

The premier said he had instructed the attorney-general to investigate Mr. MacDonald's allegations that Mr. Rowe and his son had signed a false statement "after going through a cosmic sperm" procedure of advertising to dead shareholders of one racing charter.



Elmer Sopha (L — Sudbury) said that Mr. Rowe and another former federal Progressive Conservative member, Gordon Baskin, could have obtained the racing charters they sought by having a private bill introduced in the legislature.

"I have no one to," Mr. Sopha said, and instead had old charters, dormant for not filing annual returns, "pulled out" of government files and revived.

Now the practice of revives "is going to be abolished . . . and the Tories have got their charters."

Fifty Tons of Sugar Bought In June Would Show Profit Of $3,920 if Sold Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Fifty tons of sugar bought last June would show a profit of $3,920 if sold today. The deal could have been worked on an outlay of about $400.

A world sugar market that looked sour in June has done a complete turnabout, in part because Cuban cane yields again seem to be falling far short of expectations and severe weather hit European beet sugar crops.

Those who foresaw the change could have backed their prophecies on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, with the results described above.

This isn't unusual for commodity dealings, where speculators can lose their shirts or win fortunes in minutes.

Yet these violent fluctuations directly affect only the handful of long-nerved operatives actively engaged in the commodity trading. There is relatively little impact on the prices of the items that finally make their way to the consumer.

The commodity markets exist for the purpose of insulating the producer, the user and therefore the customer from wild ups and downs in price.

By entering into contracts for future delivery at a specified price, the producer in effect pre-sells his production and the user pre-buys his future supply. It's done through a hedge operation roughly equal to what a bettor does when he cancels out a hometown bet by betting an equal amount on the visiting team.

The grower and user are glad to "cool" the suspense about price. They have financial plans, price lists and investment policies that they would have to await actual delivery.

A second reason housewives feel little effect from sugar futures gyrations is that the wildest swings are taken by the world sugar category, which embraces only about one-tenth of total world production. The rest comes under various long-standing agreements.

Thus, while world sugar futures prices doubled in a year, the price of a five-pound bag of sugar in the U.S. grocery rose only a penny or two to about 58 cents.

LOOK FOR HINTS

The evening-out functions of the commodity markets would not work for sugar, or any other commodity, if it weren't for speculators. Such men, exactly opposite from the producers and users who hedge in commodity markets, hope for wide price swings. That's how they make their money. They watch the weather, including storms of politics and economics, for the tiniest hints which way things will go.

They have no interest in the actual commodity, would have no use or place for the 50 long tons of sugar contracted in each futures contract. They liquidate the contracts long before actual delivery date.

Last June, a futures contract for delivery of 50 long tons March 1963 sold at 2.7 cents a pound or $3,024. The regular trader was needed to put up $400. (The amount has since risen to $750 per contract, under sugar exchange rule changes.)

For that $400, a trader gained a contract that recently was worth $2 cents a pound, or $6,944. The profit on his $400 investment: $2,920.

The contract might have sunk just as dramatically instead of climbing. Futures market trading, it's generally agreed, is not a sport for the faint-hearted.

Indonesia Steps Up Attacks At Malaysian Federation

By CARMAN CUMMING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Indonesia, with a powerful military machine and no one to fight, is casting increasingly hostile barbs at the planned Malaysian federation.

President Sukarno describes the union to the north scheduled to come into effect Aug. 31, a neo-colonialist base in disguise. He has promised political and economic activity against it and has warned his army that "we still have a challenge to face."

The tone of his attacks appear to bear out fears expressed by Indonesian neighbors that Sukarno would need a new external enemy to distract his people from internal difficulties after the abrupt Dutch withdrawal from West New Guinea last fall.

Before then Indonesia had blamed its economic difficulties on the Dutch. Starting in 1961, Sukarno built up powerful armed forces to drive Dutch from West New Guinea.

When the Dutch conceded without a fight, Sukarno was left with a strong air force and navy and a army of some 350,000 men. His government announced that the forces would be kept at strength as a defence against imperialism and to avoid the problems demobilization would create.

This was greeted with considerable uneasiness by neighboring powers, including Australia, which controls the eastern end of New Guinea and Portugal, which shares with Indonesia the island of Timor, West of Java.

Within a month unrest broke out in the three British-controlled territories that share the island of Borneo with Indonesia — Brunei, Sarawak and North Borneo. The three are scheduled to join Malaya and Singapore in the Malaysian grouping.

After the December revolt in Brunei was broken by the British, investigators found that many of the insurgents had been armed and trained in Indonesia. Sukarno, while not giving overt military backing to the rebellion, publicly encouraged it.

Malaya's Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman, driving force behind the federation idea has fought a losing battle to try to maintain relations with Indonesia. His government this week ordered military buildup to meet the Indonesian threat.

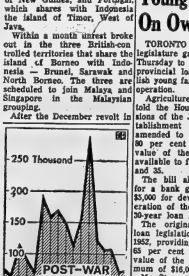
At the root of Sukarno's troubles is the failure of his land of using a population of nearly 100,000,000, composed of dozens of ethnic groups, to stay scattered over some 3,000 islands.

In land area it is nearly as large as Europe. But its strong nature had made it almost impossible to weld it into a cohesive economic and political unit. Despite great resources the standard of living is one of the lowest in Southeast Asia.

Now Indonesian "volunteers" are reported gathering in Singapore to help free the British-held territories. This could lead to a direct clash with British forces that would have far more serious results than the quarrel with the Dutch.

Will Establish Young Farmers On Own Farms

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario legislature gave second reading Thursday to a bill re-instituting provincial loans to help establish young farmers in their own operation.



Agriculture Minister Stewart told the House that the provisions of the Junior Farmer Establishment Act would be amended to make loans up to 80 per cent of the appraised value of the farm or 50 per cent available to farmers between 21 and 35.

The bill also would provide for a bank guarantee of up to $5,000 for development and operation of the farm during the 30-year loan repayment period.

The original junior farmer loan legislation was passed in 1952, providing for loans up to 75 per cent of the appraised value of the farm, or a maximum of $16,000.

Mr. Stewart said the act was suspended in 1959 because "it was thought at that time that the farm credit needs would be completely met through federal loans."

G. Farquhar Oliver, (L—Grey South) said the bill "fills a very wide gap in the farm economy," but "it should have been introduced a number of years ago."

IMMIGRATION CLIMBS — Immigration to Canada rose to 74,586 last year, a slight increase over the 1961 total of 71,689, an 11-year low. Graph trac-ony," but "it should have been c: the flow of immigration since introduced a number of years 1946. (CP Newsmap)

Lumber Industry Asks Changes to Fight Imports

WASHINGTON (CP) — Stung by the United States Tariff Commission's decision on lumber, the U.S. lumber manufacturing industry has called for changes in President Kennedy's Trade Expansion Act to rearm the commission with power to fight competition from rising imports.

"Under the present law, the tariff commission has virtually ceased to exist as an effective agency to which any beleaguered domestic industry or its employees can turn for relief," said Mortimer Doyle, executive vice-president of the U.S. Lumber Manufacturers Association.

In a precedent-setting decision, the commission Thursday unanimously rejected the domestic industry's demands for higher tariffs and import quotas on Canadian softwoods. It also turned away the industry's demand that Canadian lumber be clearly marked with country of origin so that federal agencies could apply "buy American principles" to give domestic producers preference.

This was the biggest tariff case in history and the first under Kennedy's new trade expansion authority. The commission found that the act forbids escape-clause relief for domestic industries unless there is conclusive evidence that the injury claimed resulted "in major part" from U.S. tariff concessions.

FINDS NO EVIDENCE

In the softwoods case, the commission stated there was no such evidence. In fact, the consensus pointed to the U.S. before and after the second World War were so minor that they had only a nominal effect on imports increase. Canada's lumber market in the U.S. has more than doubled in the last decade, rising to some $260,000,000 a year.

Major cause of this rise, said the commission, is the popularity of the Canadian product as well as diminishing U.S. domestic supply and rising American costs. Depreciation of Canada's dollar and lower Canadian shipping rates far outweighed any impact of lower duties on the ability of Canadians to sell in the U.S.

As for marking Canadian lumber with country of origin, this would tend to increase sales in the U.S. rather than reduce them, the commission concluded. Canada softwoods already are stamped that importing them with "Canada" would merely accentuate the swing.

PLANE TOLL RISES

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—The death toll in the collision of a Lebanese airliner and a Turkish military plane over Ankara Feb. 1 rose to 86 Thursday. Two more victims died of injuries. All 17 persons aboard both planes died, and the death toll of those in or around Ulus Square where the planes fell now stands at 78.

Once Had Snakes as Pets, Now Dissects Fly's Brain

When Tom Stovell was a teenager, he brought three snakes home in his pocket. His mother found them the next week, but by then it was too late: he had a permanent interest in herpetology, the study of snakes and all sorts of creepy, crawly things. It was partially this interest that led to his training as a laboratory technician, and to a job with the zoology department at the University of Toronto.

He came to Belleville in 1947 to work at the Entomology Laboratory, as a microscopist. His work now involves such delicate operations as dissecting the brain of a fly and counting chromosomes, but no snakes, though he's few brought to the lab for identification.

People do bring snakes, turtles, frogs and lizards to him for identification, and the animals are often preserved with formalin for his collection. He welcomes the carcasses, but regrets that they are often badly battered by the time they arrive. If it is at all possible Mr. Stovell prefers to have his specimens alive when they are brought to the lab.

People seem to have an unreasoning fear of reptiles, he says, and they are rarely willing to capture them alive. In some areas this is a good policy but not generally in Ontario. Of all the reptiles in the province only the easily identified rattlesnake can seriously harm a man although some turtles can inflict a painful bite. Turtles, however, are easily handled.

Married now, and the father of two children, Mr. Stovell has not been on a collecting trip since his first year in Belleville. He does lecture on reptiles, to Scout troops and similar organizations, but the only snakes he meets face to face are the ones he has preserved at the laboratory. He keeps them there, perhaps, because he remembers what happened the first time he brought a pocketful of snakes home.

"When did we become a nuclear power, Dinty?"

SNAKES ALIVE — At least this one was alive when ten-year-old Brenda Henderson of R.R. 2, Belleville, found it on the living room rug yesterday morning. Her father, Dan Henderson, who holds the remains in the picture, killed it.

Tom Stovell, of the Entomology Laboratory in Belleville, said it was a milk snake, quite harmless. Usually they hibernate during the winter, but if one is inside when the first freeze comes, it will stay there, and stay awake. They often spend the winter in barns, where they earn their keep by killing off mice and young rats. This snake was about 20 inches long and about two years old. If it had not invaded the Henderson house, it might have grown to about three and a half feet, and lived for fifteen years. Now the snake is preserved in formalin at the Entomology Lab.

Negro Girl Gets Apology From Chairman

TORONTO (CP)—A girl who complained she was held by police for three hours, treated rudely and humiliated, has received an apology from C. O. Bick, chairman of the Metro Police Commission.

"This was a regrettable affair," said Mr. Bick in a letter to Bettina Bradley of Willowdale. "All officers concerned have been reprimanded."

Miss Bradley, a Negro, was picked up Jan. 6 as she left work by a motorcycle police man who, she said, insisted she answered the description of a woman who had robbed a man's hotel room.

A CBC script assistant, Miss Bradley said the arresting officer refused to check her identity with the CBC and ignored the fact she differed from the description of the subject.

At police headquarters, she said, she was detained and not allowed to phone her lawyer. And when she was released after 3 a.m., the officer driving her home stopped for a cup of coffee, she said.

In his letter, which followed an investigation by the police commission, Mr. Bick said: "I hope you believe such actions are inconsistent with the policies laid down."

Kennedy Ready to Consider Joining France, Britain For NATO Nuclear Control

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy is ready to consider joining with France and Britain in three - power operational control over a North Atlantic nuclear force if Europe will agree to the idea.

Kennedy told a press conference Thursday he is prepared to discuss the proposal made by Gen. Lauris Norstad if European countries delegate their national security duties to French President de Gaulle or Prime Minister Macmillan.

The U.S. ambassador to Washington T. Merchant, former U.S. ambassador to Canada, will return to Europe in 10 days to continue discussions in detail on development of a multilateral or multinational nuclear force on the basis of the Anglo - American Polaris agreement worked out at Nassau in December.

Merchant has been brought out of retirement for the specific job of attempting to get the multilateral concept that de Gaulle has rejected in favor of creating an independent nuclear force for France.

Kennedy said he hopes to have his full proposals for a multilateral force nailed down in time for the NATO ministerial meeting in Ottawa in May.

WANTS PARTICIPATION

The U.S., he added, is striving to work out ways of increasing European participation in transatlantic nuclear policy and to give Europe a greater sense of assurance that a multilateral force would be used with care in Europe's defence.

He emphasized also that the U.S. has six combat divisions in Europe, a total of 400,000 men and this should provide Europe with ample assurance that defence of Europe is an essential part of American security. There would be no withdrawal of American combat forces unless Europe demanded this and Kennedy said he saw no evidence to believe such a demand would be made.

He might happen, in event of emergency, that a decision to fire nuclear weapons might have to be made in five minutes. Someone had to be delegated with the authority to make that decision.

"If it isn't the president of the United States in the case of the strategic force, it will have to be the president of France or prime minister of Great Britain, or someone else."

The U.S. had carried this burden of responsibility for many years but Kennedy said he could understand why Europe wished to play a greater role and he hopes "we can provide Europe with a more authoritative position."

TO AID RESEARCH

OTTAWA (CP)—The Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation announced Thursday it will award educational grants totalling $32,000 for the academic year 1963-64. The awards are designed to encourage post-graduate studies and research work in housing, community planning and related subjects at Canadian universities.

Parliamentary Notebook

OTTAWA (CP)—The Conservatives under Prime Minister Diefenbaker have travelled full circle in their experiments with boosting the importance of the Senate in the parliamentary life.

Their latest experiment was the appointment of Senator Wallace McCutcheon to one of the most important government portfolios, minister of trade and commerce. Whether it will work will be put to the test only on an if-and-when basis—if the Conservatives win a majority in the April 8 general election, and when the new parliament meets and gets down to work.

Having cabinet ministers with portfolios sitting in the Senate has been a question of controversy in Canada since the turn of the century, but the move is by no means unprecedented.

When the former Liberal government went out of office in 1957 it had Senator W. Ross Macdonald of Brantford, a former Speaker of the Commons, as solicitor-general in the cabinet and as government leader in the Senate. There were a number of senators before him who sat in the cabinet as heads of government departments.

When the Conservatives took power they named the late Senator T. Haig of Winnipeg, a senator since 1945, as government leader and gave him a place at the cabinet table as minister without portfolio.

Senator Haig retired from the leadership and from the cabinet the following year, and Senator Walter Aseltine of Rosetown, Sask., was named government leader. But Senator Aseltine was taken into the cabinet.

This, the government said at the time was a measure of Senate reform, freeing the Conservative members of the upper house from a direct tie to the Diefenbaker government party leader in the red chamber.

Senator Macdonald, Liberal Opposition Leader in 1957, complained on behalf of his followers—who formed the majority in the chamber—that they could not question the government leader as a responsible member of the Conservative administration.

Senator Aseltine retired last year from the government leadership in the upper house and was succeeded by Senator Alfred J. Brooks of Sussex, N.B., former veterans minister in the Diefenbaker government but no longer a member of the cabinet. The Opposition complaints continued.

Now, Senator McCutcheon has been appointed to the key ministry of trade and commerce.

Conservatives are saying this move, assuming it is put into effect after the April 8 election—and all governments work on the assumption they will be re-elected—should strengthen the importance of the upper house.

They are talking also of plans, which they ascribe to Mr. Diefenbaker, of appointing another member of the Senate to the cabinet, with or without a portfolio.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

What with income tax bites and a planned vacation drawing heavily on the private exchequer, financial recuperation is a must for this department this year.

The tracks offer an inducement but there is little hope of the grey-haired "mystery lady" turning up again this year. What I am looking for is a chappie like Charlie Pope, a horse-player of the twenties who had Lady Luck eating out of his hand and bookmakers committing suicide.

Mr. Pope lost $250,000 on the horses, had $600 left, became disgusted, decided to lose all that remained, played a $500 five-horse parlay—and won $1,300,000 one summer afternoon.

Pope was a gambler in more ways than one. He made a million three different times in real estate but shot the profits in other ventures.

Back in 1922 Pope had been tripping to the various race tracks where the jolly old bookmakers welcomed him with open arms and gleefully tossed him for bigger and bigger losses.

Came an afternoon when Pope, attempting to recoup "shot the works" and dropped $42,000. At the time his liquid assets were $42,600. The next day he drew $42,000 and went to the Belmont track to pay off his $42,000 debt. As for the remaining $600 Pope said he would bet $100 on each of the six races—then seek a high-class breadline.

Pope paid off the $42,000 at the track but noticed a filly, Pen Rose, which opened at 6-5, and went to 2-1. "Why," he told a buddy, "should I prolong the agony. I'll bet $500 on Pen Rose."

Pen Rose won and Pope won $1,000. Adding his original $500 he put the $1,500 on Nesp Tide in a steeplechase. The bet was $3,750 to Pope's $1,500. Nesp Tide won and Pope had $5,250.

In the third race Dominique was quoted a 1-2 favorite. Pope bet $5,000 and after the race had $7,500. He couldn't make up his mind on the fourth race, so he flipped a coin. It came tails—and he wagered $7,750 on Thimble at 2-1. Thimble won and Pope's original $500 was now $31,000, excluding drawdowns.

He rang up against a snag in the fifth race and was twiddling his fingers and money when an old negro who used to work for him when he had horses happened along. "Mamuh Pope," he said, "that ole Lord Herbert hawse yuh used t'own has been workin' mahty fine."

Pope's eyes brightened. "Thanks," he said, and with his buddy Bill Halligan helping, he bet $31,000 on Lord Herbert at odds which opened at 4½ to 1 and dropped off to 3-1.

Lord Herbert, a notoriously slow starter, was off last in a distance race. As the horses neared the turn for home, he was so far out of it that Pope gave up hope.

He yelled at Halligan and headed for the track gates. "Come on," he shouted, "let's go on the train so we're sure to get seats, and tonight we'll shoot what I've got in my pocket."

But Halligan was eyeing the field as it roared down the back stretch. It seemed that Lord Herbert was convinced that he had all the pack in front of him—and was tiring of chasing 'em home. So he decided to do something about it.

He moved up, passing the field one by one. He rounded the turn into the home stretch in fourth position. Halligan grabbed Pope. "Don't go," he yelled, "you've still got a chance."

Lord Herbert called on his boilers for the last ounce of steam. He reared into the stretch under the whip, caught the field and raced home the winner by a breath. The bookies owed Mr. Pope $138,500.

Pope had a tip in the sixth race on a two-year-old that never had started. He wanted to bet the entire $138,000 on his horse at 9-1. But the bookies yelled quits. The most he could place was $10,000. The colt finished eighth.

Pope bought ice cream, cake and candy for an orphan's home for a six-week period. Two weeks later he took the balance $127,000 back to the track. Within seven days the bookies had it back—and they've still got it.

North Shore Hockey League

Hibbard-Callow Combines and Belch Construction took one-game leads in their best-of-five Prince Edward North Shore Hockey League semi-finals last night.

The Combines blanked Rosemore Merchants 5-0 while Belch's came from behind to dump Stinson Construction 5-2.

Hibbard-Callow scored three goals in the first period and one in each of the next two against Rosemore. Chuck Kingston played an outstanding game in the Hibbard-Callow nets to earn his shutout.

Larry Westfall scored twice for the winners with Ted Casson and Jack Calnan each getting a goal and assist. Bob Wannamaker fired the other goal.

Stinson's took a 2-0 lead over Belch's in the first period of the other game but Belch's bagged four in the second and one in the third.

Don McNevin paced the winners with two goals while Don Wood and Larry Rowsham each had a goal and assist. Ralph Plante fired the other goal while Doug Hallam drew three assists.

Elgie Currie and Billy Genereaux triggered the Stinson markers.

Second game in both series will be played next Thursday night.

PULLS UPSET

NEW YORK (AP) — Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis pulled the first major upset of the national indoor tennis championships Thursday night by whipping temperamental Manuel Santan of Spain, the No. 2 foreign player, 7-5, 6-3 in a second-round match. Santana, rated one of the three best amateur players in the world, became upset over a line call when Buchholz had set point at 6-5 in the opening set. He put up only token resistance after that.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toe Blake has troubles.

In the last three games his Montreal Canadiens have played in, the National Hockey League's opposing teams have scored three times while Montreal held a man advantage.

In the last two games goalie Jacques Plante, once Blake's pride, has made only 29 saves—and allowed seven goals.

Canadiens managed only one point of a possible four in those games, both against tall - end Boston Bruins.

Thursday night, as the Bruins topped Montreal 2-1, Blake's once-deadly forwards blasted Boston goalie Ed Johnston with 41 shots. But their only goal came on a penalty shot.

Centre Henri Richard, who scored three key goals for Montreal in the two previous games, was forced to leave the game at the end of the first period with a groin injury. It was not known how long he might be out of action.

Meanwhile, Blake has to pay a $200 fine, levied by the NHL for some unkind remarks he made about its officials.

STAY BEHIND LEAFS

The Canadiens woeful showing against Boston cost them a chance to move into second place in the league standings. They now are one point behind Toronto Maple Leafs and six behind the league-leading Chicago Black Hawks.

Boston moved to within two points of fifth-place New York Rangers with the win.

Montreal held a wide edge in the second period while Irv Spencer was sitting out a penalty.

Bruins' penalty killers Jerry Toppazzini and Charlie Burns combined, with Burns grabbing the puck in the Montreal end and whipping a pass to Toppazzini, who blasted a 25-footer through three Montreal defencers.

Bobby Rousseau scored on the penalty shot, at 1:50 of the third period. Jean-Guy Talbot of Montreal was sitting out a major penalty when Rousseau stole the puck from Boston's Doug Mohns, but was grabbed from behind by Murray Oliver as he broke into the clear.

FIRES LOW SHOT

Referee Art Skov immediately awarded the penalty shot and Rousseau beat Johnston with a hard drive into a low corner.

It was the second penalty-shot goal of the season. The other came in Montreal two weeks ago, when Toronto's Red Kelly beat Plante.

The winning goal came from Dean Prentice, traded to Boston recently by the Rangers. It was Prentice's 16th goal of the season and third in four games as a Bruin. He picked a top corner after Plante had gone down to block a drive from Bob Leiter. Six games are scheduled for the weekend. Toronto and New York meet in a home-and-home series, while Chicago is at Montreal and Boston at Detroit Saturday. Montreal goes to Detroit and Boston to Chicago Sunday.

Dean Prentice, Boston Bruins recently acquired winger, who scored the winning goal with less than two minutes to play as Boston edged Montreal Canadiens 2-1.

'Insufficient Support' From Campbell

Powers Quits As NHL Referee

By BRUCE STOVEL

MONTREAL (CP) — Eddie Powers, a National Hockey League referee for seven seasons, resigned Thursday in protest against "insufficient support" from league president Clarence Campbell in fining Montreal coach Toe Blake $200.

Blake was given the fine Wednesday for saying after a Toronto-Montreal game here two weeks ago the officials had done their job as if they had bet on the game's result. Canadiens had lost the story game 5-3.

Powers, who refereed the game, termed the fine "inadequate if one compares this fine with others that have been levied against players, executives and officials for far less offences."

Campbell said tersely: "I have given the fullest possible support to Eddie Powers in this and all other cases."

He said Powers had tendered his resignation to NHL referee-in-chief Carl Voss without a word.

GIVES NO REASON

"Powers just said, 'I'm quitting.' He said he would not specify the reason, and refused to submit anything in writing," said Campbell.

Campbell said $200 was the standard fine for coaches who made remarks judged detrimental to the game. He added he couldn't be expected to "evaluate the exact language and color in each offending statement."

EDDIE POWERS

Powers told reporters: "I feel that the president of the league has not supported me as an official in this incident.

"Also, I feel he hasn't backed the referees in general during past years in a strong enough manner."

Powers then referred to the case of Red Storey, who resigned four years ago after a riotous Montreal - Chicago Stanley Cup playoff game Campbell was quoted after the game as saying he felt Storey had "choked up."

VIEWS NOT CHANGED

"Powers said: "I made a statement at the time of the Red Storey incident that the president of the league was not supporting his officials then.

"Now, after four years, I see no reason to change my views, thus, I have no alternative but to resign my position."

Powers said he has instructed his lawyers to consider instituting immediate legal action against Campbell and Blake.

"I regret having to make this move," he said. "But I see no alternative.

"The job of referee is difficult enough. When you're not supported adequately by the president and the referee-in-chief, it's an impossible one."

Riders Suggest Junior Draft

CFL Annual Starts Today

By PAUL RINSTEAD

HAMILTON (CP)—If Ottawa Rough Riders were looking for hunters and fishermen, they would be happy to scout Manitoulin Island.

But the Riders are looking for potential professional football players—and football is not a popular sport on Manitoulin, an outdoorsman's paradise off the north shore of Lake Huron.

The fact that Eastern Football Conference territorial rights give Ottawa first chance at any player developed on Manitoulin Island fails to impress the Rough Riders.

With this in mind, Rough Rider general manager Red O'Quinn suggested at the EFC annual meeting here Thursday that territorial rights be abolished. He favors a common draft of junior players in the East and Canadian players now attending colleges in the United States.

The Eastern and Western Conferences held their annual meetings Thursday and today, also forces for the annual meeting of the Canadian Football League. The sessions wind up Saturday.

DISCUSS SCHEDULE

The WFC discussed the tricky 1963 schedule, elected a new president and spent some time discussing a suggestion of British Columbia Lions that permanent CFL offices be established in Toronto.

O'Quinn's plans for a junior draft took up most of the EFC's morning schedule and Hamilton Tiger-Cats stole the limelight in the afternoon.

The CFL officials find themselves in a big at-failure Grey Cup games, the Ticats, although they have no control over the weather, feel they have the answer.

The old Hamilton held a civic luncheon for the football officials and made a pitch for the 1963 Grey Cup game, but the bid is expected to be turned down because of a lack of hotel accommodation.

O'Quinn's plea for a draft was backed by three of the four EFC teams, with only Toronto Argonauts against it.

Territorial rights give a team first call on a player in its designated territory. Argonauts have an abundance of strong high school teams within their territory and would be understandably glad about having to share these players with other EFC clubs.

The EFC several years ago split up areas of the eastern provinces for its member teams. Manitoulin Island, which has a high Indian population, was among districts allotted to the Rough Riders.

Barry O'Brien, Rough Rider president, said about the situation Thursday.

"Maybe we should sign Indian Jack Jacobs as a scout and hope he discovers another Jim Thorpe up there," he said.

Jacobs recently resigned as a coach with Montreal Alouettes. Thorpe was a great football player in the United States—and an Indian.

O'Quinn may bring up the Ottawa draft plan at the CFL meeting and has been requested to draft a more detailed proposal for the EFC's annual meeting in June.

The Rough Riders are also pushing for a pre-season training camp for the most promising junior and Canadian-born U.S. college prospects. They feel EFC teams could scout the boys at camp, then hold the draft and invite the draftees to their pro camp. However, O'Quinn says this proposal is not popular with the other clubs.

The Ticats, prompted by the 1962 fiasco at Toronto during which heavy fog resulted in the Grey Cup game being played in two instalments, offered a plan for possible future cup interruptions.

OFFER SUGGESTIONS

These are the suggestions of the Tiger-Cats, who lost 32-27 to Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the fog-bound game:

1. If the game is halted in the first half, the complete game would be played the following day.

2. Should it be halted in the third quarter, the complete second half would be played the next day.

3. Should it be halted in the fourth quarter, as it was last year, with less than 10 minutes remaining to play, a regular overtime period would be played the next day, which includes two 10-minute halves.

If weather conditions should prevent playing the second day, the Hamilton team, backed strongly by the EFC, suggests waiting until both clubs are the game can be completed.

The WFC elected H. W. Barry Manning of Winnipeg as its new president.

Two Share Lead in TucsonOpen

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Jim Ferrier and Don January were tied for the lead with seven-under-par 65s as the Tucson open golf tournament swung into the second round today.

As the round started, 15 golfers were to complete the first round, halted by darkness last night.

They failed to finish because frost on the greens delayed the start more than an hour.

Ferrier's 33-32—65 held up until January brought in his 31-34—65 on the par-72  Witers Country Club course.

Butch Baird had a 67 and was closest to the co-leaders.

Jack Bissegger of Val Morin, que., shot a 37-33—70 and was tied with eight other men.

Jack Nicklaus, pre - tournament favorite, was well back at 76.

The Ralph Hyslop rink of Glanford continued winless but in its second game forced London into an extra end before bowing out 10-8.

Unionville had won both of its opening - day rounds. Toronto dropped third- and fourth-round games, bowing to Ottawa and Hanover.

Americans Want New Trophy

Would Drop Harmsworth In Mid-Ocean

By DAVID SCOTT

WINDSOR, Ont (CP)—The chairman of the Unlimited Race ing Association said Thursday the 40 - year - old Harmsworth speed boat racing trophy should be brought out which it could be skipped back to England would make it possible for several countries to compete at the same time," he said.

Schoenith, 33, said he has driven in every major boat race Power Boat Association, and except the Harmsworth. He chairman of the association which selects the American challenger for the trophy, said in the Harmsworth should be done away with and replaced by another challenge trophy with more flexible rules.

"The officials who controlled the regulations of the race lived in England," he said, "and were so far out of contact with the racing game that they made it very difficult to compete in. "I feel strongly a new trophy

The monthly publication says in the article that Canada stands a good chance this year of losing the Harmsworth, emblematic of world power boat supremacy.

The magazine, published in Montreal, says the Yachting Association of America has issued a challenge for the trophy to Canada's governing body, the Canadian Boating Federation.

It says the only boat in Canada which could compete against the challengers is Miss Supertest III which won the trophy for Canada in 1959.

But owner James Gordon Thompson, of London, Ont., retired the boat late in 1961 after Bob Hayward was killed in the crash of Miss Supertest II. during a race on the Detroit River.

There were no challengers for the Harmsworth trophy last year and Canada kept the trophy by default.

The Americans will definitely go through with the challenge and take the trophy be default. if necessary," Schoenith said.

Kidd Seeks 'Fifth Straight'

By ED CORRICAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Pint-sized Jim Beatty, who says he can run the mile under four minutes any time he pleases, makes his 1963 debut Saturday night in the New York Athletic Club meet and he'd better not spend too much time looking behind while he's whirling around the Madison Square Garden saucer.

The 22-year-old Beatty's main opposition in the Baxter mile will come from 29-year-old Tom O'Hara of Loyola of Chicago, a skinny runner who won the Wanamaker mile two weeks ago in a sizzling 4:01.3. Since he pointed on the scene last year, O'Hara has been coming along fast and his current ambition is to beat Beatty.

Only last year, Beatty became the first runner ever to break four minutes indoors. He did it twice, clocking 3 minutes 58.9 seconds, the present record, and 3:59.3.

While Beatty may have his troubles, the path appears clear for Canada's Valery Brumel in the high jump and Igor Ter-Ovanesyan in the broad jump.

John Thomas, who whipped Brumel for the first time last Saturday, is competing in San Francisco, as is Ralph Boston, Ter-Ovanesyan's No. 1 rival. The Ter from Moscow set an indoor record of 26-10 in beating Boston for the first time in the Millrose Games.

Longden, 56 'Valentine' Millionaire

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — He isn't exactly the prettiest Valentine character around the race track, but he's got to be the most remarkable.

That would be Johnny Longden, who celebrated his 56th birthday on Valentine's Day.

Longden, a millionaire jockey who has worked hard for his dollars, is no different from most people past 50.

"I'd just as soon forget birthdays," he said with a crinkly grin and his high-piped voice. "Birthdays don't mean much."

Birthdays, John's birthdays anyhow, are just another day in his busy career, a career that began with his first ride on a race horse in 1927.

Just for statistics, Longden has ridden in 29,841 races, and his unmatched record of victories, 5,783, perhaps never will be surpassed.

Longden is tiny but powerfully compact. He has the arms and shoulders of a young bull and the impressive strength in his legs.

How does he keep in such shape? Does he follow any pattern of exercises?

"Exercise? No. Just riding and exercising horses," he replied.

Most all his life, Longden said, he has followed regular hours of riding, working and retiring. He is always up by 6 a.m., and he's in bed early.

Los Angeles Blades gained a measure of revenge Thursday night in trouncing San Francisco 4-1 in Western Hockey League action at San Francisco.

The night before, the Blades had been humiliated 6-0 by the Seals at Los Angeles.

The win strengthened the Blades' hold on third place in the division. They have 58 points, seven fewer than the Seals.

Ed Stankiewicz, Ed Diachuk, Bruce Carmichael and Willie O'Ree shared the Los Angeles scoring and Len Haley saved the Seals from a shutout.

By DENNIS ORCHARD

VANCOUVER (CP) — Five judges hold court on ice today as the North American figure-skating championships begin.

They were to open deliberations on compulsory figures performances this morning and give their verdict on the continent's best women's singles performer tonight.

The two-day championships are the 19th in a biennial succession since 1923 that has helped establish the world-famous names of Barbara Ann Scott, Dick Button and more recently Carol Heiss, Don Jackson, Barbara Wagner and Bob Paul and Maria and Otto Jelinek.

This year they bring together 96 skaters from Canada and the United States, most of them on the way up and yet to make their highest marks in international competition.

Today was the second anniversary of a plane crash that wiped out the U.S. world team in Belgium. Although the pro-nal round.

Parker To Join Houston?

HAMILTON (CP)—A report that Jackie Parker plans to play out his option this season to join Houston Oilers of the American Football League left football officials cold here Thursday.

Officials of the Canadian Football League are holding their annual meetings here this week.

Parker, the star of Edmonton Eskimos who asked to be traded this season, was reported to be going to Houston to join Frank (Pop) Ivy, his former Edmonton coach who Thursday signed a two-year contract as general manager and coach of the Oilers.

Edmonton officials and officials of Toronto Argonauts are negotiating a deal which would send Parker to Toronto this season.

Jay Hayman, Argonaut managing director, said he had heard nothing about Parker going to Houston—and if he is, Argos aren't interested in him.

"But I talked to the boy (Parker)," said Hayman in an interview, and he said he wants to sign a contract with us.

This would bind Parker to Toronto for at least two years.

In Edmonton, Parker said speculation on the trade to Houston was new to him and was aware only of the negotiations with Argos.

He reiterated a statement last week that he does not plan to play out his option unless Eskimos fail to arrange a satisfactory trade.

Bay of Quinte Football Association

Four Teams Enter League

The Bay of Quinte Football Association is assured of a four-team league with the possibility of a fifth rounding out the roster before the 1963 season opens.

Belleville Parsons Cleaners, Trenton Ambers, Trenton Legion and Picton Canadian Guards officially entered teams at the annual meeting of the Association held in the Recreation Centre here last night.

The Batawa club was not represented but will be forwarded a strong invitation to enter a club.

Flight Lieut. Jack Scholes, RCAF was elected the 1963 president of the association with Al Sutton of Belleville named vice-president. The secretary is Flight Sergeant Frank Fletcher, RCAF and executive members Terry Clough of Trenton and Mike Turner of Belleville.

The minor league representative is Angus MacDonald of Picton.

One of the main discussions of the meeting centred around the promotion of minor hockey in the areas covered by the association.

Delegated to cover the Belleville area in this respect is Al Sutton with Frank Fletcher looking after the Trenton district.

It was felt that a number of younger people in the district are interested in the game and would like to play if interest was taken in area organization.

If the response warrants it soccer clinics are planned by the executive. These would include referees and other courses under the jurisdiction of President Scholes, himself a qualified soccer referee.

Petes, Royals Tie 2-2

Junior Habs Whip Wings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Red Wings, moving up from fourth place to threaten the second-place Montreal Junior Canadiens early this week. Thursday night found themselves out of serious contention for second in the Ontario Hockey Association's provincial Junior A group.

Before Wednesday night, Hamilton was within a point of Montreal. That night, Canadiens moved three points up with a 5-3 win over St. Catharines Black Hawks.

Montreal took more direct action Thursday night, beating Hamilton on the Red Wings' home ice with a five-goal splurge to the second period and a 7-3 final score.

In the other league game, the fourth-place Peterborough Petes tied 2-2 with the last-place Guelph Royals at Peterborough.

Ted Houston led the Montreal club with two goals, Norm Dennis, Andre Legueux, Terry Clancy, Yvan Cournoyer and Andre Boudrias record the others. Hamilton scorers were Paul Henderson, with his 42nd of the season, Pit Martin and Bryan Campbell.

At Peterborough, Oscar Allen and Bob Jones scored for Guelph and Danny Grant and Keith Wright for Peterborough, but most of the action was confined to fighting. Royals got 12 of the 10 penalties handed out.

In the OHA Metro Junior A action, Oshawa Generals defeated Brampton 5-3, leaving the two clubs tied for the fourth and last playoff position.

Has Complete Authority

Ivy Signs With Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—Frank Pop Ivy signed a new contract as head coach and general manager of the Houston Oilers of the American Football League Thursday, receiving more authority and a raise in salary.

The two-year contract ended speculation that he would take a similar job with the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian League.

Bud Adams, president and owner of the Oilers, said he agreed to accept Ivy's demands that the two jobs be combined and that Ivy have complete authority to hire and fire player and front office personnel.

Ivy had indicated failure to meet his demands might have prompted him to return to the Canadian League with the Montreal club he talked with Montreal officials last weekend.

The salary in the contract was not disclosed but it is estimated the signing meant about $7,500 more a year and jumped him to an estimated $25,000 a year.

Ever Hear of a "DIURETIC"?

Maybe not. But you should know! What a "diuretic" does. There may be times when you should use one. You likely understand how important the kidneys are in maintaining good health. Also that if the kidneys fail to function properly excess acids and waste materials remain in the system. This may result in subsequent urinary irritations and bladder troubles often followed by backaches, tired feeling and disturbed rest.

This is where the diuretic service of Dodd's Kidney Pills may be helpful. Dodd's act as a diuretic—stimulate to help restore normal kidney action, and so relieve the systematic conditions causing backaches and tired feeling. When you are bothered by backaches and tired feeling due to kidney action you can depend on Dodd's Kidney Pills as many have done during the past 70 years. Look for Dodd's at any drug counter. 53

Picton Wins Playoff Opener 13-6

PICTON (Special) — Picton Merchants grabbed a one-game lead in their OHA Eastern Junior "C" semi-final playoff series here last night by whipping Cobourg 13-6.

The teams took time out from scoring 19 goals to pick up 28 penalties, 17 of them in the last period. Included were a major and misconduct to Picton's Bob Brown, a misconduct and game misconduct to Cobourg's Gary Free and another misconduct to Cobourg goalie Pete Cleary. All came in the third.

Second game of the series is slated for Cobourg tonight. In the other half of the semi-finals last night Napanee and Gananoque tied 6-6 in Gananoque in the first game of their set.

Picton led 3-0 and 8-3 by periods last night although they only outshot the visitors 41-36 overall.

Gary Hasmuel scored four goals and helped on another for Picton. Bob Brown and Carl Stacey each had three-goal "hat-tricks", plus one assist while Harold Haddock got one and six assists and Larry Pero one and four. George Salzsburg also scored, Roy MacDonald got two helpers, Dewan and Rhodes one.

Thompson was tops for Cobourg with three goals while Quigley bagged one and helped on two. Finkle earned one and one, Sheehan a goal, Dunn, Armour, G. Free, Rowe, Chase and Stevenson an assist apiece.

Four Entries Assured for Intercounty

GALT (CP)—The Inter-County Junior Baseball League was assured of four entries for 1963 during a reorganization meeting here today.

The four are holdover clubs Brantford Red Sox, Galt Terriers, Paris Royals and Kitchener Panthers.

League president Reid Buck established March 15 as entry deadline and said forms will be sent to London Majors, not represented at the meeting, and to John Bell, operator of a proposed sixth club from either Stratford or Listowel.

Want American Networks To Telecast CFL Games

HAMILTON (CP)—Officials of the Canadian Football League, faced with problems this year in recruiting United States college players, have held discussions with U.S. networks on the televising of CFL games next season.

The ABC network carried the Grey Cup game on its national network last year and, although the game between Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Hamilton Tiger-Cats took two days to play because of fog, it helped the recruiters.

CFL president Jake Gaudaur of Hamilton gave an indication of the popularity of the Grey Cup telecast in the U.S. during an interview Thursday. He is attending the Eastern Conference annual meeting here.

Gaudaur said he was in Miami, Fla., Dec. 30, more than a week after the game, scouting a practice at Florida A. and M. College.

"I was standing near a group of boys 10 or 11 years old," said Gaudaur. "They were arguing about who was best, Hamilton or Winnipeg—Leo Lewis or someone in the National Football League."

Gaudaur said one of the big obstacles in CFL teams signing U.S. college players is that players feel they may lose their identity playing in Canada.

He said officials of other eastern teams are spearheading a move to have the CFL hire a full-time promotion man.

Quinte COSSA Basketball

Bay of Quinte COSSA playoffs started Wednesday last with eight teams in action. The first four teams in the junior and senior divisions met in the first game of their home and home total points series.

In the senior division Quinte handed Napanee a 45-34 setback in series "A" while in series BCIVS Trenton came out top of a thrilling 49-48 contest with Trenton.

Tonight the senior Saints travel to Napanee for the second game while Trenton and BCI will clash at BCI. The winners will play a similar series next week to decide the Bay of Quinte championship.

In junior, BCI overran their arch-rivals from Moira 66-42, while Quinte thrashed Napanee 49-23. Tonight's action sees Moira at BCI at 3.30 while Quinte and Napanee play in Napanee. The winners will play off next week for the championship.

The following week will see the junior and senior Bay of Quinte champions entered in the COSSA finals to be played in Peterborough.

BCI JUNIORS 66—MOIRA 42

Moira could do nothing against a ruffled BCI team who found the basketball on the Trojan's defensive flaws. They flooded the weak side of the M.S.S. zone and unguarded men pumped in baskets at will. BCI's defensive "press" bewildered Moira and at times they couldn't get past centre floor. The half-time score was 27-20 BCI. In the second half the dazed Trojans were outscored 21-9 and 18-11 on the quarter.

Moira goes into tonight's final game 24 points down on the round.

For BCI Jim Hurst came up with a brilliant 25 point effort. Murray Swan and Dave Anderson scored 14 and 13 respectively.

Faulkner bit for 13 in a losing cause.

TRENTON SENIORS 48 BCI'S 46

As the score indicates, this is by far the closest series and anybody can win. Both teams went all out and the pace never let down as action under both baskets was rough and tumble. Fouls made the difference in the game as Trenton scored 17 points from the free throw line while the winners made 9.

Trenton led 31-26 at the half and maintained the lead throughout the game until the final 10 seconds when McCabe converted a rebound into the winning basket.

BCI'S Terry McCabe had another big night scoring 23 points. Bob Williams hit for 11.

For the losers, Ron Chambers was the big man with 23 while Carl Bowman collected 9.

Frank Sinatra Jr. Makes Debut in Sam Benedict Show

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There was a ripple of excitement as the slender young man with hunched shoulders and nervous face walked through the MGM commissary.

"That's Frank Sinatra Jr.," said the studio workers.

Ordinarily, a famous figure scarcely would turn a head in the studio lunch room. But this was a special event. Young Frank was making his debut on the lot where his father started his rise to movie fame.

About the only person who wasn't impressed was Frank Sinatra Jr.

"Im just doing a part in a Sam Benedict television show," he shrugged. "The fact that my name is Sinatra shouldn't make any difference."

Of course it does, but the 19-year-old appears to bear his burdens (if such it is) with ease and open mindedness. He wants to make his own way in show business, but he knows he can find no better teacher than Sinatra Sr.

HANGING AROUND SETS

"I've been hanging around movie sets and recording studios since I can remember," recalled young Frank. "I recall once when I was watching my father on a record date when Nelson Riddle was the conductor. I must have been nine at the time. Nelson said he could not go ahead until I got untangled from the cables.

"Just a month ago I was watching another session that my father was doing with Nelson Riddle. And Nelson warned me to stay out of the cables. It broke me up."

Frank laughed. It was one of the few times during our talk that his face lost its serious look.

You recognize the similarities of father and son as the conversation progresses. He has the same emaciated build, but the face seems entirely different.

Young Frank, like his father, has strong opinions — about some young acting idols (he's anti), about movie epics ("Ben-Hur was the only good one"), about misbehaving actors (they should be fired).

Acceptance by his fellow workers is important to him.

"The main thing I like to do when I have an acting job," he said, "is to have the other people say that I was easy to work with. My mother taught me good manners. There is no excuse for rudeness or unprofessional behavior on a set."

Marty Allen, Steve Rossi On Way Up as Comedy Team

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The short, stocky man with a shock of black hair and the tall, handsome young fellow walked into the sleek, chic, expensive restaurant.

"Hello dere," exclaimed the maitre d'hotel, his facing breaking into a broad grin.

The captain said "ello dere," grinning, while escorting them to a table.

"Hello dere" came from the busboy as he filled the glasses; the waiter as he presented the menus, from men and women patrons as they passed by the table. Marty Allen, the one with the tall one, took turns answering—pleasantly, but as the rain of greetings tended to interrupt the conversation, a little perfunctorily.

"Doesn't this sort of thing get to be a bit of a bore?" asked the reporter.

"Not really," replied Allen. "We'll start worrying when they stop saying it."

Allen and Rossi—the former a clown given to crazy clothes, kooky gestures and unexpectedly penetrating remarks on topical subjects and the latter a young singer with a fine voice and an adroit way of feeling a straight line — are a comedy team on the way up. They struck the public's fancy at semi-regulars on CBS' Garry Moore Show.

Allen's salutation, "H e l l o dere," has become as popular as Joe Penner's old "Wanta buy a duck?" that swept the country in the golden days of radio.

Terriers Lose 6-5 To Tigers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Galt Terriers came up with a scoring rush in the third period Thursday night, but it wasn't enough to sew up a playoff berth in the Ontario Hockey Association's Senior A division. The Terriers dropped a 6-5 decision to Kitchener-Waterloo Tigers in Kitchener, keeping the Tigers' own playoff hopes alive.

Galt, tow three points behind Kitchener, needs a win and a tie to wrap up the fourth and last playoff spot. The two teams clash again in Galt next Tuesday, but the Terriers play before then with Chatham and Windsor, while Kitchener is idle.

Windsor remained atop the standings with 47 points, followed by Chatham with 42, Woodstock with 38, Kitchener with 28 and Galt with 25.

Galt staged its rally in the last three minutes on goals by Ed Burr and Bob Mader. Goalie Dave Dryden was pulled with 39 seconds left, but Tigers netminder Harold Boati Hurley and teammates staved off the rush.

Mader and Rickey Hay both ended up with two goals each for Terriers. Tiger marksmen were Don Emms and Bill Kennedy with two each and Paul Oliver and Joe Nolan with singles.

1,000 Boys In Peewee Tournament

QUEBEC (CP)—The annual international pee-wee hockey tournament, perhaps the biggest drawing card of the Quebec winter carnival, gets underway Saturday with roughly 1,000 boys between the ages of 10 and 12.

The 64 teams entered in the tournament are divided into four classes, according to the population of their home town ranging between Boston and an Indian reserve on the Quebec north shore.

Teams from Ontario, Quebec, the Maritimes and the United States are entered. So far, Ontario teams have always won the tournament, but enough trophies are passed out after the 70 games to make everybody happy.

Prizes include the Indian trophy — several young Indian teams usually enter—the Canada-U.S. series, and the East-West trophy.

The latter playoff involves the teams whose hometowns are farthest apart. This year, Kentville, N.S., and Kenora, Ont., will fight for the distance trophy.

The Peterborough team that won the championship last year will be back to defend its trophy.

Buddies Save Driver From Fiery Death

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla (AP) — Marvin Panch, 36, is fighting extensive burn and other injuries today as a result of a spectacular spill in practice for the 250-mile American Challenge Cup auto race Saturday.

Only gritty rescue efforts by fellow drivers at Daytona Beach International Speedway prevented Panch from dying under his blazing upside-down Maserati Thursday.

They waded through waist-deep flame to lift the car, dropped it momentarily as another explosion rocked the wreck, then extricated Panch and sprayed him with fire-fighting carbon dioxide.

Panch suffered first, second and third degree burns on his back, neck and hands, and also received internal injuries. Their extent was not at once determined.

Panch's Ford-powered speedster skidded on a high-banked turn, flipped over several times, struck a guard rail and fell back upside down, where it caught fire.

Indonesia Quits Olympics

JAKARTA (AP) — Indonesia pulled out of the International Olympic Committee Thursday and took steps to set up a rival sports federation composed of Asian, African, Latin American and Communist countries.

Sports Minister R. Maladi said he had taken the action because the IOC had barred his country from participating in the 1964 Olympics at Tokyo.

President Sukarno of Indonesia said in a speech Wednesday night "we are not a nation made of cotton." He suggested the new federation based on what he called "anti-imperialism" but there was no indication what line, if any, it would take.

There was no immediate reaction from the IOC.

Indonesia was suspended indefinitely from the IOC because it excluded Nationalist China and Israel from the Asian Games here last year.

NEW LABOR PARTY LEADER — Harold Wilson, chosen last night as leader of the British Labor Party, holds news conference in London's Labor Party headquarters after his election. Wilson immediately urged that Britain withdraw from the nuclear arms race. (AP Wirephoto by cable from London)

What's With Wilson?

Is New Labor Party Chief Pleasant, Homespun Man Or Is It Part of a Pose?

LONDON (CP)—The political experts have turned amateur psychiatrists. The man on the couch is Harold Wilson.

The problem: To penetrate to the true heart and mind of the man who, at 46, has become the youngest chief of the British Labor party since it was founded in 1900.

His political enemies say he's schizophrenic, a split personality; that beneath the solid, smiling exterior there lives a man who is devious, calculating, always looking out for Number One.

Even his pipe, they say, is part of the pose. And his accent, a mixture of homespun Yorkshire and upper-class Oxford, is part of the scheme to be all things to all people.

But the amateur psychiatrists are kinder.

Today, pondering his election Thursday night, they seem ready—almost eager—to give Wilson the benefit of the doubt.

HE'S BEER MAN

Wilson says he loves his pipe because it helps him relax. It is not a pose but fact, he insists, that he prefers beer to champaign and tinned salmon to smoked.

Those who dislike him say he has the mind of a calculating machine. But, also, it is this capacity that reminded him, despite the tension of waiting for election results, to send Mrs. Wilson a Valentine message.

Mary Wilson—he calls her Sweetie Pie—wasn't surprised. He never forgets a date, she says.

His wit and devastating scorn are famous and often MPs from both sides of the House make it a point to be in their place when he is scheduled to speak.

But occasionally it gets out of hand, is reduced to outright nastiness, and Wilson seems genuinely surprised when he realizes he is the only man in the House with a smile on his face.

FOUND FORMULA?

All observers seem to agree that Wilson may have found his own cure for whatever character deficiencies there may be.

The prescription: Success.

Until Thursday night he had been a man fighting his way up, and suffering painful setbacks in the process.

He once was defeated by the late Hugh Gaitskell, the man he now succeeds, for the party leadership. And last November he was rejected when George Brown, whom he defeated Thursday, won the race for the post of deputy leader.

Many feel now that he is on top, leader of the party and with a good chance of becoming Britain's next prime minister, he will relax a little, becoming more outgoing and devote himself to living down some of the labels he has picked up.

Writer Looks at Underlying Reasons for French Attitude

Editor's note: Britain's exclusion from Europe is a landmark in the post-war history of the West. In this story a Canadian Free's reporter examines underlying reasons for France's hard-line attitude.

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—Politics sometimes resembles a clouded bowl in which objects are dimly perceived amid brackish waves.

Nothing is clear: The whole truth is elusive. Then suddenly a searchlight sweeps into the political aquarium, lighting the murky scene.

Such an occasion was Princess Margaret's "lost weekend." Prime Minister Macmillan's angry decision to cancel her three-day visit to Paris shows how deeply he was hurt by France's curt rejection of Britain's bid to join Europe.

Macmillan cares for political proprieties. In using the Royal Family as a diplomatic weapon he exposed his personal agony and dissolved all doubt about Britain's commitment to Europe.

Expulsion was the act of one man, President de Gaulle, and he moved so coldly, so crudely, with such flagrant disregard of ordinary courtesy among friendly nations, that people still seek explanations.

IS THERE A CLUE?

Why did he do it, is there some specific clue to his extraordinary conduct, some hidden logic in his lonely stand?

Everything shows that de Gaulle is sogked in history and strongly impressed with the view that Europe, old Europe, the Europe that wrote history, is the cradle of all civilized values.

As she regains strength and self-confidence, de Gaulle believes himself to assert her claims. Why, he asks, should decisions about European affairs be imposed on Europe from outside?

De Gaulle certainly aims high. It simply seems incon ceivable that this crotchety man, by his stand on nuclear arms and European integration, should like some modern Samson topple the twin pillars of Western policy and frustrate the aspirations of a united Europe.

There is no doubt that it finds an echo among younger Europeans spiritually more attached to the Continent than to an insular Britain.

Continentals may admire British political stability and national cohesiveness but they don't like fish and chips, mint sauce, Yorkshire pudding or peas the size of marbles.

Thus de Gaulle has touched a responsive chord in Europe's collective subconscious. National vanities are flattered; a dash of anti-Americanism goes down well. But in excluding Britain as America's "Trojan horse," de Gaulle's design astonishes important people in West Germany, Belgium, Italy, Holland and even France.

Germany is especially nervous. The federal republic has close business links with the United States and sees any self-contained Europe, on the Gaullist model, dwindling into an economic ghetto.

Alarm bells are also sounded by Gaullist allusions to a Europe stretching "from the Atlantic to the Urals," a unit that would provide an "element of balance" between the superpowers.

De Gaulle's apostles elaborate by saying he looks forward to the day when Russia will happily develop bourgeois tendencies, preferring material things to Marxist dialectic. Then East and West will come together, in harmony a way to reconcile the American nuclear monopoly with the desire of lesser powers for nuclear sovereignty.

But the intrepid tightrope walker, even when he lacks a safety net, has a way of landing on his feet. History seems to have a soft spot for Charles de Gaulle.

THINKS YEARS AHEAD

Possible replies are that the general is thinking years ahead; that American troops are going to move out of Europe eventually.

Can the dream come true? What makes the struggle so fascinating is that the stakes are so high, the Gaullist daring so world-ranging. Absurdity, even selfishness, seem implicit in the French approach; but the general has been right so often that critics tend to be circumspect.

De Gaulle apparently is cutting across hopeful trends toward interdependence within the Atlantic Community. If time confirms his strategy, his tactics—and his manners—remain in doubt. The West must find

WE'LL GIVE YOU
$135.00 CASH
TO PAY YOUR '63 TRACTOR FUEL BILL
(AND DON'T BE SURPRISED IF YOU HAVE SOME LEFT OVER FOR '64)

We want to make a point that the Case 3-plow 430 and the Case 3-4 plow 530 Dynaclonic diesel tractors cost less to operate than any comparable tractors on earth.

Yes, both already are world's diesel fuel economy champions in their clásses. And here's your chance to make us prove our economy claims—on free fuel!

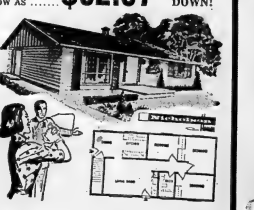
If you purchase a new Case 430 or 530 farm tractor* between January 15 and Feb. 28, 1963, we'll send you our check for $135 payable in cash. How much No. 2 diesel fuel can you buy locally for $135? Figuring a national tank wagon average price per gallon of 15.9c, that's 850 gallons.

In a Case Dynaclonic diesel, that's much more diesel fuel than you'll likely use in a year's work — with a healthy amount left over for next year!

Here's why we're so sure: in Dynaclonic design, each fuel charge is packed into a swirling tornado. It achieves the "maximum turbulence" engineers seek — the complete blending of fuel and air essential to complete combustion.

Results: more pounds of thrust—up to 13,700 pounds behind every piston stroke! More work-power from every ounce of fuel.

Team this combustion efficiency with Dynaclonic's long-stroke, high-forque design, and you'll see where its extra power comes from—why it can pull through where high speed automotive type engines begin to labor and stall.



Get the details— and a demonstration — from your Case dealer. And do it soon. Remember, the free fuel offer is good only through Feb. 28.

*PREFER GASOLINE TO DIESEL?

The same $135 cash bonus applies. Gasoline or diesel, you purchase the fuel at your convenience and from the local supplier of your choice.

Rush Into Bush Is Anticipated If Strike Ends

Kapuskasing Loggers Meet to Study Terms

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP)—Union bushworkers pass judgment today on a proposal that could end a strike already 33 days old.

Their approval of the settlement terms would start a headlong rush into the bush to salvage cut timber before the approaching spring thaw turns country roads into impassable marshes.

Voting was held Friday night among the 400 strikers at Longlac, 180 miles west of here, but union officials said the results would be withheld until later today.

The main body of strikers—1,100 from Kapuskasing and a host of surrounding communities—were to meet at the theatre here to make their decision on a return work. If the union membership approves, the terms of settlement and go back to work, full-scale operations are expected to begin Monday.

The settlement proposals have not been disclosed. Worked out during 10 days of continuous negotiations in Toronto under guidance of the Ontario government, the settlement is believed to provide for temporary return to work under previous contract terms until binding arbitration settles the disputed points.

COMPANIES INVOLVED

Involved in the negotiations were the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (CLC) and two companies, Spruce Falls Power and Paper Company of Kapuskasing and Kimberly - Clark Pulp and Paper Company of Longlac.

The end of the prolonged walkout could not come too quickly, either for merchants and other businessmen in the area or for nearly 1,000 independent settlers who supplement their annual cash income by cutting wood on Crown-grant bushlots and selling it to the strike-bound companies.

One of a series of attempts by the striking bushworkers to halt the settlers' shipments of wood to the company resulted in a clash here last Monday which left three strikers dead and nine others injured.

Nineteen settlers are in jail at Hazlet, 180 miles south-east of here, awaiting trial on three charges each of non-capital murder as a result of the clash. The last of the settlers, Paul Emile Coulombe, manager of a cooperative whose members were involved, surrendered to police Friday.

TURN SETTLERS

About 18 strikers turned themselves in to police Friday. Blanket charges against the total who have been arrested and charged with rioting for their part in Monday's violence.

Some 190 who had previously been picked up and detained at Montreal Prison Farm, 300 miles south of here, were brought back to Kapuskasing by bus when their union's international headquarters forwarded a $37,600 bail bond.

Asian Type Flu Spreads to West, Many Thousands Stricken in East

CHICAGO (AP)—A wave of influenza which has closed schools and brought high job absenteeism in several eastern seaboard states since mid-January is pushing into the middle west.

Today's Chuckle

The trouble with being a leader today is that you can't be sure whether people are following you or chasing you.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Temperatures will moderate slowly in southern and central Ontario tonight and Sunday as a weak weather disturbance moves through the region. Some light snow is expected to occur in the path of the disturbance.

Asian type flu, similar to that which swept the United States in 1957-58 and again in 1960, has been reported in a number of eastern states, including Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Kansas.

Outbreaks of less severe types of influenza have been widespread. The first confirmed cases this winter were reported in last month in Robeson County, North Carolina. State officials reported 65,994 new cases last week.

The communicable disease centre of the U.S. Public Health Service in Atlanta, Ga., reported Friday that pneumonia-influenza deaths have been above the epidemic level the last five weeks.

Reports of influenza-like illness in Kentucky, West Virginia and Missouri also indicated a westerly spread of the disease.

MANY PREMIERS MAY STAY OUT OF CAMPAIGN

Lesage, Robarts Most Important

OTTAWA (CP)—The pattern of provincial government support for the federal political campaign is still diffuse in the week of April 8 election campaign.

The value of that support sometimes is no clearer after the event than before. But the enthusiasm, or lack of it, displayed by provincial leaders is still regarded as a portent, if only for the psychological impact it may have on voters.

Quebec and Ontario, accounting for 160 of the 265 House of Commons seats, naturally attract the most interest.

Premier Lesage of Quebec was quick to say he will practise the same non-intervention he did in 1962. In the election last June 18, Liberals gained 35 seats in Quebec in electing 35 MPs but Social Credit frustrated them by capturing a startling 26 as the Conservatives took 14 from 50 seats in the 1958 vote.

POSITION BETTERS

The Liberal premier now is seemingly in a much better position to stand up for the national Liberal party than he did a year ago. Since the federal election of last June 18, he has received a firm mandate for his own government.

But in a Montreal speech Feb. 9 he said:

"I won't tell anyone how to vote. I will stay in my own field. I will not mix in federal politics."

Premier Roberts of Ontario, on the other hand, now has election preoccupations of his own. The Progressive Conservative premier hasn't indicated how much support he will tender the national party. He's expected to call his own election this year.

Last May 6, he said in a statement: "There are certain

Liberal Leader Will Try to Resolve Split

KINGSTON (CP) — Liberal Leader Lester Pearson of Ontario says he will call a meeting to resolve the split in the Frontenac-Addington Liberal association over the nomination of Mrs. Theresa Chippendale, 37, as one in the next provincial election.

The Dec. 15 meeting at which Mrs. Chippendale was named, two, was nominated was twice ordered to be postponed by the Ontario provincial campaign committee headquarters in Toronto on the personal telegram from Mr. Winterton.

Riding President Harry Blanchard said Mrs. Chippendale was perfectly legal as far as he and the executive are concerned. Mr. Blanchard said he has no reason for another nomination convention.

Mr. Wintermeyer said in a telephone interview with the Kingston Whig-Standard Friday he will get in touch with the riding association this weekend to arrange a meeting "in order to resolve the differing points of view."

Douglas Thinks Liberals Will Get Clobbered

TORONTO (CP)—T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, says he finds it difficult to envisage any one party gaining a clear majority in the April 8 federal general election.

However, he added hastily that he based his comment only on the public opinion polls he now stands. The seven weeks remaining until voting day could produce a big change.

Mr. Douglas told a press conference Friday: "I think the Liberals are going to get clobbered in Quebec."

Some of this previous Liberal support in Quebec would go to the Social Credit party but the New Democrats would get some of it as well.

K Resumes Favorite Form Of Diplomacy, Over Drinks

By STANLEY JOHNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has wheeled back into his old favorite form of diplomacy — pushing the party line at cocktail parties.

At a diplomatic reception Friday night in Moscow, he demonstratively linked Communist China with the Soviet Union as the gravedigger of capitalism. This stirred memories of the days when he was the rollicking, hard-drinking star of almost every major party in the Soviet capital.

It didn't even bother him when he had to be carried out of a reception given for the visiting Danish prime minister. Nor did he worry overly much about what he said.

He commented on everything from French cooking (too many prostitutes) to capitalism (we will bury you).

The best thing for harried reporters, then working under strict censorship, was that there was no censoring on anything Khrushchev said. That changed as the premier became more staid and nothing moved out of Moscow until he had okayed it.

Khrushchev had lots of theories on why Khrushchev slowed down.

One was that he and his colleagues began to worry about Western publicity concerning his drinking. Another that his doctors had warned him to cut way down.

Furthermore they figured some of his off-the-cuff remarks embarrassed the Soviet government's rapprochement Pass in 1956 had to "clarify" his com-

Probe of Great Lakes Labor Strife Is Postponed

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal investigation of Great Lakes labor strife, one of the hottest reviews in maritime labor unionism in history, heads next month into its final round of hearings.

Mr. Justice T. G. Norris, 69, of Vancouver Friday adjourned his one-man inquiry for two weeks.

He will resume it in Ottawa March 4 to hear more arguments from all major parties that have appeared before him in the last six months.

The adjournment came at the open public session of the inquiry that has heard some of Canada's top labor leaders and biggest shippers testify about the tough, turbulent world of waterfront relations.

The judge has received evidence from 170 witnesses, filling 15,000 pages of transcript. He has also collected 500 exhibits in two large filing cabinets.

The evidence and the exhibits tell much of the story of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada, a controversial body, and its role in maritime labor relations.

The Canadian Labor Congress, which expelled the SIU in 1960, accuses the union of lack of responsibility for a reign of terror that gripped the Great Lakes in 1961. But the union also blames the SIU's top officials for anti-democratic, corrupt unionism.

The SIU denies all charges and counters with charges of great things for its 15,000 members in higher wages and better working conditions.

To fill the vacuum left by the expulsion of the SIU, the CLC formed the Canadian Lake and Inland Maritime Union. The fledgling union clashed with the SIU in 1961 and has since been locked in fights for crews in the fleet of Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto.

TCA Jet Plane Has to Return, Lands Safely

MONTREAL (CP)—A Trans Canada Airlines DC-8 jet landed safely Friday at Montreal International Airport after turning back from its scheduled flight to Zurich, Switzerland, with instrument trouble.

A TCA spokesman said the airliner, carrying 120 passengers and a crew of 10 on a charter flight, made a "routine landing."

The DC-8 turned back over Maine when its air speed indicator failed to function. The trouble developed 10 on a charter plane began its final approach for a landing at Montreal, the spokesman said.

WON'T CHANGE DATE

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Motion Picture Academy said Friday that its annual Oscar awards night will be held April 8 as originally planned. Efforts had been made to change the date because it conflicts with Canada's general election and the Jewish Passover.

'Feeler Guage' Strips Found On Accused

KITCHENER (CP) — Three small strips of metal of a type used by machinists were introduced as Crown evidence at the capital-murder trial of 29-year-old Robert McCusker, a Waterloo, Ont., machinist.

The metal pieces, known as "feeler gauge" strips, are arranged like a fan in graduated thicknesses for measuring metal in a machine shop.

Police testified Friday that, after the strangling of night watchman John Dowbush, 46, in the Marsland Precision Equipment plant at Waterloo July 31, a set of the feeler strips was found in McCusker's tool box. The set was missing Nos. 17, 18, 24 and 25.

The three strips introduced as exhibits Friday were Nos. 17, 24 and 25.

Police testified that No. 25 was found in a trench in Dowbush's car after the slaying, parked a short distance from the plant. Part of No. 17 was found in a dresser drawer at McCusker's boarding-house, police said, and No. 24 was discovered under a blotter at the Waterloo police interrogation room.

Insp. J. H. Needham of the provincial police said he left McCusker alone in the interrogation room Aug. 6 for 15 or 20 minutes. When he returned strip No. 24 was under the corner of a blotter although it had been left on the table by the interrogation started.

Strips No. 24 and 25 had been filed down. Tests by two locksmiths showed that by using No. 24 as a key and No. 25 as a lever, an office desk of Marsland could be opened. A cash box which was missing from the particular desk after the slaying.

Police testified they had also found a model of the same lock as on the desk in the pocket of a windbreaker at McCusker's room.

Three Charged With Murder

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont. (CP)—Two brothers and a juvenile were charged with non-capital murder Friday in the death of a 33-year-old man at Little Current, Indian reserve on Manitoulin Island.

Albert Roy, 26, his brother, Gabriel, 24, and the juvenile were charged by provincial police after the death of Norman Sinnaway during a drinking party. Cause of death was not immediately known.

The slaying occurred in the house of Mrs. John Roy, the mother of Albert Roy and Simon's brother, Gabriel, were charged of killing another man in a fight last summer, Gabriel Simon now is serving a 15-year prison sentence.

REMAND CHET BAKER

LONDON (Reuters)—American jazz trumpeter Chet Baker, 32, Friday was remanded for trial Feb. 22 on narcotics charges.

NDP OPPOSES NUCLEAR ARMS SAYS DOUGLAS

Leader Outlines Policy in Key Talk

TORONTO (CP)—T. C. Douglas says his New Democratic Party stands alone in "unqualified and unambiguous opposition to nuclear arms."

Opening his campaign Friday night in suburban York-Scarborough, the NDP leader said the April 8 federal general election will be a referendum on the nuclear-warheads issue.

"This is the day on which the people of Canada are going to render their decision," he told a crowd of about 900 in a nearly-filled collegiate auditorium.

Mr. Douglas said that before voting day the people want the matter discussed.

He offered to debate the issue on a CBC national television network with the leaders of the other three parties, which he said have "contradictory policies and confusing degrees" to acquisition of nuclear weapons for Canadian forces.

The publicly-owned CBC recently offered free TV time for such a debate, but the party leaders could agree.

CLAIMS DOUBLE TALK

Mr. Douglas accused his political opponents of double talk on the issue.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said before the 1962 election that Canada would not acquire nuclear warheads but the NDP leader said that was to get him over the election."

The Conservative government clearly committed itself to nuclear warheads four years ago and has spent $100,000,000 on equipment for them, Mr. Douglas said.

The Conservative administration was "merely waiting for an opportune moment to break the news to the Canadian people."

LIFTS AT LIBERALS

Next tackling the Liberal position, he said Liberal Leader Pearson originally was against

Sight Pirates, Seem Heading Toward Brazil

WASHINGTON (AP) — A United States Navy search found the Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui apparently about 180 miles north of Fortaleza, Brazil, today, the defence department announced.

The plane radioed that it was circling the ship and could read her name on the fantail.

The plane was attempting to contact the vessel by flashing a blinker and radio at the time it reported to the department.

The Anzoategui reported travelling in a south-southeasterly direction at a speed of 12 knots.

The U.S. Navy destroyer Allen joined in the search for the vessel, reported by a group of Communists Tuesday, at the request of the Venezuelan government.

There had been strong speculation that the pirates would take the ship to Cuba, which publicly offered them asylum Friday.

But the freighter was more than 1,600 miles southeast of Cuba when it was located, and its reported course would take it away from Cuba and in the direction of Brazil, another potential destination.

Market Board Is Requested

STRATHROY, Ont. (CP)—Donald MacDonald, New Democratic Party leader in Ontario, called Friday night for establishment of national marketing boards to assist agriculture, particularly the dairy industry.

Mr. MacDonald said dairy farmers are concerned over a market glutted with powdered milk.

Arthur Stuart of Ilderton was nominated as the party's candidate in Middlesex West.

NDP Leader Outlines Policy in Key Talk

TORONTO (CP)—T. C. Douglas says his New Democratic Party stands alone in "unqualified and unambiguous opposition to nuclear arms."

Opening his campaign Friday night in suburban York-Scarborough, the NDP leader said the April 8 federal general election will be a referendum on the nuclear-warheads issue.

"This is the day on which the people of Canada are going to render their decision," he told a crowd of about 900 in a nearly-filled collegiate auditorium.

Mr. Douglas said that before voting day the people want the matter discussed.

He offered to debate the issue on a CBC national television network with the leaders of the other three parties, which he said have "contradictory policies and confusing degrees" to acquisition of nuclear weapons for Canadian forces.

The publicly-owned CBC recently offered free TV time for such a debate, but the party leaders could agree.

CLAIMS DOUBLE TALK

Mr. Douglas accused his political opponents of double talk on the issue.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said before the 1962 election that Canada would not acquire nuclear warheads but the NDP leader said that was to get him over the election."

The Conservative government clearly committed itself to nuclear warheads four years ago and has spent $100,000,000 on equipment for them, Mr. Douglas said.

The Conservative administration was "merely waiting for an opportune moment to break the news to the Canadian people."

Capital Murder Charge Laid Against Coombs

Arrested After Stabbing Of Girl at L'Amable

A 23-year-old Toronto man, arrested in the stabbing death of a teen-age girl at L'Amable yesterday, was remanded for court appearance Thursday in Belleville.

Leonard Michael Joseph Coombs, a Scarborough parking attendant, appeared briefly before Magistrate R. C. Jackson at Hastings County court house in Belleville on a charge of capital murder. He was arrested after the fatal stabbing Thursday afternoon of 18-year-old Sharon Margaret Frost of Actinolite. The girl died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Edward LaCroix, in L'Amable, five miles south of Bancroft.

Coombs, wearing green-checkered coat, wool windbreaker and blue denim pants, was escorted into court by two OPP officers from Bancroft. The hand-side were on the small of his and forefingers of his right hand.

The slight, dark-haired youth sat with head bowed and coat collar turned up as the court awaited the magistrate's arrival. Only a few spectators, from the court administrative offices, and reporters were in the court.

Inadvertently, Coombs had first seated himself at the table of crown attorney John Pringle in the well of the court.

As he entered the court ahead of the magistrate, Mr. Pringle tersely requested the accused man: "Will you sit in the prisoner's dock, please?"

TOOK PLACE IN DOCK

Coombs quietly took his place in the dock and stood while the murder accusation was read to him.

"Did you understand my reading of that charge?" asked the crown prosecutor.

"Yes," replied Coombs quietly, nervously nodding his head.

"It will take at least a full week to prepare this case for presentation," Mr. Pringle told the magistrate.

The magistrate set the next court hearing for 10 a.m., February 21st.

"Mr. Coombs, this is a very serious charge. Have you a lawyer?" asked the magistrate.

Coombs replied he had not. The magistrate then asked him if he was "in a position" to retain his own counsel.

"No, I am not," Coombs.

"I will arrange counsel for the accused your worship," interjected Mr. Pringle.

Coombs then left the court with his escort, covering his face from the battery photographers, as he walked the short distance from the court house to the jail.

His court appearance had lasted about five minutes.

Hundreds More African Students To Leave Bulgaria Due Insults

VIENNA (AP)—Hundreds of Negro students from Africa today were reported waiting for funds for transportation to enable them to join an exodus from Bulgaria. Spokesmen for an students quit the communist country "disgusted" charging racial discrimination.

Radio Ghana quoted the Ghanian ambassador to Sofia as saying he believed all African students in Bulgaria, about 400, would leave. The ambassador, J. L. Appah Sampong, said in Accra, Ghana, he had accompanied the students and believed all would have left already if not for the money.

"We have now called black monkeys and jungle people and we were treated like dirt,"one of the Ghanians, Robert Kotey, 25, said.

Their departure followed the arrest Monday of seven leaders of an All-African Students' Union in Sofia, which Communist authorities had banned. Police and militia beat some students when they staged a protest parade Tuesday.

Students said that during a year of study in Bulgaria they were insulted on the streets and fed a heavy diet of Communist doctrine in the classroom.

Ghanians among us had left leavings in beer cans," a Kotey told reporters.

Ambassador Sampong said that the 20 Ghanaians plan to stay in Amsterdam until Monday when they probably will go on to Bonn, if we can make appropriate arrangements."

He said he had financed the Ghanaians' exodus because they told me they wanted to go . . . I have to look after their welfare." He added that he hoped to talk to Sofia Tuesday and does not expect any difficulties with the Bulgarian authorities.

As the Ghanaian press expressed "shock and dismay" over the reported treatment of African students in Bulgaria, the Soviet news agency Tass denied that any mass exodus was in the making. The agency, ap-

MORE EFFECTIVE LAWS NEEDED SAYS LIBERAL

Door-to-Door Mag Salesmen Under Fire

TORONTO (CP)—More effective laws are needed to prosecute door - to - door magazine salesmen who "high-pressure" people into signing contracts and later bound them for payment by a loan agency (Toronto Parkdale) told the legislature Friday.

He urged the government to "put teeth in the law" to protect householders who do not understand their legal rights.

Mr. Trotter said the salesmen sell contracts for magazines and that licenses to believe they are bound by legal documents to honor them.

He mentioned one Toronto company — Family Publications Service of Canada Limited, a subsidiary of Time and Life Incorporated, which is controlled from New York.

Mr. Trotter said he knew of an 82-year-old widowed pensioner who was "bullied" for weeks after she told the firm she was unable to continue paying her subscriptions for several magazines.

"A letter threatening legal action would be followed by a telephone call to say that if she didn't pay up, the police would be called," Mr. Trotter said.

CALLS IT 'RIDICULOUS'

Terry Carrick, Family Publications Service branch manager, described Mr. Trotter's accusations as "ridiculous."

He said the woman had hired Mr. Trotter to represent her and the firm cancelled her subscription after receiving letters from him. He denied the woman had been threatened with police action.

Mr. Carrick said there are certain firms in the magazine business, in any case, which do not operate in the public interest but added:

"If a person had any doubt

Mother and Ten Children Escape in Night Clothes As Rossmore Home Burns

A mother and her ten children escaped into subzero weather with only their night clothes when fire ripped through their two storey home at Rossmore early this morning.

Mrs. Frank O'Brien was awakened by a loud noise and found the kitchen of her home aflame.

Three of the older children were sleeping upstairs and had to jump to safety from their bedroom windows.

The O'Brien house was on the west side of the old Picton highway, just a short distance south of Rossmore.

Mr. O'Brien was not at home at the time of the fire and learned of the blaze while visiting his mother in Peterborough.

The O'Brien children range in age from two years to 13. They are Michael 2; Denise 3; Mary Lynn 4; Danny 6; Blaine 7; Stewart 8; Billie 10; Barbara 11; Diane 12 and Donna 13.

FOUR IN HOSPITAL

Four of the children are in hospital, three of them with cuts suffered when they jumped through their upstairs bedroom window. They are Donna, Diane and Billie. Michael, the youngest, is also in hospital for observation.

The house was already full of smoke and fire was ablaze in of the kitchen when Mrs. O'Brien was awakened shortly before five o'clock.

"I heard an explosion but I just don't know what it was. When I got out in the kitchen I could see the flames and nothing else," Mrs. O'Brien declared.

"We lost everything. Really it is a heartbreak," she said. "We just got out in our bare feet.

It was reported there was little insurance on the house and contents.

BAD TO JUMP

Mrs. O'Brien roused the children sleeping downstairs but the stairs were already cut off by billowing smoke and the three older children were forced to jump to safety through the window.

"We never saved a thing," the distraught mother said this morning.

The O'Brien family is staying at the home of a sister-in-law, Mrs. Ralph Reid, on Bell Rock Street, West.

Bellevile firemen were called to the scene but the house was already beyond saving when the reels arrived.

The O'Briens had just bought a new deep freeze last week and had stocked it with pork from two hogs.

Mrs. O'Brien said the house was heated with oil.

A call for new bedding and clothing for the burned-out family was issued this morning from Mrs. Effie McCabe, head of the disaster committee for the Bellevile and District Crew. The Salvation Army has also issued an appeal for aid.

New Branch Library Planned To Serve East End of City

Construction of a new branch library to serve the east end of the city is being planned by officials of the Corby Public Library Board.

Chairman elect of the board, Mr. Linton Read said it was hoped that construction of the branch library could begin this year although the matter would have to be cleared through city hall as the project would be part of the city's capital works program.

Site of the new branch library will be at the corner of Farley and Victoria Ave., across from the Moira Secondary School where the equivalent of two building lots have been purchased.

Mr. Reid said that while plans for the structure have not been completely decided on, the possibility is that a single storey bungalow type which would lend itself to the motif of residential properties in the area.

Also in the future plans for the library board is the opening of a branch library in the west end of the city to serve residents in this area.

No definite location has been decided on other than it will be "west of the river."

Opening of the west end library branch is expected to be at least two or more years in the future.

Bridge, French Charm Classes Are Filled

Bridge would appear to be a most popular pastime in Belleville if the overwhelming reception which the bridge class in the Y.M.C.A.'s adult education program has any indication. A full class of four tables under the instruction of Gordon Edwards got underway this week and there were just about as many people left standing off at a corner shuffling their feet.

Tuesday next they will be able to shuffle cards, however, for a second instruction class of four tables will commence then under the able guidance of Frank Domenico. There are still a few openings in this class and the "Y" welcomes interested queries.

Bilingualism also appears to find the fancy of local citizens above the age of 18 years. Dr. Jacques Juillet's conversational French class is filled to capacity.

Charm matches French for appeal apparently, for Mrs. Alan Burgess' charm class is also fully attended.

Also underway, but with a few vacancies open, is a philosophy discussion group. Currently there are eight members who will be reading and discussing a series of philosophical works.

Radio Engineers To Hear Address On Electronics

The latest development in the field of "Millimeter Waves" will be the subject of an address by Dr. F. G. (Ted) Warren to the Institute of Radio Engineers (IRE) at the Northern Electric Belleville Plant on next Wednesday night.

Dr. Warren will review the present state of the art in millimeter waves, concentrating on those aspects by which the behaviour of millimeter waves differs from that of longer wavelengths. The techniques of generation, guided transmission, unguided propagation and detection will be covered.

Advanced experiments in the RCA Victor Research Laboratories on beam transmission, quasioptical component techniques, plasmas and on detection at 2 mm will be described. Potential applications of millimeter waves will be also discussed.

The IRE Bay of Quinte Section will welcome anyone interested in attending this meetings.

Fire Damages Vacant House

Fire damaged the upper storey of a vacant house at 70 Station Street early this morning. Firemen were called to the scene at 4:00 a.m. when smoke was observed coming from under the eaves by a person across the street.

The firemen had a hard time getting to the upper floor due to a great many partitions and some renovations which were underway. The force and pressure of the fire indicated that it had been going for sometime before it was discovered.

Although the roof collapsed on the south-west corner of the building, there was little damage sustained to the lower storey. Four trucks were at the scene and the fire was fought until 8:00 a.m. with four water lines being used.

The building is reported to be owned by Ben Leeman.

Other fire calls included the fire at Rossmore at 4:15 a.m. and a false alarm call to 42½ East Bridge Street at 7.00 a.m.

BUSKER GRADUATES

READING, England (CP) — Violinist Hilary Ramsell, who last summer was arrested for playing in the streets, has been given a place in this town's symphony orchestra. Conductor Martin Fogell read of the arrest and offered Ramsell the job.

Residents on the Average Read 38 Library Books in 1962 Recent Report Shows

Residents of Belleville on the average read about 38 library books during 1962.

This is the story contained in the annual report of the Centre by Public Library released this week by the librarian, Miss Margaret Lahey.

This is an increase of about 30,000 books over 1961 and is nearly four times the number of books circulated by the library 10 years ago.

Adults read 160,000 books last year, an increase of nearly 12,000 over 1961. Of the total 102,947 adult books read were fiction and 56,370 non-fiction.

In the juvenile section there were 226,000 books circulated, of which 54,383 were from the main library and 86,000 from school boxes. Circulation from branch libraries in the schools made up the balance.

During the year 1,696 new adult readers and 1,737 new juvenile members were added to the library with total borrowers at the end of the year being 12,664.

$15,248 SPENT

Also during the year 1,160 new adult fiction books, 1,642 adult non-fiction and 3,004 juvenile books were added to the library. Total book stock at the year end was 57,351. In all $15,248 was spent on new books.

In addition to the book circulation 949 films and film strips were borrowed from the film library and 174 records were loaned.

The library reading room continued to be a big item. During the year 5,000 books were mended, and 840 books were rebound.

Books on biography saw the largest circulation with useful arts in second place with a circulation of 8,083. History was a strong third at 7,380; fine arts fourth at 6,738, and travel fifth at 6,492 books circulated.

Books in the literature section of the library showed the greatest gain. In this group are books of poetry, plays, essays and literary criticism. The material is used mainly by students and those taking university extension courses.

One of the most notable areas of growth within the library was the use of reference books and other material with a great many new books being added to this collection in the past three years.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' LIBRARY

Books in the boys and girls library totalled 21,035 at the end of the year. Nine thousand, two hundred and fifty two titles are in the main library and the remainder fairly evenly divided in the libraries in the schools and the school boxes. There were 1,696 new books purchased for this department than for the adult section. This was done because the collection has had to expand to service all the public schools. A new edition of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia was added to the children's library and a Rand McNally globe.

A collection of books was placed in the Hillcrest School in September. Total libraries in the schools is now eight. It is interesting to note, however, that at the Prince of Wales School there are between fifty and sixty boys and girls enrolled in the Grade 7 Boys' Reading School. Many children from St. Joseph's School enjoy the library at the Queen Elizabeth School and young people from the Catholic School take advantage of the library facilities in the Queen Mary School.

Story hours have been held on Saturday mornings throughout the year. The most successful program was held in the fall. This was a puppet show by Mr. R. Greig. Two hundred and fifty children attended and it was necessary to have two showings.

BOARD AND LIBRARY

Library service to the patients in the local hospital began in October, 1961. This service is operated through the combined efforts of the Hospital Auxiliary and the public library. A collection of approximately three hundred books is kept at the hospital and new titles were added throughout the year. The Hospital Auxiliary donated one hundred dollars to the public library to help defray expenses.

'Moirantics' Variety Show Presented at Moira S. S.

By PAULINE JANITCH

"The play is the thing", said Shakespeare. But in the case of the "Moirantics", the theme is the thing, as delighted audiences learned last night when the annual variety show of Moira Secondary School unfolded to given its first showing in the school auditorium. The performance will be repeated this night.

The theme, "Around The World In Eighty Minutes" lightened a necessary buckle, securely enclosing time and squeezing out the possibility of incongruity.

In an hour and a half, the audience made a global circle, stopping off at focal world points and picking up local bits of color.

The Glee Club, backed by the cast, opened with, "Hi Neighbor", signalling it as the annual tradition in Moirantics.

Carolyn Chisholm, a primped and peppy tap-toe dancer, executed a spirited number, depicting Canada's famous red-jacketed Mountie.

A German Beer Garden was the next point of call. Sportive Germans climbed in, hearty drinkers and jovial dancers evoked high spirits in the audience. One of the features of this act, was the throaty bass singing solo mouthed by a not-so-manish Miss Ashcroft.

It was the teachers' turn to contribute their attic salt. And well it came through. In mid, gown personalized, monogrammed version of the Mikado. The Lord High Executioner, Mr. Holland took advantage of his position to air the grievances of "High School Teachers Amalgamated", and doomed to banishment puttering, temper-ruffling pupils.

Outstanding among the many variegated skits and monologues was "The Bride of Frankenstein". Taken into the murky depths of an Austrian castle, the audience met the horrible, hairy Igor, and his bride, and like mad creator of the monster, Al Martin. The sad delivery of lines plus the mood-promoting props added punch to this take-off.

Another regular feature in Moirantics, and we hope, a long-repeated regular was provided by the Brent boys. Their soft, "south-sea" mood-music threw overboard the proverbial belief that all guitar - playing is nothing but loud noise.

The application of colored lights in all numbers worked toward the betterment of the whole production.

Red lights added a devilish tinge to the dance routine, "Satan Takes a Holiday." While green lights painted the stage a shamrock hue for the Irish jig.

Outside of the inevitable slips of a first night performance, Moirantics was a smooth-running program. Saturday night's show, with the minute mistakes ironed out, promises to surpass the previous performance.

Some Cement Lodged in Storm Sewer

The situation has been since remedied, but the Corby Public Library for a time was all wet last summer.

In fact, the heavy flooding in the basement of both the old and new library buildings was a big problem and just as big a mystery after the heavy rain until after five or six weeks the cause was determined.

Last summer retaining walls on Campbell Street hill near the library were repaired and it seems that some concrete being used in the repair work had worked itself into the storm sewer drain and had become lodged below the library.

The result was that with heavy rains the partially plugged drain was unable to carry away the surface water and it was diverted into the library basement.

Parley to Ban Nuclear Testing Near Future

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union Friday forecast collapse of negotiations for a treaty to ban nuclear weapons unless the Western powers abandon their concept of effective enforcement.

The Soviet first deputy foreign minister, Vasily Kuznetsov, demanded that the United States and Britain accept the Russian idea of two or three on-site inspections a year instead of the eight to 10 the Western powers want.

The Soviet delegation leader phrased his speech to the 17-nation disarmament conference in take-it-or-leave-it terms.

Western sources suggested privately that Kuznetsov's demand brought the nuclear test ban talks to the brink of failure after 4½ years of bargaining.

Leonard Dobb, of 442 Sidney St., Belleville, checks out the controls of his three-seat helicopter, in the hangar at the Prince Edward Flying Club, Picton, by globe.

Belleville 'Copter Owner Off to Bahamas on Job

Belleville's only helicopter has gone south for the winter, and probably for the summer too. Leonard Dobb, of 442 Sidney Street, Belleville, left Thursday morning on a contract to fly for a Bahamian real estate firm. He is flying alone in the three-seat machine, and his schedule should lead him in the Bahamas this weekend. His wife and four children will remain in Belleville for the time being.

Leonard Dobb bought the helicopter last June, and moved to Belleville from Western Canada near the end of last summer. During the fall and early winter, he used the machine for short charter flights around the area. Soon after Christmas, he travelled to Mexico, looking for a contract to operate the machine.

A contract was offered in Mexico, but there was a hitch. It would go only to a company operated by Mexicans, and more than half Mexicon-owned.

WILL ISLAND-HOP

Finally, the Bahamian offer came up. The work will involve island-hopping, for the real estate salesmen and prospects, viewing land. There is an opportunity for more ex-citing work.

Mr. Dobb has the only licenses issued for helicopter work in the Bahamas so far, and if work for more than one helicopter is available, he may have an opportunity to add to his fleet.

Mr. Dobb came to Canada from England six years ago. Although he had learned to fly in the ATC, England's version of the air cadets, he worked as a truck driver in Canada. Soon, he bought his own fixed wing aircraft, for private use.

Then, in 1960, he took a ride in a helicopter. "The first time I sat in it I felt this is it, I'm home," he says. He paid his own way through a helicopter flying course in Fort Worth, Texas and began his career as a professional pilot.

The Bahamian contract is indefinite and Mr. Dobb thinks it will probably keep him occupied for several years. And it just might be the springboard on which he can jump from an independent helicopter pilot, with his own machine, to the owner of a fleet.

Purchases Fine Bull

One of Hastings County's largest commercial beef breeders, Harry O'Shaughnessy of Plainfield and Thomasburg has purchased "Tutria Black Magic" the three-year-old 3700 pound Galloway herd sire of H. Gordon Green and Sons, Ormstown, Quebec.

This outstanding bull hails from the land of the heather, bred by William Craig of Castle Douglas, Scotland. The Galloway is an old breed from the British Isles that has become very hot to Eastern Ontario.

Other notable herds of these large black rugged cattle can be found in western Canada and the U.S.A.

H. Gordon Green will be remembered as the popular editor of the well known magazine "The Family Herald." Mr. Green is also an importer of purebred Galloways, Highlands and Charolais cattle.

Brotherhood Week

"Brotherhood Week" is observed annually in Canada, under the auspices of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews Inc. This year it is the period from Feb. 17 to Feb. 24.

What is brotherhood? Stuart Keate, president of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Publishers Association, has a number of answers.

"It is the playing of 'Abide With Me' at the agnostic's funeral," he writes. Of course, it is nothing of the sort. It is, rather, having that respect for the beliefs and feelings of others which would require us to vehemently insist that "Abide With Me" would not be played at an agnostic's funeral.

Neither is it, as Mr. Keate's suggests, a Jew driving a Volkswagen. The average Jew is much too rational a being to cut off his nose to spite his face and, for some Jews in some circumstances, that would be precisely what refusing to drive a Volkswagen would involve. But that is no guarantee that every Jew is imbued with the spirit of brotherhood.

Neither is brotherhood universal love. There is no reason why a whiter man should not detest a black man, if the black man deserves to be detested. But the black man should not be detested because he is black. Nor should he be despised because he is ignorant, if that ignorance has been forced upon him because of his race, or by other circumstances over which he has no control.

Mr. Keate was nearer the truth when he defined brotherhood as sensitivity. This sensitivity ought to include an ability to recognize and a taste to appreciate the best, even if that best should seem to us to be exhibited most frequently by those of our own nationality, race or religion. It also ought to include that ability to understand that tastes differ and the willingness not to be so positive that our own tastes are the best.

The nice thing about brothers is that, when they are good brothers, they generally let each other alone until one or the other gets in trouble. Then they help, without preaching.

That's the kind of brotherhood we need.

This Is Shocking, if True

Marquis Childs, U.S. newspaper columnist, says that during the Cuban crisis last fall the U.S. Government asked Canada to permit "some 640 Canadian overflights with nuclear weapons." The Diefenbaker Government gave authority for only eight flights daily. This shocks Childs. It shocks us, too, but for entirely different reasons.

Childs regards the limitation to eight flights daily as "a higgling and almost obstructive response." We are shocked that it should have been necessary for the Diefenbaker Government to obstruct a measure which, whatever its real aim, would almost certainly have been interpreted by Khrushchev and his government as a brutal exhibition of rocket-rattling.

We recognize that the U.S. Government was greatly alarmed at the height of the Cuban crisis and feared a Russian surprise nuclear attack. We recognize that, in the event of such an attack, the first consideration would be to get the planes of SAC into the air, so that their retaliatory power could not be destroyed by the first Russian strike.

Childs says that the U.S. wanted to deploy its planes on forward bases, requiring thousands of flights, including polar flights over Canadian territory. Such a deployment does not appear to make much sense to us. It would merely move these planes closer to Russian short-range missiles and bombers and thereby, it would appear, make them more vulnerable if the Russians struck first. But it is quite probable that the easiest way to keep SAC planes safe would be to fly them from base to base. Nevertheless, does anybody suggest that the Russians would not have learned if 640 nuclear-armed planes flew over Canada toward the pole? Does anybody think that this would not have made the Russians nervous? Is anybody convinced that getting the Russians jittery would have enhanced the chance of a peaceful settlement of the Cuban dispute?

If the Diefenbaker Government actually did cut down the requested 640 overflights to eight a day, we congratulate it. We think it earned the thanks of Canada—and quite possibly saved the world, including the United States, from a holocaust.

All scarcity, all felt need in the world is due to human interference, stupidity, and greed. The difficulty is human, not material.—Prof. J. D. Bernal.

Ottawa Offbeat

Civil War in PC Cabinet Was Predicted by 'Offbeat'

By RICHARD JACKSON
(from The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA: Now that the dust is beginning to settle after the political civil war on Parliament Hill — which came close, but so far has failed to smash the Diefenbaker Government and drive the Prime Minister to resignation — cast your memory back to what "Ottawa Offbeat" reported last December 1.

In 10 years of punching out "Ottawa Offbeat" this correspondent never before has indulged in the usually questionable "I told you so" practice.

But this time it might be different.

For what this column disclosed — and after first writing, it was re-written and softened some — explains what has happened: an attempted political assassination of a Prime Minister.

It was softened, because at the time, the first firm, hard version simply seemed too tough to believe things turned out, that was a mistake, for in retrospect, it wasn't tough enough.

But take a couple of moments now to re-read what was disclosed more than two months ago:

ROUGH STUFF

"The Parliament Forum must have been quite a place in those dread days before they knifed Julius Caesar. . . . The Centre Block on Parliament Hill quite a place . . . the air full of rumors of conspiracies and counter-conspiracies.

"In the days of the old Romans, they had the Ides of March, a month when they worked up the nerves to dispose of their leaders.

"They assassinated them. Stabbed them in the back with daggers.

"In this more sophisticated day and age, assassination is still the knife in the back, the stab in the back the approved method of execution . . .

"Except that is the mid-Twentieth Century, when people are supposed to be a little more civilized, and there is a dagger — just a rumor, preferably very poisoned tip.

"Rough stuff.

"Maybe . . . but that's the way things seem to be."

FRIENDS AND ENEMIES

"The rumor merchants are at work on both Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Liberal Leader Pearson.

"Groping, as it were, with the poisoned word for the soft spot in each man's back.

"Both leaders, it's whispered, are on the skids, with some of their own partisans providing the grease.

"(With friends like these, who needs enemies?)

"It's not easy to discard a leader.

"First, you have to downgrade and debase him. Work on his self-esteem. Destroy his confidence. Break his heart.

"Then you can still go quietly, even gracefully.

"It's been done before, and politics being politics they are will happen again.

DO NO GOOD

"You hear whispers that certain elements in the Conservative ranks aren't as enchanted with John Diefenbaker as is a minority situation as when he packed the power of Quebec of 208 seats in the Commons.

"And not being enchanted, these elements figure their doubts doing neither him nor them much good.

"In like a conspiracy of denigration, names are being named —but not here—not yet, anyway.

"Now, here's where the poison comes on the tips of those rumor-daggers.

"Age and health, is the gossip, and with details."

(There was much, much more of course, but it didn't get into Offbeat at that time; being too rough.)

"If you listen to the talk— and working on Parliament Hill you would have to be deaf, dumb and blind not to be aware of it—even the price of the political 'martyrs' has been set."

(During the tense days when the Diefenbaker administration seemed to totter on the edge of complete collapse, the politically inspired story was kited out that the "price" of retirement was appointment to the Supreme Court as Chief Justice.)

"Now, all this can be dismissed as rumor, gossip.

"But somebody . . . and for some reason . . . has to start this rumor and gossip.

NIGHT OF THE KNIVES

"There has to be at least some wistful thinking on somebody's part to generate it in the first place.

"So somewhere . . . in some smoke-filled room,' sparks are flying off the political axe of some of the 'backroom boys.' Somebody is grinding a sharp edge and point to the knives."

And that was the way it was early last December.

It took the ensuing weeks for the drama to develop and publish like something out of best-selling novelist Arthur Hailey's "In High Places."

Then it seemed to reach its climax with Parliament Hill in such a tense state as it hadn't been in the 19 years since Mackenzie King's equally dramatic "conscription crisis."

For a few days Prime Minister, with his administration threatening to collapse all around him, appeared to be in peril of being driven by remorseless events into retirement.

Perhaps it isn't over.

There may be more to come, new and sudden developments in this political mystery melodrama.

Certainly it will be the most gripping election in living memory.

Who would have guessed, only short weeks ago, when the first whispers came shushing out of the shadows in the dark corners of Parliament Hill, that national politics could produce a thriller which would defy even the imagination of the television and fiction merchants.

Bishop Shuns Politics

Canadian Churchman

A South African Bishop whose predecessor was deported for opposing the government's racial segregation policies has told his synod that he intends to keep out of politics.

The Rt. Rev. Leslie Stradling, 54-year-old British-born successor to Dr. Ambrose Reeve as Bishop of Johannesburg, said that his duties as a Christian duties differed from those of Bishop Reeves.

" do not say this," he added, "because Church policy prevents me from speaking, but many friends have strongly advised me to keep out of politics. I admire Dr. Reeves very much, but it seems right to me to pursue a middle course.

"The laws of the land enforce apartheid. In that sense we must all accept it, but not in the sense of giving it one iota of moral support."

In an interview later Dr Stradling said he believed the South African government had the right to deport Bishops. Asked if he would protest to the authorities if a Bishop was deported under house arrest under the Sabotage Act, he replied: "I'll protect myself from attending Sunday services."

Bishop Stradling's predecessor, Dr. Reeves, was deported by post as Bishop of Johannesburg in February, 1961, after being forced out of the country because of his outspoken stand against the government's segregationist laws and policies.

Meanwhile the Bishop of Pretoria, the Rt. Rev. E. G. Knapp-Fisher, strongly defended the right of the Church to speak out on political issues.

Replying to a warning by Ben Schoeman, South African Minister of Transport, to keep out of politics, Bishop Knapp-Fisher declared that the Bible gives every encouragement to Christians to be outspoken in their judgments on social and political life.

He said Mr. Schoeman's view that it was not the task of Christians was "widespread but mistaken" and that "the Christian should have a conscience every situation in which human interests are involved."

He said the fall in that response would justify the taunt of non-Christians that religion was only a means of escape and a vague promise of future compensation for present ills.

He added he did not believe that the Transport Minister would condemn every criticism of Communism as "unwarranted interference" by Christians in politics.

Looking Backwards

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

February 16th, 1943

Eighty-year-old Mrs. Elizabeth Wait of Brighton on the south coast in England, received her call-up papers. "I wrote and told them that I had just turned eighty," she said, "but if they still want me I'll be ready."

Sterling tribute to this city for its care of the spiritual welfare of members of the armed forces and war industry workers who have moved here since the war started, was paid at the regular luncheon of the Rotary Club by the Rev. William Fingland of Niagara Falls, who has been appointed by the United Church of Canada to supervise the religious needs of which people throughout the Dominion. "I have been in many centres, in fact in some of which ministers have given up hope, but your city is by far the best I have visited yet", Mr. Fingland stated.

In the official report for 1942 concerning the Corby Public Library, it is set forth that the circulation totalled 104,629 showing an increase of 537 new members. Total memberships are now 5,000, approximately fifty-five per cent of the population. The generous services of the Ontario Intelligencer in publishing "Library Corner" and the monthly reports of the library were greatly appreciated. There were 17,049 volumes in the library on December 31, 1942. The addition has been put forth to satisfy the varying demands of the reading public for books on world events and also to provide books on an inspirational conventional and scientific nature.

30 YEARS AGO

February 16th, 1933

Although the Belleville juniors staged a belated and hectic third period rally to play a three to three tie game after being three counters down in the final period, they were eliminated from the Junior O.H.A. race by the Queen's Juniors by the score of 6 to 5 on the round. To Don Thomas, the stellar net custodian of the locals goes the bulk of the credit for his team's victory, as he turned in one of his most amazing performers exhibitions of goal tending seen in this city for a long time. "Farsan" Rigby, the local big blonde defenceman, scored the three goals for his team on individual efforts. Ken Harvey, in the final period, Rigby was one of the big factors in Belleville's attack. Four defence men, Bob Thompson, who also played on both games of the week-end, exhaustion during the tilt. Roy Covert at centre, was by far the best of Manager Prendergast's forwards, while Cy Barriage was just starting to get used to his new position when he was knocked cold by Smith. Jimmie McGuire also worked well on the line. The following players composed the Belleville team: Goal, Goodfellow; defence, Rigby and Thompson; centre, Covert; wings, Barriage and McGuire; subs, Gerry Harvey, Mayhew and Hogan. Referee, Jerry Denlord of Toronto.

Sentence Not Chicken Feed

Vancouver Sun

Pity Mississippi convict Clyde Kennard, 33, Negro. James Meredith must have been taunted off the state university campus, apparently for good. Medgar Evers, Negro civil leader, the babbling John Bircher who led the hoodlum roughriders of the desegregation riots, walks out of court a free man. Mr. Kennard, who had the temerity to seek entry to an all-white Mississippi university before Mr. Meredith's courageous breaking rocks because "he's had his day in court."

Clyde Kennard? Who's heard of Clyde Kennard?

He rated two paragraphs in a news item from Jackson, Miss., a few days ago. The state supreme court had refused to grant him a new trial.

He is in the third year of a seven-year sentence as an accessory to the theft of $25 worth of chicken feed.

Now the state says: "He's had his day in court."

Kennard insisted was the second Negro to try to break the Mississippi university color bar. Three years slapped consecutively in a state mental hospital.

Then Mr. Kennard, a paratroop veteran from Germany and Korea with three years university in Chicago behind him, applied for entry to University of Southern Mississippi, at Hattiesburg, his home town.

The State of Mississippi, embarrassed, offered to pay his expenses at any other U.S. university which would have him. Mr. Kennard said no, and appeared at USM for his formal interview.

Police promptly arrested him for reckless driving, then produced a bottle they claimed to have found in his car, an offence in dry Mississippi.

The chicken feed case stems from a co-op by an illiterate 19-year-old Negro with an uncanny sense of timing. He claimed Mr. Kennard put him up to it. He got off with probation. It was shortly after Kennard had the knowledge of the warehouse or the watchman's schedule to plan such a theft, but a jury, after 10 minutes' deliberation, found him guilty.

Mr. Meredith's graduation might have given Mr. Kennard some cold comfort.

It is now appears he will be denied even that.

Woman Loses Her Job Over Emotional Problem

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a 31-year-old daughter who is a good secretary.

She has not been very sociable since her husband's death six years ago. In recent months she has shown signs of nervousness. Occasionally she suffers from lapses of memory for a few moments, and as a result has been laid off.

Her doctor finds no physical ailments. She is ambitious and does not seem to realize her condition. What can be done? — W.B.

There's not much for me to go on in this case, but perhaps we don't need much to know what to do.

If her troubles aren't physical, what's left? They must be emotional.

With the relative shortage of psychiatrists I am deliberately reluctant to say, "Go to a psychiatrist; at the end of a list. In problems of lesser dimensions, more and more physicians are learning to help people over these emotional rough spots, and I'm glad to see increasing interest in this sort of care.

But today's case isn't a problem of lesser dimensions. When a capable young woman can't hold her job as a secretary, and good secretaries are hard to find, it's an indication that her emotional disturbance is severe. The problem is severe enough to interfere with her work, her life, and, I am sure, her happiness.

Therefore my advice decidedly is to consult a good psychiatrist. A competent one at this, unless helped, tends to get worse, not better.

How to find a psychiatrist isn't always easy. Ask your regular physician to refer you to one. You may have to wait for an appointment. In many smaller suburban communities it may be necessary to travel to a larger city to consult one.

As to the causes of such a condition, I cannot even attempt to answer. They're too complicated, by what I've said, once they're discovered, effective treatment may be devised.

Dear Dr. Molner: What makes my eyelids flaky? Is it a sign of vitamin deficiency? I'd like to cause a person to have difficulty in recognizing distant cars while driving at night? — E.M.

This sounds like a chronic conjunctivitis, or infection of the eye. Consult your eye doctor Yes, vitamin shortage can cause similar symptoms, but so can allergy — and, as I said, chronic infection is still more likely and should be checked first.

Dear Dr. Molner: There has been much publicity about deformed babies as a result of their mothers taking thalidomide early in pregnancy.

Many years ago, while traveling in Egypt, I saw several cases of children with the same sort of affliction, hands growing out of their shoulders, etc. I am curious as to what might have caused these malformations, years before the drug was known. — L.W.C.

There are hundreds of such babies in the United States, and in other countries, for this is not a new type of malformation. Our thalidomide situation simply marks a trend.

We have not, in the past, known precisely what caused these deformities, than is that something disturbed the baby's development at the time at which the tissues, organs or sometimes other parts of the body were forming.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Facts About Shingles," write Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 136, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope and 10c coin to cover handling.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

It was always my impression that the beaver was chosen for it's share of the Canadian emblem because the beaver trade had so much to do with the early exploration and history of the country. But it seems we owe the beaver a great deal more than that. We owe it, in a sense, our landscape. Some of the most interesting books of the past year, "Wildlife Sketches," published by the Ryerson Press of Fredericton, N. B., Bruce H. Wright has a chapter on the beaver which sets forth with the greatest clarity the part the beaver has played in times both ancient and modern, in the shaping of the Canadian wilderness. Mr. Wright starts his theme with an outbreak of spruce budworm plague in a mid forest. In the course, the area of forest is ruined, the ramp ites fail, the little streams run through choke. The first trees to venture into the ruin are the poplars. Then come the beaver. They dam the streams. Ponds build up. Wildfowl move in. Deer that could not survive in the spruce discover the new world. The area follows the whole process from the arrival of the beaver to their departure generations later in search of new territory to reshape with their genius. Brunswick Press has added to its valuable books to Canadian lore, notably Paul Provencher's "I Live In the Woods," and Charles Lieb's beautiful "Hunting With Rifle and Pencil."

Nova Scotia Farms

Halifax Chronicle-Herald

It is an old story that Nova Scotia imports food products to the extent of more than 30 million dollars annually. But this situation, together with the fact that total agricultural production in the province has been barely maintained since 1935 (despite a 30 per cent increase in population), is the best indicator that Nova Scotia agriculture has only failed to keep pace with other sectors of the economy but, in a sense, has actually declined.

Plan for Cutting Food Costs In Retirement Did Not Work

By THOMAS COLLINS

"This may be the finest free, testimonial yet for the supermarkets, which I don't intend it to be," he hinted, it is a warning about foo . to people going into retirement, and a warning that is long overdue. . ."

It is from a Georgia town that this message comes . . . from a gentleman named Robert G. Cross. There's more to it:

"I had made my plans to come back to the old home when I retired a year and a half ago from my retail job in Chicago", Mr. Cross says. "I had figured the economics of the matter, and had come to the conclusion — as all the experts do — that food was to be the roughest item in the retirement budget Mrs. Cross and I were setting up.

"Since I was going to a town of only 4,000 people, which is a rural town, I was all set to cut our food costs down to size. I would hunt rabbits, quail, and doves. I would fish. I would grow a garden. I would buy pork and beef in the slaughtering season from farmers outside town. All these things I had done, or seen my parents do, when I was a boy.

"But", says Mr. Cross, "I hadn't reckoned with the niceties of civilization: that a big city had conditioned me to in 30-odd years. In the first place I didn't want to kill a quail anymore. I didn't want to kill anything. I found it was even a little squeamish about eating a beautiful fish out of the water and letting it die . . ."

ONLY THE BEGINNING

But this was only the beginning for Mr. Cross . . . and Mrs. Cross. The first time he brought home a rabbit and four quail after a hunting trip with a farmer friend, Mrs. Cross took one look at the furry, feathered carcasses peppered with pellets and fled to the living room.

"Also", she said after she had calmed down and the game had been given to a neighbor, "didn't a health officer in Chicago once warn rabbits carried some kind of disease?"

Gardening didn't prove much better, what with poison sprays on the vegetables and fruit, and bugs and rot and such. "I never knew a supermarket was so appealing", says Mr. Cross. "With everything cleaned, and firm, and inspected beforehand. And wrapped in plastic paper.

"That was also the trouble in buying beef and pork from a farmer. Maybe it was all right. But it didn't look right to a city fellow who was used to picking up his meat in a plastic wrapping that stated in bold type that the Government had inspected it . . ."

The essence of Mr. Cross' warning: If you've been conditioned to the civilizing influences of supermarkets in the city, don't think you're going to save money by retirement by slaughtering and raising your own food.

Mr. Cross had a better idea than most in returning to his old home town with his pension. Two neighbors, both in their early 40's were the last of the family name left in the town. They owned and operated a feed and grain store, with a considerable sideline of farm tools and supplies. Mr. Cross negotiated to buy a 20 per cent interest in the business, leaving control to the nephews but providing him an excuse to be in town every day and a reason for living. The price was not high and Mr. Cross managed it out of his savings. The lure to the nephews was that he could tend store in the slack seasons and let them go play in Florida.

Mrs. Cross, who had also lived in the big city 30-odd years, was Mr. Cross's main problem. But she was a Nebraska girl, also with small town roots. Mr. Cross was able to buy her a finer home than they had in Chicago, and for a lot less money than the old one sold for. With the status of the Cross family name, which was remembered in the town as a good one, Mrs. Cross got a good introduction to the ladies of the town, and in a few months was off down antique lane "junking" the farm houses all around in search of plantation treasurers that Chicago's General Sherman didn't burn on his way through.

Electric heating has made a big improvement to our way of life—yet our heating bill is only $11.50 a month for our 6 room house . . . less than we used to pay and we didn't have all the advantages—

says Mrs. J. H. Ulman,

Having lived in my all-electric home 4 winters with electric heating, I couldn't think of living with any other form of heat. It's clean, healthy and surprisingly economical—

says Mr. Edwin Walker,
10 Norene Street, Midland, Ontario.

My experience with electric heating has been one of profound satisfaction, maximum safety, utmost cleanliness, no maintenance problems and complete heating comfort—

says Helen Dromboliz,
631 South Selkirk Street, Port William, Ontario.

Is electric heating revolutionizing modern living?

There is no doubt that electric home heating is already revolutionizing modern living. Thousands of Ontario homes now have it and progressive builders are installing it in many of the homes now being built. This revolution is happening because no other heating system can compare with electric heating for comfort, safety, cleanliness and trouble-free operation.

What is all-electric home heating? This is a unique system of home heating that is as easy to understand and operate as your electric appliances. When the weather gets cool (at any time of year) you just turn a dial. At once, your home is heated directly with electricity, through built-in units in each room.

Only electric heating gives you a choice of heating systems. Electric baseboard heating fits snug along the wall at baseboard level. Insulated electric cable is hidden in the ceiling or below the floor. And there are other units, some that can be flush mounted in the ceilings or walls.

WHAT ALL-ELECTRIC HEATING DOES FOR YOU

Only electric heating gives you custom-comfort. You can dial exactly and precisely the temperature you want for any room in the home. That's because electric heating offers you a thermostat in every room.

The air is more healthful with electric heating—not dry or stifling.

Electric heat is gentle and constant. There are no cold spots in the home or uncomfortable blasts of hot air.

A safety breakthrough in home heating. Flammable fuel is neither stored nor piped into your home and the entire system is completely flameless.

The world's cleanest heating system. Next to sunlight, electric heating is the cleanest in the world. It cannot create dust, soot, smoke or dirt of any kind. It is completely odourless.

You get more living space. Because electric heating doesn't need a furnace you have extra living area in the basement.

Low installation cost. Electric heating is easy to install. No furnace or fuel tank is necessary. And with electric heating there are no annual maintenance costs!

However, any home with electric heating should be built to Hydro standards of insulation.

What about operating costs? In many municipalities the rate for electric heating has been reduced as much as 30% during the last 2 years. This means that in some areas it costs less to heat a home electrically than with other systems. In other places, the cost is about the same. In the few areas where rates are still slightly higher, the difference is negligible compared to the extra value electric heating gives you.

Guaranteed installation. Choose an electric heating contractor who is qualified to back his work with the industry recognized Triple Seal of Quality guarantee. This guarantee covers both equipment and installation.

THE LONG-TERM ECONOMY OF ELECTRIC HEATING PROVES THAT IF YOU ARE BUILDING OR BUYING A NEW HOME, WHATEVER THE SIZE, THERE IS NO REASON WHY YOU SHOULD SETTLE FOR ANYTHING LESS THAN THE CUSTOM-COMFORT, SAFETY AND CLEANLINESS OF THE HEATING SYSTEM THAT IS REVOLUTIONIZING MODERN LIVING.

For more information and estimates, contact your qualified electric heating contractor or your local Hydro office.

ELECTRIC HEATING FOR YOUR PRESENT HOME
If you are planning home extensions or parts of your home are not now properly heated, you can install supplementary electric heating for less than it costs to extend your present heating system.

NATIONAL EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

A NEW AND IMPROVED SERVICE

For Employers and Job Seekers in Executive and Professional Categories

We have centralized in Kingston our Executive and Professional Placement Service for the following localities:

CORNWALL — PRESCOTT — BROCKVILLE — GANANOQUE
NAPANEE — BELLEVILLE — PICTON — TRENTON

By doing this, we have been able to staff our Kingston office with specialists who will be able to devote their full time to finding highly qualified executive and professional workers for the vacancies that employers list with us. These same specialists will also be devoting their full efforts to the employment needs of job-seekers with these qualifications.

Another big advantage of our centralization is that it will make more effective the NES "CLEARANCE" service. "Clearance" simply means that if we can't find the right man in the Kingston area for an employer's vacancy, we can use any or all of the country-wide chain of 200 NES offices to locate a properly-qualified applicant. At the same time, it means that if we have difficulty in finding the type of work that an applicant is seeking we can use the same procedure to help him.

Our new centralization will result in faster and better application of this service for area residents.

Technological advance has resulted in the executive and professional worker assuming a more and more important place in the labor force. To keep abreast of this change, and to provide employers and workers in the area with the best possible service — that is why we are initiating this new service.

SNOW, SNOW, SNOW — EVERYWHERE!

"When raindrops grow just freezing cold up in the sky, you know, they put their coats of ermine on and drift to earth as . . . snow!" — Martha Martin.

Do you recall reading in this column a letter from a Canadian girl (her mother was a former resident) describing her life as a student at the University of London, in England? Since then, having married, she's now living in London, where her husband is on the staff of the London School of Tropical Medicine.

Last week a letter from her appeared in her Canadian home town paper. She gives an interesting account of this severe winter in London, and writes in part:

"You might think that two Canadians living in England, would welcome a winter in which there was a little snow. Snow can be a bit of a nuisance during our long Canadian winters, but somehow I felt unjustly deprived when my first winter spent in England was snowless. When last winter we did finally have some snow, my husband and I revelled like children through the lovely drifts and felt genuinely disappointed when it disappeared before the streets and overhanging branches five days later.

"This winter has been different. Whatever romantic attachment I may have felt for the snow before, now I long to see the end of it. In Canada we expect the snow every winter and we are prepared for it; the English are understandably are not. Why should they spend thousands of pounds for equipment which they may not during the course of the year use at all? Even if there is snow, its duration will generally be so short that the equipment will have a very limited use at best . . .

"The English simply are not accustomed to these snowbound conditions. It is not an offence in England to leave snow on your front walk and in our neighborhood I have seen only one properly cleared sidewalk. In most cases no attempt to remove the snow has been made at all. I notice that this past week small gangs of workmen have been trying with pickaxe and shovel to clear the packed snow from the busiest areas, but most of the main walks, even though they are sanded, have such irregular surfaces that they are almost impossible to walk on, and many pedestrians have taken to the roads.

"Everywhere the speed of travel has been cut down by almost half and more than that initially. We live in the north end of London. Normally it takes me half to three-quarters of an hour to go by public transport into the centre of the city; my husband must do this everyday to get to work. On the second day after the big storm I went with him. We waited half an hour for a bus which normally comes every twelve minutes.

Finally, a pleasant gentleman in a Rolls Royce stopped and offered us a lift. A few drivers were doing this, but as our host said, it took every bit of one's courage to do so. Those who stopped were invariably eyed with suspicion. Despite their reserve, however, the English seem on the whole to be treated better than we Canadians about offering people lifts . . .

"Coming home . . . there was a signal failure on the tube line and all the caution lights were red. There must have been at least three such lights between each station and the breakdown was between five and six stations. Each time we passed a signal the train automatically stopped, and each time it stopped the pressure on the brakes was increased so that the driver had to put out under the train and reset them.

"I was a little surprised when, in spite of having spent over three hours to transit the day before, my husband set out for work again the next morning. I couldn't help wondering what might happen this time. Again it took him more than an hour and a half to get into the city. There had been a derailment at Edgware, a station just north of us.

"One thing this winter has made us realize it how much we take modern services for granted. It is a good thing for our souls when occasionally we are forced to admit just how dependent we are on mechanical and physical aids beyond our control."

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS
VISITING PROSPECTIVE IN-LAWS

When a young man "pops the question," very often the next thing he says is that the young lady visit his parents to get acquainted.

In the natural course of events, he usually knows her parents quite well, from being underfoot so often during the courting period Frequently, though, he may not be in the home town of his bride-to-be, while the parents live in another town. As a result, his fiancee may be only slightly acquainted with his family or may never have met them at all.

This is the situation with a young reader who writes:

"I've just become engaged to a man I've worked with and dated for almost a year. I've never met his parents. He now wants me to spend a few days at their home, so we can get to know each other. I haven't heard directly from his mother, and wonder if I should go on his invitation alone. Would this be proper? When we do go, how should I address his parents? Any other tips you can offer on how to behave during such a trying period would be appreciated."

Taking first things first, the invitation is to make such a visit should come from the mother of the groom-to-be. It may seem like a technicality — she may have told her son to make arrangements — but a pleasant note from her, personally, saying how happy the family is about the engagement and requesting a visit helps quiet any qualms the nervous young lady may have.

Once the proper invitation is received and accepted, plans can go forward for the visit. If any special entertainment is scheduled, the newly-engaged girl should be told in advance, either by her fiance or his mother, so she'll be able to pack the proper clothes. Even if they travel together by train or plane, the young lady pays her own fare.

Upon arrival, she then begins a role a well-mannered house guest. Parents and other older members of the family are addressed as Mr. and Mrs., unless they ask that first names be used.

During such a visit, there's usually outside social activity, such as dinner or lunch at the home of friends. Invitations to visits to and from to meet hometown friends are of the proud fiance. The young lady should bow to all plans graciously. Naturally, any show of displeasure or coldness would be in bad taste. Handholding and the like, should be reserved for more private moments.

If the household is small and there is no help, then the guest, and especially one who is about to become a member of the family, takes care of tidying her own room and making her own bed in the morning. She may even offer to help with other chores, but her hostess' wishes should be observed in this matter. While the idea is to get to know the family on a personal basis, it's wiser not to get involved in family politics at this point. There's plenty of time for that later.

After returning home, a thank-you note should be sent to the young man's mother. A small token, such as flowers, would also be appropriate. Notes should also be sent to members of the family and their friends who entertained the couple during the visit.

PLAN RATION BOOKS

LONDON (AP)—Britain will print a supply of food ration books this year to be held in reserve in case of war. Disclosing this fact in the House of Commons Thursday, a spokesman for the good ministry said: "We regard it as a necessary adjunct of long-term planning for food defence."

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mrs. I.S. — Now that the man is willing to marry her, she refuses.

Wanda — Maybe some day, I will, but not under this cloud.

Mrs. I.S. — My 18-year-old daughter has gotten herself into such a mess that life doesn't seem worth living any more for either of us.

She's pregnant by a married man. He put up the money for an illegal operation which was performed in another country. This cost was in the thousands. But now we learn that she must have been carrying twins, for she's still pregnant despite the surgery!

Since the man and his wife are childless and estranged, they have offered to adopt one so that he can marry Wanda and legitimatize the child. This seems like the best way out. But now, at this late date, she says she wants to give the baby away and keep him.

Wanda S. — In spite of the terrible state you're in, I think you'll be able to look ahead. This is due to some advice I've been getting at the shelter where I'm awaiting the birth of this child My mother thinks it's ridiculous, but I don't.

They've helped me see how mistaken it is. This man is 32 and I found him such a comfort during the year after my father's death. But the psychologist has pointed out to me that I never loved Bill and that I'm able to love anyone because I haven't. I'm so full of anger against my mother, and even against myself.

I want to sign the baby away for adoption, as the agency suggests, and then get myself straightened out emotionally.

The Council: The longer we work at this let's-talk-it-over business, the more we are heartened by the good advice our readers get from the accredited agencies we refer them to. Of course we only inject the name of an organization as a third "arm," in cases where a person's own two hands may not be able to handle the whole load. Usually we aim to suggest an okay approach to take on the spot, and on the double.

Invited to consider Wanda's problem at this crucial point, we can't do much more than urge her mother to think her stars that the girl is at last in the care of experts. It would be madness and folly to backtrack into the long from which Wanda is painfully extricating herself. The girl is emotionally rocky, if not ill. The man also is in great shakes as a specimen of mental and moral health. Why compound the "felony"? Psychiatrists repeatedly warn their patients that one of the ugliest decisions, such as whom to marry or whether to quit school, while under stress.

Wanda is now, and will be for a while, under the sort of care which will, with luck, prepare her to make sound choices and judgments. At present she is hardly a mature person, and is not ready to be as adequate wife or mother to anyone — regardless of her sexual excursions.

An extra dividend may accrue from hashing over with her the shelter staff This will be some attention for Mrs. S., Her state of defensiveness borders on the suicidal as she describes her life as not worth living. As part of the counselling, Wanda's supervisors will certainly bring in her mother a few times. Perhaps that pounding of "anger" can be shaved down to a molehill.

Canadian Fashion & Fad

BY pegg rogers

THAT THREE-LETTER WORD — AND ITS PLACE IN FASHION

Do the designers, colorists and all the people involved in the world of fashion deliberately set out to create and sell fashions which will underline and emphasize the femininity of all women? Some seasons they reach unanimous agreement in the production of graceful feminine fashions, which flatter the wearer, but other seasons they go in a whole new direction and fashions which are frightening in color and line.

A few years ago, the hosiery industry made a hit with the "Nude Look" — seamless hose. Even sometimes, lured on the idea that a seam at the back of the leg, created an illusion of length, hence gracefulness, fell for the new "Nude Look", which is feminine.

The success of Dior's postwar "New Look" in its full, long skirts, tight waistlines, rounded olines and all the rest of the "real woman" trappings, can be attributed largely to the universal desire on the part of everyone to return to normal living. Women, just out of uniform, bought these feminine fashions, delighting in swishing around in full skirts and high heels. Men, newly returned from war, enjoyed watching this parade.

How much of this feeling of submerged sexuality is evident in this spring's early collection? Or, will it be one of those seasons when all designers seem to want to prove that they hate their mothers?

We think that it's a season for the "real woman". First, consider all the subtle, flattering colors being introduced. French Vanilla is a tone which can't help but enhance a brunette. Clay tone is flattering on all blondes. The general silhouette, with its slightly shaped lines, moves closer to the body, not to emphasize its curves, but to subty suggest a feminine figure.

Hats, always the first sign of spring, are more wearable this season. The wide width of crowns and brims flatter more faces. The extreme comic "Rube Goldberg" styles of the hand provoking, to say the least) are absent from the better collections. In their places are mysterious Matador - brimmed hats, or graceful, brimmed cloches. Most men like them, med hats on women. Why? No one really knows for sure, except that a curving brim casts interesting shadows and frames the face, a feature to be overlooked, especially if it is small and not visible when viewed from the front.

Most men make fun of overly large handbags, noisy bracelets and extremely high heels, which cause accidents and also damage floors. What's new for spring?

Smaller handbags, chain jewelry and lower heels!

We do wonder what the average man will say when he sees the new bathing suits, with their figure - shrouding overblouses. We don't know who started this trend, but we're sure he had his mother!

Readers' Saturday Column

by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

I have read your column for many years and used many of your recipes. I have a large family, 9 children and am therefore, constantly looking for flavorful and economical meals. I wonder if you could send me a recipe for Jambalaya using leftover cooked ham. Also, do you have a recipe for Veal Birds, using mushrooms and cooked in the oven with little or no liquid. These Veal Birds were prepared in small strips of meat and secured with toothpicks. — Mrs. N. H.

ANSWER:

I have mailed to you my recipe for Jambalaya which appeared here in June '61. You might like to try this one too.

JAMBALAYA (Ham — but shrimp or chicken could be substituted):

¼ cup butter or margarine or oil, 1 cup long grain raw rice, 1 onion, sliced, ½ teaspoon thyme (optional), 1 clove garlic, crushed, 2 cups water, 1 tsp. chopped, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 4 cups cooked ham, cubed or minced parsley (optional), 1 to 1½ lbs. ham, cooked and chopped.

Heat large frying pan melt butter or fat and add rice and cook until rice is opaque and straw-colored. Now add the onion, thyme, garlic, green pepper and red pepper if used, salt, pepper and paprika and saute until vegetables are limp. Now add all remaining ingredients (and, if desired, 1 cup cooked shrimp) and cook, gently, covered, until rice is tender. If possible avoid stirring. Serves 6 generously.

SATURDAY

Dinner Menu

Navy Bean Soup (see Thursday); Toasted Rye or Whole Wheat Bread; Generous Chef's Salad with Roquefort Dressing; Blueberry Pie with Cheddar Cheese; Tea.

VEAL BIRDS:

2 lbs. ¼" veal cutlet or slices cut from veal shoulder, about 1 cup bread stuffing, ¼ cup flour, ¼ cup fat, 1 10-oz. can mushroom soup, undiluted (or cream milk).

Pound veal to be sure it is not more than ¼" thick. Cut into oblongs 4"x6". Place 2 tablespoon bread stuffing on each piece and roll up and fasten with toothpicks. Sprinkle with salt, roll in flour and saute in fat until browned on all sides. Transfer to baking dish and pour over undiluted mushroom soup (or milk) and bake, covered, at 350 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes. Remove cover until much of the moisture evaporates — about 1 hour in all.

LETTER:

I have been meaning to write you for some time as both my husband and I enjoy your column. However, a vision of you picking up cocoanut in the snow has prompted this letter. At college I was asked to leave a flat because I tried to open a cocoanut on the radiator of an old house. Since, I have learned the following quicker method. Spike cocoanut and drain milk. Place on pie plate in low 250 deg. oven for 15-25 minutes. Remove and cook till easy to handle. Insert blunt knife or screw driver in opening and tap lightly with hammer. It should open into several large pieces. This method has the advantage that the brown inner skin is shed or will come away from the meat easily. If this doesn't work, the cocoanut can be re-heated, taking care not to cook it — Mrs. Harry H.

ANSWER:

Did the landlady actually evict you for nut cracking?! Thanks a thousand.

The bride is the former Miss Glenda Margaret Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Graham of Madoc, R.R. 3, Ontario, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. Walter Whitelaw, of Toronto, and the late Mrs. Whitelaw.

WHITELAW — GRAHAM

St. James' Bond Street United Church, Toronto, was the scene for a recent lovely double-ring winter wedding, when Glenda Margaret Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Graham, of Madoc, R.R. No. 3, was united in marriage to Glen Robert Whitelaw, son of Mr. Walter Whitelaw, of Toronto, and the late Mrs. Whitelaw, by the Reverend Mr. Denning. White potted mums and blue iris made a pretty background for the ceremony.

The traditional wedding music was rendered by Mr. J. Peters, church organist, who accompanied the soloist, Mr. John Druif in his rendition of "The Wedding Prayer," before the ceremony, and "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiantly lovely in her bridal gown of white satin-face peau de soie, featuring a fitted bodice having a rounded neckline and long fitty-point sleeves. The bodice back was accented by a large bow. She wore a shoulder-length veil of illusion silk tulle, with crown type headdress with bow, a single strand of pearls, and carried a cascade bouquet of red Sweetheart roses.

Miss Shirley Hall, of Madoc, as maid of honor, was attired in a street-length gown of delphinium-blue satin, with matching headdress in pillbox design, short veil, matching shoes and gloves. She carried a nosegay of pink and white roses.

Mr. David Burdick, of Toronto, was groomsman, while Mr. Elwood Graham, brother of the bride, and Mr. Eric Bennie, of Toronto, ushered the guests.

The reception, following the ceremony, was held at the Golden Mile Banquet Room, in Toronto, where the bride's table was appointed in the traditional nuptial manner with a white damask cloth, centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, and misted about the base with white tulle, and flanked by tall pink candles in silver holders.

The bride's mother received guests wearing a brown brocade gown with matching hat and gloves, and wearing a corsage of yellow mums.

For the wedding trip to the American Niagara Falls, the bride chose a three-piece double-knit ensemble of raspberry red, with beige brocaded hat, matching shoes and purse, and corsage of white roses.

Guests attended from Belleville; Madoc; Campbellford; Niagara Falls, U.S., Toronto and Oshawa, Ontario.

Previous to the marriage, the bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower given by Elizabeth Rollins, with Mrs. Rex Rollins, as co-hostess. She was also the guest of honor at a presentation of stacking tables from the office staff of the National Trust Company, Limited, Toronto; at a community shower in Cooper when she was presented with matching lamp tables, and coffee table.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw will reside at 19 Bannockburn Street, Toronto, Ontario.

Puerto Rico Goes American But Keeps Spanish Heritage

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — Languishing in what the brochures describe as the "air conditioned comfort" of our room in the new wing of the Condado Beach Hotel, we leafed through a weekly entertainment-and-gossip magazine called the San Juan Diary to see what was doing.

What was doing was:

Downstairs in the Fiesta Room, newly decorated by a Frenchman, Ana Maria, her heel-clackers, maracca-snappers and Grandes-singers were holding forth nightly. Competition included Senor Wences and Rafael de Cordova troupe at the Caribe Hilton; Carlos Ramirez and Mandy Campo at the El San Juan; and Arturo Somolano conducting the Philharmonic Orchestra of Puerto Rico every Sunday at 7 p.m. in the lobby of the Hotel La Concha.

There were a few disturbing non-Spanish notes. The lavish new Americana Hotel was featuring, for some reason, a revue of Russian Gypsy Music, and a couple of new French restaurants, steak au poivre stood cheek-by-jowl with paella in Valenciana on the menus. It may also be noted that the Red Rooster Restaurant, noted for its bagels and lox, opened an upstairs branch coyly named the Lei Kosher Restaurant, its feature you'll-never-guess-what.

SUDDENLY BECAME AMERICAN

What was doing in Puerto Rico was this: For nearly four centuries it was Spanish. Then little more than half a century ago it suddenly became American. This is a traumatic experience for anyone's psyche. Especially a Spaniard's.

The synthesis of cultures has become curiouser and curiouser. The Spanish have been undertaking over in a manner that makes the Puerto Rico migration to New York look like an American Express tour. Shopping centers with discount houses—enthusiastically patronized by the Puerto Ricans — all but blot out the skyline of Hato Rey. San Juan's posh Condado and Santurce sections are blossoming in the gaudy contemporary tons of still more hotels and the inevitable co-op apartments. Sodium vapor-lit driveways insinuate themselves among the pastel concrete homes and the latticework and wrought iron casas with a kind of separatist-but-equal indiscrimination.

There are, however, manful strivings to cater to the Puerto Ricans ancestral memories, his yearning to return to the womb of Mother Spain. A furniture company in New York which specializes in authentic imitation antiques is doing a booming business mostly from Puerto Rico, on such items as 17th century writing desks of Barcelona and Queen Isabella fourposters.

Its chief customers are such hotels as the aforementioned Condado Beach, one of the few older places in San Juan maintaining a Parisian clientele as well as a nostalgic atmosphere. It now consists of three wings of varying vintages, each a monument to somebody's lit a of old Spain at the time it was built. In the new wing, beamlike headboards of the beds appear to have been lifted from the set of a Zorro movie.

One of the leading customers of this antiques-to-order firm appear to be the new El Convento Hotel in the intriguing old quarter of San Juan, and the equally new El Conquistador, Hotel in Puerto Rico's northeast coast.

IMAGINATIVE TASTE

The former, built in the shell of a real 18th century convent, may be the only centrally air conditioned medieval castle in captivity. Unlikely as it is, except is, it registers as an astounding exercise in imaginative taste and creative decor for hotels.

El Conquistador has a view that was carefully chosen and for which it is architecturally appropriate. It overlooks the peaceful fishing harbor of Las Croabas, high above a beach reached by a cable car. Nestled in the distance lies the free port mecca of St. Thomas, soon to be accessible from the hotel by motor launch. There is also a nearby island used by the navy for target practice, affording free fireworks.

Though unashedly modern, El Conquistador uses classic Hispanic taste in some of the most expensive furnishings ever put into a hotel, and at prices to match. It has also been carefully erected so the views of neither the mountains nor the sea are ever obstructed by concrete. Even its hallways and lounges are outdoors.

Thus, while the Americans invade the beaches, Puerto Rico looks once more to its heritage and comes up with a rose in its teeth After all, man does not live by rice and beans alone!

SMALL TALK

Too Slow Heat Makes Too Cold Lady

By ZENA CHERRY

I don't like Mrs. Henry Ford. Oh, sure, she's good-looking and probably charming but every time I get into a cold car I wonder why she doesn't tell her husband to tell someone to get a heater that beats in one block, instead of thirty. Unless you're a commuter or on a long trip (the thing then broils you and you're always fiddling with it) in city driving, by the time the heat's arrived, you have, too.

It kills me. The automotive industry comes up every year with something new and supposedly miraculous. For instance, Ford's Fairlane doors now have freeze-up-proof locks plus the same expensive sound when shutting that only Rolls Royce used to have.

To light your way around corners at night, Cadillac has a lamp stuck in the side of each fender.

Recall in the Rambler will not only move up and down but you can lower the back to make for sleeping in comfort.

You have more choice than ever before - - Chrysler alone has 84 models to understand millions' have been lavished on developing new engines like Buick's V-6.

Recently the 60 millionth car slid off the Ford production line - - and 1963 marks a yearlong observance for the Ford Motor Co. of Henry Ford's birth. He was born on July 30, 1863. I'll bet there will be many more engineering breakthroughs announced. But what do you bet there won't be a word about heat.

If I were Mrs. Ford, I can assure you things would be different.

Famous Person You Admired."

A cup and saucer gift was made to Mrs. Florence Heath, who is ill and has moved to reside in Toronto with her son.

Shirley also read another appropriate article on "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow."

Gladys Bonsor and Cynthia Wright took charge of the devotional, after which games were enjoyed and the usual cup of tea served.

RYLSTONE — Mrs. Jim Milne was hostess for the Rylstone Women's Institute on February 6, when they held their regular meeting in the Sunday School rooms of Zion United Church at Petherick's Corners. There was a small attendance with only seven members present.

A large portion of the meeting was taken up with the planning of community supper for February 18th for which a limited number of tickets have been sold. A design for place mats depicting "Farm Safety" was made by Alex Brunton, son of a member, Mrs. Marion Brunton and sent in to contest headquarters. Another contest of "Safety on the Farm" shown on camera slides was participated in by Mrs. Stanley Kerr of Rylstone who received $10. as fourth prize for her entry. A card party in aid of the Campbellford Hospital Auxiliary will be held some time in March and details are to be advertised later. Mrs. Ernest Jones volunteered to be curator for Rylstone Women's Institute Tweedsmuir histories and will attend a meeting in Madoc in the near future.

A demonstration on making a table centre for Valentine's Day was given by Mrs. Jim Milne, the hostess, and the result was most beautiful.

H.J. Clarke H-S Assoc. Enjoys Cards

The annual Valentine card party of the Bayview - Harry J. Clarke Home and School Association enjoyed another successful evening.

The large crowd of 230 parents who attended for an evening of cards and to support the Association, filled the auditorium to capacity. Extra tables and chairs were placed in the hall to meet the overflow attendance.

Mr. S. Howell, president of the Association, welcomed the parents and expressed his thanks for their support and encouragement in making the evening such a success.

in his mind, he should call the Better Business Bureau. We are a member of it."

Mr. Trotter also urged the establishment of an office of public defender to make sure accused persons receive a fair trial.

URGES COURT REFORM

Kenneth Bryden (NDP—Toronto - Woodbine) urging court reforms, said Toronto courts are dispensing "a sausage machine system of justice."

"Men are pushed into the courts, measured out in length, and they're out of court again before they know it," he said.

He urged the appointment of an "ombudsman," a civil servant independent of government, to protect individuals from unjust or arbitrary government decisions; provision of a short statement of rights before a person is questioned by police and an independent committee to recommend reforms in court facilities and procedures.

Premier Robarts assured the legislature that "ample opportunity" will be given to debate the report on Ontario's royal commission on crime when it is available.

He overrode demands by Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer that the estimates of the attorney - general's department should not be debated until Mr. Justice W. B. Roach's report is made public.

Mr. Wintermeyer said there would be no opportunity to debate the administration of justice effectively if the department's spending program was approved before the report was tabled.

PRESS FOR ELECTIONS

Liberal members renewed pressure for byelection in Halton, Sault Ste. Marie, Wentworth and Hamilton Centre, left vacant by the resignations or death of the members.

They drew criticism from Donald C. MacDonald, New Democratic Party leader, after Mr. Trotter, calling for amendments permitting an automatic byelection when a seat becomes vacant, said failure to call the byelections would make the government appear as a "party in power for 20 years and afraid to face the people."

"It's like the pot calling the kettle black," Mr. MacDonald said. "The Liberal party out of office always talks differently from the Liberal party in power."

nuclear warheads, then said Canada should honor its commitments and accept them, and finally—"when the brickbats began to fly"—said Canada should renegotiate its commitments.

As for the Liberal proposal to refer the matter to a parliamentary defence committee, Mr. Douglas said this is "a clumsy device to get out of having to take a clear-cut stand on this issue."

He described the Social Credit party as in "the very fortunate position" of having two leaders, Robert Thompson and deputy leader Real Caouette, who were saying different things.

Mr. Douglas said Social Credit is a party of two heads. One head did the thinking, the other the talking.

"Mr. Caouette talks faster than Mr. Thompson thinks," he said.

CLAIMS THEY DIFFER

He said Mr. Thompson had said Canada should honor its commitments and accept nuclear weapons. But meanwhile, Mr. Caouette was saying in Quebec that Canada should reject nuclear warheads at home and abroad.

Elaborating on the New Democratic Party stand, Mr. Douglas said his party never had advocated neutralism and unilateral disarmament.

The object was to get the nuclear powers to negotiate a nuclear disarmament under international inspection and control. Meanwhile, Canada could contribute in these three ways:

It could seek to strengthen the United Nations and expand it into a world authority, a world police force and world court. Canada is regularly a member of the force. The alternative to a force such as this was chaos and civil war on a world scale.

CAN USE INFLUENCE

Canada also could use its influence — already considerable with Afro-Asian groups—to lessen the tensions which could contribute in these three ways:

It could make conventional military resources available to the United Nations, along with economic and technical aid and personnel, to help meet "what in the final analysis is the real threat—hunger and misery that drive men to desperate acts."

Mr. Douglas reiterated his proposal to spend two per cent of the Gross National Product on aid to underdeveloped nations. He said this would amount to between $700,000,000 and $800,000,000 a year.

ment that French elections didn't mean anything.

When the Sputniks began orbiting in 1957 Khrushchev seemed to develop a new awareness of his dignity and that of his country which may also have had a lot to do with it.

He made his sensational social debut in November, 1954, at a national day reception in the Yugoslav embassy. Georgi Malenkov was premier then, but Khrushchev was the star of the evening.

Both men made straight for the Western press, who were flabbergasted at this first opportunity in history to link arms, sing songs and drink with the rulers of Russia.

PRESENCE A TIPOFF

Of course, there was a political motivation. Khrushchev's presence at the Yugoslav embassy was the tipoff that the Kremlin intended to patch up its quarrel with President Tito in a spectacular manner.

He frequently had a major political or propaganda motive for his virtually nonstop partying, none more so than when he danced the cha-cha-cha with president Sukarno of Indonesia in June, 1961.

Khrushchev chose the same night for this display of gay abandon as President Kennedy chose to report to the American people on his "somber" meeting with the Soviet premier in Vienna.

A top aide told reporters the idea was to drive home the contrast between Soviet confidence and American nervousness after the meeting of the two.

"My tongue is my secret weapon" Khrushchev once told reporters parently reflecting Communist concern over the episode, said only a handful of the African students in Bulgaria had wasted the student union.

An article in the Moscow youth newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda said that everything possible is done to make foreign students happy in the Soviet Union. The article made no reference to Bulgaria.

About 600 students from Africa, Asia and Latin America are at Patrice Lumumba University in Moscow. Some of them have complained to Western embassies over what they considered being segregated at a separate university. More than 100 have applied at the U.S. embassy for American scholarships and visas.

Confined to Books and Barracks

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—I'm in my third year high school and failed grade nine. My parents were so angry with my marks and my attitude toward school that they completely cut me off from dating and recreation. School and church is my limit.

But now that I'm in grade ten I can honestly say I've tried much harder. I guess I should eat, sleep and sit with a book though, because I just barely passed my Christmas exams.

I'm not allowed to go out at all now! I am sixteen and more popular this year than ever before. I would take any other punishment, but this hurts. I can't wait until my Easter exams to show my parents the improvement, so what now?

Do you think they are being too hard on me?—PRISONER.

DEAR PRISONER—Don't think they don't notice you studying. But if they let down the bars now, what will happen?

You've got from now until Easter to prove something. Prove it. Then you'll be in a position to arbitrate.

DEAR DORIS—Would you give me some information on being a ballet dancer? I would like to exercise myself and learn a few ballet steps and dances. I have no ballet slippers.—EDIE.

DEAR EDIE—Nothing better for poise, posture and physical health—not to mention fallen arches!

You can learn the fundamentals at home; the splits, the plie, the pendue, the Arabesque and other positions. Ballet slippers and tights—and a good book on the subject—are what you need to get started.

Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope next time for the name of an excellent book, complete with exercises.

DEAR DORIS—Our dear widowed daughter has for the last year loved and been loved by an unhappily married man of another faith and race, with two children. He tells me that some day I will be glad of his devotion and happy that they will be living in married bliss.

I do him justice; I believe he really means this. Meanwhile, he keeps an eye on his two children and tries to get his wife, from whom he is separated, established. I am leaning over backward to be fair to him.

My husband is sick about this. I have talked against it to the point of alienating my daughter. What is the answer? —NEED HELP.

DEAR NEED—If both your religious countenance divorce (and I gather they do), who are you to decide your daughter's chances for marital bliss?

Agreed that different races may mean highly clashing backgrounds; but the decision rests on individual common interests and mutual attraction. Don't hamper your girl's clear thinking with your prejudices.

DEAR DORIS—The problem, as usual, is husband trouble. He is 48, very jealous, actually a sort of insane affair inside, that makes him lose all sense of reasoning. He then is capable of using his fists. This has been worse the last two years. He will ridicule the girls and argue to prove he is right, until everyone is completely at a loss. Living day by day is like living with a lawyer in court, who is waiting to tie you up or prove you wrong.

We can only have company if they are his men friends, then everything is lovely, darling this and that, and how smart the girls are. He is truly of the opinion that his intelligence rating is above average. We are continually hearing how much his bosses think of him, always some tid-bit as to his importance.

I have been accused of having affairs a good many times. I am truly afraid to talk to men. Women friends I do not have, as he must end up by having them.—FED UP.

DEAR FED UP—It happened to him a long time ago—a circumstance which made him unhappy. A broken home, feuding parents, or life with a mean old stepmother.

So he grew up full of resentments; found his defence in lording it over anybody who would take it. You did. Another type wife would have hit back—fast. A third would have walked out long since.

Have you got the fortitude, at this late date, to begin reacting violently — perhaps with a good old-fashioned tongue lashing? He must know you mean to walk out, bag and baggage, unless he reforms.

Your family agency would be behind you in all this—indeed, with more detailed knowledge of the situation they can advise you as to whether it's worth a try. Get in touch with the Children's Aid Society, 63 West Moira St., Belleville, which counsels on family problems as well as when children are involved.

(If it's etiquette, ask Doris. She knows the Canadian way.)

appearances that Prime Minister Diefenbaker will make in Ontario and I expect I will be on the platform with him but I will not be on the others."

May 19, on a platform at Chatham with the prime minister, he read this statement: "If anyone thinks for one minute that I am less than enthusiastic in supporting you . . . I am here tonight to assure you . . . that I am with you all the way."

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Robarts statement would disappoint many opponents of the party.

Former premier Leslie Frost also accompanied the prime minister for a day's whistle-stopping last June 4 and said: "I'm for John just 101 per cent."

HALVES PC STRENGTH

But the election virtually halved Conservative strength in the province. The party came back with 35 members to 44 for the Liberals and six for the New Democratic Party.

Premier Roblin of Manitoba has said he will be busy this time with his own legislature.

Last year, the Conservative premier was with Mr. Diefenbaker on Manitoba platforms and strongly endorsed him and his farm policy.

The Conservatives lost one of the 14 Manitoba seats to the Liberals and two to the New Democratic Party.

Since Mr. Roblin has been touted as a future candidate for the national Conservative leadership, it is believed he will offer at least as much backing to Mr. Diefenbaker as before.

Premier Bennett of British Columbia was one premier who ventured outside his own province to make a brief swing into Eastern Canada early in June for Social Credit. Premier Manning started supporting Social Credit formally on May 18 but stayed in Alberta.

Two Social Credit MPs were elected in each province which, like Quebec, had no representation from that party in the Commons after the 1958 election.

NDP PREMIER STUMPS

In Saskatchewan, Premier Lloyd stumped for the New Democratic Party and National Leader T. C. Douglas, former premier, headed the slate of 17 candidates who were defeated.

In New Brunswick, where Liberal Premier Robichaud worked hard, Liberals captured six of the 10 seats for some gains. In Nova Scotia, where Conservative Premier Stanfield stood beside Mr. Diefenbaker on platforms, Liberals gained two of the 12 seats.

Conservative Premier Shaw of Prince Edward Island, backing Mr. Diefenbaker, saw all four seats stay Conservative.

Liberal Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland, who by his own appraisal worked his hardest yet for the national party, is regarded as personally responsible for the federal machine there. Five of the seven seats stayed Liberal. One was no contest after a court decision and the seventh remained Conservative.

I LIKE OIL HEATING BECAUSE...

At our age convenience and comfort are most important.

We enjoy the dependable steady warmth of oil heating . . . And being old-fashioned, we still like our fuel stored on the premises: It's a comforting thought to have enough fuel "in" when the snow storms begin.

I LIKE OIL HEATING BECAUSE...

it adds to the value of our home. More Canadians prefer oil heating and so if we ever wish to sell — oil heating will be an advantage.

Cost-wise, we know oil heating is the most economical modern fuel at the moment. And looking ahead it appears that oil is becoming more plentiful every day. Competition will always guarantee the lowest possible price to the consumer.

I LIKE OIL HEATING BECAUSE...

it keeps the floors warm all over the house! Oil is clean too — no film, no odors, or dust. Best of all oil is safe all day and all night—no worries about the possibility of a human error or the failure of mechanical equipment. In fact, according to my folks OIL HEATING is best in every way.

Say — did you see where my ball went?

A Lift For Living

Opening Eyes of the Heart Key to Better Understanding

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Suppose that you were to visit your doctor in order to have your eyes tested for glasses. He would tell you to look at a wall on which there were lines of letters varying in size. He would ask about certain letters, "Can you see that one?" And you may say, "I see." That is physical vision.

Or suppose you go to consult a lawyer about your income tax. He tries to explain the intricacies of the tax laws. After a while you say, "I see." That might be a slight exaggeration! But to the extent that you do see the points of the law, that is mental vision.

But now suppose your young daughter comes home to dinner tomorrow night. She goes through the meal with what she thinks is her usual composure. She tries to keep herself under control. But you, as her mother, detect a suppressed excitement in your daughter. After a time you say, "Mary, out with it. I see there's something up." That is more than physical or mental vision. That is seeing with the eyes of the heart.

We do not discover all the facts and values of the world unless we use the eyes of the mind and the eyes of the heart. Saint Paul recognizes this truth when he writes to the Ephesians. In the first chapter of his letter he tells them that he is praying God to give them the spirit of wisdom and revelation. Then he uses these words: "Having the eyes of your heart enlightened." It is about the eyes of the heart that we would think today.

For one thing, we need the eyes of our hearts to be enlightened in order to see ourselves. The old Greek motto, "Know thyself" is still sound wisdom. We say, "Of course, I know my own mind." Well, we may know what we think. But what we think is by no means always the truth about our selves.

Do we know why we think what we think? Sometimes we become obsessed with ideas which we cannot get rid of and we call in a psychiatrist to explain them. He delves below our conscious mind and digs up some earlier experience which gave an emotional twist to our thinking.

SEAT OF EMOTIONS

The heart, as the Bible refers to it, is the seat of the emotions. And the Bible writers repeatedly pray for God to search their hearts. "Search me and know me and see if there be any wicked way in me." The heart, wrote Jeremiah, is "deceitful above all things."

Familiar is Jesus' Beatitude, "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God." Professor James Moffatt once said to his students in class that "the pure in heart" are "those who are not double-minded. They think and speak sincerely with an eye single to truth.

Surely we need the eyes of our hearts opened in these days of narrowing prejudices and blinding passions if we are to know our real selves.

Also we should keep asking God to enlighten the eyes of our heart in order to understand our neighbors. A late great business and civic leader said that a chief obstacle in international relations is that we judge ourselves by our intentions and other people by their actions.

How much hope it would give us to learn that Khrushchev was praying each night for the wisdom and insight to judge America as he would that America would judge Russia! Yes, and how heartening it would be if we were to pray in the same spirit.

TO RESTORE LINK

THE HAGUE (AP) — KLM Royal Dutch Airlines plan to resume service to Jakrta by April 1. The company cancelled the link in 1957 when Indonesia seized all Dutch firms there in the dispute with Holland over West New Guinea. The dispute has been settled and the route renegotiated.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The Americans will "take" the Harmsworth Trophy in 1963.

It will return to the bosom of the Yachtsmen's Association of America which nurtured it some thirty years before as upstart Canadian named Bobby Hayward sneaked it from under their noses in 1955—and "stole it."

Unless, of course, the suggestion of that frustrated Detroit speedboat tycoon is followed and the famous "mug" will be dumped somewhere in the middle of the Atlantic.

That, naturally is ridiculous, but after all, that is what the man said. He is Joe Schoenin, one of the United States better known unlimited hydroplane racing men, who wants the Harmsworth Trophy "ditched" so to speak, and a new trophy brought into being with rules that would open the field to competitors of several nations.

The Harmsworth will go back to the United States through the back door of default. There will be no background of the thunder of mighty engines; the roaring curtains of lacy roosterails or the acclaim of shore-lined spectators to the "victory."

"Miss Supertest III", Canada's proud "Queen of the Unlimited" won the trophy in 1950 on the Detroit river under the expert guidance of Bobby Hayward. In 1960 and 1961 Hayward turned back American challengers, driving "Supertest" to easy victories on the gently-rippled waters of Lake Edward's long home.

"Shortly after his 1961 triumph, Hayward died driving "Miss Supertest II" in Silver Cup competition on the same Detroit River water where he won the Harmsworth.

In 1962 as in 1960 and 1961, the Americans could produce nothing, under Harmsworth rules, that could match the incomparable "Supertest III". They did not come up with a challenger last year and Canada retained the trophy by default.

Hayward was never beaten in "Miss Supertest III" and ironically, as was mentioned, it was her experimental sister "Miss Supertest II" that took his life. Both boats have not been in the water since.

Owners, designers and builders of "Miss Supertest III", Col. J. Gordon Thompson and his son, James, stopped short of racing permanently after Hayward's tragic death. They retired the boat to the Canadian National Exhibition's Hall of Fame, bringing to an end one of the greatest hydroplane racing combinations in the annals of the sport.

If the Harmsworth competition is dropped and a new trophy and rules brought into being for international hydroplane supremacy, the Americans will demand one drastic change in the regulations that proved a bugbear in their efforts to defeat "Supertest".

This is the rule that demands that competitors' power-plants be manufactured in the competing country. The American challengers were restricted to the use of Allison, Packards and others engines of native design. They could not compete with the powerful Rolls-Royce Griffon that powered the Canadian champion.

The "retirement" of the Harmsworth and the introduction of a new trophy and rules would re-arouse interest in Britain and Italy which years ago challenged for the famous trophy.

But this might take years. At the moment the Americans have a boat rated the best unlimited powercraft in racing today. She is the "Century I" powered by a Rolls-Royce Merlin engine. Veteran driver Bill Muncey hoisted all opposition into the wind with "Century I" last summer on the Detroit River and that included Wild Bill (remember?) Cantrell and his newly-powered "Gale V."

If the powers-that-be decide to "retire" the Harmsworth, what better resting place could they select than beside the proud unbeaten Canadian champion, by far the best to win and retain it over six decades of competition.

Kidd, Crothers Nudge World Records

By JIM PEACOCK

NEW YORK (CP) — Valery Brumel, the soaring Soviet high jumper, and Jim Beatty, pixilated United States miler, put world indoor records on the books Friday night.

Canadians Bruce Kidd and Bill Crothers, meanwhile, edged closer to world standards as they continued personal victory strings in the two-mile and half-mile runs, respectively.

Brumel, whose outdoor leap of seven feet 5¼ inches is the best ever done, sailed over the high jump bar at seven feet four inches Friday night while 15,178 fans in Madison Square Garden for the New York Athletic Club Games looked on.

It was a half-inch higher than his previous record, set at the same games here a year ago and Brumel did it without strong competition.

Beatty, pushed by Tom O'Hara of Loyola University, was clocked in three minutes 58.8 seconds in the mile, putting on a fantastic last-lap kick to clip three-tenths of a second off his previous indoor record set a year earlier in Los Angeles. O'Hara was timed in 3:59.2 to join Beatty and Seigfried Herman of East Germany as the only runners to break the four-minute barrier indoors.

KIDD SETS MARK

The 19-year-old Kidd, a University of Toronto sophomore who runs for the East York Club of Toronto, was pressed most of the way by Michel Bernard of France in the two-mile, but pulled away on the last two laps to win in a meet record time of 8:39.0.

His time was the best he has ever done and the second only to the world indoor record of 8:34.4 held by Murray Halberg of New Zealand, but Kidd said he was disappointed.

"I had hoped to do it in 8:32," he said, adding that it was the last indoor two-mile of the current season. He'll run the three-mile distance here at the Amateur Athletic Union games next Saturday, then concentrate on studies until the outdoor season begins.

Crothers, a 22-year-old senior who missed his graduation banquet at the University of Toronto to come here, pulled away in the last two laps to win the half-mile going away in 1:51.0, best time of his indoor career and only 1.1 seconds off the world record.

"I didn't come to run the half-mile," Crothers said after he'd whipped American Robin Lingle and Russian Valery Bulakher for his eighth straight win at 1,000 yards or less. "I came down for the relay."

EAST YORK BEATEN

The East York relay team failed, however. Crothers was too far behind when he took the baton after Jim Snider, Stan Worsfold and George Shepherd had run the earlier legs and the East York finished fourth. Villanova won in 7:33.6.

Three other Canadians also failed to place—Ergas Leps of Toronto was fourth in the half-mile; Jim Keogan of Brampton, Ont., was forced to quit in the mile when he suffered muscle cramps; and Dave Ellis of Toronto finished fifth in the two-mile.

Rolando Cruz of Villanova cleared 16 feet even to win the pole vault and Russian Igor Ter-Ovanesyan won the broad jump with a leap of 25 feet 6¼ inches.

Quinte COSSA Basketball

By PETER CARVER

Belleville Collegiate Institute and Quinte Secondary School basketball squads clash here next week for the Quinte COSSA senior and junior championships.

BCI senior eliminated Trenton High School by five points in a close two-game series with the juniors ousting Moira S.S. by 40 points on their round.

Quinte Trojans dropped their second games with Napanee Collegiate, the seniors losing 51-48 and the juniors dropping a 44-42 decision. Quinte, however, won the two-game aggregrounds on points margin. All games were played last night.

BCI and Quinte meet in a two-game points-to-count series with the winners representing the Quinte district at the COSSA championships slated for Peterborough March 2nd.

The junior Collegians went into the second game sporting a 24-point nest egg. However they didn't need it as they cruised to an easy 43 -27 win to clinch their berth in the finals. Ron Faulkner led the Trojans with 11 and 10 points respectively to spark the winners. Ron Faulkner and Ian Glen bagged a half dozen apiece to lead the Trojans.

SENIOR GAME

BCI entered the game against Trenton leading by a single point on the round. The teams fought hard and except for the first period play was fast and rugged with furious rebounding under both baskets highlighting the play. BCI led throughout the game but in the final five minutes it could have gone either way with Trenton pulling to within 1 point of the winners at one time. The Collegians recovered, however, with McCabe insuring the victory in the final minutes.

Both teams seemed to be feeling each other out in the first quarter with BCI outscoring their opponents 13-6. The second quarter was grounded out on even terms; play was rugged under the baskets but neither squad could finish their plays. BCI entered 10 to Trenton's 9.

Belleville led 23-23 at three-quarter time. The last half saw excellent checking and good ball handling as the teams pressed for all they were worth.

BCI ace McCabe was held to 17 points but he played a strong game on the backboards. Chick clicked for 11 while Bob Williams was good for 8 and Bob Smith 7.

Fred Wannamaker's marks manship earned him 15. Kari Bowman had a dozen and Robinson 6. Chambers with 4 and Webb 2 rounded out the Trenton scorers.

BCI — Williams (8), McCabe (17), Chick (11), Smith (7), Deacon (1), Bristow, Vaughan, Mott, Walsh, Morrison, Gulin.

Trenton — Chambers (4), Ferguson, Wannamaker (15), Russel, Macdonald, Bowman (12), Robinson (6), Webb (3), Parks.

Makes Changes In Others

CFL Abolishes 'Cat' Controversial Rule

By PAUL RINSTEAD

HAMILTON (CP) — It's too bad Perry Moss is no longer connected with the Canadian Football League.

He would have appreciated a rule change made Friday at the opening session of the CFL's two-day annual meeting.

Moss, former coach of Montreal Alouettes who recently parted company with the team, complained bitterly late last season about a Hamilton Tiger-Cat offence used against Alouettes.

Perry cried it was illegal. At that time it may have been unfair—but it wasn't illegal.

The rule change now makes it impossible for any team to use fewer than five correctly numbered lineman on its offensive line.

The Ticats devised a method of using only four lineman and inserting end Dave Viti into the open tackle slot with the option of using him as an eligible receiver.

HAD THREE ENDS

The complicated play boiled down to Hamilton having three ends, Viti, Paul Dekker and Hal Patterson from which they could choose their two eligible receivers only seconds before the ball was put in play.

Viti, playing in tackle Gene Denoble's position, and Dekker were the only eligible receivers as the teams lined up.

However, Patterson, flanked wide and stationed about a yard behind the line of scrimmage, could move up to the line before the ball was put in play, making himself an eligible receiver in place of either Viti or Dekker, depending on which side he was playing.

This left the defensive team trying to determine the eligible receivers with only seconds to spare if Patterson pulled the switch.

Sydney Halter, CFL commissioner, said the change was made because the Hamilton play was termed "unfair to the defensive team."

CFL players are numbered by position—centres 40-49, guards 50-59, tackles 60-69, ends 70-79 and backfielders 1-39.

The new rule says a team must have five men—any combination of centres, guards and tackles—on the line plus two correctly-numbered ends.

CAN'T HAVE PLAY

By forcing use of five linemen, the league is not allowing room for more than two ends. Therefore Hamilton's controversial play would be impossible.

Another rule change prompted by a controversy last season now makes any defensive pass hitting the crossbar or goalposts incomplete.

Last season at Ottawa, Montreal's Marv Luster caught such a pass, while lying on his back in the end zone.

The ball had been tipped against the post by Ottawa defender Whit Tucker and fell into Luster's arms. A touchdown was allowed.

One rule was abolished, the one which gave the opposing team possession if the ball was deliberately fumbled into touch.

However, if the ball is kicked off the playing field, the opposing team will still take over.

But, if a player purposely fumbles into touch this season, his team retains possession.

Blocking by backs has been revised to allow all four back fielders to be shifted to one side and slight le for downfield blocking—providing they line up out side of the end and cross the line of scrimmage outside the end.

Previously, backs could block under the same conditions, but two on each side of the field, not all four together.

WILL GET FULL POWER

This will result in teams being able to run end plays with full blocking power.

Should infractions occur in the last five minutes of the first or second half, the clock will be stopped until the ball is put in play. Teams will continue to have only 20 seconds which to put it in play. The clock previously ran from the time they went into the huddle.

The new rule will give teams in a last-minute comeback attempt an additional 20 seconds after each infraction.

Offensive pass interference has also been changed. The rule has been tightened to award the ball to the opposing team when there is offensive interference by eligible or ineligible receiv-ers in the area of the destination of the pass.

Offensive interference else where on the field will result in a 15-yard penalty against the team in possession. This eliminates the possibility of a team losing the ball for an infraction in an area far removed from the play.

Unbeaten In Seven Rounds

Hanover Rink Wins Ont. Title

HAMILTON (CP) — A cigar-smoking Lorne Atherton from Hanover, who wrapped up the Ontario curling championship on the sixth round of play, added extra flourish to his victory by taking the seventh and final round of round-robin play.

Robert A. Mann, 41, a dark-horse entry, will represent southern Ontario in the Dominion championship at Brandon, Man. With him on the championship team are Dick Palmer, 30, Keith Ferguson, 31, and Ken Buchan, 22, all former schoolboy curlers.

Mann ended his perfect string by beating Syd Smithers of Galt 11-6 in the final game Friday. Earlier Friday, he had defeated the Bob Kneppelberg foursome from Ottawa 11-6 to sew up the championship.

Kneppelberg, whose rink is accompanied by personnel from Uplands RCAF Station, placed second in the final standings by defeating Ralph Ryalop of Glanford 12-3 in the last round for a 5-2 won lost record.

The two rinks which had figured high in early forecasts Toronto and Unionville, ended in a tie for third place with four wins and three losses.

Murray Roberts's Unionville quartet earned the tie by taking a 13-10 decision from John Ross of Toronto in the final game. In the sixth round, Unionville had defeated Lorne Tudhope of Parry Sound 11-8 while Toronto edged Jack Nash of London 12-10 in an extra end.

London took Parry Sound's measure 14-8 in their final game, Tudhope conceding after 10 ends. Leaders finished in a tie with Galt for fifth place with three wins and four losses, while Glanford and Parry Sound could manage only one victory apiece in seven games.

Hull Ottawa, Frontenacs Keep Pace

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hull-Ottawa Canadiens ended a three-games slide Friday night to hang onto a piece of first place in the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

The Habs posted a 4-2 win over the last-place St. Louis Braves in Hull to keep pace with the Kingston Frontenacs, who beat the third-place Sudbury Wolves 6-2.

Kingston exploded for four markers in the final period after ending the second in a 2-2 deadlock with the Wolves.

Don Blackburn paced the Frontenacs with a two-goal performance. EPHL scoring leader Jeannot Gilbert, Ron Willy, Billy Knibbs and Cliff Penning-ton were the other Kingston scorers. Gary Jarrett tallied both Sudbury markers.

Attendance was around 1,000, well below the 2,000 average the Wolves had drawn before a strike of Sudbury Arena engineers.

Gordon (Red) Berenson, back with Hull-Ottawa after a stint with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, scored for the Habs. Willy Carter, Chuck Hamilton, and Bill Mc-Creary were the other marksmen for the winners.

Flyers Up Junior Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Niagara Falls Flyers charged ahead Friday night, looking quite though they are going to finish up on top of the Ontario Hockey Association's provincial Junior A series.

They downed their chief rivals, the second-place Montreal junior Canadiens 3-1 to spread their lead to six points at the top of the standings.

In Guelph, the last - place Royals scored four unanswered goals in the first period and went on to down the fifth-place St. Catharines Black Hawks 6-4.

The loss left the Black Hawks with only a slim mathematical chance to overtake Peterborough for the final playoff spot.

Randy Legge moved from his usual defence position to a wing berth and scored his first two goals of the season before the game was three minutes old.

Trevor Fahey also turned in a two-goal performance. Billy Taylor, Bob Plager, John Mahkins and Doug Davidson were the other Guelph marksmen.

St. Catharines managed to come back for three goals in the final frame. Paul Popell, Dennis Hull, Fred Stanfield and Don Snider were the scorers.

In Niagara Falls, Dave Armstrong opened the scoring for the Flyers in the second period with a 25-foot bullet. Wayne Maxner notched his 30th goal of the season, and Terry Cripps built the margin to 3-0 early in the third period.

Montreal spoiled goalie George Gardner's shutout bid with a power-play tally by Norm Dennis.

CFL Interlock Faces Strangulation

West Adamant In Stand

By PAUL BIRNSTEAD

HAMILTON (CP) — At the tender age of two, Canadian football's interlocking schedule appears to be in grave danger of being strangled by its best friends.

Presidents of the nine Canadian Football League clubs two years ago unanimously hailed the appearance of eastern and western teams in each other's territory as the greatest thing that has happened to the game since television.

Yet, they emerged from an emergency session late Friday night locked in bitter controversy over the contract to renew the regular-season meetings between member clubs of the Eastern and Western Conferences.

The only factual announcement after the closed meeting was that no agreement had been reached and discussion would continue today. But it was learned informally that western clubs insist that they won't line up again unless their demands are met.

ASK EQUAL GATE

These demands were reported to include:

1. A national gate-equalization plan.

2. A pool of East-West public television revenue.

3. Payment to western teams for closed-circuit telecasts of interlocking games in the East.

Final arrangements in the old agreement on interlocking games were relatively simple. The home team received the visitors 75 cents for every ticket sold between the goal lines.

The agreement was designed to cover the visiting team's expenses rather than provide a source of revenue.

Two Eastern officials, one from the East, the other from the West, showed no hesitation in discussing their views Friday night, provided their names were withheld.

OFFER VIEWS

These were their comments:

East: "They want us to pay for the West's gate-equalization plan . . . The West had to do a selling job on the eastern teams to get an interlocking schedule. Our team hasn't benefitted from it—our crowds have been down in the last two years and expenses are higher.

West: "We want to see the CFL operated on a more national basis. We don't necessarily want a national gate equalization plan but there should be something. British Columbia Lions, for example, is the western fate equalization plan last year and the East has one in which Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton and Ottawa even though it isn't generally known.

"We want to see the East pool sharing public television revenue but dropped it when east-ern clubs refused. The West is the same consideration when we play against Toronto Argonauts in Toronto as the eastern teams get."

What the West suggests is unconstitutional. Both conferences agreed to retain autonomy when the CFL's constitution was drawn up several years ago. We can't keep dying and giving."

North American Figure Skating

'Our Wendy' Wins Singles Crown

By DENNIS ORCHARD

VANCOUVER (CP) — Wendy Griner has put Canada back on the map in the world of women's figure skating.

The 18-year-old Toronto private school student did it Friday with a polished singles victory in the North American championships the first for Canada since 1947. That year it was another blonde, Barbara Ann Scott.

Miss Griner was a solid first in the morning's compulsory figures, winning five of the six figures over two other Canadians and three Americans. The lead stood up easily Friday night despite a comeback free skater Petra Burka of Toronto.

Miss Burka moved from fourth to second place with a free - skating exhibition that drew cheers from a crowd of 6,000. But a couple mistakes, a jump that only she attempts, came off almost perfectly. "I hadn't everything," she said after the performance.

Vancouver's Shirra Kenworthy finished third.

North American titles will be awarded today for men's singles, dance teams and pairs.

STOP CANADIAN SWEEP

American dance teams succeeded in stopping a Canadian sweep of the top three places in Friday's skating. U.S. national champions Sally Schantz of Boston and Stan Urban of Buffalo, N.Y., placed third after their compulsory numbers.

Canadian champions Paulette Doan and Kenneth Ormsby of Toronto took top places on the cards of all five judges for their performance of the required foxtrot, waltz, quick dance and blues. Their point total was 102.4. The second-place brother-sister team of Donna Lee and John Mitchell of Vancouver drew 95.9 points, and Miss Schantz and Urban 94.7.

Miss Griner was awarded 76.2 of a possible 200 points in the figures, which occupy about 4½ hours of her daily seven-hour practice sessions.

After the figures, Miss Burka, 16, was fourth with 662.1, and apparently too far back to overtake Miss Kenworthy and U.S. champion Lorraine Hanlon of Boston.

But the dark, Dutch-born boxer student picked up 60 points on Miss Kenworthy to take second place and Miss Hanlon was third to a distant fourth.

Canada has 18 skaters here, the U.S. 16 after an ankle injury dropped one of their pairs from competition. The world championships begin Feb. 27 at Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy.

Edge Bantams 5-4; Beat Peewees 4-1

Oshawa Wins Minor Openers

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Belleville Peewees and Bantams dropped 4-1 and 5-4 decisions to the visiting Oshawa teams before a fair crowd in the opening games of their Ontario Minor Hockey Association playdowns here last night.

Oshawa Peewees jumped into an early 3-0 lead and went on to whip the Belleville pack 4-1 in the first game of the night.

In a nip and tuck, hard-fought Bantam tilt, Oshawa pulled out a close 5-4 decision later in the evening.

Both games were the first in two-game, total goals-to-count series. The Peewee play-back in Oshawa next Thursday while the return game in the Bantam set is slated for Tuesday.

BANTAM GAME

Oshawa jumped into a quick 1-0 lead after just 52 seconds of play and Ellis tied it for Belleville at 3.50. Morrison again put Oshawa in front but Smyth scored for Belleville to make it 2-2 by the end of the period.

Belleville carried the play early in the second period but could not score and Oshawa ended up by potting the only two goals of the period for a 4-2 lead. Morrison scored with a team mate in the penalty box at 10.30 and Preston got another at 16.00 with Belleville shorthanded.

In the fast-moving third frame, play went from end to end. Holgate cut the margin to 4-3 with a quick shot while Oshawa had a man in the penalty box at 14.14 but Salowski got that back on a rebound two minutes later. Oshawa regressed and Fleming made the final score 5-4 at 17.31.

Bill Morrison and the two Oshawa goals with one each for Larry McAvoy, Jim Preston and John Gardner.

Richard Ellis, Dan Smyth, John Holgate and Pete Fleming were Belleville's marksmen. Assists went to Bill Wickens and Fleming with two, John Cockburn, Ellis, Ron Hannah and Ted Herrington.

Oshawa had a terrific game from Ron Jury in goal. He booted out about after shot that looked like sure goals and spoiled the Oshawa players on two and three-man breakaways several times.

Belleville's lone goal came at 1.06 of the first period and cut the lead to 3-1 but in the final minute of the period, Oshawa regained the three-goal margin, Flonlet breaking in alone while a team mate was in the penalty box.

Knudson Trails Golf Field

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP)—Freddie Leffingwell of Miami, Fla., a professional golfer for only a year, shot a three-under-par 69 Friday to take the lead at the halfway mark of the Maracaibo Open. His 36-hole total was 141.

Leffingwell had a one-stroke lead over the first-round leader, Jim Ferree, and another American, Randy Glover.

George Knudson of Toronto was seven strokes off the pace at 148 after a 76 Friday. Alvie Thompson of Toronto and Peter Hilsdrop of Mount Hope, Ont., were at 149. Thompson shot a 75 Friday and Hilsdrop a 77.

At 160 was Norm Hunt of Montmagny, Que., who had a 78. Ken Duggan of Toronto, whose opening round was a 76, soared to 87 for a 163 total.

SUGAR RAY BARRED

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson has been banned from Haiti. ## Fourteen Have Made 'Circle'

20-Goalers May Reach Record

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It looks as if the National Hockey League may have another formidable crop of 20-goal men this season.

Broadly, the plateau can be equated with a .270 batting average for a hitter in baseball.

It's a mark that's also bigtime, sometimes, falling short of mark—if you have other attributes. But generally speaking reaching it is assurance that the coach is going to consider you a pretty handy guy to have around.

So far in this NHL campaign 11 players already have scored 20 goals or more.

Toronto's long-existing Frank Mahovlich has 29 to be at the top of the list with 29.

Two behind is Detroit's Gordie Howe, an indefatigable fellow who has potted 26 or more for the last 14 seasons counting this year.

LINEMATE NEXT

Next, with 26, is Parker MacDonald, Howe's linemate.

There is nothing very say a ballet dancer could score 20—playing alongside Howe. But there is nothing unbalanced about's effort this season. The Maritimer has come up with some big goals and carried his weight as well as anyone might expect.

At least another 10 players might be considered within reasonable striking-distance of the select 20-bracket.

In this class are players with 15 to 19 goals so far. Each of the six clubs has a minimum of 15 games left in the schedule.

For comparative purposes, last season the 20-goal-or-better performers in the NHL were 23 in number. The previous season it was a round 20.

SCORING SAGS

For what it's worth, statistics show that there has been something of a general letdown on the attack.

The average number of goals scored in each game this season—by both clubs—is 5.3. In each of the two previous years it worked out to little better than six goals a game.

This weekend's schedule sends Chicago's leading Black Hawks against the Canadiens in Montreal and New York Rangers against the Red Wings in an afternoon game at Detroit.

Sunday night, Montreal at Detroit, Toronto at New York and Boston at Chicago.

DROPPED FROM TEAM

MOSCOW (AP)—Yuri Sjikin, a member of the national Soviet fencing team, has been dropped from the team because of drinking and brawling, the official youth newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda reported Friday.

RCAF Edges Picton 5-4 In Playoff

PICTON (Special) — RCAF Globetrotters came from behind three times last night before pulling out a close 5-4 decision over the Picton Maes in the third game in the Lakeshore Intermediate semi-final series, at Trenton.

The win gave RCAF a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven series. The fourth game will be played here tonight with the fifth in Trenton Monday.

Scott scored the winning goal for the Trotters at 18.52 of the second period before 1,179 roaring fans in the Trenton Community Gardens.

Earlier, Picton held 2-0, 3-2 and 4-3 leads but in each case the Globetrotters came back to tie it, setting the stage for Scott's game-winner.

Bolty and MacDonald gave Picton their 2-0 lead but Scott and Blanchard made it 2-2. MacDonald and Maroney traded goals in the final minute of the period to end the heat tied 3-2.

Barry gave the Macs a 4-3 margin at 14.30 of the second but St. Pierre got the equalizer at 17.30. Then came Scott's equalizer and the teams fought through a scoreless third period.

Scott's two goals and an assist gave him top scoring honors for RCAF while Maroney claimed one goal and two helpers. Blanchard and St. Pierre got singles while Gerhardt, Lewis and Paterson drawing assists.

Keith MacDonald potted two Picton markers with Barry getting one and one and Lionel Bolty the other goal. Pat Gilmour, Dave Jones, Doug Murray, Bob Fawcett and Jim Guernsey earned assists.

Trenton drew four of the game's seven minor penalties.

Patterson To Collect $165,827

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Patterson will collect another $165,827 to console him for the loss of his world heavyweight boxing crown to Sonny Liston Sept. 25.

Federal Judge Richard H. Levet ordered the government Friday to deliver the sum to Patterson from the money seized by the internal revenue service from the closed circuit television receipts of the Chicago fight.

The government had tied up $1,379,517 to ensure payment of taxes. Patterson earned more than $1,000,000 from the fight.

Judge Levet also ordered the government to pay $35,000 from the seized money to Championship Sports, Incorporated, promoter of the fight.

Last month the government released $210,000 to Patterson. It has yet to be determined by its court what amount will be paid to Liston, who claims that $207,000 is due him.

Whip Cobourg 6-2

Picton Jrs. Grab 2-0 Series Lead

PICTON (Special) — Picton Merchants grabbed a 2-0 lead in their Central Ontario Junior "C" playoff series in Cobourg last night by dumping Cobourg 6-2 in another rugged tilt.

Cobourg led 1-0 at the end of the first period but the Merchants pulled ahead 3-2 by the end of the second frame and added the only three goals in a wild third.

Third game of the set is also in Cobourg next Friday, with the fourth back in Picton one week from today.

There were only half a dozen minor penalties in the first two periods last night, but the teams made up for it in the third when 14 more were called, including a misconduct to Cobourg's Braun of fighting majors to Brown and Armour. Picton lost two top scorers, Harold Haddock and Gary Haennel, in the rough going, both with undisclosed injuries. Cobourg drew 16 of the game's 20 penalties.

Haddock led the Picton attack with two goals and two assists. George Salisbury, Bob Brown, Carl Storey and Larry Pero added the other goals. Pero, Haennel, Brown, Storey, Salisbury and Pike drew single assists.

Quigley and Chase each had a goal and assist for Cobourg, while Thompson also got one assist.

Haddock broke a 2-2 tie with his second goal at 16.19 of the second period while Brown, Stacey and Pero wrapped it up in the third.

Paul Anka Weds Egyptian - Born Cover Girl

By PATRICK McNULTY

PARIS (AP) — Tousle-haired Canadian - born singer Paul Anka and cover girl Anne de Zogheb were married today in the stately town of a swank Paris district.

The ceremony was quiet, but the occasion was livened up by about 100 photographers who stampeded into the hall after the ceremony ended.

A host of police, who had kept the pack of photographers outside the iron gate of the town hall, were pushed rapidly back. The photographers clustered around the short, stocky Ottawa-born Anka and his blonde bride.

Police managed to get the newlyweds into an alcove and held the photographers at a distance. The couple sat on a red velvet loveseat and chatted easily as the photographers had a field day.

ON SWISS HONEYMOON

The 22-year-old singer and his 20-year-old bride were hurried out of the town hall and driven in a sedan to Orly Airport. There are flying to the Swiss ski resort of Saint Moritz for their honeymoon.

"We'll stay two weeks—maybe more," Anka told Miss Anka said with a grin. He was natty in a dark two-button suit.

His Egyptian bride, attending in a white knit chanel suit trimmed in gold, said:

"Certainly I intend to go on with my modelling career. "I don't think it will interfere with our marriage. I'm also going singing."

The couple said they will probably make their home in New York, with frequent trips to Europe and Anka's parents live in Paris. The small wedding party included Anka's father, Andrew Anka, and the singer's sister Mary.

His uncle, John Anka, acted as best man at the witness.

The bride's parents, Charles and Fricda de Zogheb of Paris; her twin sister Margaret; and an uncle, Bernard de Zogheb, also were present.

MANAGER NERVOUS

Perhaps the most nervous member of the wedding party was Anka's manager, Irving Feid of New York. "I feel like I'm losing a son," Feid said.

The ceremony was performed by Assistant Mayor Andrew Fontent behind police-guarded doors.

A police inspector explained that the press was barred from the ceremony as an affection of a near riot caused in the same town hall when singer Edith Piaf was married recently.

The bride was born in Alexandria, Egypt, during the Second World War. As a model, she has appeared on the covers of top French and American magazines.

NOT NOW

Would she like to be an actress?

"I had thought about it at one time, but now—no," she said.

Anka rocketed to fame almost overnight with his 1957 hit song Diana when he was only 16. He first met Anne in New York 18 months ago.

Anne spent her childhood in Alexandria, before her family settled in France after the 1952 Egyptian revolution.

Millionaire Linkletter As Stagestruck as Ever

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood's happiest millionaire will return to nightime television in the U.S. Monday night with a new series called the Art Linkletter Show.

That is the final title, after concerted efforts to tag it Humanics or some other name.

"Why bother?" asks Linkletter, "isn't it better to let the people know what they're getting? If people tune in the Perry Como Show, they're going to get singing. If they tune in the Art Linkletter Show, they know it will be something about people."

The Moose Jaw-born master of ceremonies has made people his business for 25 years and has profited handsomely. He has parlayed his people profits into a growing fortune in investments around the world. Yet he remains as stagestruck as a high school hamlet.

"Back in 1938 and '40 when I was running around doing radio shows, I was asked if it was worth it," he recalled. "I said then that even if I were a millionaire, I'd still want to be doing what I was doing.

PORTION MOUNTING

"Now I have to change that. Even if I had $100,000,000, I'd still want to do my shows."

He mused happily: "Maybe some day I'll have to revise that figure."

Linkletter has been doing his Housepartz show on radio and television five times weekly since 1944, and that would seem enough activity for any performer.

But that I hadn't been on prime time network television since People Are Funny went off three years ago," he said. "That was a challenge. I didn't want to come back on just any network. I had turned down several that I didn't believe in. But this one seemed like a winner."

The Art Linkletter show will put some new twists on the tried-and-true audience participation formulas. The idea is this: A movie star or expert in some field will be shown a dramatization or real-life film of some human situation. At the crucial moment, the action will stop, and the guest will try to guess the outcome.

MANUFACTURING LEADS

Manufacturing is the largest industry in Nova Scotia and accounts for more than 40 per cent of its net production value.

Want 'Feel' Of Canadian Game

Swedes Try Our Curling

MONTREAL (CP) — A fact-finding mission of Swedish curlers took to the ice at the Town of Mount Royal, Club here Friday to get the feel of the Canadian game.

The 27 members of the Swedish party, including five women, joined members of the host club in forming 12 rinks for a mixed outing. They will visit other Canadian and U.S. cities.

Per Odlund, 40, a Stockholm insurance executive and the president of the Swedish Curling Association, said: "In Sweden we have no indoor rinks and only two of our outdoor rinks are covered. We have a few artificial outdoor rinks but most of our ice is natural. The fine condition of the ice here makes a real difference."

Odlund, who speaks English fluently, said Sweden has some 3,000 curlers. In Canada there are more than 400,000.

Odlund said: "Most of the people in our group—and they represent the various districts of our country—are officials, people who can pass on what they learn here for the benefit of curlers back home. We're interested in such things as how you handle your economics and the like."

Mahaffey Spahn Sign Contracts

NEW YORK (AP) — Except for Robin Roberts, the Philadelphia Phillies haven't had a 20-game winning pitcher since Grover Cleveland Alexander won 33 in 1917.

Art Mahaffey hopes to change all that this year.

The signing of the big right-hander was among the highlights of major league baseball doings on Friday.

Mahaffey, a 6 - foot - 2, 200-pounder, seemed a cinch to win 20 for the Phils last year. He reached No. 19 on Sept. 16. But then missed in four tries for No. 20 and wound up 19-14.

"Sure, it bothered me," Mahaffey said recently. "I wanted to win 20 so badly. Still it was a pretty good season and my goal is to win 20 this year."

The Phils, who did not disclose the amount of Mahaffey's contract, also announced the signing of relief pitcher Jack Baldschun, a 12-game winner in 1962, and catcher Clay Dalrymple, who batted .276 and drove in 54 runs.

Other signings announced Friday included veteran pitchers Warren Spahn, 41, of the Milwaukee Braves, Jay Hook of the New York Mets and Sam Jones of the Los Angeles Angels, and outfielder Al Smith of the Baltimore Orioles.

Soccer Off Again in Britain

LONDON (AP) — Snowbound and flooded pitches have wrecked Britain's weekend soccer program for the eighth consecutive week running.

More than 30 games in the English and Scottish Leagues have already been called off and the soccer pools prepared to operate make-believe results again.

A panel of experts will decide what the results of postponed games would have been if they had been played. Millions of Britons will wait for the panel's rulings in the hope of winning.

Many Rugby Union and Rugby League games scheduled for today were also called off.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Contacts made recently begin to "reappear." Means promises are kept. You are given vote of confidence. Show appreciation. Perform act which is considerate. Pleasure received from good work.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Deal with matters connected with hospitals, charitable institutions. Remember that charity begins at home. Ideas become clear by tonight. Stress on patience, details, restriction.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Good lunar aspect today indicates aid from friends. Means you can depend on those you helped in past. Time to be encouraged about affairs of heart. New, vital outlook forthcoming.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Good day for creating greater harmony within family circle. Strive for greater "security within." Be firm with yourself. Stop concentrating on the superficial. Go after real, lasting values.

If today is your birthday . . . you are progressive, sympathetic, interested in the welfare of people as a whole. You would be good teacher, social worker.

• • •

General Tendencies: Cycle up for Scorpio, Sagittarius, Capricorn. Special word to Gemini: Picture you see may not be as dark as it looks.

Pierre Lefeverve Appointed Adjudicator for Finals

OTTAWA (CP) — Pierre Lefevre, a fluently bilingual actor-director whose theatrical background is rooted in the French and English stage, will adjudicate the Dominion Drama Festival finals at Kitchener, Ont., May 13-18.

Choice of the former member of London's famed Old Vic theatre company was announced by Vida H. Peene, president of the DDF, after a meeting of the national executive in Quebec City.

"His past association with the Dominion Drama Festival and his wide experience in both French and English theatre make him an excellent choice," said Miss Peene, noting that he had adjudicated regional festivals in 1952 and the finals in 1953.

Born in New York of French parents, Mr. Lefevre trained as an actor under Michel St. Denis at the London Theatre School and made his debut with the Old Vic in 1936.

He joined the French Army in 1939, escaped after the fall of France and became a radio-journalist with the BBC's French service, broadcasting back to France, and later a war correspondent.

After the war he became assistant director of the Old Vic's theatre school, appearing with the Young Vic and Old Vic in such plays as The Brothers Karamazov and The Love of Four Colonels.

After adjudicating the DDF finals in Victoria in 1953, he remained in Canada to work with the Straw Hat Players in Ontario's Muskoka district and Toronto's Crest Theatre.

In 1954 he was employed as an actor and director at the Centre Dramatique de l'Est in Strasbourg, France, and since 1957 has been director of the school of acting and school of technical courses at the centre.

His base of operations for the DDF finals in May will be Kitchener's Lyric Theatre where eight plays put on by amateur groups from across Canada will vie for the DDF National Trophy and the $1,000 cash prize offered by the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, the festival's major sponsor.

BEARDED AND BILINGUAL — Pierre Lefevre will adjudicate the Dominion Drama Festival finals at Kitchener, Ont., May 13-18. Lefevre, former member of London's Old Vic theatre company, is fluently bilingual with background in the French and English stage. (CP Photo)

His Fear Is Conquered, Long Journey to Recovery Ends for Accident Victim

Paul Staples, Seattle newspaper man, had a long fight to regain physical and mental health after suffering burns in an accident near his home in Zone. Here, in the last of three special articles, he describes his triumphs over fear, his small gains, and finally his recovery.

By PAUL STAPLES
of The Seattle Times

SEATTLE (AP) — Several weeks after I received emergency treatment for severe burns suffered in a gasoline lawnmower accident last June, I was moved to a veterans administration hospital for rehabilitation.

I had made up my mind to overcome the depression that strikes all burn victims and now I was to start treatment under trained and skilled physical therapists.

I was still irascible, however. But my mind cleared as the days passed. The prayers, well wishes and offers of help, including many from blood donors, made me humble and ashamed.

My leg day came soon after I entered the Veterans Administration Hospital. The nurses carefully put me on a frame that could be lowered into water. The preparations were for my first bath in a bubbled tank, which was to prove so beneficial to my recovery.

When I was lowered into the tank, five surgeons and three therapists worked over me, removing burned skin and bandages so that I could ward off infection and grow new skin.

Weeks later doctors started my first skin grafting operation.

LOTS OF PAIN

They were three grafting sessions requiring surgery and each brought an aftermath of pain. But I soon learned it had compensating benefits. The pain that tormented me in my day-to-day existence diminished as more and more of my exposed flesh was covered with skin on each trip to surgery.

Weeks of exercise for my wasted hands followed. Gradually, I was helped to sit upright. Then I could hold a glass of water. Next, I could drink from a glass without a straw. And finally, I could walk.

One day, my physical therapist led me, protesting, on a two - block hike. I then had kicked before of walking but it was weeks before I was strong again.

One morning, I stopped my doctors at the door of my room. "I think about my condition," I demanded. "How am I doing?"

The four doctors turned. They were grinning.

"You look O.K.," one of them said. Then they left.

The time was near when I would leave the hospital. I had been uneasy when I arrived. Now I disliked leaving.

Doctors and technicians had given me the finest medical treatment. They would miss the nurses most of all. They had been so tender and thoughtful. Their job often had been far from pleasant.

The day came to say goodbye. I would go back only for check-ups.

Alice drove the car. The bumps and turns in the streets caused me pain.

It did not matter, though. I was going home.

Henry invites letters from readers. For the most interesting letter he receives each week, he will award a copy of his best-selling book, "Ask Henry," published by Pentice Hall, Inc. This weeks winner is Linda Weigand, Toronto, Canada.

Dear Henry: I have a cat. I think that my mother yells at her too much, and it gets me mad. Whenever the cat comes around her and wants to play, she yells at her or sends her down to the cellar. I think that this is mean. What can I do to convince my mother that she shouldn't yell at the cat all the time? — Cat-Lover.

Dear Cat-Lover: I think that your mother wants to be convinced that you are a lot better mother-lover than cat-lover. I think that once your mother is convinced that you will be a good daughter, I'm sure that your mother will be a real cool and co-operative cat! — HENRY.

Dear Henry: I am 14. My mother makes me wear a hat when I go to school in the morning. All my other friends don't wear hats so I take mine off, when my mother isn't around. Am I doing wrong? — Mad-Hatter.

Dear Mad-Hatter: And I suppose if your friends were hats you'd never take yours off! Dont you realize that you have been given the opportunity to save your friends from pain. You wear that hat and within a week your friends will be wearing one too and you will have saved your friends from the pain of a cold. —HENRY

Fleming Quits - Public Life, Personal Reasons

Fifth Cabinet Minister To Leave in Few Weeks

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Fleming announced today he is retiring from public life for personal reasons.

"The precise date of my retirement from the government will of course be a matter for decision by the Prime Minister," Mr. Fleming said in a statement.

Mr. Fleming said he had advised Progressive Conservatives in his constituency of Toronto Eglinton on Saturday. He said the Prime Minister was informed some time ago.

Mr. Fleming's action had been rumored. There was speculation that he will be named to the Supreme Court of Canada but his statement made no mention of any new activity. He is a lawyer.

FIFTH TO GO

He is the fifth cabinet minister to leave the ministry in the last few weeks. Three, including Mr. Fleming, are not running in the April 8 Federal election.

Said Mr. Fleming's statement:

"On Saturday last, Feb. 16, I met with the members of the executives of the three Progressive Conservative Associations in Eglinton Riding and regretfully informed them that I am retiring from public life and that I shall not be standing for nomination as the party's candidate in the federal general election April 8.

"My reasons for this decision are of a personal nature. The Prime Minister was informed of the decision and the reasons some time ago.

"Recently I completed 25 years of service in the public life, the first seven in municipal elective offices and the last 18 as a member of the House of Commons. I think the good people of Eglinton riding for the privilege of representing them for a quarter of a century and for the confidence, which they have generously expressed in me at the polls in 13 consecutive elections. I shall always be grateful to them.

SACRIFICES TO GREAT

"My decision to retire from public life could not be and has not been reached lightly. It has indeed caused me deep searching. I realize that the time has come however when the exactions and sacrifices imposed by public life are too heavy to be continued.

"The precise date of my retirement from the government will of course be a matter for decision by the Prime Minister.

WEST BERLINERS GIVE BRANDT SMASHING VOTE

Communists Lose Ground in Election

BERLIN (AP)—West Berliners gave their socialist Mayor Willy Brandt a smashing vote of confidence Sunday in their first municipal election since the Communists built the Berlin wall.

Brandt's anti - Communist Socialists won 89 of the 140-seat House elected four years ago.

West Berlin's Communist party, never represented in Parliament, lost a third of its popular vote. This was blamed largely on the wall. The Communist vote declined from 31, 870 in 1959 to 20,887 ballots Sunday, in percentage of the total votes, they decreased to 1.2 from 1.9 per cent.

The Christian Democrats, led by Franz Amrehn, deputy mayor in Brandt's coalition government of Socialists and Christian Democrats, won 41 seats, a drop of 14. They lost more than 160,000 votes.

The Free Democrats, not represented in the old House, doubled their strength and entered the new city parliament with 10 deputies. An independent who sat in the last House was not returned.

GIVES NO KEY

Political observers said the city election gave no new key to the West German political situation. Berlin, like most big German cities, is a traditional socialist stronghold. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party is strong in small towns and rural areas.

The Christian Democrats are largely a Roman Catholic party. West Berlin is predominantly Protestant.

The Socialists and Christian Democrats had formed a government coalition to demonstrate the unified opposition of the city's anti-Communist groups to the East German Communists encircling West Berlin.

Brandt is his first postelection comment said his party is ready to form a new government on as broad a basis as possible.

BUSHWORKERS RACE TO MAKE UP LOST TIME

Must Get Timber Out Before Spring

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP)A cold front moved into this troubled Northern Ontario lumber area today, bringing with it a promise of at least temporary help in a race to salvage timber before spring puts it beyond reach.

Some 1,500 bushworkers voted Saturday to end their violence-ridden strike against two paper-making companies and a race began almost immediately to make up some of the loss brought on by a 33-day walkout in the heart of a short lumbering season.

Road - clearing crews which scattered on the bush immediately after the strikers voted were expected to have the way cleared for full-scale operations by today.

Hot on their heels went scores of independent settlers who augment their sparse farming incomes by cutting timber in the winter and selling it to the companies.

HAS GOOD HOPES

F. R. Platt, manager of the Spruce Falls Power and Paper Company mill here, said the company expects to get enough pulpwood out of the bush to keep it going through the year by rushing woods operations.

The mill uses some 450,000 cords of timber a year, about a third of it supplied by the independent settlers. It has been waiting through huge stockpiles during the strike.

Colder weather today—following a brief spell of barely-freezing temperatures—raised hopes that the spring breakup in the bush would not come until mid-

GOING, GOING — Is the Legault block on Bridge Street at the lower bridges which was almost completely gutted by fire Saturday evening. Loss estimated at $50,000 was caused when flames ripped through upper storey, destroying three apartments and three business properties. Firemen fought the blaze with nine lines of hose and two aerial ladders.

Legault Block At Lower Bridge Gutted By Fire

Isabel Street Home Scene of Sunday Blaze

Two more serious fires which destroyed three downtown places of business and made upwards of 60 persons homeless, occurred in the city over the weekend, bringing to five the number of serious blazes fought by Belleville fire fighters since Friday.

Saturday evening the Legault block, on Bridge Street at the lower bridge, was completely gutted, destroying three business places and an equal number of overhead apartments. Loss is estimated at around $50,000 by Fire Chief Gerald Vance.

Sunday afternoon the upper storey of the Kenneth J. MacDonald residence at 14 Isabel Street was gutted forcing Mrs. MacDonald and five children to flee the home. Loss is placed at around $8,000.

Other blazes answered by city firemen since Friday were to Jim's restaurant on the Kingston Road at the Point Anne Lane, a vacant house on Station Street and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Brien on the Clinton Road where Mrs. O'Brien and her 10 children were forced to flee in their night clothes into sub-zero temperatures.

SPREAD RAPIDLY

Saturday night's blaze in the downtown area destroyed an old Belleville landmark on Bridge Street at the Lower Bridge.

Noticed just before six o'clock the blaze was believed to have started in the vacant shoe repair store and rapidly ate its way up through partitions into the upper floor.

Occupants of three upstairs apartments lost all their belongings as firemen waged a stubborn three-hour fight to bring the flames under control.

When it was over little more than the walls of the old Legault block were left standing, with the roof and second floor ceilings gone.

There was no immediate estimate of the loss.

Mr. Kenneth J. MacDonald, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, was attending a Masonic and Prince Edward Regiment church parade when a telephone call notified him that

Queen and Philip In Australia For Short Visit

CANBERRA (Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip arrived in Canberra today by jet aircraft from Christchurch, N.Z.

The start of their Australian tour was marred by rain.

Bad weather conditions earlier threatened to force the diversion of the jetliner to Sydney, but the sky cleared soon after noon.

Rain began falling again as the plane landed. The royal couple were smiling as they stepped down to be greeted by Governor-General Viscount de L'Isle and Prime Minister Robert Menzies.

The Queen carried an umbrella as she and the duke chatted briefly with the reception group and received a salute from a guard of honor of the Royal Australian Air Force.

Earlier, thousands were at Christchurch airport to bid farewell to the royal couple as they left New Zealand.

In a farewell message Governor-General Sir Bernard Ferguson, said:

"The links which bind New Zealand to the Crown have always been strong, but they have been immensely strengthened during the last two weeks."

Has New Hope Border Dispute Can Be Settled

PEKING (Reuters)— Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia said today he had acquired "new hope" for a peaceful settlement of the Sino-Indian border dispute.

Sihanouk was commenting at Pochentong Airport on eight days of talks he had with Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, and other leaders here and in Kunming.

'Pirate' Ship Visited by Mystery Boats Off Brazilian Coast as Warships Close In

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)—The Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui spent the night lying to near Maraca Island off the Brazilian coast as pursuing U.S. and Venezuelan warships sped toward the scene.

A U.S. Navy spokesman said what the Communist captors of the vessel, fleeing off the Brazilian island or why it stopped there remained a mystery. Two small boats visited the fugitive ship Sunday night but there has been no sign of movement since, the navy said.

The United States defence department said a tracking U.S. plane saw the 3,127-ton fugitive ship stop "dead in the water" suddenly off the Brazilian island about 7 p.m. Sunday night.

The island lies about 200 miles northwest of the Brazilian port of Belem, where the men who seized the freighter had indicated they might seek refuge.

The report from the tracking plane gave no hint of the identity of people in the boats that approached alongside the freighter, which stopped in about 25 feet of water. The announcement did not specify how many miles offshore the freighter stopped, but indications were that it was outside Brazilian territorial waters.

Communist gunmen stowed away on the Anzoategui early this week and with the help of some or more members of the crew took over the ship Wednesday after it sailed from Venezuela for New Orleans and Houston.

They were reported to have been made the captain and most of his 33-man crew captive. President Romulo Betancourt's anti-Communist government branded them mutineers

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Prince Albert of Belgium spent the weekend convalescing in this Rocky Mountain resort town.

The prince rode and took up several engagements as he stuck to a diet of light food to help him recover from the flu.

He came down with the flu virus Wednesday but had recovered sufficiently by Saturday to make an 1,800-mile flight to Calgary and travel the remaining 85 miles to Banff by car.

Labor Leaders Are Advised To Recruit in New Fields

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Ontario's labor leaders were bombarded this weekend with advice on how to recruit and support from a growing number of workers who have never seen a union organizer.

The occasion was a two-day annual education conference sponsored bythe Ontario Federation of Labor. The advance came from within labor's ranks

Takes Form of Ultimatum

Mr. K's Test-Ban Proposal Unacceptable

CP from AP-Reuters

GENEVA—The chief United States disarmament negotiator said today Premier Khrushchev's nuclear test-ban inspection proposals had taken on the form of an ultimatum and is unacceptable to the U.S.

At the same time he said U.S. policy is firmly against the transfer of nuclear weapons to any independent control of states which do not possess them.

William C. Foster said the United States welcomed Khrushchev's offer to allow two or three on-site inspections a year as showing a welcome desire to move toward a test-ban agreement.

"We did not assume the number mentioned by Chairman Khrushchev to be an ultimatum which the United States had no choice but to accept," Foster told the disarmament conference here.

The United States and Britain demand eight to 10 inspections a year as a minimum for an adequately safeguarded treaty.

Foster said the United States "evaluated the Soviet offer of two or three on-site inspections as evidence of a real willingness to open negotiations designed to reach an effective test ban agreement.

"It was, therefore, a very real surprise when . . . we were told literally that the Soviet Union's question of numbers . . . above five or three."

The frozen Russian position has shaken our belief that the Soviet Union really desires agreement," Foster said.

Foster told Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov that on-site inspections would not interfere with normal activities in the inspected country and would include complete safeguards against espionage.

He called on Kuznetsov again to discuss details of the inspection procedure. Kuznetsov has refused to negotiate on these details unless the Western powers first accept the two or three inspection quota.

Kuznetsov said later that Foster's speech "contained nothing new that we do not know already, and distorted some of the issues." He repeated the Soviet assertion that the Western demand for eight or 10 inspections "created a new obstacle on the inspection issue" in reply to a major Soviet concession.

May Be Crime in Italy To Yell 'Kill the Umpire'

ROME (AP).— Italys highest court today pondered whether it was a crime for a sports fan to yell, "kill the umpire."

Specifically, the court was asked to rule whether referees at sports encounters were public officials.

In Italy it is a crime to offend public officials.

The controversy is an old one. Some 30 years ago several Italian lower courts ruled referees were public officials and convicted fans who abused them.

But early this month an appeals court upheld a lower tribunal that acquitted a spectator who shouted at a referee at an amateur soccer match near Latina, south of Rome.

WAS FREED

The spectator, Marco Domiloni, was charged with offending a public official. The courts acquitted him on the grounds that what he did was not a crime, in effect recognizing his argument that a referee was not a public official but an arbiter chosen by the two teams to direct the match.

In appealing to the Court of Cassation, the state said a referee must be considered a public official because he is expected to maintain order. The state also argued that referees act as representatives of the Italian Olympic Committee, which is a statutory public body.

The court was expected to give its ruling in several months.

Hardly a Sunday goes by without a riot or near riot on an Italian soccer field. Police frequently have to escort referees from stadiums.

Immigration Inquiries Step Up in Wake of Dire Winter

LONDON (CP)—In the winter, an Englishman's fancy seriously turns to thoughts of Australia.

During January Australian immigration officials here handled nearly 34,000 applications from men, women and children seeking new homes in sunny Australia.

"It's the biggest we've ever had," a spokesman said. "Our total for 1962 was 95,683 and that was considered a good year.

"Nine out of 10 say they're looking for their children's future —better opportunities. We're getting just about everything from drivers and laborer to lecturer in surgery."

Although Australia is reaping the largest harvest of disgruntled Britons, Canada, New Zealand and the Republic of South Africa are also getting their share.

A Canada House official said current inquiries indicate that between 25 and 30 per cent more people will emigrate to Canada this year than in 1962 when the figure topped 16,000.

A New Zealand official said: "We've been absolutely inundated with written inquiries for the last three or four weeks." A South African spokesman said the emigration showed a "tremendous increase" over last year.

Reasons most often given are the housing and employment figures in Britain—although few applicants are out of work themselves—and general dissatisfaction with Britain's lagging economy.

For many the last straw appears to have been the unusually hard winter Britain is suffering. A Daily Sketch cartoon has two Australian immigration officials watching the snow. One commentes "Looks like another busy week, cobber."

An added inducement may be the pictures flashing across television screens of the royal tour of New Zealand and Australia and the test matches Down Under.

Sandy beaches, tropical waters and outdoor games on a sun-baked lawn seem worlds away from changing for heatless hearths and frigid homes.

Nuclear Arms for Britain Not Opposed by Labor Head

LONDON (CP) — The Labor party has never said British forces should not be equipped with nuclear weapons, a spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the party's new leader, Harold Wilson, solidly endorses the stand adopted in 1961 that the West cannot renounce nuclear weapons under present world conditions.

Wilson and the party, however, believe Britain should not maintain an independent nuclear deterrent because of the vast expense of the project, the spokesman added.

Production of such weapons for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization should be left in the hands of the United States under the "lock and key principle" which would give Britain a say regarding their use in the event of attack.

Wilson also firmly opposes the spread of nuclear weapons but stops short of the blanket ban on their acquisition advocated by Norway's Labor party, for instance, the spokesman declared.

Wilson also urges that NATO strategy be aimed at increasing the strength of conventional forces so that an attack by conventional arms could be met in kind, rather than with a nuclear counter-blow, the spokesman said. The West must not be the first to use nuclear weapons in any outbreak.

Port Hope Company Wins Drill Contest

The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment's "C" Company of Port Hope won the annual regimental drill competition held yesterday afternoon at the Belleville Armouries.

In the morning 150 members of the regiment paraded to Christ Church, headed by the Hasty Pees band, to observe the annual regimental church parade.

Hasty Pees from Norwood, Picton, Port Hope, Trenton, Millbrook, Madoc and Belleville took part in both events. In the drill competition each company in turn was put under the command of the Regimental Sergeant Major and their performance was judged by a panel consisting of Lt.-Col. J. B. Black, commanding officer; Major William Cochrane and RSM L. V. A. "Blackie" Simpson. The Port Hope drill team was under the command of Capt. Keith Rose.

Major Charles Bristol was awarded the Canadian Forces Decoration (CD) for 12 years service. The Bar to the CD was awarded to RSM Simpson and W.O. 2 Howard Kokesh for 22 years of service.

Between drill team activities the regimental band performed under the direction of Band Sgt. Major Glenn Crawford. A lunch was provided during the noon hour.

Hasty Pees Go to Camp On July 7th

Lt. Col. J. B. Black, commanding officer of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, announced yesterday that the regiment's annual camp would take place in July commencing on the 7th of the month. The camp, which will last a week, is to be held at Camp Barriefield, this year, said Lt. Col. Black.

Napanee Valley Authority Elects Officers

Mr. George Grant of Portland township was re-elected chairman of the Napanee Valley Conservation Authority at the annual general meeting held in the town hall at Napanee earlier this month.

Mr. A. Graham was named vice chairman and C. H. Knight, secretary treasurer.

Mr. Grant as chairman will head the following committees: O. F. Goodfellow is reforestation advisor board chairman; Mrs. Mable Ward, Mr. Smart and E. Salsbury will be the committee for control and operation of the Second Depot Lake Dam.

The 1963 Authority levy on the 11 member municipalities in part or in whole consisting of $1,800 for general conservation activities; $3715 for Second Depot Lake Construction Area; and $1,000 for reforestation.

Have Scale, Now Need Cosmic Dust

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—They've invented a dust scale.

It has springs the size of a pinhead made of glass-like substance that can detect weight changes of a thousandth of a millionth of a gram. (A gram is less than one - five hundredth of a Why?)

To measure cosmic dust. There's a lot of dust in space, much of it sub-microscopic. Scientists fear these clouds might occur in a space ship enough to damage it. To understand the risks, they have to weigh the dust. So the government got Electro-Optical Systems Inc., of Pasadena, to invent the dust scale.

The only problem remaining is to get the scale to the dust. Scientists say the tiny device will someday ride aloft in the nose of a space vehicle.

Kennedy Govt. Bracing Self For Onslaught

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration is bracing itself for an onslaught in congress over what is critics call an intelligence gap in its surveillance of Cuba.

This involves the period from early September, 1962 until Oct. 14, left blank when Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara gave the public a photographic briefing over television of Russian military strength on the island.

At the Feb. 9 showing of reconnaissance photographs none was included for the September-Oct. 14 period and when McNamara was asked about this omission he said time permitted the showing of only a small portion of pictures taken in more than 400 sorties since last July.

The secretary then added: "We did carry out reconnaissance flights ... on the 5th of September, the 6th, the 29th of September, the 5th of October and the 10th of October."

DOESN'T SPECIFY

McNamara did not specify what was shown by pictures taken on these flights.

It was learned that Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (Rep. N.Y.) reported that Soviet strategic missiles were being emplaced in Cuba.

President Kennedy told a Sept. 13 press conference that Cuba then was "under our most careful surveillance."

What this surveillance showed in this period, when the Soviets were moving toward installation of the intermediate-range missile sites revealed by Oct. 14 photographs, seems certain to be the subject of intensive investigation by the Senate preparedness committee.

Sen. John Stennis (Dem. Miss.) who heads the group, said he plans to begin closed hearings next week.

Stan Reston's Rink Wins V and G Trophy

The Victoria and Grey bonspiel held at the Quinte Curling Club on Saturday with 16 rinks entered was a riot of color and enjoyment. This is one spiel where the rinks cleared their regular curling togs and take to uniforms of distinctive hues and shades and fantastic sweater deception. The judges had a hard time picking the most original rink and most humorous. They were the gentleman farmers' rink and the ordinary dressed farmer, when he is working there were Indians and clowns and ajimen in full regalia.

The most humorous rink was one of Jack Preston, Ken Monroe, Stanley Bonisteel and Dr. McCorquodale at skip. They were a seedy-looking bunch of farmers and while walking down the rink side by the side bet, entering on their backs spelt an unprintable word. The judges, a rink of Jim Durrant, Bob Smith, Gil Wamboldt with Murray Johnston as skip, gave the award for the most original outfit. Each time the rink scored on an end it was followed by a lively dance but they didn't not dance enough to get into the prize money.

A rink of Bob Alexander, Al McCullam, Bill Riley with Stan Reston as skip, with his pipe and the handsome trophy, having a high three-game total but the closest challenge was Harry Trepanier, Court Miller, Ken Pierce with Jim Walker as skip. They were only 12 points behind Max. The two-game high winners were Geoff Little, Don Bell, Bob Patrick and Tom Carrington of Trenton as skip. The second prize for consolation was a rink of Ralph Webber, H. V. Fillsel, Howard Enns and Dean Brownell with Ken Bowen as skip. The rink being decked as airmen and they had along a jug of old stone jug. The third prize was won by Charles Lovett with Doug Ashley, Tommy Thompson and Ken Bowen as skip.

Many rinks were entered but not curling like them, had the one-game high score.

Mr. A. Hayes, general manager of the Victoria and Grey Trust Company had to recruit Bud Trill, the popular local branch, to his rink but even he was not powerful enough to get the rink into the win column, but they played sufficiently well to win the no-game high count. With Mr. Hymas were Jack Mosley and Ilmari Kaarlela with Jack Hayes. Arnold Wolfenden, a former member of the local club, came back to play in the fun. The boys enjoyed an excellent beef dinner.

Outer Seven Will Step Up Tariff Cutting

GENEVA — Ministers of the seven European Free Trade Association countries agreed today on the need to step up the tariff-cutting activities of their organization to prevent being left behind the rival Common Market.

The ministers made a series of recommendations to the positions of their governments.

Although no formal vote was taken, it was clear that all the seven states belonging to the European free trade area were thinking roughly along the same line.

Britain's Deputy Foreign Minister Edward Heather reported to the others on France's rejection of Britain's applications to join the Common Market.

Diplomatic sources said the discussion of the tariff-cut acceleration had produced the expected division, with views between the most industrialized EFTA members—Britain, Sweden and Switzerland — and Norway and Denmark, who have large agricultural and fishery exports.

The other members of the British-led group are also sign to ouier seven, Europe's second major economic grouping, are Austria and Portugal.

MOSCOW (Reuters)—"Thinking" traffic lights which automatically give the stop sign to speeding cars have been successfully tested in Leningrad, the Soviet news agency Tass reports. ## Fleming

I shall leave him and my other colleagues in the government with deep regret and with the most cordial and friendly feelings. I thank the Prime Minister for the privilege of serving Her Majesty the Queen as a member of the government for the past six years and for his personal friendship and confidence."

Mr. Fleming, 57, entered politics through civic affairs, first serving as a Toronto school trustee in 1939. In 1939 he began a six-year term as an alderman. He was first elected to the Commons in 1945, representing Toronto Eglinton up to the present.

An accomplished parliamentarian with a searching mind, the short, stocky member built a solid reputation as a persistent and tenacious performer on the floor of the Commons. Politically-minded friends paid tribute to his imperturability.

Mr. Fleming was considered by many observers as members of the Conservative cabinet when he joined Sir John Diefenbaker after Mr. Diefenbaker led the Conservatives to victory in 1957.

Last Aug. 9, Mr. Fleming was transferred to the justice portfolio from the combined finance and revenue post.

REASONS

Mr. Fleming's announcement indicated his resignation is for reasons different from the others—Douglas Harkness, defence minister, George Hees as post minister and Pierre Sevigny as associate defence minister. All three resigned over policy differences on acceptance of nuclear weapons for Canadian forces.

The other cabinet members are not expected to be candidates in the coming election, although Mr. Hees has been mentioned as a possible defence minister. One is Works Minister Howard Green, elected in January as Conservative leader in British Columbia, and the other is Labor Secretary Halpenny who, with a history of heart trouble, is reported ready to step down as an election candidate in his constituency of London.

Mr. Fleming, who didn't back away from a political scrap, was the centre of several political storms in the Diefenbaker era.

As an opposition member, he was expelled from the Commons for a day during the bitter, the wild pipeline debate of 1956, and he was a central figure in the controversy over the government's 1961 attempt to oust James E. Coyne as governor of the Bank of Canada.

He was battered by the opposition assaults over the unbroken succession of budget deficits during his 1957-62 term as finance minister. Recently he incurred a deep personal worry. One of his three children, 20-year-old Donald Watson Fleming, was wounded in the chest Feb. 2 by a shotgun blast in the nearby South Bell home of Mrs. Jayne Perley-Robertson.

Mr. Fleming, a son of a Scottish school teacher, twice tried, unsuccessfully, for the Conservative party leadership. In 1948, when Drew won the leadership, he placed third. He received 104 votes, Mr. Diefenbaker 311 and Mr. Drew 527.

In the party leadership convention in 1956 won by Mr. Diefenbaker, he was runner-up with 393 votes to Mr. Diefenbaker's 744. Mr. Fulton was third with 117. A good part of his support then came from Quebec, where the bilingual Mr. Fleming had many supporters.

As the Conservatives' chief financial critic during the years in opposition, Mr. Fleming was the natural choice as finance minister when Mr. Diefenbaker formed the first government June 21, 1957.

He ranked second in seniority behind External Affairs Minister Green, and frequently served as acting prime minister when Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Green were both away from Ottawa. He was Mr. Diefenbaker's seat-mate in the Commons throughout his cabinet tenure.

Conservatives Want Aid for Municipal Roads

TORONTO (CP) — Enlargement of provincial government assistance for roads in rural municipalities is suggested today in a resolutions committee report received at the annual meeting of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association.

The report, to be dealt with later in the two-day meeting, says major projects have reduced the need for main highways and main emphasis of future transportation development should be in the field of municipal transportation.

It says that assistance for roads in rural municipalities, particularly for county and development roads, should be greatly extended.

Other transportation recommendations:

1. That the province take over from the federal government the operation and maintenance of the Trent and Rideau waterway systems and improve their attraction for tourists.

2. That the limits of coverage of the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund, which compensates victims of accidents involving uninsured drivers.

MAKE OTHER SUGGESTIONS

The committee also recommended that increased emphasis be placed on extension of the province's programs for rehabilitation of disabled adults and for the care and special education of handicapped children.

Another committee recommendation was for an examination of the feasibility of incorporating the federated colleges of the Ontario department of agriculture at Guelph into an independent degree - granting university and having it offer a broader range of courses.

Other aspects of the resolutions committee report were made public early this month.

The association — provincial wing of the Conservative party of Canada — includes sessions of the Young Progressive Conservatives and of the women's branch, Premier Robarts welcomed the women's group today, adding he was pleased to see women in numbers turn out as provincial election candidates.

Main sessions of the association are to be held tomorrow, when Prime Minister Diefenbaker is scheduled to address an afternoon meeting.

Dr. Pauline Jewett Chosen By Northumberland Liberals

TRENTON — The cry "Do It With Jewett" was heard in Cobourg opera house Saturday afternoon as 700 persons unanimously chose Pauline Jewett as Liberal candidate for Northumberland riding in the April 8th general election. On the platform leading support was Miss Judy LaMarsh, member of Parliament for Niagara Falls, in the last House, herself a candidate in the forthcoming election.

The election of a stable government is the only issue facing the country, said Miss LaMarsh. She said that parliamentary events of the past few weeks had led to fear throughout the country, and failure to elect strong government might result in the country breaking up into "splinter" groups.

Dr. Jewett said the election of a Social Credit government would be an "even greater disaster" than the Progressive Conservative government, since the party has two leaders, "each on his white charger going in opposite directions." She said Robert Thompson and Real Caouette take almost "diametrically opposed" stands on most issues, particularly defence.

Dr. Jewett, a professor of political economy at Carleton University, called the Socreds' "funny money" policy a nonsense. To increase the amount of money in circulation without a corresponding increase in production would only succeed in raising prices, she said.

"The NDP is at least honest and straightforward," she added, but contended the party is dealing with problems that existed in the 1930's and has no depth in its policies.

Both candidates maintained that Canada should honor its commitments to accept nuclear warheads "for all it is another important goal, she stressed.

Dr. Jewett said better marketing agencies for distribution of farm produce are needed. This would require some form of government machinery, but money would not be the important thing if action were forthcoming.

The Liberals have the plans and the people, said the candidate, but a Liberal government and the efforts of everyone are needed to get things moving again.

Among other prominent Liberals at the convention were Senator Arthur Roebuck of Toronto; Robert Temple of Belleville, candidate for Hastings South; Russell Honey, Liberal candidate for Durham county, and Dan Lang, Ontario campaign organizer.

Dr. Pauline Jewett and Judy LaMarsh stand together after Miss Jewett was unanimously chosen Liberal candidate for Northumberland riding at a nomination convention attended by 700 persons in Cobourg on Saturday. Miss LaMarsh, who spoke at the rally, was member of Parliament for Niagara Falls in the last House.

"Only European allies are tough and peaceful," said Miss LaMarsh, "and they are not willing to entrust their security to a nation they cannot trust." She said the RCAF was assigned the role of strike reconnaissance in NATO because it has the best air force in Europe.

An agreement with the United States to arm Canadian forces with Bomarc missiles under the "double-key" system has been ready since 1959 but the government has not signed despite the fact it has been spending millions yearly on weapons carriers that are useless without them.

Close Schools Trying to Stop Spread of Flu

ATLANTA (AP) — Some schools closed and hospitals in several cities suspended visiting hours today in a grim effort to slow the spread of influenza.

Pneumonia - influenza deaths continued above epidemic proportions for the fifth week in figures c1tained from 108 cities by the communicable disease centre of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Outbreaks of Asian-type flu were confirmed in New York, Maryland, North Carolina, Kansas, Michigan and the District of Columbia.

A physician in Albany, N.Y., who recently visited Baltimore was the only confirmed case of Asian flu in upstate New York closed for part of last week.

The health commissioner of Milwaukee, Dr. E. R. Krumbiegel, predicted an Asian flu outbreak would reach epidemic proportions in that city.

The Wood Veterans Administration Hospital in Milwaukee ended all visiting hours until further notice after director D. C. Firmin estimated 75 cases of flu in the hospital compared with 26 the day before.

Visiting hours also were suspended until further notice at Memphis, Tenn., city hospitals where more than 500 patients were treated for upper respiratory infections.

and appealed to friendly nations with forces in the Caribbean to seize the freighter.

Seizure of the vessel appeared to be part of a Communist attempt, to force Betancourt to cancel a visit with President Kennedy in Washington this week. But Betancourt went ahead with plans to leave for Puerto Rico today and to fly on to Washington Tuesday.

Although Fidel Castro's regime offered asylum in Cuba to the crew who seized the ship, she was located Saturday off the northeast coast of South Africa. The ship has appeared to be heading for Brazil, where Portuguese rebels who seized the liner Santa Maria in 1961 found asylum.

Venezuelan destroyers sped along the South American coast, trying to intercept the Anzoategui.

U.S. SHIPS MOVE

The U.S. destroyers Wood and Leary sped out of Trinidad to join in the pursuit. They were expected to overtake the freighter by late today. But Capt. John H. Dinneen, commander of the U.S. naval station at Chaguaramas, said no orders had been received to stop and board the freighter.

The Brazilian Navy stood by to seize the ship if it crossed the three-mile limit but the Brazilian government has indicated it would grant the crew asylum.

A U.S. plane fired smoke rockets across the ship's bow Saturday in an effort to turn it toward Puerto Rico. But the ship kept heading south.

RCAF Hunts Plane Missing In Park Area

TRENTON, Ont. (CP)—RCAF search and rescue aircraft today were searching the heavily-laked and hilly area between North Bay and Killaloe for a light charter plane carrying a Drummondville, Que., doctor, J. B. Michaud, and his 12-year-old son Yves.

The plane, piloted by Dr. Michaud, took off from North Bay at 9:22 p.m. Sunday and was due at Montreal at 11.35 p.m. It was carrying enough fuel to last until 2:30 a.m.

Dr. Michaud's last known radio contact was with the North Bay tower 10 minutes after takeoff. He confirmed he was on course.

An RCAF spokesman said a Dakota and an Albatross aircraft were searching the area. He said heavy snow was falling and visibility was down to half a mile.

He said 10 more search planes will fly into the area as soon as weather conditions improve.

Jim Moar, a Kapuskasing pilot who has flown the route of the missing plane, said there are "lots of lakes to put down on but the area is very hilly and at night it would be tough to get down."

On a direct flight the plane would have to pass over the dense and uninhabited bush of Algonquin Provincial Park, an area of 250 square miles.

Doubts Need Of New Agency

GENEVA (Reuters) — The chief Canadian delegate to the United Nations conference on science and technology meetings here said today more money is needed to assist developing nations with technical progress.

Dr. J. W. T. Spinks, president of the University of Saskatchewan, said, however, Canada does not see any great need for a new agency to carry out the conference's tasks.

"Certainly more money is needed and the existing United Nations agencies can be extended," Spinks said, adding that "rather than decide something immediately, we need a little period to digest the technical work of the conference.

He said the important questions are how to translate ideas into concrete action, to reach agreement among government and finally to find out where the money will come from.

Some conference delegations have proposed the establishment of new machinery including the possibility of an international agency to carry out development tasks, but the majority of the countries represented have opposed the idea.

Not Again?

Old time railroaders who mourn the passing of the steam locomotives are warned not to develop an affection for the diesel-electrics that have replaced them. The diesel itself may be doomed, according to Dr. O. M. Solandt, chief of research and development for the C.N.R.

Dr. Solandt told the Canadian Club in Sarnia recently that Canadian railroads are looking to electrification, in the sense of electric power from a stationary generator, to cut running costs.

When the change to diesels was made, electrified railroads were unpopular in Canada. Electric locomotives generally run on D.C. power, for technical reasons, and D.C. power cannot be transmitted efficiently. With Canada's 60,000 miles of railway track, and relatively low railroad traffic, the investment in a D.C. powered railroad would be ridiculously expensive.

But since the dieselization began, new rectifiers have been developed, which allow railroads to transmit the power at AC, and rectify it within the locomotive. Because the AC power can be purchased from any public utility along the route, and because it can be transmitted with less voltage drop, electrified railways may prove practical for Canadian conditions.

Branch lines may create a problem during the first years, because they could not all be electrified at once, and the main line electric locomotives could not use them until they were; but in the meantime the railways will have these problems before any important steps are taken.

If and when the electrified railways come, the diesel may go the way of the steam engine and the horse and buggy. Romantics will bewail the passing of the moan of the diesel horn as they now mourn the steam whistle; but it is still. The stirring and romantic sight of the old-time diesel engine, flashing mysteriously through the night to unknown destinations, will thrill small children no more.

Not So Dumb

Don't look now, but if any photographer, catching the Hon. Davie Fulton off his guard, should produce a picture of him wearing a smugly satisfied smile, one could hardly blame him.

Not so very many days ago there was much head-shaking over Mr. Fulton, with friends whispering that the poor chap could not be very sound in the head. Here he had gone out of his way to throw up a cushy job at Ottawa as Minister of Public Works and deliberately seek the position as leader of the Progressive Conservative party in British Columbia. There could be no doubt about this position offering a tremendous challenge, but so, too, would the task of selling silk toppers to skin divers, and the two positions would have about the same rating as status symbols. Davie, it was hinted, was showing as much common sense as a nudist volunteering for a job on the DEW line.

Tuesday the Diefenbaker Cabinet, the revamped Diefenbaker Cabinet, met to deal with routine business and to plan for the general election. Davie Fulton was not one of those in attendance. His departure date, says The Canadian Press, is uncertain. So, too, is the departure date of his colleagues. There is this difference -- - while they do not know whether they will have to wait a week or a month, Fulton knows he will leave, Fulton has some place to go and a job which should keep him busy for quite some time.

Doubtful Defence

Paris taxi drivers are asking permission to carry firearms, after the murder of two cabbies in the French capital during the week. Since the war, 23 Paris taxi drivers have been murdered.

Criminals must be anxious that the permission be granted. Few taxi drivers carry enough money to make murder worthwhile, but a gun is another matter.

The taxi drivers have made the mistake of considering an offensive weapon suitable for defence. In the few cases where this is true, it is because the attacker is incompetent. Where such matters are important, it has long been recognized that a gun in the pocket is no defence against a knife in the back.

It is one of the ironies of Latin America today that malnutrition and underhourishment are most widespread among those who till the soil. This pattern of overworked, overcrowded farmland runs like a chain of frustration down through the Mexican highlands southward along the length of the Andes.—Dr. Favian Recalde, Ecuadorean nutritionist.

Must Resist Temptation

Montreal Gazette

It was inevitable that the Government would fail. But it has fallen at last under circumstances of particular difficulty. The temptation to use these to snatch political gains by exploiting the recent trouble with the United States must be resisted. It is of tactical nuclear arms.

The fact that the fall of the Government has coincided with this trouble with the U.S. Government is unfortunate. Had the Government fallen earlier, this issue might not have been injected into the election. Had the Government fallen later, this issue might have receded in importance. But since the defeat of the Government has come now, it has come in the very midst of this international dispute.

The temptation now lies before the Prime Minister to make the most of this issue in his campaign. He can, if he chooses, draw upon it to the utmost, in the hope of winning votes. He can turn this election into an act of protest and resentment against the United States from one end of the country to another. It is fortunate that Mr. Diefenbaker has the special oratorical gifts to enable him to do it.

But fortunately Mr. Diefenbaker also has a sense of history, and a sense of duty to the principles of life. To carry out a campaign of this kind at this time would be a calamity if it succeeded, and it would be a repudiation if it failed.

Canada in her relations with the United States is not in a position where absolute declarations of independence are feasible. Any two countries are such close neighbors, our lives are closely interwined. At a thousand points we are concerned with co-operation, and with unavoidable irritations in which mutual goodwill is an essential influence.

It is almost true that we are not countries that can afford to in picking up our civilized practices, but with a little guidance and good will from all of us we can get them to take part in our communal activities.

And, when they have forsaken their old-fashioned heathenish ways, maybe next year, or the year after, they will join the rest of us in proclaiming the Christian new year in more forward-looking people should — hats, horns, hooch, homicide and all. We can but hope.

New Year Celebrated by Chinese Jan. 27

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The Chinese community in Chicago — and New York and San Francisco, and other cities that have one — celebrated its New Year on Jan. 27. And what a bust it was.

The Chinese New Year festivities included three days of introducing the year of the rabbit, 4660. But I saw nothing like the way in which we celebrate the Christian era in 1963. In three months still to go, the bachelors aren't quite as safe as they think.

There are disturbing changes taking place on the marriage front in the U.S., and it's likely that many more will appear as comments are occurring in Canada.

There is, in short, a marriage crave — and it's due to the fact we are all much more conscious than we the case a couple of decades ago.

It was proved this week in a recent survey that a never-married woman in the 20 to 50 age range has a 1 in 3 better than 70% chance of nabbing a spouse compared with only 50% possibility back in 1940. If the girl is 35 or over, there's still a 50-50 chance of marriage as against a one-third-to-five 20 years ago.

Whether the women have developed better trapping techniques or the men are just getting weaker isn't known, but there has been a definite deterioration in the bachelor camps.

In 1940 if a man reached 30 without falling by the wayside there was little chance he wouldn't fall at all. If he stuck it until he was 35, he had a 90% chance of going it unencumbered forevermore.

Now only 15% of the 30-year-old bachelors survive feminine wiles. And of the men still unattached at 35, only 40% can now count on sticking to their selfish, single, happy state.

Bachelors may be less reluctant than a couple of decades ago, but here's a tip for the girls of 30-plus who are wondering where the hunting's best. Divorced men of age 40 or so have a 90% probability of finding matrimony for the second time.

So much, indeed, for that old saw about once bitten twice shy.

Bachelors' Chances Drop

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

February 18th, 1943.

Prices for all lines of produce remained steady on a slightly less than average Saturday market with Grade "A" eggs apparently having settled for the time being at 40 cents the dozen. The chicken offering was not large with prices holding at from 30 cents to 32 cents per pound. Staple vegetables such as carrots, beets, parsnips and turnips brought the usual 40 cents the peck, while potatoes sold at $2 per bag.

Mrs. Rena Adams of Consecon got the shock of his life while walking through his barnyard on Friday last, to see a huge eagle swoop down and seize one of his hens. He ran to the house for his shotgun, and when he returned, the eagle attempted to fly away with the chicken. As it started to rise into the air Mr. Adams shot the huge bird. He had a wing spread of six feet eight inches.

It was learned Wednesday that enlistment in local high school youths into corps of the air cadets and sea cadets recently established in Belleville have caused the Army high school cadet corps to go by the board for the indefinite period. As the age limit prevents boys in public school enlisting in the R.C.A.F. (Army) last. Two sea cadets, the public school army cadets has not been affected.

Says Acheson Spoke Truth

London Spectator

Mr. Dean Acheson's speech hardly justifies the reactions which it excited in the United Kingdom.

The former secretary of state did little more than point to the evident political weaknesses afflicting NATO and those European countries belonging to it. That "Great Britain has lost an empire and has not yet found a role" is a plain truth which anyone who had studied British policy since the war must admit.

Of course, not all truths are acceptable from the lips of foreign statesmen; but Germany and France were also hardly handled without creating an uproar. Why should we be so supersensitive to facts which are not in dispute?

The answer lies in the present uneasy state of British political life and public opinion. Since 1945 we have been engaged in a planned withdrawal from imperial commitments, replacing them by a Commonwealth association resting on indefinable qualities of goodwill rather than on any more material bonds of power or even common interest, and increasingly strained by the heterogeneous character of its members. On the international scene we have comforted ourselves with the fond part of America's closest ally, the "candid friend" whose votes, whether lifted in reproach or approbation, was heard in Washington when other votes were being cast.

Both these directions taken by British policy since the war were useful and indeed, essential; but neither of them represented that discovery of a new place in the world, that new task we must perform, that new fulness we must envisage, which would be necessary if we were to set our faces towards aims aim other than the mere liquidation of the past or the parrying of an immediate threat.

Also, the circumstances in which the dissolution of empire and the alliance to the Atlantic alliance took place have meant that these necessary steps were accompanied by a diminution of our power and a concentration of our freedom of action, whose more immediate and disagreeable symptoms were a balance of payments perpetually wavering defence pulling and the unreal nature of much political debate at home.

Now our proposed entry into the European Community and President Kennedy's concept of interdependance have set before us a long-term pattern in which our national existence can find its place. But this has meant that we are confronted with facts of our position in the world which had not made their full emotional impact before.

To Your Good Health

Atomic Cocktail Suitable For Treating Goiters

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Do you recommend the atomic cocktail for goiter? Do all goiters respond to it? Please explain different treatments. — P. B.

Yes, I recommend the atomic cocktail for suitable cases.

A goiter is a thyroid gland which has grown larger than normal. The causes and results are not all the same, though.

The best-known cause is lack of iodine. Some areas, such as the Great Lakes region, were known as "goiter belts". The reason: There was almost no iodine in the soil, hence none in foodstuffs grown in these areas.

The thyroid gland produces a hormone called thyroxin. It has to have iodine (even though in only small traces) to do so. With iodine lacking, the thyroid gland, following nature's desperate urge to produce even under handicap, enlarges. The result: Goiter.

Use of iodized salt now has put an end to the majority of simple goiters from that cause. However, there are also toxic goiters, which become overactive from some other cause. (Cysts and tumors are two causes of such enlargement.)

The atomic cocktail is used in some of these. The "cocktail" essentially is a small amount of iodine which has been made radioactive and then dissolved in a glass of water.

Since iodine automatically is conducted to the thyroid (where that element is needed), so is the radioactive iodine. There its radioactive properties quiet the overactivity.

It is, indeed, used instead of surgery, the same end result being achieved by the removal part of the gland, and leaving only the amount of gland tissue needed to provide enough thyroxin.

Thus for some goiters, administering iodine alone may be a successful treatment. In others a "atomic cocktail" or surgery may be necessary.

The atomic cocktail is usually confined to patients over the age of 40.

It does not by any means eliminate all need for surgery. A goiter may be of such size that it interferes with breathing and swallowing. Or there may be special characteristics which make mandatory to act immediately. Then surgery is the answer.

That's why I recommend the atomic cocktail only in suitable cases.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss lack of pigmentation in the skin. My skin is getting worse and seemingly there is nothing that can be done. Is it from lack of vitamins? Is it hereditary? — Mrs. D., Ill.

This is called vitiligo — loss of pigment in patches of skin. Heredity probably is a factor. Certain skin infections can be involved. Damage to the skin (as from severe sunburn) sometimes can leave areas where pigment will not accumulate sufficiently. And other times no specific cause can be detected.

Hope it will make you feel better to know that: 1 — There is nothing harmful to health in this condition; 2 — Sometimes it clears up by itself. In the interim cosmetics are probably the most satisfactory answer. Drugs have been tried but without dependable success.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 58. Six months ago I had a minor inflammation of the prostrate but did not go back for another examination. There is a thick discharge. Is this serious? — M. A.

Yes, infection anywhere is serious. You are responsible on average to have prostrate trouble, but as I've written before, it is becoming regarded as age. You had better get back to your doctor.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 188, Dundas, Ont., for a copy of the leaflet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains", enclosing a long, self-addressed unstamped envelope and 10c in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

It was with horror that I read an announcement by one of the big electrical manufacturing companies, which has recently produced an electric toothbrush, that their newest addition to gracious living is an electric carving knife.

This instrument, it says, has merely to be held in the hand and guided. The vibrating blade does the cutting. Even a nincompoop, it says can be an expert carver.

Up until now, I had thought that automation threatened only the skilled mechanics. I had no idea that automation was about to threaten those of us who, by patient study and deep understanding, had risen to be expert carvers. Many a man who is held in little esteem by his wife and children has at least the satisfaction of being recognized by them once or twice a week, and always at Christmas and New Years as master with the carving knife. When friends were invited to dinner, it was one of the honors of a host to took carving knife in hand and was conscious of the admiring attention of the whole table. The great occasions of his life occurred when, on visiting other homes, he was invited to carve.

It seems to me that automation ought to be barred from invading the arts.

An Idea Born in Mind Of Queen's Man May Speed Diagnosis of Heart Diseases

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — An idea born in the mind of a Queen's University medical student five years ago may improve knowledge of the heart's action and speed diagnosis of heart disease.

The idea has resulted in a new electronic device, the brainchild of Dr. Graham Schuler, 30, now a research fellow at Queen's.

The machine—known as an area display electro - cardiograph—is designed to pinpoint heart damage and develop a sure and fast method of evaluating the heart's condition.

At least two more years of testing will be needed before the machine will be ready for general use.

It has been brought to full development through facilities of the medical electronics section of the National Research Council in Ottawa.

The first of its type, the apparatus measures the electrical activity associated with heart contraction and shows these impulses on a series of small television screens.

The machine picks up the impulses through the host of electrodes placed on the chest.

GIVES TOTAL PICTURE

Previously the only way of reading these impulses was with the conventional electro-cardiogram. This showed only a partial picture of the heart's total electrical activity and it took years of training before a doctor could accurately read its graph

The new machine is designed to present the total picture.

The idea came to Dr. Schuler when he was in second year medicine. With encouragement from Dr. J. D. Hatcher, now head of the university's physiology department, and Dr. H. G. Kelly, associate professor and cardiologist in the department of medicine, the young students began three summers of research and planning.

Working with grants from the Ontario Heart Foundation and aided by the departments of physiology, medicine and electrical engineering at the university, he produced a working model.

But the intense young man who grew up in Galt, Ont., gives credit for final construction of the apparatus to the assistance and direction of Orest Roy of the NRC medical research laboratory.

Mr. Roy, a graduate of the University of Manitoba, has been granted his master's degree from McGill University.

Both men acknowledge their indebtedness to American engineer Dr. Standford Goldman of Syracuse University, who in 1948 published the principle of a similar machine.

SWEDISH MEAT BALLS:

Set out a large, heavy skillet having a tight-fitting cover. Sift and also 1 cup (3 slices) fine dry bread crumbs.

Lightly mix together in a large bowl ½ of the bread crumbs and 1 lb. ground pork; ½ lb. ground veal; ½ lb. ground beef; 1 cup mashed potatoes; 1 egg beaten.

Add a mixture of 1 teaspoon salt; ½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate (optional); ½ teaspoon brown sugar; ½ teaspoon pepper; ¼ teaspoon allspice; ¼ teaspoon nutmeg; ¼ teaspoon ginger and ¼ teaspoon ginger.

Shape mixture into balls about 1 inch in diameter. Roll lightly in remaining crumbs.

325 TB Refugees Are Making Rapid Recovery

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian medical profession and provincial tuberculosis sanatoria have had almost unbelievable success in the treatment of 325 tuberculosis refugees plucked from displaced persons camps in Europe.

The same high degree of accomplishment has been achieved by the federal immigration department in the integration into society of the 325 refugees involved in this humanitarian movement.

Of the 325 tubercular refugees brought to this country as one Canadian contribution to World Refugee Year, only four still are in hospital receiving treatment.

Of the total of 826 refugees involved in the movement, only 66 still require federal financial assistance, with 29 receiving only partial help.

"It's an absolutely wonderful success story of a humanitarian venture," Immigration Minister Bell said Friday.

STORY STIRS

"At the outset of the program it could have been very many people who questioned the wisdom of admitting tubercular refugees for lasting immigration. But the genuine success of the program has changed all this and made the refugee assistance aspect of Canada's immigration policy a stirring part of the Canadian immigration story."

The 325 tubercular refugees arrived in Canada by air between December, 1959, and February, 1961, and hundreds of them were hoping the livers will restore their vigor.

The price ranges from the equivalent of $3 to $5, depending on the size of the liver. The procedure is for the customer to drink a glass of rice whiskey, then hold his mouth open while Ko drops in the pellet of raw meat. Another glass of whisky serves as a chaser.

Judging from the looks on their faces after the feast away, the customers feel they've got their money's worth.

National Ballet Given Ovation

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto theatre-goers, never noted for the warmth of their applause, gave the National Ballet of Canada a 12-curtain-calls ovation Saturday for its performance of the Russian classic Swan Lake.

While the entire cast of the four-act ballet shared in the applause, the greatest acclaim went to star Melissa Hayden dancing her first full-length dual role of Odette and Odile.

Toronto - born Miss Hayden left her native city 20 years ago to further her ballet studies in New York. She now is a leading soloist with the New York City Ballet and hyper-appearance with the National Ballet during the four-week Toronto season that began last Wednesday is her first here since she went away.

Medicine Man Sells Fresh Cobra Livers

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) —Fresh cobra livers, anyone?

A Chinese medicine man in Bangkok claims they cure anything from rheumatism to that old let-down feeling.

Ko Khieng Guay says he has been selling the livers for the last 36 years, and business is good.

With the help of his 15-year-old son, Ko sets up shop each weekend on a dark corner in the heart of Bangkok's throbbing Chinese market. His equipment is simple—a razor sharp knife, some lengths of rope, a couple of bottles of rice whisky. And a satchel of live, wriggling cobras.

The snakes, which abound in Thailand's countryside, have already been milked for their venom. But many of Ko's prospective clients still duck as the medicine man hauls the cobras out one by one, and waves them around to attract a crowd. Usually two or three dozen persons gather around. Then Ko goes to work.

TWO SNAKE OPEN

Grabbing a cobra by its neck, he slips a noose around it and holds the snake down on a nail in the wall. Switching his grip to the snake's tail, he takes the knife, and—with one expert slash—lays it open. After opening up each snake, Ko deftly plucks out the marble-sized liver and puts it on a platter.

When he figures he has enough livers, Ko offers them to the crowd. His clients are almost always Chinese, most of them men hoping the livers will restore their vigor.

The price ranges from the equivalent of $3 to $5, depending on the size of the liver. The procedure is for the customer to drink a glass of rice whiskey, then hold his mouth open while Ko drops in the pellet of raw meat. Another glass of whisky serves as a chaser.

Judging from the looks on their faces after the feast away, the customers feel they've got their money's worth.

May Be Able To Recover Ore In Flue Dust

HAMILTON (CP)—A $2,000,000 mountain of blast furnace flue dust may be processed into commercial steel in the near future as the result of pioneering research carried out by Dominion Foundries and Steel Limited.

Dofasco employees were told today by Frank A. Sherman, chairman, in his annual report as trustee of their savings and profit-sharing fund, that a small pilot plant has been successful in pioneering the processing of the dust into ore briquettes for blast furnace feed.

Dofasco's 1962 results enabled the company to share $900 of profits—the maximum — with every employee who saved $200 during the year.

In the last five years, the fund's assets have doubled and now total (including reserves) more than $44,000,000.

A Dofasco employee with maximum savings and accumulated interest of $8,947 now has a total credit of $31,024 in the fund.

IS BIG LOSS

Wastage of ore dust caused by the upward pressures of hot gases used in the blast furnace operation is costly to the basic steel industry—an average of 50 pounds of ore dust goes up the flues per ton of iron produced.

Dofasco has installed expensive equipment to recover these dusts which are collected in sludge basins, ponds of water and waste and stockpiled.

The pilot plant has made blast-size briquettes of the ore dust and studies are underway which may result in the calling of tenders soon for the construction of a briquette plant.

Some steel plants are using sintering or pelletizing processes for the recovery of ore dusts.

'Wind Blown' Look Features Spring Show

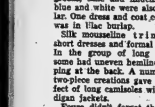
MONTREAL (CP)—Creations with a norwest "wind blown" look were featured at the spring and summer collection of Montreal designer Jacques Fouré, vice president of the Association of Canadian Couturiers.

Designs with such names as saqqur, mistral and green wind whirled through Friday in crepes, jersey silks, cotton tweeds and linens in delicate spring shades.



The wind blown look is achieved by Fouré's switch from back to front interest. Backs were smooth and untouched, while soft front fullness and drapings was achieved through gores, bias and pleating.

Diagonal crossings, long flowing scarfs and some cowl necklines emphasized the forward look. Waists came either above or below the natural waistline. Soft bells were used to encircle the low waist, while folds and seaming made flattering empire lines.

Colors ranged from all shades of yellow — Fouré's favorite spring colour — into delicate greens, lime and linden. Navy blue and white were also popular. One dressy suit coat costume was in lilac burlap.

Silk mousseline trimmed short dresses and formal gowns. In the group of long gowns, some had uneven hemlines, dipping at the back. A number of two-piece creations gave the effect of long camisoles with cardigan jackets.

Fouré didn't forget the chill breezes of early spring and showed a collection of elegant small furs from capes in Arctic white, Norwegian blue and platinum black fox to mink, seal and Russian broadtail short jackets.

Family Responsibility Topic At Women's Study Guild

Eighteen members of the Women's Study Guild met recently at the home of Mrs. Ralph Ellis, Dufferin Avenue. Business was conducted by the president.

A challenging worship theme, Tennyson's Message to the Duke was presented by Miss J. Tickell, who used the poem "Ring Out the Old" in The Week's Duty to inspire a hopeful look to the future.

"Family Responsibility" was the theme of the program. Mrs. N. Meldrum introduced the subject by referring to the recent study of "Population Explosion." There is a scarcity of information regarding birth control because it is illegal. Finding that religion and government control its association and legality these main topics were discussed.

Primitive religious considered fertility a spiritual favor. This was established belief. It was difficult to relate when religious cults were established. Mrs. Meldrum outlined the attitudes of the main religions of the world.

Mrs. Leslie Reid illustrated by graphic charts the fact that it has taken all the years of human existence to accumulate a population of three billion people, but by the turn of the century this number will have more than doubled. She also showed that Asia is the continent where there is the greatest concentration of population. It was pointed out that among the greatest growth is in those countries which are already on the verge of starvation, and incapable of feeding and educating their people, the world may well become inundated with masses of starving and ignorant inhabitants unless some wise and immediate action is taken.

CONTROL NECESSARY

Sir Julian Huxley, while head of the UNESCO, studied the situation and said: "Every thing points to the conclusion: While every effort must be made to increase food production, to facilitate distribution, to shame the 'have' nations into fairer sharing of the good things of this world with the 'have-nots', this alone cannot prevent disaster. Birth control is also necessary, on a world wide scale and as soon as possible.

The U.N. have been repeatedly asked to give leadership to worldwide programs of birth control to prevent a dark age of misery and famine.

Mrs. Reid went on to point out that although literature on the attitude of various countries to birth control is scarce, it appears that United States, Italy, France and Canada are the most liberal countries where it is illegal to disperse birth control advice. In Egypt, Sweden, Germany, Holland, Japan, India and Red China, it is authorized and promoted.

Mrs. Reid, India's ambassador to the U.S., has pleaded with the United States to send food, especially loans of money and wheat, the—scientific and technical help which they have to offer to help the tremendous problems of birth control.

ARCHAIC LAWS

Many Canadians are unaware of Canada's archaic laws on birth control. They have been enforced only three "times since 1892. There is no publicity given to birth control in Canada, although there are privately operated philanthropic services in Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg. Mrs. Meldrum told of the most recent "Planned Parenthood" federation," which was organized in Toronto on January 14, 1963, with the Rev. Ernest M. Howes as president. Their first move will be to endeavor to establish a clinic.

Man's attempt to control the world's population goes back beyond recorded time. Mrs. Reid traced the methods of family limitation up to the present time and outlined many types of experimental work on birth control, that are being carried on in laboratories and clinics throughout the world. These improved methods could be used for mass distribution to people in diverse cultures.

After an interesting discussion a social time was enjoyed, Mrs. G. Cochrane and Mrs. G. Maybee served lunch.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

THIS GAG ISN'T ALWAYS A GAG

"Don't tell me I'll call you."

I'm sure you've heard of this sometimes cynical phrase of the top man in a business situation. It's an old standby of comedians and is used to get a rise and perhaps a wry chuckle from an audience.

It also don't quantify the gib line as just another figment of a desperate gag writer. The phrase is used because it probably is used more often in real life than on movie and television screens.

It points up, I think, the inhumanity and lack of consideration for others that frequently mark a business relationship.

In the dog-eat-dog world that some business people create for themselves, the goal they set is to be top dog. Trouble is, many of them also have their good manners along the way.

It's probably too much to expect of them the courtesy you can always hope. Common courtesy doesn't cost a cent and ought not be confined to the home or only to those one regards as "equals".

In this respect, the so-called underdog occasionally commits his share of rudeness.

The job applicant, or the salesman who has had the opportunity to present his product or service, doesn't help any if he persists in phoning to find out if he got the job or contract.

The executive may be telling the "underling" he will "let you know if anything develops." If anything happens you'll be informed. But phoning time he'll welcome a phone call is when a new development occurs. Not because of the job seeker or a new price makes the salesman's wares more interesting.

But the executive who says he'll call doesn't help as discourteous to people who seek his favor as the character who eats with his fingers because he doesn't give a hoot what others think.

Courtesy and people's feelings is the mark of true success in business, just as it is in the social world.

Women Taking Course Never On a Farm

MONTREAL (CP) — Becoming a farmer is about the last thing in the minds of the dozen girls taking a three-week dairy agriculture course at Macdonald college.

Some have never lived on a farm and even those who have are most often interested in the science of agriculture.

All of which prompts William Shipley, secretary-registrar, to say:

"I sometimes think the name of the course gives the public the wrong impression. It is designed to give sound training in the biological sciences.

"If a student comes with a farm background or an apprenticeship, that helps. But many come here without ever having lived on a farm and have no intention to."

Fairly typical is 19-year-old Marilyn Reid of Port Arthur, a graduate student at the college in suburban Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

"I don't raised on a farm," she said. "I've never milked a cow and I never expect to milk one. In fact, the first time I've ever been within 10 feet of one."

Her reasons sound two of her high school vocations working in the Laboratory of Insect Pathology in Belleville, Ont., wants to be an entomologist.

One student with a farm background is Jean LeLacheur, Macdonald-Oka student and vice-president of the students' council.

Jean was born in Georgetown, P.E.I., and spent most of her first 21 years on a farm. She was a dairy farmer for a time herself.

At Macdonald she specializes in economics and her plan is to teach high school.

Margaret Hoey, 18, a second-year student, has never lived on a farm. However, she says she loves animals and hopes to specialize in animal science. But first she wants to teach overseas for a while.

Ann Edmonds, 21, of Ottawa, decided to specialize in animal science and also intends to teach high school.

"When I was in high school, I worked for one summer milking cows for Borden's dairy outside of Ottawa," the third-year student said. "I had to get up at 4 o'clock every morning and I guess I'm really a city girl at heart."

Candy Turtles

[by request]

by Mary Moore

As many of you know, Grace N. said she would send recipe for turtles. I printed this request in the column of January 19th and asked our readers to come to my rescue for I did not have the recipe.

Now I do. I have dozens for many of you responded to my S.O.S. The number of different recipes received for this popular candy surprised me.

I spent all morning making four different turtles — I wanted a baby-sitting for Jennifer and stopped to kiss her and play with her three at 4 o'clock. I kept taking the whole morning into consideration .It was quite a holiday. Elsewhere I've told of wisdom tooth extracted.

For the benefit of Grace N. I will give the three that I think will please her and you.

54 caramels, 2 tablespoons water, 6 oz. semi-sweet chocolate or chocolate bits, 2 cups, 2¼ lb. whole pecans (150 to 176 pecans — weight depends on size of pecans).

In top of double boiler, over boiling water, melt the caramels with the water, stirring twice. This takes about 15 minutes. On a well-buttered platter or cake pan, arrange in 6 roll arrange 40 or 44 clusters of 4 whole pecans, making the skeleton of the turtle's body. 2 pecans end to end for head and 4 to then push 2 more flish with the light end for tail. Melted caramels in double boiler but removed from heat, spoon enough over clusters to cover, but leave tiny "head" and "tail" protruding. Cool. Meanwhile melt chocolate over hot (not boiling) water. Leaving melted chocolate in double boiler, but removed from heat, spoon just enough over caramel to cover legs. Using a fine dover sides, a little to not quite touch plate or foil/Let stand until cold and shine has disappeared.

NOTE:

If desired, add 1 tablespoon each butter and water to 8 lb. vanilla caramels and melt together. To 6-oz. semi-sweet chocolate or chocolate morsels add 2 tablespoons light corn syrup and melt over hot water. These additions to the'caramels and chocolate may be used for Turtles No. 1 and No. 2.

TURTLES NO. 2 (easy — courtesy Mrs. Ray Hall)

Place clusters of 4 or 5 pecans each to form "turtle" skeleton on greased buttered heavy foil on baking sheet. Top with 1 or 2 vanilla caramels. Cautiously transfer to oven and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. about 8 minutes or until caramels are softened and can be pressed down. Remove from oven. At once carefully press and spread caramels to point of knife to cover pecans. Cool. Cover with melted semi-sweet chocolate or chocolate morsels. Cool.

I hope the candy-makers will clip this now for I have a feeling that this recipe will be greatly in demand. Thank to all readers who contributed.

Happy chewing.

On Christmas Epistles

DORIS CLARE

DEAR DORIS—For years we have been sending out Christmas letters as the relationship is large and oft times our only communication is at Christmas. One response shocked me. It was from "her-in-law and it reads as follows:

"Comparing form letters, we concluded the main purpose in writing them is to boast about family affairs; which is bad taste to say the least.

"We have decided that anyone too busy to write a few lines of personal interest on a Christmas card will be omitted from our list."

I was quite hurt at the time but now I'd like an impartial opinion.—PEACE ON EARTH!

DEAR PEACE—Unkind to say the least. But for peace I'd turn the other cheek. Send an Easter card bearing a personal friendly note.

Next Christmas limit the list receiving the circular to folks close to you and yours. Even then add a penned p.s. containing some "you" interest.

Such reports from missionaries and outposters are welcomed; otherwise, I, too, have mixed feelings about long-winded family epistles for any but doting grandmothers and reasonable facsimiles.

DEAR DORIS—When a boy brings you home after an evening out, should you thank him? I'd feel so silly.—KATY.

DEAR KATY—Well, he won't feel silly. He has spent money and time on you. It's manners to let him know you liked it.

DEAR DORIS—The Victoria Hospital, Montreal, had a very good clinic dealing with speech defects. My son was a particularly difficult case due to infection after an operation. He is 19 now and talking well. I would advise Mrs. W. M. to take her child there.

Blowing up balloons and drinking through straws are two good exercises for the palate.—WANTING TO HELP.

DEAR WANTING—Thank you. Speech experts can accomplish wonders—and there are other excellent clinics across Canada.

* * *

SPECIAL NOTE:—My thanks go out to the annoymous reader who so kindly sent me a copy of the "Profile," a publication of the "Saskatchewan Council for Crippled Children and Adults." The book review on Speech Rehabilitation describes new speech training techniques for the person whose larynx has been removed. Write in for the name of this book and its author, enclosing a five-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Quebec Drivers Take Risks So Death Toll From Mishaps Reached 1,119 Last Year

By GERARD McNEIL

QUEBEC (CP) — "I'm free as the breeze, "Who's to stop me and why?

"I can do as I please, "Open road, open sky."

Each line in this buoyant verse contains a fallacy when applied on a modern highway—crowded and busy, patrolled by police, the conduct of its travellers closely legislated.

Yet, more aptly than any safety jingle, it seems to sum up the spirit in which many Quebecers drive.

"They take chances," says Jacques Verreault, deputy minister of transport and communications, summing up the drivers' attitude.

Things got so bad on the Trans-Canada Highway between Montreal and Quebec City last spring that Roads Minister Bernard Pinard threatened to close it. The 200-mile stretch accounted for 18 deaths in three weekends

RECORD DEATH TOLL

"If such a death rate were attributed to some contagious disease, people would scramble to get vaccinated," said Pro-dentis, a safety organization.

"Immunization against human error is within reach of everyone, but no one cares to take advantage.

"The only protection against potential killers is defensive driving and strict observance of the highway code."

If Prudentis's message got across, the result wasn't evident in 1962 statistics. They show that in Quebec province 1,119 persons were killed in 107,453 accidents, both record figures, though statistically 1962 —with half as many drivers as 900 deaths—is still the worst year.

During Christmas weekend with weather bad, highways icy and constant warnings going out from police, there were 25 deaths.

Insurance adjusters currently are working overtime on what some call the worst winter for accidents. Bad weather, urban congestion and other physical factors are blamed, but the careless attitude always ranks high when the accident toll is discussed.

BLAME CARELESSNESS

Traffic Chief Gerard Girard of Quebec City and Lucien Desjacent, Eastern Quebec chief of the Quebec Provincial Police, both list carelessness as a major factor.

The Chronicle-Telegraph, in an editorial, suggested that city council ditch a plan to widen a major artery because Quebecers had not learned to drive on a road with more than two lanes.

But there are hopeful signs that the 1962 toll is just a hangover from the post-war era when enforcement didn't keep up with increase in traffic.

In those years, the provincial police didn't patrol most highways at night. Understaffed municipal police forces also found it difficult to keep a close eye on motorists, and some still do.

Legislature members are still asked to get constituents off the hook for a little drunken driving, but they no longer do. And Quebec judges are getting tougher and tougher under pressure from public opinion.

J. A. Castin, deputy attorney-general, says more and better-equipped police patrol cars now are on the highways around the clock.

PATROL IN AMBULANCES

Provincial police patrol remote areas in ambulances and Quebec City may get a police ambulance system like Montreal's this year. Though costly, it is credited with saving many lives.

"We're asking the courts to be tougher," says Mr. Castin. "Many judges are willing to comply. Those who don't understand this is one of the best methods to cut down the accident toll."

In 1961, only 5,000 Quebec drivers were suspended while in Ontario, the figure was 34,000. In Alberta, with a population one - fifth of Quebec's, there were about 15,000 suspensions.

After the grim Christmas weekend, Mr. Verreault and others urged coroner's juries to take a closer look at cases that might involve criminal negligence.

"They should be stricter," says Roland Baribeau, who compiles provincial accident statistics and who won't drive his own car outside the city.

"I'm frankly afraid to," he explains. "I always take a plane or train."

Bushworkers

March. With the spring thaw, the melting muskeg can no longer support woods operations.

The strikers' vote—950 in favor of ending the strike at Spruce Falls and at Kimberly-Clark Pulp and Paper Company at Longlac, 180 miles west of here, versus 54 against—came although neither labor nor management was happy about the strike-ending settlement terms.

The men returned to work under the terms of a contract that expired last Aug. 31. A three-man arbitration board will be set up for each company to settle all contract issues.

IS NOT SATISFIED

Joseph Laforce, president of the Kapuskasing local of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (CLC), said the union was told at government-sponsored negotiations in Toronto last week that arbitration would be forced on it by legislation if it did not accept the terms voluntarily. He saw dire implications in the action for future labor disputes.

"It means that the future disputes the management will hold back and let the government pass arbitration legislation," he said. "God help the trade union movement if this is going to be forced down our throats every time it happens."

Mr. Flait said he was "not too happy about the arbitration but I don't think there was any opinion."

However, he said he was "very, very pleased that the strike is over and that the vote was so strongly in favor of it, because I feel that the majority of the men had no desire to go on strike in the first place."

Nor was Mr. Flait of the company pleased, although "I don't think there was any opinion" about arbitration. However, he was happy to see the strike over.

Still unsettled are a hose of police charges as a result of a clash between strikers and independent settlers last week that left three strikers dead and nine wounded.

Nineteen settlers are to appear in court Tuesday on non-capital murder charges. They were being held without bail at the district jail in Haileybury.

GO FREE ON BAIL

Nearly 200 strikers charged with rioting were released from confinement on bail of $200 each, most of it put up by their union, in time to take part in Saturday's voting. Nearly 40 more remain to be charged, all as a result of the fatal clash.

Union officials hope to have the strikers excused from making a court appearance Tuesday so bush operations are not halted. The cases are expected to be remanded and their bail renewed, but a court appearance will mean they will lose a day of work.

Provincial police began dispersing reinforcements of 230 men brought to the 200-mile-long labor stretch before and after the Monday clash.

Police reported the atmosphere relaxed today as both the strikers, employed by the companies, and the independent settlers, who cut and sell wood to the mills, went back to the bush separately.

Columnist Opens His Mail, Didn't Know These Things

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

There are about 35,000 U.S. marriages each year in which one or both partners are 65 or older. . . .

And the older they are, the more likely they are to choose younger mates. . . . Example: Among bridegrooms in the 75-and-up bracket, 12 per cent picked brides at least 25 years younger than themselves; 18 per cent of brides in the same age group wed men 10 or more years younger.

Odd legislation: It's against the law in the Sudan to send leeches through the mails.

Science is beginning to find out more about women. . . . Researchers, for example, have discovered that the tears a woman sheds when emotionally upset are chemically different from those she weeps while peeling onions.

Quotable notables: "One learns in life to keep silent and draw one's own confusions."—Cornelia Otis Skinner.

The New York Telephone Company reports some novel uses for its massive Manhattan directory which runs to nearly 1,900 pages: A young baseball catcher threaded rope through it and employed it as a chest protector . . . A South American banana firm bought old directories to bullet - proof its trucks.

Highway safety signs: In Maryland: "Be late, Mr. Jones —not the late Mr. Jones." . . . In Delaware: "Take your time, not your life. Drive safely."

Ever wonder how to tell the difference between an African elephant and his Indian cousin? . . . One way: The former invariably sleeps standing up, the Indian elephant often snoozes lying down.

Here's an item that will surprise some: Although whisky comes from a Celtic word meaning "water of life," milk is by far a more favored beverage in Ireland. . . . In 1961, the Irish set a reported world record for the per capita consumption of milk—1,401 pounds.

Big money: The world's largest form of currency was the giant holed-stone disc called Fei used on the island of Yap in the Pacific. . . . It sometimes reached a diameter of 12 feet . . . A medium-sized stone disc was worth one wife.

NICKEL IN WORLD MARKETS...JOBS FOR CANADIANS

How Canadian Nickel is helping to preserve Rome's Colosseum

After centuries of exposure to the elements, the enormous Colosseum recently began to show signs of serious deterioration. Immediate repair had to be made to preserve these famous ruins. And Canadian nickel helped.

Nickel stainless steel bars were skilfully inserted in the stone to act as invisible but constant reinforcing agents. Why nickel stainless steel? Because it is strong and corrosion resistant. The growth of nickel markets at home and abroad helps strengthen Canada's economy and helps provide jobs for Canadians.

Stop Starter Woes Before They Start

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

The starter is usually taken so much for granted that it is rarely given a thought throughout the life of the car — unless, of course, there is trouble. Considering the miraculous convenience and ease of the self-starter in comparison with the old hand cranking method, it certainly deserves more service attention.

When the starter switch is on, the battery to starter circuit is then completed and the starter gear or pinion engages the flywheel to crank the engine. If the engine cranks too slowly or not at all, it could mean starter trouble.

To avoid sudden trouble, the starting motor should be given a quick inspection at least once or twice a year, to see commutator and brush conditions are OK or are forecasting early headaches.

M.L. asks: "With carburetor float trouble, what happens to fuel supply to the cylinders?"

(A) Too much or too little results. The float controls fuel entering the carburetor bowl, and if it isn't working properly there can be flooding or fuel starvation.

F.S. writes: "I'm sure the big car rental operators take good care of the new cars they buy every year via a regular program of maintenance. How often do they change engine oil and filters?"

(A) Of three questioned, two advised that oil and filters are changed every 2,000 miles, while the third operator said this is done every 4,000 miles.

H. P. asks: "I had new brake linings installed a few days ago and they told me to come back and have them adjusted in a few weeks. Must I pay for this, too, or is it included?"

(A) Usually there is no extra charge. Most stations include this in the brake-lining job.

From E. D.: Why do they say early muffler failure should be expected when the car is just used for around town driving?"

(A) Because the engine rarely heats up enough to vaporize and expel the corrosive acids and water (which result from combution) that attack and ruin mufflers.

his home was afire.

He arrived home to find that his wife and five children had escaped without injury. One fireman, Fred Hoskins, suffered a sprained ankle and was taken to hospital.

The entire upper floor of the house was gutted, destroying bedroom furniture and much of the family's clothing.

The blaze was discovered in an upstairs storage closet by one of the MacDonald boys, who ran down to notify his mother.

Mrs. MacDonald said she had been upstairs making up the boys' bedrooms less than an hour before.

TRAFFIC BLOCKED

Saturday evening's blaze disrupted traffic in the downtown area as the lower bridge was cut off by fire-fighting equipment and hose.

Bridge Street from Front to Coleman was littered with over 4,000 feet of hose and fire trucks as firemen brought nine streams of water onto the blaze.

The Trenton aerial ladder assisted in fighting the blaze, while all of the city's fire-fighting equipment was brought into play. The Point Anne fire department stood by to take any other district alarms.

CANDLE CLOCK

King Alfred the Great had time-keeping candles manufactured to burn for 24 hours.

PSI Doctors Called 'Bunch Of Scabs'

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) Doctors who subscribe to Physicians Services Incorporated are a "bunch of scabs" who work for less than scale and are a prominent doctor told the Ontario Federation of Labor's vocational conference here Saturday.

Dr. Paul McGoey of Toronto startled the audience during a panel debate of medical care insurance. He is a member of the board of directors of the Ontario Academy of Medicine.

Dr. McGoey said doctors who subscribe to the doctor-sponsored PSI are paid only 90 per cent of the profession's accepted fees. He described the medical profession, which had always policed its own members to maintain standards, as possibly the oldest union in the world.

Earlier, the doctor accused Theodore Goldberg of the United Auto Workers' welfare department in Detroit of lying.

Mr. Goldberg said only eight per cent of Canadians have any form of medical insurance 20 years ago, while 53 per cent were covered when he credited labor unions with bringing about the increase by insisting on medical insurance in collective bargaining agreements.

"That is an outrageous lie," Dr. McGoey called out. He said during his address that he could see it by and listen to the notations, but he did not explain which part of Mr. Goldberg's remarks he thought were distorted.

Labor

replace those disappearing through attrition.

He used the expression "sheer irresponsibility" to describe the idea that jobs will be found for all those displaced. "We are not getting anywhere near that number."

Mr. Heistein said labor's demand for a shorter work week is a temporary solution, but he also urged greater political activity and a greater role in the introduction of automation.

Prof. J. H. G. Crisp of the University of Toronto's School of Business said labor must tailor its appeal to new types of employment which are rapidly replacing the work from which trade unions have harvested their greatest membership.

IMAGE IS BAD

Another problem facing trade unionism is its own public image, said Henry Rhodes, the CLC's assistant director of organization.

Sensational headlines and lurid details flowing from disclosures of racketeering and maladministration have given the public the impression that the questionable union boss is typical of labor leaders, Mr. Rhodes said.

"The public can tolerate the idea of the plant boss driving a Cadillac," he said. "In fact, this has always added to his prestige.

"But they cannot take the same view of the labor leader. They do not see that one is as bad as another because they are being conditioned to see corruption and greed only if it occurs in the trade union movement."

He called for a new approach to public relations.

Among other speakers was Harry J. Waisglass, Canadian research director of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC), who said a 10-province "common market" would bring political and economic unity to Canada.

Provincial and federal governments should establish a new framework for integration which will enable the country to plan social and economic progress, he said.

PROPOSES SUPPORT

Douglas Fisher, chairman of the New Democratic Party caucus in the last Parliament, proposed that the party offer to support a minority government for a guaranteed period if it agrees in broad terms to an acceptable legislative program.

He said it was a falacy that only a major government could operate effectively. One of the chief factors in the Diefenbaker government's indecisiveness was the overriding majority it received in the 1958 elections, he said.

Mr. Fisher was member in the last Parliament for Port Arthur.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a women's editor. Each article is a summary of a family disagreement presented to the Council. The Council deals with problems, major and minor, encountered by guidance counselors and social workers.

Ervin T. — She has every household appliance and she's still tired.

Lucy T. — You can't care for three small children with electrical gadgets.

Ervin T. — If my wife gets so exhausted that she must greet me with a long face every evening, I'd like to know what's wrong. My mother had six kids, did her own washing, cooked her own baby foods, and still managed to be merry and smiling most of the time. But Lucy is always on the verge of collapse, despite the fact that she has an electric washer, dryer, dishwasher, vacuum cleaner, freezer, air-conditioner, stove and even a can-opener. I'd even buy electric tooth brushes if I thought that would help.

It's bad enough that she has no pep for me. What's worse, though, is that she pushes the kids away so they want her to play with them.

Lucy T. — No matter how many push buttons Ervin hands me, there isn't one that can take care of three lively babies. Our children are 4, 2, and 7 months. I have the few times I've left Ervin to take care of them by himself, as when I've gone to the city to shop, he isn't exactly a model of competence when I get home, either! To do the job right you have to be in three places at once doing all things in each place — like putting a fresh diaper on the baby, while keeping the big fellow out of the neighbor's lily pond.

Ervin should be glad to find the house and children in good shape each day. As for me, he shouldn't expect me to be in shape for the Boma Nova, exactly.

The Council: When asked to name the one factor which can make or break the well-being of a family, a prominent physician cited "a young mother's fatigue." When the lady of the house lets herself get overtired, nobody's happy, everybody suffers.

Efficiency experts who have studied fatigue find it is often related to boredom, as well as poor work methods. The happy farmer who whistles while he works just keeps rolling along, without backache, because he's accomplishing with how sturdy the asparagus is coming up. But the sardine-packer, watching the clock and looking out the win-

Will Take Miracle To Unite Faiths Says Editor

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. John W. Grant, editor of the Ryerson Press and a United Church clergyman, says it will take a miracle to bring the Roman Catholic and Protestant churches to church unity.

"Looking at some of the wide and stubborn difficulties which remain, I can only conclude that nothing short of a miracle will bring us together," he told a group of 300 Roman Catholics Sunday night at a lecture series sponsored by the Catholic Information Centre.

He said Roman Catholics and Protestants can pave the way for church unity by studying areas in which their theologies coincide.

"Fortunately, we both believe in miracles, or at least in a God who works miracles."

Dr. Grant said Protestants find it impossible not to be sceptical of papal infallibility or the infallibility of any person or council. He said Roman Catholics might come to some agreement on this point by accepting the Eastern Orthodox concept of truth being the consensus within the church inspired by the holy spirit.

"We are disturbed by the continued repression of Protestant minorities in Colombia and Spain. We are repelled by the idea of an index of prohibited books."

Russian Fishing Vessel Pays Halifax Visit

HALIFAX (CP)—One of the Soviet Union's most modern fishing vessels plying the northern seaboard of North America docked here recently so one of its women crew members could receive hospital treatment.

The Zigulevsk, out of the Arctic port of Murmansk, usually stays at sea from 60 to 70 days at a time and is capable of processing 40 tons of fish a day. Her three holds have a capacity of 700 tons of fish.

The ship's skipper, Capt. Sergi Scheredeca, said that at captain's of the ship and director of its fish processing he is able to earn the equivalent of $1,000 a trip. An ordinary crew member can make about $600. Capt. Scheredeca says the wages are good—commensurate with the work done by his crew of 90—including eight women.

The 38-year-old captain, born in Moscow, speaks a little English but carries an English-Russian dictionary with him to improve it. His wife and three children live in Murmansk.

Officers and men on the Zigulevsk mess together. At one end of the dining saloon is a portrait of Soviet President Brezhnev. There are none on board of Premier Khrushchev.

Capt. Scheredeca first went to sea in 1943 with the Soviet navy. After the war he joined the Soviet merchant fleet and made his first acquaintance with North America.

He says Vancouver is one of the "most beautiful cities I have seen anywhere." His favorite is Portland, Ore.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

REPTILES TO BIRDS

Do you know why the majority of birds have a hind toe? Have you ever heard of toes on wings? If we investigate the origin of birds and the history of their development we can better understand all this.

Geologists who have examined and made a special study of rocks deep down under the surface of the earth inform us that many millions years ago lizard-like reptiles crawled over the ground. Then some of them began more and more to stand on their hind legs and reach up into the branches of the trees with their front legs. Later they took to the trees, leaping from bough to bough. In order to get a better grip, the first toe on the hind leg was turned around and soon grew in that position, becoming a rear claw. Also, gradually the front legs came to be used more for reaching and grasping, and so they became more like arms - - and afterwards wings. Many other changes took place in the bodies of these creatures. The reptiles had finally become birds.

Naturally, there are various points of difference between those first birds and our-birds of today. For one thing, those bone or fingers on the wings (whichever you choose to call them) showed up plainly, and each ended in a claw to help in climbing. Now anything of the kind is hidden by feathers. But they may be found on the young of certain species, and as the bird develops and their usefulness is past these appendages gradually disappear.

When first out of its nest in a swamp a young least bittern can neither walk nor fly very well, but it holds on to the cattails with these odd little wing toes and is able to make its way around the marsh. Something the same may be said of the baby sora rail. When but a few hours old and before its big feet can carry it, this very young bird propels itself along, clasping on to the rushes with these queer wing tips. Some people speak of it catching the stems of the plants "between thumb and fingers".

This reminds us of the way very young cuckoos manage to progress through the branches of the bush in which their nest is located. Their method, however, is different. Instead of wing toes, they use their bills to grab the branches.

Record Snow 43 Inches in Single Day

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians who complain about having to shovel their cars out of driveways during the winter should count themselves lucky they don't live in the Kenano area of British Columbia.

This little village near the Harold, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Tes- Kitimat, about 400 miles north of Vancouver, has more snow than any other area in Canada where records are kept.

Its mean annual snowfall is 809 inches, compared to 100.8 in Montreal and 54.6 in Toronto. In one month, February 1954, just over 200 inches fell on Kemano, while the heaviest seasonal fall was 879.5 inches in 1956-57.

But the small community of Premier, a few miles farther north, takes the title for the heaviest one-day snowfall — 43 inches on Jan. 15, 1949.

By comparison, most of Canada's larger cities get off lightly during the winter, records kept by the federal transport department show.

Average annual snowfall, with seasonal records, for six of the larger urban centres: Montreal 100.8 (169.2, in 1927-28); Toronto 54.6 (123.5, in 1893 - 70); Vancouver 24.5 (81.2 in 1916-17); Edmonton 52.9 (90.5 in 1906-07); Winnipeg 49.4 (99.5 in 1955-56); Halifax 64.1 (142.7, in 1935-56).

Use Care With Poison Sprays

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

"Silent Spring' by Rachel Carson sounds a tocin. It has stirred up the chemist, the biologist, the nurserryman, the farmer and should be listened to by everyone who depends upon the soil for his daily food. How true her statements are will be argued for many years but this is true, she has awakened us to at least some of the dangers of pesticides.

Household and garden sprays are all too easily acquired and used with abandon. Who reads the fine print? and, who applies the amount recommended on the label? Most of us think if a little is good a lot will be better, never realizing we are dispensing poison.

Few of us would be willing to go back to the pre-pesticide age, but let us respect them and handle them with great care.

Here are a few pointers on a safer pest program. Use milder forms of poison when ever possible. Nicotine sulphate, pyrethrum and rotenone are effective with many plants. The English gardener still uses derris dust.

FOLLOW DIRECTIONS

Follow directions to the letter. Never use more than the directions call for. Experiment with half or three quarter strength. It may be strong enough. Never mix more than you need. Don't keep what is left over spray indiscriminately. Unless you can store it safely for future use pour it down the laundry drain and flush it down well. Scrub out the tub and flush again. Remember you are handling poison.

Don't pour unused poison spray on the soil. The soil contains useful organisms that make nitrogen which your plants must have to thrive.

Spray or dust only the plants that need it. Don't spray everything in sight once a week. In this way you will save the insects that are your allies and the birds will not be eating poisoned insects, and so build up a poison residue.

Choose a still day to spray or dust. If there is a slight breeze face away from it. Avoid breathing the poison. Even minute quantities can make you ill. See children and pets are not in the area you are spraying. Wet spray drifts with the wind and dusts being lighter drift further. A knapsack type sprayer is safer to use than the small hand types.

Know your poison. Do not use all purpose sprays and dusts. Use only the pesticides recommended for a particular disease or specific pest.

KNOW YOUR ENEMIES

Know your enemies. Watch for the first sign of red spider, aphid, or leaf miner and act promptly. "A stitch in time" — you know, "saves nine". Some pests can be controlled with a spray of soapy water.

Wear clothes that cover the skin, arms and legs. Wear a disease and practise garden mask. Wash thoroughly after using sprays and dusts. If you do develop a rash from contact with any spray or dust, don't try home made treatments. Find out what the contents are from the label and your doctor to prescribe. You will save yourself time and pain if you act quickly. Don't use that material again. There are other pesticides that will not cause you harm.

When buying plants look for strains that are resistant to disease and practive garden sanitation. Do not bring in diseased plants to your garden and hope to cure them. Destroy diseased plants by burning them. Keep weeds down. They often play host to insects and fungi that later attack your vegetables and flowering plants.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)— A year after John Glenn thrilled the world by soaring three times around it, he still has his eyes on the stars.

"Sure," he'd like to venture again into space, to go to the moon.

He doesn't know whether he will make a trip to the moon. But he's confident that American space pilots will after a lot of hard spadework has been done on the ground by thousands of persons working as a team.

As he sat in his office last week for a first - anniversary discussion of his orbital trip, it was obvious he is looking to the future.

"My flight was a beginning, a stepping stone in space, to the moon, to the greatest exploration of all time," he said with the same boyish look which captivated millions who hailed his feat Feb. 20, 1962.

BOOSTED MORALE

Rarely had there been such an emotional United States outburst. Glenn had erased an underlying sense of national pessimism brought on by the cold war, Russian space achievements, the feeling that the United States no longer was first in everything.

Asked whether the flight had made any marked change in his personal life or that of his family—wife Annie, David 17, and Lyn, 15—Glenn replied:

"Because of all the publicity we received, almost everyone everywhere we go recognizes some member of the family. This can't help but make a little change in the way you do some things. But I think we've been pretty successful in keeping the family pretty much down to earth, conducting as normal a family life and activity as possible."

When the manned spacecraft centre transferred its headquarters to Houston from Virginia last year, the astronauts moved here too.

TRY FOR PRIVACY

The Glenns live in a subdivision within two blocks of the homes of astronauts Scott Carpenter, Wally Schirra and Virgil Grissom. For privacy, all four homes have windowless fronts and enclosed gardens in the rear.

The seven Mercury astronauts and the nine space pilots recently named have offices in a wing of a building which is a space agency nerve centre here. Glenn shares an office with Carpenter.

When Glenn, now 41, greets you at his desk, wearing a sports coat and how tie, he looks like a prosperous insurance salesman than a space hero. He readily answered questions about his flight.

What does he consider the most significant contribution he made to the U.S. man-in-space program?

"It was the first extended period of weightlessness we had. There was some doubt about weightlessness before that and what man's capability would be in this state, whether all his capabilities would keep operating as they do on the ground.

"With all the things that went wrong with the capsule on that flight, the medical results, my comments and my experiences, we proved that a man in space is a working, living, breathing entity just like he is on earth."

Third Italian Parliament Is Dissolved

ROME (AP)—The third Parliament of the Italian republic was dissolved today, and this nation was called to general elections that could determine its future role in the Western alliance.

President Antonio Segni called Premier Amintore Fanfani to the presidential palace for the formal signing of a decree dissolving parliament.

The premier immediately met with his cabinet, which announced the elections will be held April 28 and 29 with the new Parliament convening May 16. Italian pooling always extends over two days.

Italy's third republican Parliament lived its full life of almost five years despite repeated government crises.

But it was dissolved as cracks were appearing in Fanfani's coalition of Christian Democrats, Republicans and Socialist Democratists, backed in Parliament by the leftwing Socialists.

It will be up to the more than 30,000,000 voters in this North Atlantic Treaty Organization nation of—30,000,000 to decide whether to continue Fanfani's left-leaning government or tilt back to the right.

On their decision will depend Italy's role in NATO's new nuclear strategy — the substitution of Polaris submarines in the Mediterranean for Jupiter missiles now based in Italy and Turkey.

Quaker Group Gives Views on Sex Problems

LONDON (Reuters)—A group of Quakers today called for a more enlightened morality on sex relationships, including homosexuality.

The 11-member group, including two psychiatrists and two school headmasters, said there was no definite answer to such questions as "whether homosexual contacts are really unnatural or repulsive, whether premarital intercourse is necessarily a bad preparation for marriage, whether to have a variety of sexual partners does, in fact, weaken intimate relations and destroy a community."

Their report, Towards a Quaker View of Sex, was published by the Society of Friends (Quakers) but was not representative of the views of all Quakers, they said.

On masturbation, the authors suggested that much mental suffering could be avoided "even by the simple acknowledgement that masturbation is the common experience of the great majority of men at some time, if not of so large a proportion of women."

MUST 'ACCEPT'

Noting a great increase in homosexual sex relations and in pre-marital sex generally, the report said: "It must be accepted that lighthearted and loving casual contacts can be known without profound damage or moral degeneracy being the result in either partner."

On homosexuality it said "one should no more deplore homosexuality—than lefthandedness, though one will naturally not prohibit specific acts."

The authors rejected "almost completely" the traditional Christian approach to morality with rigid definitions of right and wrong.

"Where there is genuine tenderness, an openness to respect sibility and the seed of commitment, God is surely not shut out," they said.

But sexual relationships had so profound an effect on the community that they could not be left wholly to private judgment, they said. There must be a governing morality of some sort.

WOMAN IS CHARGED

CALGARY (CP)—A Calgary woman was charged Sunday with the non-capital murder of a man who lived in the same house with her. Mrs. Betty Fieldhouse, 26, estranged wife of Jack Fieldhouse of Edmonton, was charged following the death of Robert Quigley. He was struck above the right hip with a .22-calibre rifle bullet.

For some projects, the Entomology Research Laboratory in Belleville imports insects. In the picture, Peter Belton watches at a giant tropical cockroach crawls up his shirt front.

Machine's Bat-Like Noise Cuts Corn Borer Larvae By Over Half in Test Plot

The battle against bugs took mat a new turn last year when a for a slicing and can penetrate a small machine, which did nothing but produce a clicking noise, reduced corn borer larvae in a test plot by more than 50 per cent. The clicking noise included ultrasonic frequencies similar to some produced by bats, and the corn borer moths just won't go near it. Also coins clicking together will produce similar noises.

The experiment was carried out by Dr. Peter Belton, of the Entomology Research Institute in Belleville, as part of the Institute's "Insect Sound Project". The general aim of the project is to discover which sounds insects like and which they don't, and to make use of sounds to eliminate the insects.

If the corn borers can be kept away from cornfields, for instance, they must either die out, or find new places to breed. Insecticides might do a similar job, but it has been established that insects can develop an immunity to them. The insects might learn to disregard batlike sounds too: but if they do it will mean a much easier for the bats to keep them under control. There's not much chance that the corn borer learning to distinguish the real bat sounds from the phoney ones though; the corn borer has only four nerves in its hearing organs.

The experiment in the cornfield was a simple one, and the results should be easy to apply, but the work that led up to it was so precise and delicate it might make a watchmaker feel clumsy.

Moths don't talk about their response to sounds, so a direct method of finding out which ones affect them is required. The method Dr. Belton uses might be compared with mind reading.

USED HEADLESS MOTH

First, he decapitates the moth. Because moths depend on ganglia, or nerve centres, for their reflex reactions, and to control their vital functions, this does not kill them. A moth can, in fact, live three or four days without its head and will react normally to many stimuli. It cannot, however make any decisions in this state.

The head is removed for just this reason. If it were left in place, the moth's brain would originate signals to confuse the responses being measured.

The headless moth is then planed down, under a saline solution, on the bed of a micromanipulator in a soundproof room. This machine takes the place of human hands in very precise work, allowing controlled movements as short as one one-hundredth of a millimeter. The tools used are glass tubes, drawn out to points less than one one-thousandth of a millimeter across. These tips, so fine they cannot be seen under normal microscope, can be used

The antennae, or feelers, are the insect's ear drums. Dr. Belton cuts into the hearing nerves, leading from the hearing organs on the moth's head to a nerve ganglion. He then plants the electrodes on either side of the tympanal nerve, and connects them to an oscilloscope. The sound frequencies actually heard by the insect, which differ from those heard by humans, will show on the oscilloscope screen.

This work is necessary because most sound is composed of varying frequencies, in ranges audible to some animal life, and inaudible to others. Ultrasonic waves, for instance, can be so powerful they will weld steel, but humans cannot hear them. An ultrasonic burglar alarm is silent as far as human ears are concerned, but the noise makes can kill rats, by driving them insane.

CAN LURE SKEETERS

Sounds to scare bugs by are not the only products of the Insect Sound Project, however. There are sounds to attract bugs, too. The sound of a female mosquito's wings, for instance, will attract male mosquitoes. Knowing this, people can distike mosquitoes can reproduce the sounds artificially, attracting the males to their death. The females, deprived of mates, cannot reproduce.

But there may be a side effect to the use of noise to fight insects, that nobody had expected. Some reporter indicate that sounds, some of them at least, may stimulate faster growth of plants, and greater yields. Dr. Belton and his staff have no comment on this yet, but they are looking into it as a possibility. If it proves correct it might be worth while to pipe hill music out into the fields. The eventual result may be milk from contented cows, who are fed on contented corn.

May Establish Steel Mill In Quebec

MONTREAL (CP) — Le Devoir says a five-man Quebec government delegation will visit Europe in March to investigate the possibility of establishing a steel mill in Quebec.

The newspaper says the group will visit France, Belgium and West Germany "where groups already are interested in Quebec's ambitions of having a steel mill owned jointly with the government."

Two persons in Quebec died in fires and two more died of asphyxiation. Other accidents claimed one in Ontario and one in British Columbia.

The survey does not include slayings, known suicides, natural deaths or industrial accidents.

Science Teacher Is Candidate In Perth County

STRATFORD (CP)—Mitchell Sharp, former federal deputy minister of trade and commerce, says the Conservative government must be "decisively defeated" in the April 8 election.

Liberal opponent of Justice Minister Fleming in Toronto-Eglinton in last June's election, Mr. Sharp said the people have had enough of drift, disorder and confusion.

"It is almost unnecessary to tell you how bad this present government is," he told about 400 persons at a Perth County Liberal Association nomination meeting Saturday. "The record speaks for itself."

Mr. Sharp said it was not just a matter of defeating the government, but of replacing it with one which can give firm, decisive leadership.

R. N. Bissonnette, head of the science department at Stratford Collegiate Institute and author of a science textbook, won the nomination for Perth.

Kassem Pleaded With Rebels To Let Him Leave Baghdad Before He Was Executed

Editors's note: Revolutions anywhere are unexpected and confused. That in Iraq last week was no exception. In the following story, an Associated Press correspondent from Cyprus gives a blow-by-blow, quotation - packed account of how it was in Baghdad during the 24-hour battle which sent Abdel Karim Kassem down to defeat and death.

By ALEX EFTYVOULOS

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)— "Please, you are my brother, please let me out of Baghdad, let me go to Vienna," pleaded Abdel Karim Kassem to revolution leader Col. Abdel Salam Aref.

It was the final bid for life by the former Iraqi leader before he was executed after being put out of power in the Feb. 8-9 revolution.

The last hours of Kassem's life—and of his regime—were disclosed Sunday by an army major who asked that his name be withheld because of the new regime's ban on personal publicity. He also gave a blow-by-blow account of the 30-hour battle for power in which 15 revolutionaries and 75 of Kassem's defenders were slain.

This is his story:

Rebel forces with heavy tanks and armed personnel carriers opened their attack on Kassem's headquarters in the defence ministry compound at 6 a.m. Friday, Feb. 8. The compound is a rectangle of buildings beside the Tigris River with a mosque attached to it.

CRASH INTO BUILDING

A pitched battle against 600 defenders continued through the day and night until revolutionary forces crashed through into the building where Kassem lived at 11 a.m. Saturday. They first captured Brig. General Sadiq Medhafi, deputy governor general, and Nadir Harakat, commander of operations.

Tanks then rolled through the main gate and infantry drove past Kassem's apartment to the police building. They found Kassem's chief bodyguard, Brig. Jawad Sultan, dead. He was shot in the stomach with a machine gun.

Kassem emerged from the ruins of the military police headquarters to surrender at 2 p.m. Saturday.

"He was carrying a transistor radio under one arm and waving the other, saying: 'I want to speak to my brother, Abdel Salam.'

"He kept waving his arm and repeating: 'I want to speak to my brother.'

"I could not tell if he was afraid, but he looked mad, as always."

'DON'T KILL ME'

Col. Faid Abass Mahdawi, head of Kassem's people's court, came out with Kassem shouting: 'Please don't kill me, I haven't done anything. I am your brother.'

"A private soldier stepped up to Kassem and slapped him across the face, several times," the major said.

The major took Kassem and Mahdawi to the radio station to see Aref. Twelve officers formed a court martial there and Aref, presiding, asked:

"Who made the 1958 revolution—you or me?"

"You," Kassem said.

"Why did you say you made the revolution and that I was a traitor?"

"No—I am a traitor," Kassem answered, "but please, you are my brother. Please let me go out of Baghdad, let me go to Vienna.

WHY DID YOU SHOOT'

"Why did you shoot 160 of our brother officers who made the revolution with us?"

"It was not I that shot them —it was the court, martial," Kassem said.

The court martial found Kassem and Mahdawi guilty.

"They were taken into a small room, six feet by six feet, and shot," said the major.

Reporters were shown Kassem's private quarters Sunday by revolutionary officers who pictured him as a luxury loving fop. They displayed the thickly carpeted office and living quarters furnished with luxurious pieces imported from Scandinavia and Italy. There were racks of highly polished leather shoes.

"And he called himself a simple son of the people," said one officer bitterly.

Business Has Almost Come To Dead Stop

TORONTO (CP)—The uptrend in Canadian business has become distinctly slower, if it has not by now actually come to a stop, says the monthly review of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

The review emphasizes, however, that the trend is one of levelling and not of decline.

On the encouraging side, the review notes that Canadian trade results have been turning more favorable after showing "surprisingly little earlier impact" from mid 1962 emergency measures and the reduced foreign exchange value of the Canadian dollar.

TSHOMBE TOURS BEACHES

DEAUVILLE, France (Reuters) — Katangese President Moise Tshombe toured Second World War landing beaches in Normandy Sunday, then returned to Paris where he is under treatment for an eye ailment.

With a micro-manipulator Dr. Peter Belton of the Entomology Research Laboratory in Belleville can slice a single body cell like a loaf of bread. He uses the machine to plant electrodes within the nerves of insects, to find out which sounds they can hear. In the picture he is adjusting the microscope through which he watches the work.

Sound waves may also produce greater growth in plants. In the picture, laboratory technician Russ Kempster compares the growth of two pans of cress. On one side of the double glass partition the plants are exposed to ultrasonic waves.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The eyes of Canada's rapidly-increasing curling population will be centred on Brandon, Manitoba, early next month when the controversial question of the proposed "Rules of Eligibility" come up for approval or rejection at the annual meeting of the Dominion Curling Association.

The "Rules," approved last August by the Canadian branch of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club, representing clubs in Eastern Ontario and as far east as Quebec City, would prohibit money prizes of more than $150 a player or $600 a rink.

Originally the DCA had proposed a "Code of Ethics" of its own, but has found the branch's rules of eligibility "worded more suitably."

In addition to the cash prize limit for curlers in competition sanctioned by the DCA, the rules also would prohibit prizes in the form of merchandise readily convertible into cash and having a retail value in excess of $150 a person or $600 a rink.

The rules would prohibit a player from receiving compensation for giving instruction by any means, demonstrations, lectures or printed articles, also travelling and other expenses to play in competitions, except for regularly sanctioned championship tournaments, international tours and the like.

Actually, as a local curler puts it, the rules if adopted, will "separate the men from the boys" in a professional-amateur sense. In short it could mean the division of Canada's curling ranks into pros and amateurs.

The "Scotch Cup News", a curling monthly periodical published, it is stated, for the Scotch Whisky Association, sponsors of world international curling and which has blasted editorially the proposed "Rules", claims its survey revealed 81 per cent of a canducted poll voted against the "rules," 17 per cent voted for it and two per cent were undecided.

Those in favor of the rules adoption claim that 90 per cent of Canada's 600,000 curlers will be in favor of the restriction of moneyed and other prizes above the value of $150 and $600.

Canada's top curlers, like the Richardsons, Campbells, Gervais and Baldwins, who, it is claimed, have benefitted handsomely financially through the media of articles, instruction, sponsorship of gimmicks, sweaters, etc., and have won awards like automobiles should be barred from national amateur tournaments, the "amateurs" feel.

A Winnipeg writer puts it this way: "I don't think curlers can win cars, money, etc., in today's bonspiel and then participate in tomorrows 'Brier,' representing their province in what we are proud to say is about the finest example of Canada's amateur sports play."

A eastern curling official says: "If these men (the Richardsons, Campbells, et al), want to earn top money through their curling ability and business acumen let them do it—but on their own. They're the world's best curlers—and they've proved it—and when they enter an amateur competition, the results are practically on the wall."

Western Canada curlers, at least some of them, claim if curlers like the Richardsons, Campbell, etc., are lost to Canadian curling through the "rules" this country will never win world curling honors."

I have talked with top curling men from Belleville, Kingston, Peterborough, and other eastern Canada centres. The consensus was that curling is a sport to be enjoyed by all from "nine to ninety."

"The increasing popularity of the sport is indicative of the enjoyment derived from it by all sorts and ages of people. It is played mainly for the fun and enjoyment of friendly competition and good fellowship. . Winning of world curling championships is secondary in the minds of ordinary curlers."

Eleven of twelve Quinte Curling Club members were of the opinion: "If professionalism enters curling let the pros go their way and the amateurs pursue their phase of the sport."

It will be a case of the west meeting the east on hot argumentative ground at the DCA annual in Brandon. Some western boys blame eastern curlers for the introduction of the "rules" and it is quite likely some fur and fireworks will fly, across the board before a decision is reached.

Howie Young Breaks 'Sin' Record ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Hull Hits For Four As Hawks Split

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Terrible - tempered Howie Young threw another tantrum Sunday night, before a home-town crowd in Detroit.

The upshot was that the bombastic Detroit Wings defenceman smashed the National Hockey League record for penalty minutes in one season. There probably will be unhappy tidings for him within a day or two from league president Clarence Campbell.

The Canadiens crushed the Red Wings 6-1 in Detroit after downing Chicago's league-leading Black Hawks 4-2 at Montreal Saturday night.

BOB HULL

Chicago with Bobby Hull providing all the scoring punch, dropped the Bruins 3-1 in Chicago Sunday night. The fifth place New York Rangers meanwhile rebounded at home for a 4-1 win over the Maple Leafs in the wake of a 4-2 setback in Toronto Saturday night.

In an afternoon game at Detroit Saturday, the Wings dumped Boston 3-1.

STANDINGS SHUFFLED

The surge by Montreal produced a shuffle in the standings. Chicago remains on top with 68 points but the Canadiens shunted Toronto aside and took over second with 64. The Leafs are a point behind followed by Detroit with 59 then New York with 42 and Boston with 38.

Young, 23, drew a total of 27 minutes in penalties in the second - period blowup Sunday. Three separate automatic fines totalling $100 were involved and his case is subject to review by Campbell, who could either fine him further or suspend him.

He now has 210 penalty minutes, shattering the former record of 202 held by Montreal's Lou Fontinato, who set the mark while playing for New York in 1955-56.

What Fontinato piled up in a full 70-game schedule, Young has surpassed in Detroit's 54 games.

COMBED TREMBLAY

His outburst started with a five - minute major for high-sticking Montreal's J. C. Tremblay at ~:26.

At 10:17 referee Frank Udvari tagged him with a minor for spearing Young verbally threatened Udvari, then tried to get at him while being restrained by teammates.

The official signalled a misconduct. Young refused to go to the penalty box and threw a glove. Udvari waved him off the ice.

The Canadiens wrapped up the game early, building up a 4-0 lead before set-lish Andre Pronovost got the lone Detroit goal. Bernie Geoffrion led Montreal's attack with two goals while Fontinato, Jean Beliveau, Ralph Backstrom and Bill Hicke got the others.

Minus injured Henri Richard and Tom Johnson going into the game, the Canadiens lost Gilles Tremblay in the second period when the left - winger was checked hard by Pete Goegan and struck his head on the ice, suffering a slight concussion.

There was no immediate word on how long he would be sidelined.

HAWKS FOLDED

In Montreal Saturday night the Hawks collapsed in the second period and Montreal pumped home all four goals by Geoffrion, Backstrom, Dickie Moore and Gilles Tremblay.

Power-Play goals by Hull and Ab McDonald gave Chicago a 2-0 lead in the opening period.

The Hawks bounced back at home Sunday night with hull connecting twice in the second period and once in the third to boost his season's production to 28 goals Jerry Toppazzini, in the midst of a hot streak, got Boston's goal.

Toronto-'s Big M, Frank Mahovlich, drifted his 30th goal of the season—the league high in that department—in New York Sunday night. The goalie Cumo Worsley of the Rangers turned back 40 shots and his mates beat Don Simmons with four of the 29 they mustered.

The scorers for the Rangers were Dave Balon, Earl Ingarfield, Doug Harvey and Don McKenney. Harvey's tally came on an unassisted effort while his team was a man short.

FANS UNHAPPY

Saturday night's game in Toronto was a dull affair with the fans booing the inaction Leafs twice took one-goal leads only to have New York tie it. Then Toronto went ahead for good in the final period on goals by Dick Duff and Bob Nevin.

Allan Stanley and Eddie Shack were Toronto's defensive marksmen and Ingarfield and promising rookie Leon Rochefort counted for New York.

Boston was unbeaten in six games going into Detroit Saturday afternoon but the Bruins feel apart and were outshot 45-18.

Gordie Howe scored his 28th of the season for the Red Wings on a power play — his 12th goal in the final session. Marcel Pronovost made it 2-0 w- - - -

Canada Sweeps NA Skating Crowns

Griner, McPherson Win Singles

By DENNIS ORCHARD

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian figure skaters are looking to the world championships to confirm the extraordinary impression they made in North American championships here.

United States skaters, most of them younger than their opponents but trained intensively by top professionals, were shut out of all events in the two-continent's 18th championships during the weekend.

Canada's wins were solid. A Canadians took eight of the top 12 places in men's and women's singles, pairs and ice dancing.

The 1963 world titles are at stake beginning Feb. 27 at Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy.

With the retirement of Don Jackson of Oshawa, the 1962 world champion, the prominent names in men's singles are Alain Calmat of France and Don McPherson of Stratford, Ont., who won the North American title here.

FREE SKATING AMAZES

McPherson, although only 17 has world experience dating back to the 1960 Winter Olympics and owns amazing free skating form. He has a weakness in figures with faulty execution of the counter, and experts say he must improve it before he meets Calmat.

Wendy Griner, 18, of Toronto is another tried competitor and had little difficulty leading a one-two-three Canadian finish in the North American women's singles.

She has been Canadian senior champion since 1960 and last year ran second for the world title behind Sjoukje Dijkstra of The Netherlands. Miss Dukstra will be back to defend her title at Cortina.

Canada's pairs and dance teams also were impressive winners here.

Debbie Wilkes 16, and Guy Revell 22, of Unionville, Ont., have competed in world pairs championships since 1960 and last year finished fourth. They are trained by Hungarian coaches.

Toronto's Paulette Doan, 19, and Kenneth Ormsby, 29, form a three year - old partnership, fifth last year in the world dance competition.

McPherson indicated Saturday night that he cannot be beaten on poise. Sensational Tommy Litz of Hershey, Pa., preceded him in the free-skat final and won the best marks of the day, propelling him to second from fifth place ahead of Garth Allen of Smoke Rise, N.J.

RECOVERS POISE

The young Canadian suffered an early loss of balance but recovered and performed a robust, fast and neat reel, delayed double lutz, triple loop and variety of spins that brought him even better marks.

He mixed only one first-place vote from the five judges and finished with six ordinal placements and 1,267.2 points. Litz was far back with 12 ordinals and 1,230 points, and Allen third with 15 ordinals and 1,191.8 points.

The finish in women's singles was a repeat of the Canadian championships a week earlier in Edmonton when Miss Griner won her fourth title ahead of Toronto's Petra Burka and Vancouver's Shirra Kenworthy.

Shot Blistering 22-Under-Par 266

January Had 'Lonesome' Lead

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Don January was so far in front it must have been lonesome. But for $1,455 he can stand the lack of company.

The 32-year-old pro from West Covina, Calif., put together a blistering 22-under-par 266 for the 72 holes of the $25,000 Tucson open golf tournament and breezed in to an 11-stroke victory Sunday.

He described his game as "just tee up and hit it, and when you find it hit it again." But a careful look at his scorecard shows his game isn't that haphazard. He went over par on only two holes during the four-day tournament.

January, who led all the way, picked up $3,500 for his first victory of the year. $1,450 more than the winnings of defending champion Phil Rodgers and Gene Littler, who tied for second spot with 277s.

January had a seven-stroke lead going into Sunday's round. He closed out with a seven-under-par 65 to go with previous rounds of 66, 67, 68.

Al Balding of Toronto wound up with a 68 for a fourth-place tie with Dave Baxter Jr., Tom Nieporte and Frank Boynton at 278. Each won $1,279. Balding had earlier rounds of 71, 73, 66.

Jack Bissegger of Val Morin, Que., finished out of the money with a 288 total. Bob Rose of Toronto was farther back at 293.

BETTERS MARK

EDMONTON (CP) — Fred Posch of Saskatoon cracked the Canadian senior men's 500-metre Olympic style speedskating mark Saturday. He had a time of 43.8 seconds in the event at the western regional speedskating meet to eclipse the unofficial record of 44.2 seconds set last weekend in Saskatoon.

Richardson Gets Lesson From Archer

NEW YORK (CP) — Joey Archer, the sixth-ranked middleweight contender, gave a decisive boxing lesson to Blair Richardson of South Bay, N.S., as the Canadian middleweight champion made his Madison Square Garden debut Saturday night.

The cagey Bronx Irishman kept up a steady tattoo of left jabs to Richardson's face and body and stayed away from the Canadian's punching power most of the way as he piled up a lopsided margin on the cards of all three officials in the 10-round televised bout.

The blonde 22-year-old college student threw more punches than Archer and infinitely less superviewed against top-flight opposition, keep flailing away at his elusive opponent but seldom connected solidly. Archer weighed 158½ pounds to Archer's 160.

Richardson's best showing came in the ninth round when he landed a good right to the head and a volley of punches in return and connected again with a solid left hook.

The Nova Scotia Scotian, who knocked out Willie Greaves of Edmonton last fall to win the Canadian title, was looking for his 32nd knockout but wound up with a 36-4-1 record instead. Archer has 35 victories against one loss.

Referee Mark Conn and judge Tony Rossi both scored eight rounds for Archer and two for Richardson. Judge Nick Gamboli called it 8-1 with one round even.

Bears Take Over Top, Reds Lose

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hershey Bears, riding the crest of a tidy four-game winning streak, have taken over first place in the Eastern Division of the American Hockey League.

The Bears defeated Buffalo Bisons 5-2 Sunday night and moved into sole possession of the eastern lead as Providence Reds dropped into second place by losing to Cleveland Barons 6-1.

Quebec Aces drubbed Baltimore Clippers 8-2 in the only other game played.

The Bears clobbered Pittsburgh Hornets 7-1 Saturday night while Cleveland downed Springfield Indians 4-1.

Yves Locas scored two goals in Hershey's victory over the Bisons with Pete Conacher, Les Duff and Myron Stankiewicz getting the others. Brian Smith and Johnny McKenzie counted for Buffalo.

Two goals apiece by Jim Mikol and Wayne Boddy featured Cleveland's rump over Providence. Dick Mattiussi and John Ferguson completed the Barons' total, while Pierre Brindamour robbed Baron goalie Les Binkley of his shutout.

Centre Ed Hoekstra led the Aces to their first win in three tries by firing three goals against Baltimore. Michael Labadie, Danny Lewicki, Bill Dineen, Bob Attwell and John Hanna shared the scoring harvest. Don McGregor and Dave Creighton scored for the Clippers.

Team Number One was tops at the shoot with a 908 score. Second was Team No. Two with 873. Individual marksmen were W. Gee, 261; R. Sprackett, 244; C. Hyman, 243; B. Waters, 238; J. Reid, 235; and D. Buchanan, 227. Possible was 300.

Wolves Nip Frontenacs, Hull Wins

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three minutes of generosity by goalie Gerry Cheevers during an otherwise uncharitable weekend shook up the top of the Eastern Professional Hockey League standings.

The Toronto Maple Leaf farmhand, who toils for the third-place Sudbury Wolves, gave virtually nothing away at Kingston Saturday night as he stopped 49 shots, 18 of them in the last period.

As a result, the Wolves beat the Frontenacs 4-2 and prevented them from breaking the first-place tie with Hull-Ottawa Canadiens.

At Hull Sunday, Cheevers kicked out another 31 drives sent his way by the Canadiens. But he yielded three goals in as many minutes at the opening of the second period—just enough to give the Habs a 3-2 victory and a two-point edge over the Frontenacs.

Gary Jarrett scored twice for the Wolves at Kingston with Dave Richardson and Bob Woytowich getting the other goals. Pete Panagakis and Billy Knibbs counted for the Frontenacs.

At Hull, a goal by Brian Smith at the 19-second mark, followed by two by Billy Carter, ruined Cheevers' afternoon. Marc Dufour and Jim Johnson replied for the Wolves.

Failed to Fight Chuvalo

Cleroux Stripped of Title

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—The Canadian Boxing Federation has decreed the heavyweight title vacant and dethroned Bob Cleroux of Montreal for failing to defend his crown against contender George Chuvalo of Toronto.

The federation also cut the powers of the national boxing commissioner Gene Letourneau of Quebec City who will no longer be permitted to sanction fights or impose suspensions.

At a special meeting Saturday, the federation decided to suspend Cleroux for failing to live up to a contract with Chuvalo for a return fight. A series of elimination bouts will determine the new titleholder.

Letourneau came under harsh criticism at the meeting chiefly for lifting a suspension of Cleroux imposed after he failed to defend his title against Chuvalo. After lifting the suspension Letourneau named Cliff Penton of Stephenville Crossing Nfld., as the logical contender.

Federation president Sam Ermen of Moncton said Penton had lost six of his last seven fights.

The meeting also named a committee to sanction all title fights in Canada.

It comprises Ermen; Ontario athletic commissioner Merv MacKenzie, Toronto; Oliver Routhelier, Sherbrooke, Que.; Duncan Hines, Sydney, N.S., and Richard Pearson, Saint John, N.B.

The meeting said it opposed the return to action of former Canadian and British Empire light - heavyweight champion Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B. Durelle has announced he will fight in Montreal but has not announced the date.

Defeat Hawks, Red Wings

Petes Win Weekend Pair

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Peterborough Petes eliminated any chance of being locked out of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A playoffs with two weekend victories over Hamilton Red Wings St. Catharines Black Hawks.

The hard - working Petes, highly regarded at the start of the season after finishing in the cellar last year, have delighted in springing surprises on more highly-rated opponents.

They edged the third-place Red Wings 3-2 in Peterborough Saturday night and beat the Black Hawks 1-0 in St. Catharines Sunday.

Before the weekend action the Hawks had a bare hope of dislodging the Petes from the fourth and last playoff spot. But they now trail Peterborough by 16 points with only seven games to play in the regular season.

The second - place Montreal Canadiens scored three unanswered goals in the first period and went on to trounce the Red Wings 7-3 in Montreal Sunday.

FALLS ARE FIRST

Niagara Falls Flyers are in first place with 39 points, followed by Montreal with 35. Hamilton has 49 points and Peterborough 48. St. Catharines 33 and the cellar - dwelling Guelph Royals 22.

A bitter argument developed at the end of the Hamilton-Peterborough game when the Red Wings claimed the siren sounded three seconds early. Linekeeper was punched in the mouth and Hamilton coach Ed Bush was escorted off the ice by a policeman. No charges were laid.

Scorers for Peterborough were Keith Wright, Bill Flagg and Jim Patterson. Hamilton marksmen were Pit Martin and John Gofton.

The Peterborough-St. Catharines game was a goaltenders' duel, with Tom Purser of St. Catharines blocking 20 of the 21 drives aimed at him and Chuck Godfard stopping 23 to record his fifth shutout of the season.

Doug Mud, a standout for Peterborough all season, broke up the tightly - played game early in the third period with the only goal.

It marks the second time in 39 years of Junior A hockey in St. Catharines that a St. Catharines' team has finished out of the playoffs.

RCAF Takes 3-1 Lead In Series

PICTON (Special) — RCAF Globetrotters took a 3 - 1 stranglehold on the Lakeshore Intermediate hockey league semi-finals here Saturday night by defeating the Picton Mics 8-6.

Fifth game in the best-of-seven series is slated for Trenton tonight.

Picton opened the scoring here Saturday but RCAF took a 2-1 lead by the end of the first and moved in front 7-4 after 40 minutes of play. The winners added another in the third and Picton fought back for a pair but the rally proved too late and too little.

Frank Lewis came up with a big four-goal performance to spearhead the Globetrotter attack. He also had one assist. "Red" Gravelle and Gebhardt got a goal and assist each with Peterson and Curri ealso scoring. St. Pierre helped on a pair. Maroney and McKinnon on one apiece.

The Mac goals were divided among Pat Gilmour, Sid Faulkner, Dave Jones, Don Gurney, Ron Hull and Beatty. Keith MacDonald picked up three assists. Doug Murray, Jones and Faulkner two each, Hull and Guernsey one.

RCAF drew five minor penalties with Picton getting three.

Gilmour gave Picton the brief 1-0 lead early in the first but Lewis scored twice, at 11.05 and 15.52 to put the winners in front to stay in the second. Gravelle, Peterson and Curtie made it 5-1 before Faulkner got one back. Two more by Lewis made it 7-2 but Jones and Hull put that to 7-4. Gebhardt tallied for RCAF at 11.23 of the third with Beatty at 13.06 and Guernsey at 19.28 closing the scoring.

Offer Eight Players

Als Make Bid For Parker

HAMILTON (CP) — Another Canadian Football League team has entered the bargaining for Jackie Parker.

Eagle Keys, coach of Edmonton Eskimos, said Saturday night Montreal Alouettes have offered Edmonton eight players for Parker.

Parker, outstanding halfback-quarterback of the Eskimos since 1954, has been reported headed for Toronto Argonauts. Edmonton and Toronto officials have been meeting since Tuesday.

Calgary Stampeders said Friday they made a pitch for the Edmonton ace, and that Parker told them he would consider going to Calgary should negotiations with Toronto fall through.

Parker has been quoted as saying he will not sign with any team other than the Argonauts. But Keys said: "He'll play with the team we trade him to or play out his option."

The heavyweights in the Dominion curling championships at Brandon March 4-9 won their berths this weekend, led by three-time Canadian and world champion Ernie Richardson of Regina.

Since Nova Scotia's H. D. Oyler rink from Kentville won the Canadian championship in 1951, the Prairie provinces have held the Dominion title exclusively.

Alberta and Saskatchewan have each won it four times since then and Manitoba three times.

Jimmy Shields of Calgary won the Alberta title Saturday at Edmonton with a close 9-8 win over unheralded Rick Cust of Cold Lake, the RCAF base in northern Alberta.

Richardson won his fourth provincial title by five years by defeating Wally Valade of Saskatoon 5-4 at Regina.

Manitoba will be represented by lawyer Hersh Kerner of Winnipeg who beat Bob Picken of Winnipeg 9-6 and 17-12 in the final.

REPRESENTS NORTH ONT.

Doug Cathercole of Copper Cliff won the Northern Ontario championship Sunday night with a close 9-8 win in the final game of the three-team round-robin final at Noranda, Que. He beat Jimy Guy of Kenora.

Prince Edward Island, winless in Canadian titles, will be represented by veteran Douglas Cameron of Charlottetown who beat Arthur Burke of Charlottetown Saturday 10-9 and 12-7 in a best-of-three playoff.

Ontario declared its champion Friday night when Bob Mann of Hanover won the round-robin event at Hamilton.

Schoolboy Curling

Alberta Has 'Draw' Rink

By PAUL RIMSTEAD

GUELPH (CP)—What's this — a draw team representing knockout - conscious Alberta in the Canadian schoolboy curling championships?

"That's right," said Steve Kashuba, a mathematics teacher at Bonnie Doon Composite High School in Edmonton, "and it's skipped by Wayne Saboe, the coolest little skip I've ever seen."

The switch to lighter-weight curling won't be taken lightly by anyone who watched the 1959 high school competition at Calgary in which a rink from the same school, skipped by Johnny Trout, relied on the draw game all the way in winning the championship.

Saskatchewan was a slight favorite this season as the 11 national finalist rinks prepared for the first round of the championships at 2 p.m. EST today.

Guelph Memorial Gardens, home of the junior Guelph Royals of the Ontario Hockey Association, has been turned into a colorful curling rink for the classic event.

FAVOR SASKATCHEWAN

While the teams have never seen one another perform, Saskatchewan is favored, simply because it is a curling hotbed and the home of last year's schoolboy champs, the Michael Lukowich rink from Speers School at Speers, Sask.

This year's Saskatchewan representatives are from Central Collegiate Institute in Moose Jaw. Dennis Balderston is skip.

Smokies Say They Are Confident

PRAGUE (AP) — Canada's Trail Smoke Eaters, on the eve of a four-game tour of Czechoslovakia, have been quoted as saying they are better than the Canadian team that captured the 1961 world hockey championships in Switzerland.

The official News agency CTK said this was the view of coach Bobby Kromm and goaltender Seth Martin expressed in an interview Sunday night with the newspaper Mlada Fronta.

The newspaper says the Smoke Eaters are confident of regaining the world title Canada lost to Sweden last year at Colorado Springs, Colo.

"If necessary, we will ask for three reinforcements for next month's world championship tournament in Sweden," the Canadians told the interviewer. "But we will tell you about them when we leave."

The Smoke Eaters open their tour with a game against Slovan, the town of Bratislava tonight.

Western Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Spokane Comets are going nowhere in particular this season. But they'll never win any popularity contests in Seattle.

On Saturday night the Totems travelled to Spokane and took a 3-1 beating. They haven't won a Western Hockey League game there all season.

The following night the teams met again at Seattle, where the Totems blew a two-goal lead and had to scramble from behind to beat the Comets 4-3 in overtime.

In other league action Vancouver Canucks defeated Calgary Stampeders 5-3 and Los Angeles Blade downed Portland Buckaroos 2-1.

Rudy Filion supplied the winning goal for the Totems after Barney Krake had tied the score with less than four minutes remaining in the third period. Bob Sabourin scored the first two Seattle goals and Max Mehlik, Dick Lamourstaux and Steve Wiliuk counted for the Comets.

NOT THE GREATEST — William Rowles gets a kiss and a medal describing him as the "world's greatest bowler" from admirer Betty Clarke. Rowles, 99, denies that he's the world's best but says he is probably the oldest bowler in Canada. He rolls a modest 77 average in five pins played at a Victoria bowling club. (CP Photo)

Bowler, 99, Still Active

VICTORIA (CP) — If William Rowles isn't Canada's oldest bowler, he'd like to hear about it.

He's 99 and although his age exceeds his average, he's rather proud of the fact he's still able to bowl at all.

He rolls a modest 77 average in fivepins once a week in a league that includes 40 other men and women whose average age is 71.

He stands tall, blue eyes twinkling, as he prepares to deliver the ball. He took up bowling five years ago for recreation when gardening became too strenuous for him.

Two days after he celebrated his 99th birthday Jan. 21, he registered in a bowling festival here to try to win himself a 12-day vacation to Jamaica. He didn't quite make it but he had fun trying.

His attributes his health at least partly to an active outdoor life.

"I was born in Castlecomb, Wiltshire, England, in 1864," he said. "I started farming as a boy, delivered milk in London before coming to Canada in 1888 to settle in Hamiota, west of Brandon, Man., where I raised wheat and cattle. We moved later.

"Our farm was in Saskatchewan near Empress, Alta., when I gave it away and came out to Victoria to retire. My wife died here eight years ago at age 92."

Mr. Rowles lives with his daughter, Mrs. A. J. Chapman, in nearby Esquimalt. He has 12 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

"As for my health, I'm very well. I'm enjoying life. People talk about me living many more years. I don't want that, but as long as I can get around on my own I'm happy. I dread being bedridden and having to be watched over. That's when I'd want to call it quits."

MIAMI (AP) — Former pitcher Jim Hearn shot golf like a baseball player Sunday —eight-over-par 78 — and still managed to win the baseball player's golf tournament with a 72-hole total of 301. Hearn, who won the tournament in 1960, wound up one stroke ahead of Billy Herman, Boston Red Sox coach.

Minor Hockey

Minor hockey playoffs continued on the weekend in the Juvenile, Bantam and Peewee divisions.

JUVENILE

The Hornets shaded the Aces 3-1 in the first game of a two-of-three series for the City Juvenile championship. Jim Woodcock and Jim McGuire scored for the winners, McGuire also getting an assist, as did Carl Boomhower. M. Follwell tallied the Aces' goals, assisted by Perry Soule.

Second game of the series is slated for next Sunday.

BANTAM

Maple Leafs dumped the Black Hawks 5-3 and Quinte downed the Bruins 6-2 in the first games of their Bantam, two-game, goals-to-count sets.

B. Tomaso potted two Leaf goals with J. McCreary, T. Young and J. Royal also scoring. C. Wilson had two assists, Young one. R. Fuller scored twice and R. Dempsey once for the Hawks while A. O'Hara drew one helper.

A three-goal "hat trick" by R. Summers sparked the Quinte win. He also drew one assist. K. McQuaid, D. Adams and P. Denyes also scored with T. Schwager, Adams and McQuaid drawing assists. B. LaRue and A. Bradley got a goal and assist each for the Bruins and H. Wishart also helping on one.

In two exhibition games, Macs downed the Canadiens 5-3 and Browns topped the Red Wings 5-2.

PEEWEE

Canadiens nipped the Ravens 4-3 and Black Hawks downed the Red Wings 6-4 as these Peewee clubs opened their two-game, goals-to-count series.

J. Potts sparked the Canadiens to victory by scoring his club's initial goal and assisting on the other three. R. Doyle, Revell and Wiley contributed a goal apiece. R. Lambert, B. Locke and J. Drummen scored for the Ravens with B. Buchanan and Lambert drawing helpers.

B. Royce paced the Hawks to victory with a pair of goals and the same number of assists. T. Helm, M. Rivers, H. Smith and P. MacKenzie fired a goal apiece. Smith, Helm and Ineson got assists. B. James fired three and Wilson one for the Wings. R. Coalston, James and Renelleg got assists.

In exhibition games, Bruins blanked the Browns 4-0, Rangers defeated the Maple Leafs 3-1 and Quinte topped the Macs 6-1.

PLANS TO MARRY

LONDON (Reuters) — Pat Moss, sister of British motor racing Ace Stirling Moss and herself a rally driver, will marry Sweden's Erik Carlsson, twice winner of the Monte Carlo rally car race, her father said Sunday. Miss Moss is 28 and Carlsson 33. The wedding date has not been set.

Speed Skating Championships

West Dominates Titles

KITCHENER (CP)—Eastern Canadian skaters won only two of 30 events at the two-day Canadian Amateur speed skating championships that ended Sunday, but they can't take much pride in even those two.

The eastern wins were recorded by John Sands of Montreal, but only in the last several years a Montrealer.

Sands was born, raised and trained in Saskatoon and won his first skating honors when he lived there. He represented Canada in the World Olympics at Squaw Valley in 1960 after he had moved to Montreal.

Western Canadians, perhaps sparked by the training ideas of Ralf Olin of Edmonton, won the other 48 events and set two Canadian records in the process.

Olin, three-time Olympic competitor and long one of Canada's top speed skaters, spent a year in Norway and Sweden to learn the European training methods. He instituted a system of weekly competitions in Calgary and Edmonton in 1960 under international skating rules where skaters race against the clock rather than themselves.

Red Deer, halfway between Calgary and Edmonton, had the top skaters in the weekend championships here, winning 16 first places, 13 in men's competitions.

Winnipeg skaters won 12, nine in women's events, and Edmonton had eight firsts, seven in women's events. Saskatchewan had seven wins, six in men's competitions, and Dawson Creek, B.C., had four firsts in men's events.

The records went to Bob Boucher, 19, of Winnipeg, and Kevin Sirois, 15, of Red Deer.

Boucher won the senior men's 440-yard race Saturday, but set the record in a preliminary heat with a time of 35.6 seconds, a full minute under the old record set by Sands at Saskatoon in 1953.

Sirois skated the juvenile boys' 880-yard race in 1:26.9, 2.6 seconds faster than the record set at Winnipeg in 1958 by David Broderick of Edmonton.

Sands won the 880-yard and 220-yard senior men's races.

Boucher took the senior men's individual trophy, however, with 23 points, winning the 440-yard, the mile and five-mile events.

Sport Snapshots

By FRANK TERNAN

HALIFAX (CP) — One of the men who will represent Canada in the pistol-shooting competition at the Pan - American Games in Brazil is a 30-year-old scientist who became the country's No. 1 pistol shot less than two years after firing his first round with a handgun.

"Guess I was as surprised as anybody else," says Gary MacMahon whose curiosity led him to try firing with a pistol in 1957 and who shot bulls-eyes so consistently that he won the Canadian open championship the following year.

McMahon, who first learned about guns as a boy while picking off gophers with a .22-calibre rifle near his farm home in the Red River Valley community of Roland, Man., also ranks fifth in world free-pistol competition.

"I never really became interested in handguns until six years ago," McMahon says. "I was out on a range where they were giving a safety course on pistols and rifles. They were firing pistols on another part of the range and, out of curiosity, I asked a friend to take me over."

FIFTH IN CAIRO

Since then a steady hand and sharp eye have carried him to success in shooting competitions in the United States, Europe and the Middle East.

His best performance in international matches was last year at the World Shooting Competitions in Cairo. He shot 547 of a possible 600 to place fifth among 30 shooters from 6 countries. That was five points better than the 542 he notched in the 1960 Rome Olympics when he placed 11th among 70 marksmen.

Both scores were fired in the free-pistol event in which most competitors choose .22-calibre pistols.

McMahon, a physicist, works at the Naval Research Establishment here on underwater acoustics in the field of submarine detection.

His spends little time practising.

PREFERS REAL THING

"Dry-firing bores me," he says, "I would rather get out on the range with the real thing."

Many top shooters spend hours each week dry-firing—placing a spent cartridge in the pistol and aiming at a target affixed to the living room or basement wall.

McMahon, a member of the 100-member Atlantic Marksmen Association, manages to get to the range about twice a week.

When not on the range, his free time is spent on his only other hobby, "tinkering with guns." This has resulted in what he believes to be the first electrically operated trigger mechanism for an automatic pistol. It utilizes a battery and condenser which fit compactly into the pistol grip.

In the 1959 Pan-Am Games at Chicago McMahon was a member of the Canadian team which placed third. In April he heads for Sao Paulo, Brazil, for the next edition of the Pan-Am.

Says Army Of Liberation On War Footing

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A broadcaster who claimed he was transmitting from inside Cuba broke in Sunday on a government communications frequency to announce an "army of liberatio is on a war footing in our territory."

"Here is the free army of Cuba from a free piece of our territory," said the voice, heard here by an Associated Press radio monitor.

"People of Cuba! The army of liberation is on a war footing in our territory and the Red Forces of Moscow will be overtaken very soon by the forces of liberation.

"The army of liberation promises that our fatherland will be truly free again and nevermore crushed under the sickle and hammer.

"People of Cuba! The army of liberation says to you seven days from the 24th of February —grito de Baire—a free Cuba!"

The broadcaster did not explain if this meant some fort of counter revolutionary action could be expected next Sunday.

Hunger for Print So Strong People Will Read Anything

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—At breakfast you read the cereal box. On the way to work you memorize the car cards. One elderly gentleman — stockbroker type —was recently observed on the subway thumbing through a copy of Shakespeare's Macbeth with a look of quiet disapproval. That's the way it is in a city that has been without a major newspaper for two months.

The hunger for print is so strong that people will read practically anything. But nothing fills the gap.

"I feel like I'm living in a void", complained my wife.

That's the way several millions of New Yorkers have felt ever since a strike shut down the people's university — the daily press—here in December.

VARIED ROLES

No other instrument of civilization fills so many various roles as does a daily newspaper. Nothing else serves so many curiosities, circulates so many kinds of information.

Other mass media—particularly radio and television stations—have moved massively here in an attempt to satisfy the people's right to know.

But the job is simply too vast for them. It is one thing to watch a television announcer read a news bulletin to you. It is quite another thing to pick up a newspaper yourself and read through its almost infinite variety as you choose. People are interested in small events, too, and other kinds of information only newspapers carry in detail.

Housewives miss the food ads and the recipes and articles on child rearing they like to clip and save. The businessman misses the announcement of promotions in other firms, and the news of fresh products.

And so from the teen-agers to pensioners misses the advice-to-the-lovelorn, the interviews with sports and entertainment notables, the Hollywood love squabbles, the medical advice columns.

Most big newspapers carry all these things. But the strike here has demonstrated that just any newspaper won't do.

Many thousands of newspapers—including some of the best in the United States—have been shipped in and sold here during the last two months. But they haven't filled the gap either.

People like the local newspaper they are used to. They are most vitally interested in the affairs of their own community. It is big news to them who died, married or was born here—not somewhere else.

And only their own local newspaper can tell them that.

Lloyd Woolsey Again Liberal Standard-Bearer

PICTON — Unsuccessful Liberal standard bearer in the last Federal election, Lloyd D. Woolsey, Napanee manufacturer, will again represent the party in the April election.

He was given an acclamation at the nomination convention held in Queen Elizabeth school here by 320 supporters.

Also nominated was Ralph Warren of Ameliasburg township, a former Picton mayor, who declined.

Guest speaker was E. J. (Ben) Benson, M.P., for Kingston, and the Islands. He charged the present government lacked leadership and denied that the Liberals were responsible for impeding the implementation of legislation.

"How can they say we impeded them? They presented no bills of any great importance.

"What was to be obstructed? The budget that was not presented? The estimates were not presented for debate on the five billion dollars spent without government approval, and the long range economic program was not presented," he said.

Outlining things a Liberal government would do if elected, Mr. Benson mentioned extension of family allowances for students who continue to attend high school, make adjustment grants for industrial development areas of chronic employment, increase urban removal slum clearance and low rental homes.

A GREAT CHALLENGE

Mr. Woolsey pointed out it is almost half a century since a Liberal was sent to Ottawa from this riding. It is a great challenge, he said, and it would be good for the riding to elect a Liberal.

Charging patronage under the Conservatives, Mr. Woolsey said the employment office in Napanee had been moved to premises of the president of the Napanee P.C. Association, after last election. "They had a nice clean post office in Odessa, but because the Liberals challenged the Conservatives in that area to such an extent, a new $30,000 post office is to built.

"We cannot afford the Conservative party for another five years at Ottawa," he declared. "The only way we can put Canada back on the road to recovery is with a Liberal government under Lester Pearson," he asserted.

Mr. Warren said "this will be no pink tea, it will be a rough and tough election.

Woman Given $39,469 by County Jury

PICTON — Damages totalling $39,469.20 were awarded Mrs. Elaine (Mary Kaye) Bowden by a Supreme Court petit jury, sitting under Hon. Mr. Justice Kelly.

The jury decided that Mrs. Bowen should receive $31,-269.20 for her pain and suffering and $18,100 for the loss of her 58-year-old husband. Costs of the action went to the plaintiff.

The jury found one hundred per cent negligence on the part of one defendant, Garry Johnson and attached no blame to Frederick Bowen who was also named as a defendant in the action. Mr. Johnson was driver of a car, owned by his father, Carson Johnson, all of Peterborough district.

The fatal case arose out of an accident on December 24, 1961 at Cordova Mines. Mr. and Mrs. Bowen were standing on the side of the street in the village where he operated a barber shop. They were waiting as his brother, Frederick Bowen, backed his car out of a driveway, to go to a funeral at which they were to be bearers. The car driven by Johnson, R.R. 7 Peterborough, tried to avoid hitting the Bowen vehicle and it skidded, striking Mr. and Mrs. Bowen. The former died from a broken neck and Mrs. Bowen was hospitalized for some time. Evidence revealed that some of her injuries will be permanent.

The jury was composed of Calvin Hughes, foreman; 12 Gordon Striker, Henry Dick, Gerald McAuley, Donald Eager and Mervin Hudgin.

AT THE PARK — Depicted here are Max Bygraves as a crusading young teacher, and Betty McDowall in a scene from the high-powered drama "Spare the Rod" opening tonight at the Park Theatre. # Princess Takes Viewers For 'A Look at Monaco'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Monaco, some of us have always thought, is a place where youngsters sons of earls casually lose everything at the gaming tables and then stroll gallantly into the casino gardens never to be seen again.

But after Sunday night's CBS special, A Look at Monaco, I know Monaco really is our town, governed by the folks next door.

Princess Grace seems to have picked up some sort of combination British-Riviera accent during the last few years, but she still is more beautiful than any Hollywood queen. She lives—apparently on a perpetual honeymoon—in a colorful little country backed by mountains, covered with white houses with red roofs and with a constant view of a blue-green sea.

According to the television report, the princess from Philadelphia and her prince live luxuriously in an old castle, rearing children, visiting orphanages and admiring paintings, while they visit their private zoo or skin dive for rare flora and fauna for their Oceanographic Institute.

Astrological Forecast

For February 19

By SYDNEY OMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Excellent for selling, promotion of products. Good, too, for advancement in community and personal life through expression of friendship. Be aware, helpful, alert, open-minded.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Harmony essential. Stay away from those who argue over "nothing." Take time to get thoughts in order. Catch up on mail; study contracts, agreements. Sagittarius person could provide stimulation.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Glide with "underdog." Adhere to beliefs, principles. Money matters highlighted. Favorable outcomes indicated. Accept challenge. Strive for perfection. Give your best.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Judgment best later today. You can create opportunities for future. Key is sense of responsibility. Show those in authority you are ready, willing, capable. Don't be a "clock watcher."

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): Dramatic confrontation should be taken in stride. Key is calm approach, reaction. You are being "tested." Come through with flying colors. Stress common-sense attitude.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Good lunar aspect today provides positibility for constructive progress. Don't be afraid to take first step. Or to make key move. Be aware. Follow through on serious resolutions!

Libra (Sept. 22 to Oct. 22): You learn more today by cooperation than by breaking ties. Learn by teaching. Show you are willing to share. Others will follow your example. You beget fit and make new, influential friends.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Contacts highlight you day. Key is "getting sound." Avoid time-wasting activity. Don't scatter forces. Concentrate! Obey traffic signals. Temptation is to gamble. Overcome it!

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Solid support comes your way. Your spirits lift. Avoid arrogance. Accept good fortune with Sagittarius flair for modesty. Don't "rub it in." Check statements associate makes. May be error!

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Cycle high. You judge correctly. Your intuition sharply honed. Fine for personal appearances and busines activity. Be there! Speak, write, express views.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Vindication is key. Program you "pushed" is put into effect. Applies to personal and professional activities. Thank right persons. Hold no grudges. Wipe slate clean. Start anew.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) New ideas all around you today. Key is taking initiative. Hopes, wishes close to fulfillment. Read Gemini message. Let others know you care. Hip away shell. Welcome friendship.

If today is your birthday . . . you are never satisfied with status quo. You search beyond the immediate. You permit inventive abilities to flow forth.

• • •

General Tendencies: Cycle up for Sagittarius, Capricorn, Aquarius. Special word to Cancer: A bit of extra effort could turn tide your way.

Ukrainian-Born Horseman Hired to Turn Winnipeg Into Equestrian Training Centre

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Ukrainian-born horseman who once was chief instructor of the Polish cavalry has been given the job of turning Winnipeg into a centre of equestrian training in Canada.

Maj. Severyn Roman Kulesa, who has trained horses for everything from Princess Elizabeth's wedding to the Olympic Games, was brought here by a group headed by George Andison.

Efforts to build Winnipeg's reputation for equestrian skills are centred on Andison's farm, Mare Mar, in rural Ste. Agathe.

Andison found Maj. Kulesa at the Olympic training centre near Newmarket, Ont., last summer when his daughter took classes there.

"My daughter learned more in six weeks there than in three years in Winnipeg," Andison says. "This man was too good for them to lose, so I invited him to come to Winnipeg when the Olympic centre closed in September."

In Maj. Kulesa, the Winnipeg group has a man of vast experience with strong views on how to impart the knowledge, skill and a tendency to frankness that occasionally borders on sarcasm.

LIKE COWBOYS

He's outspoken in his comments on Western Canadian riders.

"They're too much like cowboys now. It is the specialty of the house, but it is useless for international competition. The same thing for horses. They also are too Western and not good for international competition."

Discussing conventional dressage, where the rider dictates every move the horse makes, he dealt but almost invisible movements of hand,, foot and body, he has this to say:

"The main thing is not to try to teach the horse any trick movement, but to let him develop naturally. What to do is the rider's business and this I can teach. How to do it is the horse's business."

Having been a cavalry officer, Maj. Kulesa was waiting, mounted , and sword in hand, when the German panzers swept into Poland in the Second World War.

He says the horsemen were able to keep the German tanks from advancing from noon until nightfall. Two days later, he was captured later in Warsaw and spent five years in concentration camps in Germany and Italy.

CALLED TO BRITAIN

After the war the British Household Guards called on him to train 40 black horses, riderless for five years, for the procession at: Elizabeth's wedding.

"We had to teach them to walk in traffic and to canter to the right and left," Maj. Kulesa says, adding that it took 20 months.

The International Olympic Committee then asked him to train horses for the pentathlon event in the Olympics, where entrants are supplied with mounts.

He explained that after they were trained, the top 50 horses were excluded from competition. Who middle horses were used in order to assure that no rider had an advantage.

After that he spent some time training the Irish jumping team, taking time out to train the Canadians for the Olympics, then became head instructor at the Royal Ecrire Belge in Brussels. When a middle Slovak Pierogorodski died, he succeeded him at the Olympic Centre near Toronto.

Police Requested To Secure List Of Stolen Tools

KITCHENER (CP) — Chief Justice J. C. McRuer Saturday told police to prepare a list showing how many of the $24,000 worth of tools stolen from a Waterloo plant July 31 have been recovered.

Owen McCusker, 29, of Waterloo, is charged with the capital murder July 31 of John Dowbush, 46, watchman at Marsland Precision Engineering Limited.

Two boxes containing about $500 worth of employee-owned tools were recovered from the Niagara River.

Plant superintendent said four metal feeler strips were missing from McCusker's tool box when it was examined after the murder.

Planing Mill At North Bay Is Destroyed

About 50,000 feet of dressed white pine, mill equipment, two trucks and three tractors were destroyed company officials said in estimating damage.

North Bay firemen, battling the blaze in nine - below - zero weather, were hampered by lack of water and called in the West Ferris Township and the North Bay RCAF station. The nearest hydrant was about a quarter mile from the mill.

Kennedy Briefs Congressional Leaders On Cuba

White House Meeting One Swiftly Called

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy gave congressional leaders a 40-minute briefing on Cuba and Latin America Monday night at a swiftly-called White House meeting that had all the makings of high drama.

Almost a score of legislators, given only a couple of hours of warning, were present at the secret session, slipped in and out of the executive mansion, avoiding reporters. But later those who would talk described it all as a routine report.

One Republican leader, who declined to be quoted by name, brushed it off as a rehash of the situation in Cuba and Latin America."

But he added he viewed it as an attempt to quiet some of the attacks on the administration's Cuban policy.

He said he thought Kennedy has been disturbed by some of the criticism Republicans have been aiming at his foreign policy and is trying to pacify us."

Kennedy was aided at the briefing by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Central Intelligence Agency Chief John A. McCone and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

GIVES CUBAN ROUNDUP

"Just a general intelligence roundup on Cuba" and some other areas, said Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Senator George A. Smathers (Dem. Fla.) remarked he didn't hear anything particularly new about the Cuban situation and the Soviet military power there in the present briefing, but that things looked a little better."

There was some speculation that the session was an effort by Kennedy to slam the door on any charges that his foreign policy was more partisan than bipartisan.

Although those who attended but declined to talk about the White House meeting was Sen. John Stennis (Dem. Miss.) who heads a preparedness sub-committee which is on an intensive investigation this week to learn all the facts" of Russian military strength in Cuba.

Stennis has joined Republicans in questioning whether the administration has done enough about Cuba, and has suggested another blockade may be necessary if the Soviet troops aren't withdrawn.

Govt. Playing Politics With 'Farmers' Money' - Argue

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP)—Hazen Argue, the Liberal party's farm spokesman in the House of Commons, said Monday the government will make acreage payments to Western Canada's grain farmers before the April 8 federal election.

They will talk about how good they are to the farmers after playing politics with the farmers' money."

Mr. Argue, Liberal member for Assiniboia, spoke at a party convention which named Jake Kreiser to contest Melville constituency in the federal election.

Mr. Argue said the Liberal party advocates a two - price system for Canadian wheat and a government subsidy for wheat used domestically.

The former member of the CCF party, who joined the Liberals a year ago said the Liberals also advocate a national rail policy and producer marketing boards.

Trade Minister Challenged to Meet Sharp

WINNIPEG (CP) — Trade Minister McCutcheon has been challenged to resign his seat in the Senate and run against Liberal candidate Mitchell Sharp in Toronto Eglinton.

Justice Minister Fleming who narrowly defeated Mr. Sharp in last year's election, announced Monday he will not contest the seat again.

Speaking to the Liberal nominating convention in Winnipeg South, John N. Turner, MP for Montreal St. Lawrence - St. George said the Conservative party was suffering from the "gangrene of indecision," and made the challenge to the newly-appointed minister.

Mrs. Margaret Konantz, who lost Winnipeg South to Conservative Gordon Chown by 402 votes last June 18, was nominated to contest the April 8 federal election.

CNE WANTS GOULET

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian singer Robert Goulet may star in this year's Canadian National Exhibition grandstand show. CNE officials said Monday they are interested in getting the singer, but expressed doubt about being able to afford him.

Space Scientists Are Conducting Busy Search for Lost Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP) — Space scientists are scanning the heavens for the lost Syncom communications satellite. They will search until they find it—although with so spacious a hunting-ground, they admit, it may be a while yet.

The non-communicative communications satellite was sent aloft from Cape Canaveral, Fla., last Thursday amid hopes it would achieve an orbit that would make it appear to hover motionless over a spot in the south Atlantic.

While the around - the - earth orbit was achieved, the satellite's radio transmission came to an abrupt halt. It hasn't been heard from it since. What is known is that it is 22,300 miles above the earth.

With that to go on, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Agency said in an interview today, the search is under way.

The space agency's chief hopes rest with about a dozen Baker - Nunn camera-radio telescopes — being operated around the world by the Smithsonian Astronomical Observatory, with a financial boost from NASA.

Assuming the satellite is in orbit, we also are assuming that it will soon be possible to get the approximate point where it was injected into orbit," the spokesman said.

Sooner or later, we'll find it. The camera will take a picture of a mighty small point of light that shouldn't be there. It might fool them and be something

LIBERAL CLAIMS LAWYERS SHOULD BE BONDED

Cost Prohibitive Says Minister

TORONTO (CP)—A survey by the Law Society of Upper Canada found that the costs of bonding lawyers to protect clients' trust funds would be prohibitive," Attorney - General Cass told the legislature.

Mr. Cass said defalcation by dishonest lawyers was a very great problem in Ontario, but added Monday he did not know of any jurisdiction which has found a successful answer to the problem.

Ross M. Whicher (L—Bruce) had asked during study of the attorney - general's estimates why lawyers should not be bonded in the same manner as treasurers of companies and other businessmen.

Many people had lost and would continue to lose large amounts of money by trusting dishonest lawyers, Mr. Whicher said.

If the lawyer were bonded, should he go bankrupt, his client would still be paid," he said.

IS UNDER STUDY

Mr. Cass said he was distressed about the problem and it was under constant study by

Police Break Up Forgery Mill In Metro

TORONTO (CP)—The Metropolitan Toronto police fraud squad has seized thousands of stolen cheque forms and blank drivers' licence forms in what they describe as the breakup of one of the largest forgery mills ever uncovered here.

Two Toronto men are under arrest on multiple charges of forgery, passing forged cheques, theft and receiving stolen goods.

Police said Monday the action broke up a province-wide "cheque mill" which has duped merchants of thousands of dollars and was set up to reap hundreds of thousands more.

The seized cheques were on company forms stolen from an Oshawa printing plant, and the blank licence forms were stolen from the Brampton office of the Ontario transport department.

Insp. John Mullen, head of the fraud squad, said anyone wishing to pass phony cheques could get in contact with the mill" and obtain forged cheques and licence forms as identification.

Fraud squad officers also seized telephone - tapping equipment they believe may have been used in fleecing two banks of $5,000 a week ago.

Facing multiple charges are Harry Gunnell and Robert J. Cox, both of Toronto.

178 Candidates Named To Date for Federal Vote

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The ranks of candidates are filling slowly for the April 8 federal elections.

Roughly 1,000 men and women can be expected to enter the contest for the 265 seats in Parliament but an unofficial compilation by The Canadian Press shows that only 178 candidates have been named to date.

This compares with 586 chosen seven weeks before the 1962 election when a record 1,016 names appeared on the ballots.

Uncertainty that the opposition would overthrow the government and bring about a spring election appears to be the reason for the relative delay in choosing candidates. In 1962 there were plenty of advance indications that an election was coming and many nomination meetings had been held before Parliament was dissolved.

It is too soon to know whether last year's record field will be equalled but if the four major parties enter full or nearly-full slates a new mark may be set. In 1962 progressive Conservatives had 265 candidates—one for each seat—Liberals 264, Social Credit 220, New Democratic Party 218, Communists 12 and a record Independents 27.

The Social Credit and Liberal parties are setting the pace in nominations to date. Social Credit has chosen 61 candidates, 51 of them in Quebec where they won 26 seats in 1962 and where they expect to complete their full slate of 75 nominees by

Canadian Council Honors 3 Distinguished Canadians

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canada Council has honored three distinguished Canadians with its highest award for contributions to Canadian culture and at the same time announces it has received a $4,250,000 gift to extend its work into the field of science.

The three Canada Council medal winners — scholar-orator Leonard W. Brockington, composer Claude Champagne and the artist Arthur Lismer—joined the ranks of 10 other medallists named last year when the medal was first introduced.

Governor-General Vanier presented the medals — large bronze-cast discs four inches in diameter and weighing 12 pounds each—and the $2,000 cash award that goes with them.

Council Director Dr. A. W. Trueman made the formal awards dinner an occasion to announce that a donor has provided a $4,250,000 gift to enable Canadian students to undertake advance studies in medicine science and engineering.

Dr. Trueman said the action of the donor—who asked that his identity be kept secret — was a valuable recognition and endorsement of the council's work and the place it has been able to take in the life of the country.

The gift is the largest received since the council's establishment in 1957. It was established by the federal government with two $50,000,000 grants one for university building grants and the other for scholarships and advanced research.

The $2,000,000 interest from the $4,000,000 fund produces.

Mutchmor Favors Support Of Controlled Nuclear Force

TORONTO (CP) — Rt. Rev. R. J. Mutchmor, moderator of the United Church of Canada, said today the Canadian government "has spoken with two voices" in the matter of nuclear arms.

Giving his final report as secretary in the annual meeting of the church's board of evangelism and social service, Dr. Mutchmor said the government has halted too long between two opinions.

"The Canadian government should clarify its policy re nuclear weapons without further delay," he said.

"I believe our country should support a NATO controlled force. Such force, which for defence purposes only would back up a clear and strong policy of credible deterrence."

Canada's austerity program was also touched on by Dr. Mutchmor, and he suggested the cost of the austerity burden should be more fairly shared. He said the government has fallen best on those least able to carry them."

Among suggestions made by Dr. Mutchmor was one that the advertising costs of breweries and distilleries should not be classified as deductible items in corporation returns.

Although some progress has been made recently in putting Canada's financial house in order, he said, there is no sign of austerity in the "eat-drink-and-play-bingo" areas of Canadian life.

Mr. Mutchmor quoted statistics which showed Ontario reporting a record high annual drink bill, and a new Canadian high for horseracing betting, and a wider range of gambling.

He also suggested the United Church must continue and extend her efforts to know and appreciate French Canada, and increase its already well established work with newcomers.

SHOULD REPLACE PRIME MINISTER SAYS HARKNESS

Former Minister Will Run Again

CALGARY (CP)—Former defence minister Harkness said Monday Prime Minister Diefenbaker should be replaced by a new leader of the Progressive Conservative party.

I think the action I took was the strongest indication of my lack of confidence in the leadership," said Mr. Harkness, who resigned his cabinet position two weeks ago over nuclear weapons.

I wouldn't propose anyone to succeed Mr. Diefenbaker," he said at a press conference. That would be up to a party convention."

It is inevitable" that his resignation and those of former defence minister Sevigny and trade minister Hees will damage the party's image, he said.

However, I think everyone has to consider their own integrity."

Mr. Harkness said if he is re-elected in his Calgary North constituency on April 8 a general election he would accept the office of defence minister in a Conservative government only if the policies he advocated were put into operation.

Mr. Harkness said his resignation was sparked by a general situation" that has developed in Canada since the Conservatives took power in June, 1957, and resented in the Commons since 1945.

The Progressive Conservative nomination meeting for the constituency will be held Wednesday night, there have been no reports of anyone planning to contest the nomination.

Mr. Harkness interviewed earlier on the train which brought him here from Ottawa said he is not going to let his clear his disagreement is with the leadership, not with the Progressive Conservative party.

The fact that I have disagreed with the leadership of the party is no reason why I should leave the party. In fact it's my job to remain in the party."

He said he plans to seek re-election on his own defence policy.

Thief Chased With $4,000 But Not Caught

TORONTO (CP) — Accountant Ronald Kelly, 28, unsuccessfully chased a thief who had calmly walked into a suburban Scarborough branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, passed a note demanding money, and fled with about $4,000.

Dale gave up the chase when the thief, described as being in his 20s, leaped into a car and drove off.

Teller Mrs. John Boag, 24, said the man passed her a note saying: This is a holdup. Give me your 10s and 20s. I have a gun."

She said none of the other tellers seemed to notice the man demanded "more, more" as she pushed the money across the counter.

'Red' Kelly Is Candidate In York West

TORONTO (CP) — Hockey player Leo (Red) Kelly Monday night was nominated by the Liberals to contest the Toronto riding of York West in the April 8 federal election.

Mr. Kelly, a centre with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, was first elected to Parliament in last June's voting. He was unopposed in the nomination.

Nuclear Weapons 'In Case Of Need' Says Churchill

Minister of Defence Outlines Govt. Policy

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canada's newly-appointed defence minister, in his first speech since taking office, has revealed himself as a solid supporter of the government policies that led to the resignation of his predecessor.

Hon. Gordon Churchill, who took over the portfolio Feb. 11 following the resignation of Douglas Harkness, made his position clear Monday night at his own nominating convention as Progressive Conservative candidate in his present seat of Winnipeg South Centre for the April 8 federal election.

He made two main points:

1. Canada would obtain nuclear weapons for its forces at home and abroad only "in case of need" or "emergency."

2. Defence policy must remain "flexible" to meet changing strategic and tactical conditions.

QUOTES FROM PM

Mr. Churchill quoted briefly from Prime Minister Diefenbaker's comments speech of July 25 on Canada's nuclear role to help outline his position.

The prime minister's refusal to commit Canada to a nuclear role lead to the resignation of Mr. Harkness.

Dealing with Canada's role in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Mr. Churchill said the Canadian Honest John rocket battery in Europe was "ready to perform any task allotted to it by the supreme commander of NATO."

But rockets—presumably nuclear-tipped—for the battery are in American custody and "will not be handed over until an emergency has arisen."

Similarly, nuclear bombs for the Canadian Starfighter strike reconnaissance squadron would be released to the planes only in time of need.

"Canada is fulfilling her commitment by providing the planes, and the trained pilots," he said. "They are ready for what we were asked to do."

WILL REVIEW ROLE

At the same time the role of Canadian armed forces in Europe will be reviewed in the light of new concepts and changing defence postures" inherent in a multilateral nuclear force agreed on at the Nassau

Aussies to Join Standardizing Arms Agreement

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) Australia will participate in an agreement to standardize with United States, British and Canadian armies aimed at standardizing military procedures and equipment.

The agreement, generally known as the A.B.C. agreement, has been in operation since the Second World War.

Announcing the Australian decision, Army Minister John Cramer said in a statement today the Australian Army had accepted with great pleasure an invitation to join.

Men Who Seized Venezuelan Ship Get Political Asylum in Brazil

BELEM, Brazil (AP) — The high-seas drama of the seized Venezuelan freighter Libertad Miguel neared an end today—its aim of preventing President Romulo Betancourt's visit to the United States thwarted and Betancourt's regime apparently still firmly in the saddle.

The ship swung at anchor in Brazilian waters waiting for a Brazilian navy escort to take the 240 miles down the coast to Belem. There was speculation that the ship had sailed because it ran out of fuel or had engine trouble.

U.S. craft, hovering outside Brazilian territorial waters, kept the Amoslegul under surveillance but made no attempt to arrest it.

Brazil has promised political asylum to the insurgents who seized the ship when they surrender the vessel. The Venezuelan foreign ministry said it will demand their extradition. The ship will be returned to Venezuela, presumably with its captain and most of the 35 crew. Secret service agents and Medina Rojas radioed that he was the only crew member involved in the seizure. Rojas apparently were Communist terrorists smuggled aboard before the ship sailed last Sunday for Houston and New Orleans. However, it was also reported that some of the crew joined the insurgents and will ask asylum in Brazil.

Keynote Address To Be Delivered By Diefenbaker

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's progressive Conservatives, whose loyalty to Prime Minister Diefenbaker was a subject for discussion Monday, hear today from Mr. Diefenbaker why they must support him in the April 8 general election.

In a speech scheduled long before the last Parliament was dissolved, Mr. Diefenbaker gives the keynote address to the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association at its annual convention here this afternoon.

The question of party loyalty was a major topic Monday at the convention of the Young Progressive Conservatives of Ontario.

However, Dalton Camp, chair man of the party's national organization committee and chief architect of the current Conservative election campaign, told YPC delegates a Conservative must be loyal to both federal and provincial levels of the party.

He was his personal opinion that "loyalty to the party is indivisible" and that he does not want to work just as hard for Ontario Conservatives in the provincial election expected this year as he will in the federal campaign.

Mr. Camp said there is a danger of loyalty among party members in Canada and a fervor of purpose. "Certainly the latter is to be more unassailable than ever to the opposition," he added.

Today's meeting will also vote on a variety of resolutions, elect association officers and hear an evening address by Premier Robarts.

A.N.A.F. Weekly News

The regular meeting of Unit 201 was held last Thursday evening at the ANAF hall. The inclement weather caused the attendance to be a bit smaller than usual, but it was quite vociferous nevertheless. There was quite a backlog of business due to the holidays and election of officers, but it was all accomplished, in due course.

President Cec Brown was in the chair and opened the meeting with a minute's silence in honor of departed comrades.

Comrades Cec Brown and Ernie Gray attended a Provincial Command meeting, representing Unit 201, on Saturday. Further news of this in next week's notes.

A lovely inlaid checker table, made by Comrade Jack Fitzgerald and a hockey table by Comrade Don Lee, was presented to the club by Jack and fills a long needed want. Very good use has been made of it since it was presented.

A general body gave the two comrades a hearty round of applause and the president personally expressed the thanks of the unit.

Sports chairman, Comrade George Christopher, is organizing the following competitions and lists will be posted on the notice board for names of contestants wishing to participate. Euchre contest, Shuffleboard, Table Tennis and Checkers. He also wishes to remind the committee that entry blanks may be had from the stewards for the Molson Trophy and that, if paid monthly, the fee will continue at $7.00 per month in advance, but with the option of paying in two instalments for the year, the first of $30.00 prior to September 30 and the second of $30.00 prior to January 31. # Writers Not Impressed by Canadian Team

PRAGUE (CP - AP) — Trail Smoke Eaters, Canada's representatives in this year's world hockey championships, didn't impress Czechoslovakian sports writers as they defeated Sokol Vsetin, Monday night, in the first exhibition game since arriving in Europe.

The powerful Czechoslovak Sport, quoted the CTK, the official Czech news agency, commented on the game:

"The first match played by the 1962 Allan Cup winners in Czechoslovakia did not show the Canadian team to be the most likely candidate for the world championship title in Stockholm.

"Like the Saskatoon Quakers, the Smoke Eaters tried to play a game of intimidation in the first period and thus threw their opponent.

"But he Bratislava players soon gained self-confidence and it would not have taken much for the match to end much more favorably for Slovan. Most of the credit for the Canadian victory goes to goalie Seth Martin. Dick Kling, Bill Ingram and Gunner Levec were visited by the County Bruce. They were looked after and all seem to be in good spirits.

The entertainment chairman, Don Andrews, is well pleased with his first dance of the year and reports that there was a good crowd who really enjoyed themselves. Prizes were won for dancing and also a door prize. Don hopes to have a dance twice a month from now on and hopes that the comrades will reserve these evenings for fun and comradeship and come and enjoy themselves. The weekly notes will let you know in advance of these events and watch the Coming Events column in The Ontario Intelligencer for full details.

Comrade Tom Nickle suggested that the club organize a drill team to work in conjunction with the Unit Pipe Band. This has been placed on the notice board and if any comrades are interested, put your names down. A meeting will be called if it seems that enough are interested to make a success of this excellent suggestion by the comrade.

Until the next weekly notes, the best of luck to all.

Five Paintings Stolen in 1944 Are Returned

BONN, West Germany (Reuters) — Five valuable Italian paintings stolen by a German soldier in Florence, Italy, in 1944 were handed by the West German government today to Italian Ambassador Gastone Guidotti.

An Italian art expert estimated the value of the five paintings at more than $560,000.

The paintings were found by police recently in the Munich home of a former German soldier who fled to Spain after the war.

Munich Police Chief Manfred Schreiber told a press conference retreating German soldiers took 297 paintings to a hideout in the Alps—but 10 later were found to be missing. Two of them recently were discovered in the United States, leaving three unaccounted for.

Council Decides to Accept Municipal Board's Ruling Jan. 1, '64, Annexation Date

TRENTON — Trenton Council decided last night not to contest the ruling by the Ontario Municipal Board that annexation of parts of Murray and Sidney Township become effective Jan. 1, 1964. Council had thought to petition the board to change the effective date to Jan. 1, 1965, almost twice as long, but, after talking it over, decided, on the advice of Solicitor Larry to Trenton school board chairman T. S. Ketcheson convinced them that the time the newspaper stories were accurate.

The decision to leave the effective annexation date as Jan. 1, 1964, hinged on council's discovery that an OMB hearing would probably be necessary should Trenton try to push the date forward. The hearing would cost $500.

"Why spend more money on that?" asked Councillor Gerald Weaver.

"Let it take its course", agreed Councillor James Duncan.

Council was disturbed by a small item in the report of Chief Storrie for $2,477.05, and this, too, concerned annexation. Originally, Chief Storrie had requested to carry out certain research in the areas under consideration for annexation with a maximum charge of $600. Council has a signed agreement to this effect. They found that that amount will be queried. Chief Storrie will be invited to submit an itemized account. As councillor Weaver said, Chief Storrie should not be asked to submit a reasonable offer which would tie in with the maximum charge of $600."

BACK RESOLUTION

Council readily agreed to endorse a resolution brought down by the county council of Wentworth. The resolution, which will be sent to government authorities, asks that the sale of mineral-base detergents be prohibited. Such chemical compounds, claims the county council, encourage the growth of algae in fresh water bodies and result in "gumming up" sewage systems. Germany, says the county council, has solved the problem by reinforcing the use of organic based detergents. What, Germany can do, says the Wentworth council, Canada can do. Detergent manufacturers should step up their research.

A letter from the Ontario Police Commission asking "once again," that council pay in full car allowance for 1962 and 1963 to Police Chief F. J. Taylor and Inspector H. J. Rutherford and that a clothing allowance be paid to the inspector, was received, pending a meeting between the commissioners and council. The commission said that it was not responsible for any unpleasantness, "arising out of any possible action brought against the town by the chief and the inspector if the monies were not paid.

That council under protection to persons and property," observed Trenton mayor, James MacDonald.

"Excuse me!" exclaimed Councillor Ross Burtt, chairman of the committee named by the mayor, "You're not passing the buck to me. That can be settled without all these other difficulties when council meets with the commission."

REFUSE TO PAY

One thing with which Councillor Burtt did concern himself was the non-payment of $40 to a cleaning woman for the July 1 fire at the police station. The cleaning woman was engaged by the police chief, claims Burtt.

The cleaning bill for $40 has been sent by the chief to the town clerk; by the town clerk back to the chief; from the chief back to the clerk.

"If the chief wants to hire an extra lady, it's up to him to pay her out of his own salary," declared Councillor Burtt.

However, the councillor said that on second thought he didn't want to do a working woman out her $40 and asked that council pay the bill. This necessitated a polled vote.

"I'm abstaining from voting," said Councillor Weaver. "I had everything to say on this subject last council meeting. I'm not rehashing it."

Councillors Burtt and McDonald voted to pay the woman the $40; councillors Duncan and Todd voted against; Councillor Weaver abstained. In the final analysis, Councillor Weaver's vote was taken as a "nay." This was according to rules of procedure. The motion was defeated.

"You're a bunch of cheap sports," said the woman upon hearing of $40" said Councillor Burtt.

Council did approve a 1963 budget brought down by the Quinte Emergency Measures Organization. Trenton taxpayers will pay 31.21% and the remainder by the province. Cost to the town is $323.

LAND FOR MANY ADDITION

One thing liable to get preferential treatment at budget time is the request for an additional grant of $3,000 from the Trenton Library Board. The request will be brought to the chairman, James Cox, that it wished to build a 1500 foot addition and 24,376 cubic additions were processed. The board has $14,000 saved for the addition and would feel it could contribute towards the $18,000 addition.

At the risk of establishing a precedent, council voted to grant $250 immediately to the Trenton Community Assistance Association. This sum will be taken out of the welfare department budget. The association set up to assist the welfare department, has been given a house at 20 Quinte Street from which to dispense such things as clothing and furniture to those in future to people who need such articles. But the association, which hopes to be supporting by next year, has not the money to put in heat and lights. As this is a worthwhile service, council felt justified in granting the $250 ahead of budget time. The sum will be paid to Cox. Articles will be sold to those who can pay — given to those who can't.

Council will inform the federal government that it is "interested" in buying the present post office when the new federal building has become a reality. In such cases, it seems, the municipality is given first crack at the building to be replaced, and as prices asked are traditionally low, council cannot see wasting a year or two by "showing its interest."

Council Plans To Keep Rules Of Procedure

TRENTON — Acting on a resolution brought forward by Councillor James Duncan the Trenton council last night decided to "observe rules of procedure" in the future with a view to introducing more decorum to the bi-monthly meetings. A further suggestion from Councillor Duncan that each councillor rise when addressing the chair, was vetoed, as being impractical, considering the type of seating used.

Councillor Duncan also suggested that long debates on any subject be cut short by the mayor ruling it out of order for any councillor to speak more than once on any one subject. This way, thought Councillor Duncan, meetings could be cut down to the point where they might end closer to the 11 p.m. mark. (Council adjourned last night at midnight.)

Councillors Duncan McDonald and Edward Todd said that they objected to council or committee meetings being held in the daytime, but when the mayor said that he could not fill council meetings during the day — "it's an emergency," and "Councillor Rose Burtt said that daytime and nighttime meetings were necessary while council was bringing down the budget, it was decided to take no action on this.

The end result of the discussion on correct procedure at last night's meeting was that clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry was kept busy all evening looking up rules of procedure.

Said in Quebec

Robert Thompson, the national leader of the Social Credit Party, says that "I don't pretend to know all the answers" as far as defensive nuclear weapons are concerned.

He is to be congratulated on his candor. We are not at all sure, though, that companion congratulations are in order for another example of candor, this time probably unintentional. His troublesome lieutenant from Quebec, Real Caouette, some time ago said the Socreds opposed nuclear arms for Canadian forces, at home and abroad. Mr. Thompson, questioned by reporters about the difference between the views he expressed and those voiced by Mr. Caouette, dismissed his lieutenant's observations as "something he said in Quebec."

In other words, what is said in Quebec should not be taken seriously by voters in English-speaking Canada.

Of course, it can be argued by the Socreds that this attitude is not new, and is not confined to their party.

Indeed, the late Miss Agnes Macphail, Canada's first woman M.P., used to have a favorite story dealing with this point, with the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King as the butt of the joke.

According to Miss Macphail, when Prime Minister King was in Quebec he denounced the then newly-formed CCF as akin to godless communism.

In more tolerant Ontario, said Miss Macphail, Mr. King softened his criticism. The CCF was an impractically idealistic group of socialists.

"In the progressive west," Miss Macphail would say, "Mr. King would declare that there was really not much difference between the CCF and the Liberals, that the CCF-ers were just Liberals in a hurry. And if he she would continue, "Mr. King told one meeting in a little Prairie town 'If you take socialism out of the CCF platform, it is just the same as the Liberals' platform.' Up jumped an old farmer. 'You are right, Mr. King,' he cried. "For if you take socialism out of the CCF platform what is left is nothing—and that has been the Liberal platform for the past twenty years'."

What Miss Macphail would have done to Messrs' Thompson and Caouette on the subject of nuclear arms would have been murderous.

National Neurosis?

Rev. A. C. Forrest, editor of the United Church Observer, recently visited U.S. Strategic Air Command headquarters near Omaha, Nebraska.

In an article describing what he saw and relating what he was told, this paragraph appears:

"One Canadian officer at NORAD told Canadian visitors recently that one of the chief differences between Canadians and Americans in this area is that Canadians don't go to bed at night fearful of an attack. But Americans do."

Like all generalizations, that statement is suspect. It may be the truth, but it cannot be the whole truth. There will be exceptions. Some Canadians will be as fearful as any Americans; some Americans as free from fear as any Canadians. But that is immaterial. What matters is not the existence of exceptions but their extent. If they are not numerous enough to make the rule invalid, then the existence of this situation will have much the same effect as if there were no exceptions at all.

Is the rule close to the truth? Americans frequently act as if it were, and as if it held true not only for Americans near the SAC base but for Americans as a whole.

If this fear exists, what will be its effects? Some will argue that constant anxiety can only result in a breakdown, that some day they will drive the Americans to seek a showdown. Surely, though, there have been men in the past who have lived daily with fear, yet never reached the breaking point. Yet one would think this never-ending fear would have some permanent effects. What are these effects likely to be? This is no question for a layman to attempt to answer. But we can think of less reasonable ways of spending public money than on a government-financed study of the situation by qualified psychiatrists and psychologists. The existence of a mighty nation with a permanent national neurosis would seem to be an important factor which should be considered in the conduct of international diplomacy.

Lots of Fire Behind Smoke In Explosive Tory Split

By RICHARD JACKSON
(from The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — You never saw such bone-deep enmity as has been first flung in Capital by political civil war which raged with such ferocity within the Conservative Cabinet and the party's front-line troops in Parliament.

Only now is it apparent that the seeming political hari kari apparently being committed so recklessly across the land in this destructive blood feud was staggering enough.

Unless you do not get the full hate-filled flavor of it unless you sniff the smoke-filled air here in Ottawa, the political command post for all the nation.

The pro-consuls of the party and the constituency groups out in the Grass Roots where grow the votes may wring their hands in frustration and even despair—they would weep openly if they were here and see the shambles, the carnage in the Conservative high command.

Like just the other night at the Chateau Laurier, the Capitals' official Parliamentary political headquarters for all parties.

A prominent, even key member of the Cabinet was walking through the lobby.

Minding his own business, probably busy with his own private thoughts.

WHAM

Had plenty to occupy his mind, too, for he had been reported as one of the six or seven chieftains of the faction of the Cabinet who had treated with Social Credit, and maybe even the New Democrats, for their votes, while there was still time to save the government and his Twenty-Fifth Parliament, in exchange for Prime Minister Diefenbaker's head.

When suddenly, there in the Chateau lobby, for everybody in the corridors to see and hear, into his path stepped one of the party's leading backbencher MP's in the Commons.

Planting himself squarely in front of the astounded Cabinet Minister, the backbencher, in loud, clear tones, his voice dripping venom, snarled:

"... you dirty, rotten, schemning, disloyal SOB ..."

The Cabinet Minister stepped around him in silence and left the Chateau.

The wounds are deep.

THE OTHER SIDE

However, worried Conservatives — are there any other kind right now? — can take some comfort out of the fact that damaging as this brother-kill-brother feud has been, there has been some good come out of it.

As in in-fighting got down to the clinches, in the mortal crunch of the inner power struggle — Prime Minister — discovered who the men were in the Cabinet whose loyalty and support could be counted on how dreadful the stress and strain.

These were the hard-dying men, the loyalists who would stand fast and firm to the very end.

It was interesting to see who they were when the squeeze was put on.

Perhaps the most deep-dyed of the loyalists, who let it be known in his political heart most plainly on his sleeve, was Health Minister Monteith. Nothing shook his faith. His devotion was utter. It was a heartwarming thing, and he was proud of it.

There was Labor Minister Gordon Churchill.

He never, for a moment, wavered.

These two men, who have never been really spectacular in Cabinet, but always could be counted on to do a quiet, competent job, emerged as leaders around whom the less certain and unsure could rally.

Starr and Monteith took their places at the ranks of the old captains like Gordon Churchill, Alvin Hamilton, Ellen Fairclough, Howard Green, Davie Fulton, the old campaigners from the long and dreary days of Opposition. They had stood together, a small band, when the Liberals held power and ruled the Parliament Hill roost. And they stood together again.

Whether they were right or wrong—whether their devoted to-the-last-man brand of loyalty was deserved or not—it was good to see.

The trust of such people must be something to be treasured. And in politics—these kind of politics anyway—such ploralty seems to be a rare and precious commodity.

Word Origin Is Lost Through Ages

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"I had the jitters the other day," said a friend, "and then I thought to myself what a wonderful word 'jitters' is, and I wondered how it got in the language."

Nobody really knows the origins of some of the most lively, descriptive words in English; they have no ancestry, and even no parentage; they simply appear one morning, like a real need, and persist in the body of standard language.

Just as the news dubbed kind of genealogist will set up a "family tree" for the newly rich, so will some philologists make up a phony ancestry for words of unknown origin. Indeed, the word "phony" is a prime example.

Nobody knows where it came from, or how it got into the language. Eric Partridge, the British etymologist, traces it back to Irish, Gaelic and Welsh to contradict him? But the truth is that nobody knows; it has been said to originate in "funny business," in "telephone," and in the name of a Mr. Phoney, who sold imitation jewelry. At any rate, "phony" has by now totally supplanted the old English "bogus."

It will surprise many that the word "quiz" is less than a century old, and is an utterly fabricated word. A showman in Dublin made a bet an editor that he could have the whole city talking about a new word overnight. He sent his men out to write "quiz" on walls and fences all over the city — and the next day everyone was asking "What is quiz?" And thus the word has come to mean a question of that sort.

In our own time, Gelett Burgess, the author is known for his quatrain "The Purple Cow" has invented two words that have become their way into permanent English — "blurb" and "bromide." It is extremely rare, however, that the coinage of a word can be credited to any individual. Shakespeare changed words, but didn't invent them.

Lewis Carroll, of course, gave us "chortle"; Thomas Huxley made up "agnostic"; Alexander Pope coined "sylph"; and there are only a handful of such others that we can be sure will stay in the language. But the commendation for the most imperishable word-coinage of the 20th century is Stephen Potter's "gamesmanship," which has in less than a dozen years fathered a whole family of "manship" words.

Red Dean Annoying

Manchester Guardian

The dean of Canterbury's decision to resign in May will end an extraordinary episode in contemporary history. For more than 30 years, one of the most conscientious positions in the Anglican Church has been occupied by a priest with an unbounded enthusiasm for the Communist world and all (or almost all) its works.

For nearly as long, an ecclesiastic who, whatever his aberrations, has certainly never lost his Christian faith, has been allowed and indeed encouraged to travel and speak freely in countries imposed the iron curtain, where his very presence made hay of the Marxist doctrine that religion is the opium of the people.

If a devout Christian can be a Communist, a devout Communist can be a Christian — such is the all-important conclusion which some of his hearers must have drawn from his frequent visits, from his speeches.

The Communist may have thought that they were getting good value for their tolerance, but there is no reason to think that his influence in this country drew many people from the narrow circle of the fellow-travellers. He annoyed far more people than he persuaded. But he did not annoy them to the point of persecuting him.

He has resigned at last, under no pressure but that of years. At 86, the most energetic of churchmen is wise to call it a day.

It is odd to think that Dr. Hewlett Johnson owed his preferment twice over to Ramsay MacDonald, who first chose him as dean of Manchester in 1924, and then as dean of Canterbury in 1931. The choice was in neither case absurd. Dr. Johnson was an admirable dean of Manchester, though already his advocacy of the social creed he professed suggested that his judgment was likely to be erratic outside the sphere of religion.

The deans interest in the Communist world was first stimulated when the Soviet Union refused to admit him as a visitor. He was a little piqued, and more curious; and curiously fed credulity to the point at which he could see nothing but good in all that the Russians or the Chinese could show him.

For a time his enthusiasm had its value; for there were too many people who, with equal credulity, refused to believe that anything of value at all could be found in Communist countries. Dr. Johnson came to take a more realistic view of the Communist world, his innocent enthusiasm was no longer to be old-fashioned too.

But he has kept his zest and his illusion intact in a skeptical world. He provokes a wondering admiration.

To Your Good Health

"Nervous Breakdowns" Imply Emotional Crises

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is a nervous breakdown serious? What causes it? Does it ruin one's health? Is hospitalization required?

Today's letter is a combination of several, with the writers asking similar questions.

Nervous breakdown is not a true medical term. It is a catch-all phrase. And sometimes, frankly, it is used because somebody is trying to hide the truth — why, I even know of some people who use "nervous breakdown" when the patient really has tuberculosis. Fantastic, isn't it?

But generally speaking, the term really means an emotional crisis. The patient is unable to cope with some problem or combination of them.

Physical ailments may contribute, and extreme fatigue is one notable condition which is reflected in emotional troubles. Sometimes, the cause must be good physical health, yet a "nervous breakdown."

Worry over a job, love or marriage, combined with worry or anxiety over any number of other things are among the frequent causes.

Type and length of treatment depend on the cause, but good nutrition and reassurance, along with helping the patient to look at his problems unemotionally, refuse to be panicked by them, will bring about end to many instances. There are, of course, some instances phychiatric care may be needed, possibly psychoanalysis

Once the patient overcomes his problems, or learns how to cope with them, he is then counted as recovered and problem will not arise in the trouble unless new pressures pile up on him.

When such a "nervous breakdown" patient is referred to a hospital, the inference is that the case is a psychosis, or deep-seated mental illness. "Nervous breakdown" is then too mild a term.

It is, in short, a means of avoiding the use of the term "mental illness." But avoiding the truth is no way to solve our problems.

When hospitalization is necessary, the extent of the illness is the all-important consideration sometimes only a few days or a few weeks are required to straighten out a case that has not been too-long neglected. On the other hand, some people require a long time before a case has gotten completely out of hand, and then there is far more danger that the patient may have to remain hospitalized for a long period of time.

As with physical illnesses, so with emotional or mental ones; the sooner they are treated, the greater the prospect of full, rapid recovery.

Dear Dr. Molner: As a sufferer from gout, I have been advised not to drink coffee because it contains purines. I am drinking a coffee substitute and wonder if that is safe for me. It is made from wheat. I have been told not to eat anything containing whole wheat.

Mrs. M.L.B.

Yes, the coffee substitute is safe. Your warning against whole wheat probably is because of its coarseness. This does not prevail in the "coffee" you drink.

B. N.: No vasectomy is not sterilization. It is an operation which prevents a man from fathering children. The result is not instantaneous; there is a lapse of time before it can be considered fully effective

Commercials Are Louder

Detroit Free Press

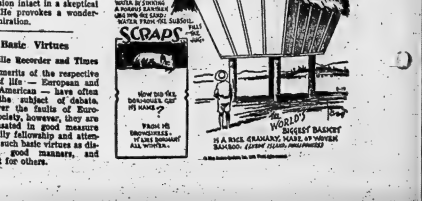
An expert has now confirmed what the television audience knew all along: Commercials are louder than the programs they interrupt.

David Lachenbruch, electronics expert, demolishes the scientific defense of the commercials in TV Guide.

TV engineers had pointed to "peak audio voltage" as proof that "double your pleasure" wasn't doubly so loud. Americans, who worship scientific explanations, tried to believe that TV pitchmen weren't louder. Maybe the maddening repetition just made them seem louder, they reasoned.

Their some analgesic promoter awakened the kids upstairs again, and unscientific common sense took over.

Lachenbruch brings science and common sense together. He points out that a constant high level of audio voltage, just inside the "peak" voltage, exists—and does—set up a din. He also revealed that the deliberate control techniques are used to punch up weaker passages.



Lachenbruch recommends that viewers complain to stations and sponsors. Such complaints might convince noisy peddlers that they are risking losing possible customers to an evening visit to a good book or a night at the movies.

Base metals stole the limelight Monday.

The base metal index—compiled from 15 leading issues—gained more than 1¼ points.

Trading interest centred around Noranda Mines as the stock traded nearly 20,000 shares. A specialized transaction of 27,500 shares at 22¾, worth a total volume of $800,625, accounted for the greater part of the volume.

Falconbridge was best among senior base metals with a gain of ⅛. International Nickel was ahead ¼ and Consolidated Mining and Smelter ⅛.

Weakness was general in the main list. Biggest loss of the day went to Canadian Westinghouse, down 2¼ at 26. Algoma Steel and Interprovincial Pipe Line each dropped ¾.

On index, industrials dropped .30 at 594.33, and western oils .03 to 114.53. Base metals climbed 1.31 at 198.73 and golds .02 to 93.57. Final volume was 3,845,000 shares compared with 3,906,000 Friday.

Hollinger led golds with a gain of ½ at 24¼.

City Manager Says Council Is Informed

The Belleville Public School Board should keep city council better informed before school accommodation requirements, according to Alderman Enos David.

Alderman David made the suggestion yesterday when a by-law for the borrowing of $250,000 for the construction of a 10-roomed addition to the Harry J. Clarke School came up for passing in council.

The alderman said in his opinion there should be more discussion between the school board and council on school requirements.

In fact it was felt that there should be more discussion by council with other boards in the city.

In particular the library board was mentioned, the alderman stating that he understood the board was considering the opening of a branch library in the east end of the city.

He suggested that it might be more economical to incorporate the proposed branch library with some school building in the area.

City Manager J. R. Reynolds pointed out however, that the public school board did keep council informed of its school accommodation needs and the reasons for required accommodation.

The cartoonist of the picture above is Paul Millard, 41 Henry St., who felt that the recent fires in the city and district deserved something more than the usual press reports.

The "Do It Now" blurb is just a hint to start a rebuilding program — but soon.

Mr. Millard has studied at the Ontario College of Art, Toronto, and hopes to develop his talent as a cartoonist by further study.

Air Cadets Allowed to Hold Tag Day

City Air Force Cadets will be granted the right to hold a "one shot" tag day in Belleville this year.

But the cadet corps was not granted the privilege without considerable discussion on the part of council.

Deputy Mayor Ben Clarke and Alderman Ellis said they were opposed to any additional tag days being granted, while Enos David said council should be to reduce the number of tag days, not increase them. All should be members of the United Appeal, it was felt.

But several other councillors including Mayor A. M. Haig, and aldermen Murray and Digby took a different view.

Mayor Haig said that all were aware that there were organizations on the United Appeal which should not be there. He said the Girl Guides had refused to be on the United Appeal because they wanted to be on their own.

It was pointed out that the air cadets were formerly sponsored by Quinte Secondary school but were now on their own.

Council granted them the right to hold a tag day for this year only.

City to Open Public Street In Subdivision

Members of the Park Dale Ratepayers' Association are going to get their wish for the opening of a street in the Jackson sub-division to allow children to walk to school without going a long distance out of their way.

Council yesterday accepted parts of certain lots in the area and they will be opened as a public street to be known as May Avenue.

The land will be transferred without charge to the city on condition that a sanitary sewer, waterboard and gravel road be constructed on the street allowance as a local improvement.

City Engineer W. C. Purcell told council that opening of the May Street extension was part of the suggested answer to the Park Dale request.

Council Hours Will Remain As Scheduled

Belleville city council has no thought of changing to evening meetings from the present policy of meeting in the late afternoon.

This was made clear yesterday when a motion by Alderman Les Digby calling for meetings to start at 7.30 instead of 4.30 was soundly defeated.

The only "yea" votes were cast by Alderman Digby and Alderman Jack Allin who seconded the motion.

In support of his motion Alderman Digby said evening meetings would be much more convenient for members of delegations and other ratepayers who might wish to attend council sessions.

And he felt that council members should hold meetings at a time most convenient for residents, not for the convenience of council members.

Alderman Frank Murray opposed any change from the present time.

COULD CHANGE TIME

He suggested that if members of delegations were being inconvenienced a time for hearing such delegations could be changed for later in council meetings.

Alderman Allin said 4.30 p.m. was a suitable time for him to attend meetings but said a number of ratepayers had requested him to ask for a change to evening meetings.

He did feel, however, that with afternoon meetings there was a tendency to hurry council business as the six o'clock "steak time" neared.

"Frankly, however, I don't think the motion will carry," he said.

It didn't.

BATTING ON THIN ICE

DARTFORD, England (CP)—An adventurous band of Kent cricketers decided to stage a match on a frozen lake near here. All went well until there was an ominous crack and the square leg fielder disappeared through the ice.

Road Through Fair Grounds Being Sought by Council

A special committee of Aldermen Ross Bailey, Joseph Hayecroft and Jack Ireland has been named by city council to meet with the board of parks management to discuss the opening of Sidney Street through the Belleville Fair Grounds.

Members of the Belleville Fair Board will also sit in on the discussion.

According to Ald. Jack Allin opening of Sidney Street through the fair grounds was first discussed in council ten or twelve years ago, but nothing was done about it.

The move was recommended in a traffic survey report received by the city a year or so ago.

Ald. Ireland intimated that there would be "violent" opposition to the move from the parks board, but Ald. Allin said opening of the street through the fairgrounds was "essential."

"At the CNE in Toronto there is a public street through the grounds and they merely close the road off during the exhibition," he said.

Kinsmen Here Celebrate Club's Thirtieth Birthday

Over 85 Kinsmen, their wives, (many of them Kinettes), and special guests gathered at the Shrine Club on Highland Ave. Monday evening to celebrate the Belleville Kinsmen Club's 30th anniversary and to mark National Kin Week and the 43rd birthday of Kin.

L. C. Lawson, public relations officer for the Aluminum Company of Canada, at Kingston, spoke on "Life Is Like a Race," comparing the hardships and pitfalls of life with a footrun race.

"Life is like a race because it is difficult to run" he said. "In Greek" said the speaker, "agons means contest, from which we get our word agony; running a race is agonizing, in spite of what Bruce Kidd said the other night on television".

He explained when he was a member of the first British Empire team running a race was agonizing because "it demands so much of the man to run a race".

Mr. Lawson went on to tell of a young man he knew several years ago named Greg Rice, a well known runner all over the world. Rice washed dishes at a university he attended to pay for his university tuition and he used to go to the race track each night after he commuted and run around and around the track carrying a flashlight and his mate standing at the finish line with a lantern.

"Success in life also demands certain things," he said.

"Life is like a race because the conditions of success are similar in each".

The speaker was introduced by Kin Charlie Grose and thanked on behalf of the Kinsmen Club by Win Don Schatz.

Head table guests were introduced by President Rolly Belanger and included Mayor A. M. Haig and Mrs. Haig, Kin and Mrs. Adam Stalker, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bellian, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Lawson, Kin Governor Ken Thompson and Mrs Thompson, Mrs. J. R. Belanger and Mr. Bill McIntosh.

NATIONAL PRESIDENT HERE

National President Walter Bellian, of Brampton, was given an civic welcome on behalf of the city by Deputy Mayor Ben Clarke who also extended his greetings and best wishes to the club.

The city guest book was presented by city clerk Adam Stalker to the mayor, to be signed by the national president, Mr. Bellian.

Mr. Bellian addressed the club and expressed his appreciation at being able to attend such an occasion.

A cheque for $1,500 was presented to the mayor by Kin Terry Bender, for the donature on the Kinsmen swimming pool.

A toast was proposed to the ladies by Kin Mac White and replied to by Mrs. Norma Bacon. A toast to the Association of Kiwanis Clubs by Kin Don Bacon was responded to by National President Walter Bellian. A toast to all of the past presents by Kin Don Boyce was responded to by E. Colbourne.

A review of the history of the Kinsmen Club of Belleville was given by Bill McIntosh, the first president of the Kinsmen Club in Belleville in 1933.

Dancing followed the banquet and addresses.

Dale Carnegie Graduates Hold Dinner-Dance

On the evening of February 14, at the Knights of Columbus Hall, a dinner and dance was held for 23 Dale Carnegie graduates.

Following the president's address, each student introduced himself and his guests. Don Williams, graduate assistant, gave the instruction to the graduates, to which Ralph Morton responded, expressing appreciation to the graduate assistants and instructors.

It is interesting to note that Miss Baverstock, who is blind, was given a scholarship for the course, by the Dale Carnegie Organization. This is done in each class, so that the blind student may get back into his own organization and further the development of good human relations.

Stan Dier voiced the appreciation of the class to Don Dean, who took notes for his work in compiling this book, which will be treasured for years to come.

Representatives, Harry and Margaret Hall, were introduced by Jim Weitz. Mr. Hutt addressed the graduating class on the importance of being able to speak in public.

A sing-song, violin solo, and two humorous readings were provided over by entertainment chairman, John Kite.

Bea and Bob Williamson, square dance specialists, led a demonstration in square and round dancing which was enjoyed for the remainder of the evening.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Harriet F. - A tenant in my building is making my life miserable.

Mr. I. B. - I won't put her out on just Miss E's word.

Harriet F. — There's a woman in the house where I reside whose actions are abominable. She's in the room next to mine and she has the irritating habit of slamming her door with all the strength she can summon. It's the same with the bathroom door in the hall.

We also share the use of the kitchen and the refrigerator with three other women on the same floor. I'm only there for one meal a day, in the afternoon, and I try to be out of there when she reaches home. Now I learn that someone stole her chicken from the icebox and she has been blaming me! Nobody likes her. The other roomers and I have spoken to the landlord about her, but he says we must try to get along.

Mr. I. B. — The caretaker of my building lives on the premises and he claims the this is just a hen fight. He says the others are used to it, but Miss F. is only there a few months and doesn't understand that life in a rooming house isn't the same as having a private home.

The woman she complains most about has been my tenant for almost four years now. True, she has a few eccentricities, but who hasn't? She's close to 70 and when she slams those doors, either they slip out of her hands or she forgets because she's wrapped in her thoughts. She once told me that she lost two close members of her family at the hands of Hitler.

Instead of fighting with her, Miss F. should approach her in a nice way and be friends.

The Council — There are four ways which come to mind on how Miss F. might handle her feud with the lady in the next room: 1) Speak to her nicely, incr. 2) Move, 3) Fight, or 4) Get her to move. We gather from Miss F.'s lengthy bill of particulars (sharply trimmed above) that she's tried all except the most important one — the first!

She's looked for other quarters but finds her present home comfortable in terms of the modest pension check she must live off and make do with. So she can't move. We'll bet she's been doing her own fair share of door-slamming in retaliation, to show her neighbor now it feels. And certainly she's aimed a few tongue-lashings at this troublesome co-tenant. Now she's campaigning to get her evicted.

But there's no evidence that she's tried the simple human approach of asking the lady to "live and let live." As long as these all-alone women are destined to share the same roof, they might as well turn it into a small-scale U.N., with every effort made to smooth over differences. In this case the landlord, Mr. B., (or the caretaker) might do a little more diligently to fill the role of a mediator and peacemaker a la Ralph Bunche. Without threats or accusations, he might offer to listen open-mindedly to the "facts" on both sides and then attempt to ease the tension-fraught situation.

In the event, however, that Miss F.'s position is just, that she is the victim of an irresponsible and malicious tenant, then she can seek legal redress. If all peaceable approaches fail, she can go to a lawyer for Legal Aid, or directly to her District Attorney. She can file suit under a charge such as harassment, breach of peace, creating a disturbance. But here is important caution: She must be sure of her facts, and have corroborating evidence. Else this step may boomerang painfully, with the accused neighbor filing a complaint against Miss F. for false arrest!

For tomorrow, Miss F., invite the lady in for a chicken dinner. (1).

Unique Hotel Found At University

By XENA CHERRY

One of the most interesting hotels anywhere — in fact, it is unique in the world, cost 3½ million dollars, never advertises and has only 36 rooms. The service is wonderful and the bellhop who carried your bags might come from Guatemala where his father owns the biggest hotel. The food is the best eat cuisine I've ever had and in the dining room your waiter explains he comes from Holland where he intends to return and start his own hotel which will be a real Dutch treat.

Rates are $6, single and up, $16, double. It is called Statler Inn and is on the campus of Cornell University in Ithica, N.Y. It is, in fact, physically attached to the Cornell University School of Hotel Administration. Enter the main lobby and you see lecture rooms, laboratories, administrative offices. Enter the hotel lobby and you are in the lobby of a luxury inn — two richly decorated lounges and a quiet reading room on the main floor. On the second floor is the main dining room, and on the third and fourth floors are the bedrooms with baths, running ice water, radios — and free morning paper.

Cornell is the only university which offers a degree in hotel administration which has a large full-time staff, and, a practice hotel.

The school was started in 1922 with money left for the project by Ellsworth M. Statler who founded the Statler Hotels system, unsurpassed in his time. The hotel was built just 12 years ago and named Statler Inn, after this famed hotelier. The first year there were only 25 students. Now the staff is more than that and there are 375 students. Entrance requirements are strict; only about 12 per cent. of applicants each year are accepted. It is a four-year course — there are now 2,000 alumni. Tuition is $712 per year and there are scholarships available. (C).

Japanese Sukiyaki

by Mary Moore

As I announced last week Sukiyaki would be our foreign recipe this week.

Frankly this is a novelty. Folks in our rural areas may not be able to buy the purely Japanese vegetables. (Although anyone who puts her mind to it can grow bean sprouts. I did.) His charm lies in the delicious fry but and crisply vegetables, the succulence of the sizzling hot steak, and the manner of serving.

My cousin Irene was visiting us and because she lived for several years in Tokyo and is a cook par excellence, I asked her to preside over our sukiyaki production for it was Peady's birthday and we were making a party of it. Besides those qualifications she is as merry as a lark and fun to be with in the kitchen.

This meal was started with clear soup called Dashi no Moto made from packages of dried seaweed and fish which was brewed a little while then strained through cheesecloth and reheated. This was delicious.

Japanese Sukiyaki (pronounced ski-yaki) is a stew, but it is a stew with such a differences that it is hard to recognize it as such. All of the ingredients are very quick-cooking ones. See for yourself.

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

Casserole of Chicken Legs with Mushroom Soup Sauce; Potato Croquettes; Green Beans; Shredded Chinese Lettuce and Wafer-Thin Cucumber Salad with Olive Mayonnaise; Peach Crisp; Tea.

JAPANESE SUKIYAKI
(to serve 6)

1½ to 2 lbs. tender beef-steak slices thin (¼") (see note), cut into oblongs about 1½" x 3"; 1 lb. spinach; ¼ lb. large mushrooms; ¼ lb. sticks that Irene provided.
(or 1 can) bean sprouts; 1 large Spanish onion, sliced paper thin; 1 can water chestnuts; 1 can bamboo shoots; ¾ cup soy sauce (add water to dilute if desired); 1 teaspoon sugar; 1 cube tofu (see note).

NOTES: 1) Tofu is a by-product of making soy sauce — a white curd that is valued for its capacity to absorb the soy sauce flavor and to add another protein to the sukiyaki. 2) The butcher frozs a rolled Porterhouse roast for me so he could slice it on the electric saw bacon-thin. 3) All of these ingredients may be bought in Japanese (or Chinese) supply stores and in most foreign food sections of supermarkets.

Prepare all vegetables. Wash spinach, scrub and slice mushrooms thinly, wash bean sprouts (or strain if canned) and slice bamboo shoots and water chestnuts paper-thin and peel and slice onion.

Simply this is made at the table, every ingredient neatly arranged on separate platters on the third and fourth floors and cook — pulling into a central brazier containing a charcoal fire (or electric frying pan) the portions of meat and vegetables he likes. In the pan the fat cut from the beef has been "tried" out first. To this is added the sugar and about ¼ cup soy sauce. When bubbling, add some of all ingredients to fill pan, then toss them over high heat until vegetables are wilted and hot but still crisp and the thin meat is seared. Serve at once over fluffy boiled rice, spooning some hot sauce from pan over each portion. Pass more soy sauce.

NOTE: We cooked ours in the kitchen. Irene made 2 panfuls at my stove, then transferred them to the chafing dish which we heated with sterno. Then we called the guests to dinner. Irene made more batches until all of our ingredients were used and we were full. This took time for we ate with chopsticks that Irene provided.

Scientist Building Robot To Do Wife's Chores

LONDON (AP) — A British scientist is working on a robot which might be developed to take over a housewife's routine chores.

Prof. Meredith W. Thring is leading a team at Sheffield University developing a robot firewatcher to prowl large buildings. He says:

"We are not thinking of a robot to put out oil well fires. This would be like a small self-propelled tank carrying a three-ton plug to drop into the top of the oil well.

"A third generation robot might clean factory floors at night. Eventually — say in about 10 years—I hope there will be a robot housemaid about as intelligent as a monkey and costing the same as a small auto."

The professor, 47, has held government scientific posts and won several awards. He has built a device which will walk upstairs.

COSTLY JOB

For the mechanical housemaid, Thring says:

"Most of the techniques already exist. A lot of experimental development would be needed—but no more expensive than trying to land a man on the moon and much more useful.

"The modern housewife has plenty of appliances to help her, but she still has to work the appliances. She is still working harder than the middle-class housewife of a few generations ago because she has no servants.

"The robot housemaid would be designed to take charge of existing home appliances such as dishwashers, vacuum cleaners, polishers and cookers."

It would find its way around by an electronic memory storing a map of the house or by electric guide wires under the floor-coverings.

It might derive its strength from compressed air, in which case it would simply repair from time to time to a nozzle to charge up its air bottle. Or if worked from a battery it could plug itself into an electric socket and recharge its power pack, said Thring.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

QUESTION: Would you please write a family argument about sending thank-you cards for gifts received at a shower? Half of the family says it's not necessary to send notes if you thank people in person, but the other half says that even though you say thank-you, you still have to send a note. Please tell me who is correct. Thank you.—Mrs. A. M., Chicago, Ill.

ANSWER: You both are. Strictly speaking, a note is not absolutely necessary when the donor is thanked in person for a gift. But I also agree with the other side of the family that a note should be sent, if possible. Sometimes, at a party, the thank-yous seem a bit watered-down in the general hubbub and excitement. A note, in addition, adds warmth and emphasis.

QUESTION: Which is the proper way to eat soup — dipping in and working the spoon away from or towards you. — Streator, Ill.

ANSWER: Soup is spooned away from the diner. If the bowl can be tipped, the same direction is followed.

Canadian Fashion & Fad

BY pegg rogers

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY FOR FEBRUARY

Right now, most of Eastern Canada is still gripped in winter's icy claw. We are huddled into heavy winter coats; our feet are encased in awkward rubbers or overshoes. The bright new fashions we bought last fall are beginning to lose their bloom. We are somewhat fed up with fur hats, wool dresses and dark colors.

Our faces are dry from alternate exposure to cold winds and overheated homes and offices. Head colds are almost an epidemic and there are more cases of flu than we would care to count. Granted the days are getting longer, if you get up early enough in the morning to notice the change. But anyway you look at it, it is still winter. Ahead, is, at least, another month of Arctic gales and snowstorms before we can expect the first signs of spring.

Rather than just endure the next four weeks, there are a few things we can do to break through to an early spring. We can, for example, look at the new spring hats. The very sight of all those wonderful colors is a cure for drooping spirits. Red never looks more cheerful than in February, especially in one of the new Flamenco sailors — to be worn well down on the head. Yellow is everywhere in all types of chapeaux. Even black looks new because it shines in sleek bowlers that are high-crowned and mysteriously veiled.

Speaking of hats and heads, February is a good time for a new hairdo? A new hair style and permanent can do as much for the way you feel, as a whole new wardrobe. Add a new lipstick in a fresh, new shade too.

This is also the time to review your collection of last spring's clothes. Take a critical look at your coat. How many seasons have you worn it? If it is a dark color, does it look rusty under a strong light? Should it be altered, shortened, relined, etc? Apply this same scrutiny to everything you own including those dead-heads which hung all last spring on their hangers, unloved and unworn. What is wrong with them? Too tight? Old-fashioned? Can they be salvaged? If they've had it, why let them clutter up your closet?

List what is left by color including everything you own — hats, gloves, handbags and shoes along with coats, suits, dresses etc. Unless you have been planning your fashion buying for several years, you will probably end up with a list of unco-ordinated items. Black coats do not look well with navy suits and brown gloves go with nothing in this assortment. Study your list and you will see that a little planning will not only save you money, but you will be better dressed.

Women's Institutes

CHATTERTON W.I.

The February meeting of the Chatterton W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Floyd MacInnes with an attendance of 12 members, one visitor, and three children. The president, Mrs. L. Reid, opened the meeting.

Community singing was enjoyed and the words for the new Institute song are to be typed and ready for the March meeting. The treasurer gave a report and business was dealt with. It was decided to hold the meetings on Wednesday beginning with the May meeting.

Mrs. L. Reid read a poem, "The World Is In Mine." Mrs. Finkle, the convener, gave a most interesting account of the Faulkner farm on the 8th concession of Sidney township. This farm was bought as Crown land and has been in the Faulkner name ever since. At the present time Mr. and Mrs. Fred Faulkner and their son Harry reside there. This is one of the landmarks of the community. This paper was prepared by Mr. Harry Faulkner.

Mrs. Dixon gave a talk on the historical government of Australia. Mrs. MacInnes gave Current Events and a reading, "The Almanacs vs. D.D.T."

A social time followed and the hostesses and assistants served lunch.

College Hill U.C.W. Plan Turkey Supper

The afternoon unit of College Hill U.C.W. held their meeting in the church on Wednesday afternoon. The unit leader Mrs. A. Dickens opened the meeting with the theme hymn and a cordial welcome to all. Roll call to be answered by sick calls showed 16 members present reporting 16 calls made. There were 4 visitors present.

Business was taken care of and the date of the annual bazaar key supper was discussed. Wednesday March 6 was suggested and the representatives of the unit on the committee were to recommend this date at their meeting. The committee met following the meeting and the proposed date was set for the supper.

The devotional period in charge of Mrs. Dickens followed the theme of "God the Creator". The Scripture was read by Mrs. H. Clarke. Mrs. D. Hunter gave the meditation which led to the conclusion the following paragraph: "there are countless people who do not know, or do not believe that the loving God is the Creator. We have good news to share with such people. In a day like ours when so many people are afraid of the present and fearful of the future, we have an obligation to let it be known far and wide that God the Lord is the Creator, that He created the world in love, and that His loving purpose in creation will be realized." Mrs. Hunter ended the meditation with prayer. Mrs. Dickens gave a reading and turned the meeting over to Mrs. Vessey for the Bible Study period.

The quotations used for the Bible Study which was most interesting and informative, were close an explosive whistle.

taken from Chapter 2 of "The Word and The Way" written by Dr. Mathers, a professor of Theology at Emmanuel College in Kingston, and which deals with the subject "God the Creator". During the discussion one realized what a pity it is that there is a scientific force at work in the world trying to run down the Christian doctrine that God alone created the world.

Following the study period the ladies retired to the church hall for a social half hour. At this time Mrs. Dickens conducted a Bible quiz with Mrs. C. Bailey having the most correct answers.

A delicious lunch was served by Meadames R. Vessey and H. Clarke carrying out the Valentine theme and brought a very interesting and informative, were close an explosive whistle.

Three Aspects Of 'Love' Given At Melrose

Mrs. Roy McLaren was hostess in the February meeting of Melrose United Church Women, with a large attendance.

Mrs. Grant McLaren, president, conducted the worship service, based on the 23rd psalm. After the singing of the hymn "The Lord is My Shepherd," Mrs. Newton Denille read the Psalm and Mrs. John English led in prayer.

In the meditation, Mrs. McLaren said, "We are likened to sheep. As the shepherd in the time of Christ guided those of his sheep so the Lord thinks only of us. David gave us this lyric of perfect trust and it will sing on forever. There is a new problem for our faith now as we become aware of a larger universe than the ancients were. Yet, we can have the same assurance as David had that 'the Lord is Our Shepherd' even if it seems sometimes as if science has stolen away our Lord. If God was with men of former days, He is with us now. The Shepherd's Psalm still assures us of this."

Mrs. Jack McLaren as program convener, presented a resume of the chapter "Love," taken from "The Word and the Way." Love is a word that is badly over-worked. In English it has an amazing range of meanings.

The Greeks used three words

"If we borrow them we will get a clearer meaning of this word 'Love'. The first 'Phil' is"—the love of friendship; 'Eros,' love of desire, and of aspiration, 'Agape', compassionate love."

"Philia is love between equals, as in friendship or between friends. It has sometimes been called 'economic love', but it is more and we need it. In the Bible we have the example of David and Jonathan. The love of God can not be called Philia, because God has no equal. However, in what Jesus means when He said, 'Love your neighbor.'

EROS—ROMANCE

"Eros may lead to romance, or it may lead to the criminal courts as in the case of a young man blaming love for the murder of his girl friend. Perhaps this love is the need." This is not wrong, for, if properly channelled, these needs provide the natural basis for a family. Pagan religions pictured their gods as having this kind of love. The God who made this world has no such needs, and has no connection with Eros love. The second meaning of Eros love, the love of aspiration, is the upreach of the mind for truth, goodness or God, may be the foundation for religion, and indeed, religions have been founded on this ideal.

"With the coming of Jesus, a new concept of love was brought to the people. 'For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son' and 'This is my commandment, that ye love one another, as I have loved you.' This is 'Agape,' Christian love. This is the love of the true God, who has compassion for His people, one who follows them with love and care and forgives them again and again; one who will never let them go. God does not wait for men to earn this love. It comes to us even if we are not worthy and have not earned it.

"Christianity has reversed its views from ancient times. God's love comes to us and our response to God and our compassion towards others comes from this. So we believe that God is a God of love. When

W.C.C. Hears Talk On "Image of Canada Abroad"

With the weather somewhat milder a good crowd was in attendance at Queen Alexandra School, last evening when Miss Violet P. King, noted analyzer of foreign opinion concerning Canadians, gave a most interesting and informative address to the Women's Canadian Club.

Miss King, who was introduced by Club president, Mrs. J. H. Forrester, is a native of Calgary and graduated from the University of Alberta, with B.A. and L.L.D. degrees. At the present, she specializes in programs with young adults in the field of human relations.

She based her talk on "The Citizen and the Image of Canada Abroad" and dealt in general with the impressions given by Canadians at home and abroad, and in particular, with the World Assembly of Youth Conference held in Denmark in 1962. Miss King and three other delegates represented Canada at this event. After discussion with various groups from other countries and their impressions of the Canadians, it was revealed that Canadians seem to have a fantastic sense of inferiority and this should be overcome.

YOUNG ADULT PROJECTS

Miss King is on the Citizenship Council and is now experimenting with the formation of projects in connection with young adults in the 18-35 age group. She expressed the belief that leading young adults become more interested in international affairs and also listed the six categories of youth groups; who send delegates abroad. These are religious groups; student groups; young workers' groups; community service groups; and finally groups of ethnic groups (various nationalities).

The speaker stated that Canadian delegates in attending conferences in other countries (and there are 500 such meetings each year) are good observers but do not participate as actively as they should.

In dealing with the World Assembly of Youth meeting held in Denmark, Miss King introduced the visual picture which other delegates had of Canadians. At this conference Canada was represented by four delegates from the National of the students' council of Queen's University, who spoke with a decidedly British accent; an Australian girl with her native accent; a boy from Northern Quebec of Irish descent, who was bilingual, and Miss King, a Negress. This amazed the other delegates as they did not expect to see representatives as Canadian and thought all Canadians were bilingual.

Here, in an international setting these four Canadians represented and, to the speaker's surprise, she found that the majority of these delegates were not too friendly toward Americans and they seemed to have the impression that the Americans were more or less tied to the Americans.

In sending a Canadian group abroad, Miss King felt that the ideal group to send would be a well-informed about the particular group which they represent; about the problems of Canadian Government; also about current national issues, also about true Canadian attitudes and of the Canadian stand concerning these.

Another particularly important item on the agenda at the conference was a discussion on Democracy versus Communism and the speaker explained that she was taking something to find that Canadians generally do not perfy define the meaning of democracy, perhaps because this has been a way of life taken for granted. Canada as a democratic country needs representatives who understand the democratic system clearly, and who can explain it to others at international assemblies.

Miss King, while at the conference in Denmark, gave an invitation, on behalf of Canada to have the international convention held in Canada to celebrate its centennial in 1967.

The speaker concluded her talk by stating that with travel in foreign countries by Canadians becoming increasingly easier and more popular and more frequent visitors from other countries to Canada, a great deal more 'contact would be

Farm Experts Not Unduly Alarmed Over Crop Damage From Severe Winter in U.K.

By ROD CURRIE

LONDON (CP)—British farm experts, who have only skimpy evidence so far, do not appear greatly alarmed about the amount of crop damage caused by the most severe winter this century.

But they say the extent of the damage will not be known until after the big thaw, and admit it may be worse than they now expect.

Some authorities say the unusual deep freeze may bring some blessings in fertilizing the land, killing pests and bringing on a fast-blooming Canadian type spring.

Potatoes and other root vegetables are in good supply so far and prices range from average to perhaps slightly higher than usual for this time of year.

Hardest hit have been Brussels sprouts, parsnips and similar crops which winter in the fields and have been severely attacked by birds, particularly wood pigeons cut off from their usual food supplies by the heavy snow.

WORRY OVER FEED

The Farmers Union says there is worry that livestock feed may run short before pastures are fit for grazing. The union now is conducting a survey of supplies on hand.

Many tons of the year's supply of fodder were used up during the worst weeks of the winter to feed animals brought in out of the storms of blizzards and to stranded livestock, particularly sheep.

The agriculture department says one of the major worries is that field work is virtually at a standstill in large areas buried under several feet of snow. Little or no winter plowing has been done.

Outer Seven Plan to End Industrial Tariffs in '66

GENEVA (Reuters) — Ministers of the European Free Trade Association (EFTA) today approved a program aimed at ending industrial tariffs inside their seven - nation trade bloc in 1966—a year ahead of the European Common Market.

The tariff slash is part of an action plan for strengthening the group known as the Outer Seven, following the failure of Britain to obtain membership in the six-nation Common Market.

A communique issued by the ministers of the EFTA nations —Britain, Switzerland, Austria, Portugal, Norway, Sweden and Denmark — said the group agreed on the broad lines of the organization's future development.

It had told EFTA experts to prepare a program to be put into effect the next council meeting May 9 and 10 in Lisbon, Portugal.

The communique said the mandate extended to all fields of action covered by the Stockholm convention which set up EFTA.

It particularly included a revision of the timetable for tariff cuts "providing for the more rapid dismantlement of tariffs with their final elimination during 1966."

Observers said the plan to dismantle all its own industrial tariffs sometime in 1966 means the group will have beaten the Common Market—which is not scheduled to demolish all its barriers until 1967—unless the Market accelerates its own program.

Vitamin Use By Healthy Said Absurd

HAMILTON (CP) — The idea of healthy people taking vitamins is ridiculous, says a Hamilton specialist in internal medicine.

Dr. W. M. Goldberg, giving a lecture on "The use and abuse of drugs," said:

"One of the greatest abuses has been along the lines of vitamins. "I think vitamins have been fabulously abused and the people who manufacture them have catered to this abuse."

Vitamins have been fabulously valuable in correcting deficiency diseases, such as scurvy and pellagra in the southern United States, he said.

"But no one has ever proved that an excess of vitamins is good for you. If the average Canadian or American is suffering from a lack of vitamins, I'll eat the wall. I absolutely refuse to recommend vitamins to anyone unless they have been through some debilitating illness."

Dr. Goldberg was giving the first of a series of 10 lectures sponsored by the Workers' Educational Association in Hamilton. He is head of medicine at St. Joseph's Hospital.

INVITED TO GHANA

K-W Record Wins Award For Typography

CHICAGO (CP)—The Kitchener-Waterloo (Ont.) Record was named today first-prize winner in the Inland Daily Press Association's annual typography contest for papers with circulations between 25,000 and 75,000.

Entries totalled 246 in this 34th annual competition, sponsored by the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University of Chicago and Evanston, Ill.

Of the winners, the judges said:

"They knew what effects they wanted and set out methodically to achieve them. Foremost in the winners' minds must have been an effort to make the news easy to read. They did this by creating clean - appearing, orderly, well - balanced papers which used a minimum of tricks and typographical devices. . . . They paid attention to balance and tended to avoid top - heaviness."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The navy says Polaris submarine crews have withstood the stresses of living submerged for two months at a time without suffering a single mental crackup.

It said today reports of Polaris patrols in the North Atlantic ever more than two years "do not reveal that any men had been removed from the crews for psychiatric reasons."

Navy doctors said "all indications are that the mental health of these crews is reasonably good and remained so throughout the submerged patrols."

Polaris subs have been patrolling the north Atlantic since November, 1960. Each boat has two crews of 120 men each with alternate six undervater patrols lasting 60 or 65 days at a stretch.

as men dedicated to the communication of ideas, whether by words, or paint, or music."

It is not only in the intrinsic value, but also in the quality of their expression that the creative efforts of these men are known. By their manner they have helped to imbue the Canadian people with a sense of purpose, an ambition towards better criteria," he said.

Referring to Mr. Brockington as Dear Brock" Gen. Vanier called him the master orator among us tonight."

PRAISES BROADCASTS

The 74-year - old rector of Queen's University was praised in the citation that accompanied his medal for his radio broadcasts during the second World War when he reported to the country on the activities of the Canadian forces. At that time he was a special assistant to Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Among his other accomplishments, Mr. Brockington was recognized for contributions as the first chairman of the board of governors of the CBC, as a lecturer in law at the University of Alberta and as a member of Canadian delegations abroad.

The citation described him as a man who has days . . . devoted himself, because of natural bias and intellectual conviction, to the arts and humanities."

Dr. Champagne, 71-year-old native of Montreal, was lauded as a "master perhaps without equal in our country, for the clarity and equilibrium of his orchestral writing."

IN A NEW WAY

Dr. Klenier, 77, was one of the original Group of Seven. His citation said that by his painting, he had taught Canadians to see this country in a new way."

Replying to the citations, Mr. Brockington said no country to day needed the enthusiasm that the arts can stimulate more than did Canada.

While thankful for the Canada Council's recognition, he urged that everything possible be done for the encouragement of the younger generation. While it is fine to give old gentlemen a pat on the back, those "on the way up" needed it even more. DOUGLAS—para 2—22

cise—but it might be the Syncom."

The cameras are focused on the spot where the satellite kicked into orbit and another spot 180 degrees around the world, the NASA official explained, while there may be some false alarms, chances of eventually locating Syncom are good.

Also being used — but with only a slim chance of success, he said—is the radar apparatus of the North American Air Defence Command.

WHAT THEN?

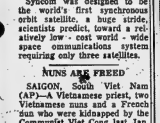
What happens when Syncom is found, if it hasn't fallen apart by that time?



The least NASA is hoping for is information of the kind of orbit the satellite achieved, the spokesman said. This alone would be helpful to future attempts.

The most to be hoped for is that scientists will be able to beam a signal at the satellite and command it back into action as if nothing had ever happened.

Syncom was designed to be the world's first synchronous orbit satellite, a huge stride, scientists predict, toward a relatively low - cost world - wide space communications system requiring only three satellites.

NUNS ARE FREED

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A Vietnamese priest, two Vietnamese nuns and a French nun who were kidnapped by the Communist Viet Cong last Jan. 23 were freed in good condition Sunday, the South Viet Nam press reported Monday.

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and poisons remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, "tired-out" feeling often follows. It's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 44

Income Tax Explained

A column designed and written for the working persons, who are not in a position to employ the services of a professional accountant or visit an Income Tax Office.

By C. A. MILLER
Former Supervising Assessor
Income Tax Dept.

Each year there are many taxpayers who are entitled to a greater personal exemption than what they have claimed on their return. This applies to single persons, widows and widowers. In some cases it will apply to persons married in the taxation year and whose spouse continues to be employed.

If a single persons supports a parent in a self-contained domestic establishment, they may claim an equivalent to married status ($1,000) on such parent. If both parents are supported the $1000 exemption is only applicable to one of them. The other may only be claimed to the extent of the normal exemption allowable.

It is not necessary that the taxpayer reside with the parents. As long as the taxpayer fully supports them in a dwelling, the claim will be allowed.

Paying their board in a boarding or rooming house will not qualify them for an equivalent to married status. It must be a self-contained dwelling.

A widow or widowers supporting a child receives the equivalent to married ($1,000) on one child and the normal $500 exemption for each child. In these cases it is not necessary to maintain a home to get this allowance.

The child may be anywhere, either in or out of the country. All that is required, is that the taxpayer support the child. This will also apply to a widow supporting children whose husband became deceased in the taxation year.

A single person who was married in the taxation year and had an equivalent to married exemption prior to their marriage, may retain that exemption in the year of marriage only, if it is to the taxpayer's advantage.

In the case of a male taxpayer who has claimed $1000 on his wife in the year of marriage he could only claim the normal allowance on dependant he supported before marriage.

The writer will answer an inquiry received provided a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply is enclosed. Such envelopes should have a five-cent stamp attached.

Question No. 1.—Before my marriage, I supported my mother and was allowed a total of $2000 exemption. I did not work after marriage. I earned $1520 before marriage. My husband has supported my mother since we were married. What are our exemptions?

Answer.—You are still allowed to claim your mother as you supported her before your marriage, in addition to the adult dependants exemption allowance.

Question No. 2.—I supported my mother before marriage and was allowed a $2,000 exemption. I was married in 1962 and my wife does not work. Can I claim a $1,000 exemption on each of them.

Answer.—No. You claim $1000 for your wife and the normal adult exemption on your mother.

the Upper Canada Law Society.

The legal profession has been faced with this problem in increasing measures during the past few years, particularly in Ontario," Mr. Cass said.

Mr. Whicher said lawyers now paid $35 annually into a fund to compensate victims of dishonest lawyers and it was quite possible this annual contribution would have to be increased to $50 or $200.

Lawyer Elmer Sopha (L—Sudbury) commented: We are in fact our brother's keeper. We accept his default."

He said that if bonding was introduced in the law professions, the bonding companies could then decide who shall practice law in Ontario."

He suggested classes in law schools be reduced to 200 to 250 students because you would then have a good chance of finding them (dishonest lawyers) out in the classroom."

HITS LEWD MAGAZINES

The possibility that lewd magazines may be a basic reason behind a shocking" number of violent crimes by teen-agers was suggested by Mr. Sopha. He said the possibility of such a relationship should be investigated.

Leo Troy (L—Nipissing) had earlier said the absolute filth of some magazines available to tees-agers in Ontario would almost make you retch."

Mr. Troy said in many cases teen-agers were becoming distributors of filthy books and magazines.

Mr. Cass said bingo games conducted for individual profit or as a commercial enterprise are open to prosecution, but charitable, service clubs or other charitable organizations would not be prosecuted for holding an occasional bingo game.

He agreed that having wide-open bingo towns next to others where bingo was banned was not a happy" situation. Both police and his department believed bingo laws should be uniform across the province.

LAWS NOT UNIFORM

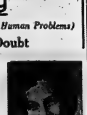
Mr. Belanger (L—Windsor-Sandwich) had charged bingo laws are not uniform in Ontario and raffles were allowed in some towns, but not in Windsor."

Mr. Cass told Donald C. MacDonald, New Democratic Party leader, holding charges against 19 independent loggers charged with non - capital murder in the Kapuskasing bushworkers' strike had been essential for their own safety" and to enforce the law.



He said the men had originally been charged with shooting with intent to wound while further investigations were carried out.

I disapprove of holding charges as an expedient, but there are times when a nominal, or holding charge, 'must be laid,'" Mr. Cass said.

Deep in Debt and Doubt

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—We are heavily in debt. My husband does not want me to work again because we have seen so many children wandering around the apartments waiting for their parents to come home from work.

I have written to the child care agency to try and get two children to mind, but they want me to go into town to fill out an application. I could only go in on Saturday and I don't think there is anyone working that day.

Should my husband leave his job for one not on shifts, so that he could take the bus? Should we go into more debt for yet another car? Move back to the city and high rents? We need your advice.—MARRIED TEN YEARS.

DEAR MARRIED—It's a tough one. Quitting a ten-year-job is risky. Moving to town expensive and undesirable. More debt would be depressing.

Foster parenting calls for an extra special way with children—and is not taken on for the board money! You'll never be appointed by mail; but I can't believe the social workers wouldn't accommodate you with an appointment any time you can get there.

I can't see sending you other suggestions for work to do at home, as this may be your best way of adding to income.

DEAR DORIS—I was quite surprised to read how unfriendly other "Strangers" think Canadians are. When I came to Canada six years ago, I didn't expect to find so much friendliness and so many helpful people.

No matter where I went, I found smiling faces and pointing fingers when I lost directions or didn't find what I wanted in a department store. Nobody ever laughed about my funny English and no cashier ever cheated me, when I held out my open money purse because I couldn't find the exact change.

Of course there are things I liked better at home, but I also remember to have complained about things in my homeland. Take things as they come and take them with a smile. I am sure you will get a smile back. I did!—A HAPPY STRANGER.

Thank you, Stranger!

Nuclear

meeting last year between President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan.

Mr. Churchill did not elaborate on this point.

At home, Canada has five squadrons of Voodoo interceptor aircraft armed with conventional Falcon missiles under the Joint North American Air Defence Command.

If Canada's interceptors "are required" to add nuclear missile armament they would be kept under strict American control and custody and released for use "only by the highest American authority at a time of emergency."

BOMARCS INEFFECTIVE

Canada's two Bomarc bases set up as a defence against the threat of bomber attack "are no longer considered to be an effective defence because of the predominance of the missile threat."

But Mr. Churchill said Canada stands ready to continue negotiations with the U.S. to make nuclear weapons available "in case of need" for both Voodoos and Bomarcs.

Mr. Churchill said Canada has a "practical process" to bring this about. But any agreement reached must "assure that Canada's sovereignty will be maintained." Mr. Churchill said policy matters of national defence defence cannot remain static.

"When the most rapid technological changes are taking place," he said, "defence policy must be flexible to meet the changing tactical and strategic considerations, particularly as in an alliance (NATO) comprising 15 nations."

Mr. Churchill, a veteran of both world wars, read his defence statement from a prepared text, and then added:

"I will not stand idly by if our defences are not adequately maintained" nor if Canadian servicemen are not adequately armed."

'Artist Salvador Dali Is An Undisputed Genius' - - So Says Salvador Dali

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—You can get an argument over whether Salvador Dali, the eccentric artist, is an obsessed genius or merely a talented poseur.

Dali himself says the question has been settled to his own satisfaction.

"A French doctor spend seven years studying whether I am crazy or not," he remarked. "He find I 'ave one of the best organized brains that exist in the world."

The 58-year-old Spanish-born painter, accompanied by his wife, Gala, was here for the publication of a book of his art. The World of Salvador Dali (as the book sells for $30, no one can say his world is a cheap one), and to make his second lecture tour in a decade.

The two appearances of Dali have fascinated Dali, who, for all his Barnumlike showmanship stunts, is regarded by some critics as probably the greatest religious artist of the 20th century.

Dali always has moved in a world of symbols, such as melting watches, canes, crutches, and rhinoceros horns. He still does. Asked to give his philosophy in a sentence, he quickly seized a pencil and printed this:

"Gladesosxiribunuclele acid."

DOUBLE SYMBOL

Translated, this is a combination of Gala (who symbolizes to Dali mother and sister as well as wife) and DNO acid, the substance which science believes holds the key to the continuity of life, and is therefore a symbol of human immortality.

Everybody clear on that?

Why does Dali indulge in stunts such as delivering a lecture in a diving suit, stunts that repel many?

"I am very exhibitionistic," he admitted. "But it 'ave help me tremendously. Everybody think of me day and night—an' without interruption."

Then he explained that his weird actions were the result of a complex arising from the death at the age of seven of a brilliant older brother, also named Salvador.

"It produce in me a tremendous anguish to prove that I am not my dead brother but myself," he said. He was very serious. "I 'ave to prove every moment 'Dali I am alive and not dead—like my brother.

"All my eccentricities are to prove that I am still alive and immortal With me it 'ave to be that—death or life."

To be unnoticed would mean to Dali that time has buried him, as it did his brother, the other Salvador, some 60 years ago. And he can't stand the thought.

the lowest priced compact—the new 1963 Rambler American

By the time you read this, you will have seen many of the new Compacts. Now's your chance to compare them with the new 1963 Rambler American Six. There's no other compact to equal it for value. For instance, the Rambler American Six is the lowest priced Canadian-built car. What's more, it costs less to operate (it's never lost an economy run it's entered); less to maintain (just check the trade-in value of a Rambler American). This year, the Rambler American has even greater value because of new features and major improvements. And no other car is so completely built for Canadian conditions.

Take Deep Dip rustproofing. The entire car body is dipped completely in six separate baths which clean, scour and seal the surface of the metal. Developed at Rambler's Brampton, Ontario, plant it makes Rambler the most completely rustproofed car in the world.

Self-adjusting Double-Safety brakes, standard on every Rambler, are available on no other North American car except Cadillac. Front and rear brakes are independent: if one set is damaged, the other continues to operate—for a double margin of safety.

New for 1963 is an alternator which replaces the generator. Rambler's alternator is a generator, charges even while the engine is idling so that your electrical system always gives you peak performance.

Rambler American's Ceramic-Armoured muffler is completely protected from rust and corrosion. Covered in durable ceramics, this muffler has been an exclusive Rambler feature for years. And it's guaranteed for as long as you own the car.

The Rambler American has a six-cylinder engine that's never been beaten in any economy run It's ever entered. Built for maximum usefulness to the user, this Rambler is the most practical car you can own. See your Dealer soon for a look at the latest version of the lowest-priced Canadian-built car. And while you're there, see the striking new beauty of the Rambler Classic Six and the Ambassador V8 with exclusive "Unisida" construction.

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Around the turn of the century, a sports patriarch tells me, the boys used to take hockey sticks fashioned from hickory limbs, cut a three-inch branch into inch-deep circles and hike to the wind-swept creeks, rivers and bays for shinny practice.

They would use coats, gallon jugs (empty) or sticks stuck in the ice for goal-posts. They were spring skates sometimes clamped on overshoes while shovels were standard equipment in case of a sudden snow squall. They used rinkside snow windrows for dressing rooms.

Nobody wanted the goalie job on near-zero days. So they substituted a half-dozen boards nailed together, cut large holes in the finished product, stood well back and took goff shots at the "puck." Object: hole-in-one.

"That," said my patriarchal friend, "was the birth of the slap-shot, claimed by hockey experts to have been developed in the last few years. And I'll bet," he added, eyes atwinkle, "we had a better score than some of today's superstars."

When it first came into being in modern hockey, the odds were roughly 100-1 that the blind shots would result in a score. An attacker on the point would let go with a swing and a prayer, the result depending on his popularity with his patron saint.

Now, according to the Black Hawks Johnny Gottselig, an ace of 25 years ago, more and more of the black discs are getting "home" because of the increase in the slap-shooting breed.

Gottselig believes the day of the power-hitter has come to hockey as it has to baseball. It is one of the big differences in the hockey of his day and the modern brand.

The slap-shot, delivered in almost lightning-tempo may be more of a spectacle fan-wise but for my money it will never better the old-fashioned wrist shot for accuracy. "More and more" may be ending up in the net, but the percentage is far below that of the well-turned wrist shot.

Yet, with all its apparent jet-speed, the slap shot is slower than the orthodox wrist-shot. Experiments with electronic measuring devices showed Bobby Hull (who scored half his 50 goals last season on slap shots) only propels the puck at 96 miles per hour.

Hull owns the fastest wrist shot in the league with the puck travelling at 100 miles per hour. Jean Beliveau of the Montreal Canadiens has the fastest slap shot at 99 miles per hour.

Bobby may have scored half his 50-goal output last year via the slap-shot route, but it took an injury to prove to him and Chicago officials that his blinding wrist-shot was far more potent than the ice-borne golf swing. Statistics prove it.

A slow start this season that produced only nine goals at the half-way mark, mainly products of the slap-shot broke down criticism, both officially and otherwise. Hull was sidelined for a couple of games through a leg injury and when he returned to action he found the swing of slap-shot aggravated the "hurt."

This forced him to use the wrist-shot—and the record gets the result. He has scored twice as many goals to this point as he did the entire first-half—and at the rate he is going he stands a good chance of winning the NHL scoring championship. Well—as good as a half-dozen others.

I do not think the slap-shot for its elements of speed and surprise will take the place of the wrist-drive as a goal-getting "weapon." True, it makes a goalie whiten when he sees a player adopt that overhead swing stance for the "bomb" but he doesn't know where the puck is going to end up. And he cannot take his eyes off the rubber for he might wind up with his head, body unattached, resting in the lap of the bloade in the ninth row.

Veterans like Gordie Howe, Andy Bathgate and Jean Beliveau prefer the wrist variety over the slapper. In fact they seldom, if ever, use the latter. And they're doing right well scoring-wise, so the records say.

Yankee Castoff Confident

Bob Turley Ready To Go

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — "I'm convinced I've got Bob Turley, who only yesterday, is proclaimed baseball's No. 1 pitcher, knows there is no longer any tomorrow for him. Must prove right now that he can still pitch my old stuff in the major leagues.

Nobody in the Los Angeles Angels' camp has worked any harder, but no one's future is more uncertain than that of the 32-year - old right-hander who last winter was sold conditionally by New York Yankees to Los Angeles. It was only four years before Turley had been named the major leagues' outstanding pitcher.

"Just because the Yankees gave up on me doesn't mean my career is over," Turley insisted Monday while relaxing after a workout.

"I'm not through with a lot of sinkers and sliders."

Turley appears to have completely recovered from an elbow operation which limited his pitching to 60 innings last year.

Surveyors Raise $173

Indian Skiers Get Help

OTTAWA (CP)—A group of federal government surveyors have raised $173 to help two Indian skiers from the Yukon settlement of Old Crow make the Crested Butte, Col., to take part in the North American ski championships.

"We have raised the money to show our appreciation to the Indians of Old Crow who have helped us in the past during difficult survey operations in the Yukon," said Hugh Munro, a topographical surveyor with the technical surveys department.

The two Indians, Mrs. Martha Benjamin and Ben Charlie, son of the chief of the tribe at Old Crow, competed in the U.S. national cross-country championships during the weekend at Francois, N.H.

Frank Cooke of Ottawa, who is managing the Canadian cross-country Olympic ski team for the Canadian Amateur Ski Association, would like them to compete at Crested Butte before taking part in the Canadian championships.

Cooke said about $800 is needed for them to make the Colorado trip. He said a $300 contribution was received from the Yukon Monday and that contributions now total nearly $500.

World Pro Boxing Body

Bans Title Fight Return-Bouts

NEW YORK (AP)—The World Council of Professional Boxing has decided to ban return-bout contracts for title fights.

The move, taken last weekend and effective July, 1, was proclaimed by its quarters Dutch general reaction, as summed up by world light-heavyweight king Harold Johnson.

"It seems like a good idea, yet sometimes it isn't."

The step was hailed Monday by Nat Fleischer and Harry Markson, authorities of the sport, on their return from a meeting of the council in Mexico City.

Fighters and managers were more reserved in their views.

Fleischer, editor of Ring magazine, said: "The resolution banning return - bout contracts has teeth in it and has long been needed . . . It is the most constructive piece of boxing legislation in many years."

HITS SOME CONTRACTS

Markson, director of boxing for Madison Square Garden here, said the resolution will eliminate "shotgun contracts—when a champion tells a contender he'll give him a title fight, but he must give him a return fight if he loses."

In expanding his views, Johnson said:

"Suppose it is a very close fight or the champ has an off night, then I think he should get a return fight fast. Otherwise I think it is a good thing because it will open up boxing to more contenders to give more people a crack at titles."

Gil Clancy, co - manager of Emile Griffith, world welterweight champion, said: "When you have a champion, you don't want to put the title on the line unless there is a rematch. If I didn't have a champion I might feel differently."

Jersey Jones, United States representative for Dick Tiger of Nigeria, who defends his world middleweight title against Gene Fullmer in Las Vegas, Nev., Saturday, said: "A champion should not be able to force a challenger into a return bout."

DOES NOT AGREE

Fullmer, who lost his crown to Tiger in their first bout, said: "I don't go along with it . . . I don't feel a champion who struggles five, six or seven years to get where he is should be penalized on one fight alone."

Joe Louis did not have a return-bout clause in his first title scrap with Jersey Joe Walcott in 1947 when he retained the crown on a split decision.

Louis won the heavyweight title by knocking out Jim Braddock in 1937 after Braddock had agreed to defend against Max Schmeling. It was revealed years later that Braddock's manager had signed a personal contract with promoter Mike Jacobs calling for a percentage of net profits of all heavyweight title bouts Jacobs staged out of New York.

WON'T APPROVE

The world council resolution takes cognizance of such personal contracts. It says "no commission will approve any contract containing a return-bout clause; to the contrary, commissions will encourage provisions in contracts stating that there is no secret or other arrangements designed to assure a return bout."

Gross Has 7-Point Senior Lead

GALT (AP)—Windsor Bulldog centre Irwin Gross has galloped into a solid seven-point lead in defence of his second straight Senior A hockey scoring title but Chatham Maroon goalie Al Bedard, season-long leader among the netminders, is being pressed as the stubborn Brits hit the final lap of the schedule.

Gross, menacing the 100- point plateau, has only one serious foe in his quest for the scoring mate Bobby Brown. The latter regained his league lead in goals last week with 37 but lost ground to Gross in the over-all statistics. Gross has 29 goals and a league-leading 66 assists from 85 points while Brown has 37-31-68.

Windsor goalie Wayne Rutledge is Bennett's late season challenger. Rutledge has appeared in 27 Bulldog games and boasts a 2.89 average and two shutouts. Bedard has yielded 124 goals in 44 starts, six of them shutouts, for a 2.82 average. Each club has three games left to play.

Bulldogs, assured of a tie for the league pennant, made individual gains in the point-scoring race as well, centre Ron Ingram climbed into third place past Chatham Maroon pivot, Ted Power, through 72 points and is only one goal away from the coveted 30-goal plateau which Brown, Gross, Jerry Walker of Windsor (36) and Power (33) have already attained.

Six of the first seven names in the individual scoring statistics belong to Bulldogs. Only Power's presence in fourth place interrupts league leadership "monopoly." Walker holds fifth place with 65 points. Real Chevrefils is sixth with 62 and Jack Costello is seventh with 56 points.

Larks Deny Big Offer For Parker

MONTREAL (CP) — Ted Workman of Montreal Alouette president, Monday night denied he had ever offered eight players to Edmonton for Jackie Parker.

"I think Keys (Edmonton coach) said that to help his own cause with the Argos," Workman said. "We never offered them an eight - for - one deal. Maybe eight names were mentioned as trade bait including the six in the original offer but they certainly weren't all to be included."

Workman said he was "somewhat surprised" to learn of the manner Parker's trade to Toronto was revealed, saying he was told by Edmonton officials that they wouldn't trade Parker before getting in touch with him. He didn't hear from any of the Eskimo group Monday.

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts, a football team without a leader last season, has acquired the leader. An announcement, expected today, was to reveal whether they traded away the football team to get him.

After exhaustive talks that started last week, the Argonauts finally nabbed the great Jackie Parker Monday night in a trade with Edmonton Eskimos.

An enthusiastic Lew Hayman, Argonaut managing director, said:

"We're getting a ball player with that indefinable something needed for leadership on the field, not forgetting his talents, which are well known."

There was speculation earlier that the trade cost Argos five or six players and cash. Named most frequently during negotiations were centre Norm Stoneburgh, defensive backfielders Mike Wicklum, Joe Rechner and Jim Rountree, guard and place kicker Bill Mitchell, and Bruce Claridge and offensive end Aubrey Laine. All but Rountree and Laine are Canadians.

FITS INTO PLANS

The trade fits nicely into Parker's plans. The brilliant 31-year - old backfielder, who flashed into stardom for Calgary Stampeders in 1954, has also had knee trouble. He missed several games during the last two years.

Money didn't prompt Parker to request a trade. He said the Eskimos were willing to meet his salary demands—reported at more than $20,000 a year—but that he was primarily interested in business opportunities and a coaching job eventually.

Speedboat Driver Dies After Crash

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Speedboat driver Guy (Red) Wilson, unconscious since his boat flipped at 95 miles an hour Nov. 24, died Monday in hospital.

Wilson, who would have been 40 Wednesday, suffered multiple head injuries and lacerations when his E-class racing runabout overturned and landed on him, while he was trying for a world record at Parker, Ariz.

Hayman figures Parker will be in Toronto within a few days to sign a contract. He said they talked contract "in general terms" over the phone Monday.

"I think Parker is as anxious to sign as I am to have him sign, as soon as possible and that suits me perfectly."

Argonauts have another quarterback, Lynn Amadee of Louisiana State College, signed for the 1963 campaign. Where does he fit into the picture?

"We still need Amadee," said Hayman. "We've got to have a young quarterback to bring along and this is the first time we've had one for years."

The negotiations were carried on by Hayman and Eskimo general manager Joe Ryan. Coaches Nobby Wirkowski of Argonauts and Eagle Keys of Edmonton sat in on the talks.

Keys said "The players we've gotten from Toronto will help us over-all, but you can't replace Parker. You start with a quarterback and hope you can build the rest of the team, but you can't replace Parker."

HAVE TWO READY

The Eskimos have two signal-callers ready for next season—veteran Don Getty, product of the University of Western Ontario, and rookie James Earl Wright of Memphis State University. Wright signed a year ago but missed the 1962 season because of a knee injury.

Parker has also had knee trouble. He missed several games during the last two years.

Money didn't prompt Parker to request a trade. He said the Eskimos were willing to meet his salary demands—reported at more than $20,000 a year—but that he was primarily interested in business opportunities and a coaching job eventually.

AHL Prexy Backs up Casterton

PITTSBURGH (AP) — President Louis A. R. Palmer of the American Hockey League said Monday he has rejected a protest filed by Cleveland Barons in connection with their game with Springfield Indians last Wednesday.

Cleveland, a 4-1 loser, claimed referee Art Casterton failed to give Springfield's Jim Anderson an additional penalty after Anderson left the penalty box prematurely.

In rejecting the protest, Palmer said.

"Referee Casterton said that due to the confusion around the penalty box at the time, and the fact that Anderson left the ice before getting into the play, he felt a penalty was not merited."

Banana-Bunch Race For NHL Lead

Hull Credits Hay, Balfour

MONTREAL (CP) — Bobby Hull doesn't take all the credit for it, but he's doing it just the same.

Chicago's blond bomber has lambasted himself on a belated scoring streak similar to the one that carried him to a record-equalling 50 goals in the National Hockey League last season.

Modestly, Hull heaps praise on linemates Murray Balfour and Bill (Red) Hay, saying: "They do most of the work and I get most of the credit."

At the half-way mark of the current season last Christmas, the Hawk left winger was tied for ninth place in the scoring race with a paltry nine goals.

Today he ranks sixth with 28 goals—only two behind the top goal getter, Toronto's Frank Mahovlich.

Official NHL statistics released today show Hull's recent scoring surge includes 12 goals and five assists in his last eight games.

Last season, Hull ranked 20th with 15 goals at Christmas. At this point last year he had 35 and went on to close out the regular schedule with 50.

TREND THE SAME

The trend this year is the same, but will Hull have to improve on the goal-a-game average he maintained in the late stages of last season if he is to hit 50 goals in 1963.

A goal a game starting now would give him 43.

That this year's is Johnny Bucyk of Boston with 59 points. Tied with Howe are Mahovlich, Murray Oliver of Boston and Jean Beliveau of Montreal.

The top goaltender is Chicago's Glenn Hall, who leads the Vezina Trophy race with a goals-against average of 2.24. Second is Jacques Plante of Montreal. Canadiens have allowed an average of 2.50 goals a game.

Detroit took over the leadership in the penalty department with 726 minutes when defenceman Howie Young broke the individual record with a string of penalties last weekend.

Young has served a total of 210 minutes, topping the former mark of 202 minutes set by Lou Fontinato in 1955-56 when the Canadiens' Fontenman was playing with New York.

How to Win, Don't Run Too Much

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Herb Carper, probably more overlooked than any other good sportsman in the United States, has a theory for running—don't do too much of it.

"Why I've been running on and off for 11 years," he says, "is on the times I just play around for the whole season.

"The trouble with these fast kids is that they try to run 12 miles a weekend from April to September. That's no way to run."

Carper, 25, was ranked second among U.S. sprinters last winter and has swept dash honors at three west coast indoor meets this season.

He holds the triple at the Golden Gate Invitational Friday in San Francisco, with victories at 50, 60 and 75 yards.

Carper is in the record books in several times co-holder of the 60-yard indoor mark of six seconds flat. Yet his indoor best 100 is "only" 9.4, two-tenths off the world record.

No Cash Involved

Parker Worth Five Argonauts

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts disclosed today that they parted with five players in the deal that brought them Jackie Parker from Edmonton Eskimos.

To get the perennial all-star quarterback, the Eastern Football Conference club gave up Bill Mitchell, a guard and placekicker; defensive backs Earl Rechner, Mike Wicklum and Joe Hernandez, and Zeke Smith, a guard, linebacker and defensive end Mitchell, Rechner and Wicklum are Canadians.

The two clubs, tail-enders in their respective conferences last season, completed the deal Monday but Argos withheld the names of the Toronto players involved until they could be notified.

LOOKING AHEAD

Eskimos plainly were building for the 'future in their choice of players. Of the five, only Mitchell, a University of Western Ontario graduate, was established as a regular with the start of last season.

Hernandez, a speedy graduate of University of Arizona, joined Toronto at the start of the 1962 campaign. Wicklum came to the club in 1961 but was injured early in the season and didn't play regularly until last year.

Rechner, a Canadian - born graduate of Carrol College, and Smith, formerly with Auburn University and New York Giants of the National Football League, joined Argos in mid-season.

Argonauts said the deal was unconditional and that there was no cash involved.

Picton Wins Over RCAF, Score 10-5

PICTON (Special) — Picton Maes turned the tables on their Lakeshore semi-final playoff opponents in Trenton last night and whipped the RCAF Globetrotters 10-5.

The Picton victory extended the best-of-seven series, led by RCAF three games to two, with the sixth tilt slated for Picton tonight. If a seventh and deciding game is necessary it will be played at Trenton Friday.

Picton jumped into an early 2-0 lead last night but the Trotters tied it 2-2 by the end of the first. Three unanswered goals in the second period, two by Hall and one by Beatty, shoved the Macs into a lead that they never relinquished.

Ron Hall scored the Picton goal-getters, firing three and setting up another. Keith Mac-Donald was top point man, however, scoring once and drawing assists on four other markers.

Ron Weese tallied two Picton goals and assisted on one while Lionel Beatty and Bob Collins earned a goal and two helpers. Pat Gilmour and Leo St. Denis got a goal and assist, while Marc Fawcett, Faulkner and Guernsey had single assists.

Austin Carper and "Red" Gravelle paced the RCAF with a goal and assist apiece. Chris Blanchard, Peterson and Lewis also scored. St. Pierre drew three assists, Maroney and Gelbaretti one each.

The Globetrotters outshot Picton 40-37 but were held trip-less in the second and another three-goal outburst in a matter of as many minutes gave the third left no doubt as to the outcome.

Picton drew seven penalties and the losers five.

Holds Lead In Junior Score Race

TORONTO (CP) — Wayne Maxner of Niagara Falls Flyers last week held his lead over Pit Martin of Hamilton Red Wings, in the Ontario Hockey Association Provincial Junior A scoring race.

Maxner, with 30 goals and 52 assists, has 83 points while Martin has 78 points from 34 goals and 44 assists.

Two Toronto Neill McNeil Maroons players, Mike Corbett and Gary Dinse, continued to share the lead in the OHA Metro Junior A scoring race with 81 points each. Corbett has scored 36 goals and 45 assists and Dinsen has 27 goals and 54 assists".

The statistics are compiled after Sunday's games.

In the provincial league, Paul Henderson of Hamilton Red Wings, holds third place with 69 points, although he has far outpaced other goal scorers. His record is 43 goals and 26 assists.

Ron Schock of Niagara Falls Flyers, is fourth with 22 goals and 44 assists for 66 points.

Douglas Favell of St. Catharines replaced Claude Goddard of Peterborough Petes as the league's leading goal tender with a 3.0 goals-against average. Goddard now is second with a 2.44 average.

City Hockey League Playoffs

There will be no "second chances" in the City Hockey League playoffs, the team managers and league executive decided at a playoff meeting last night.

The semi-finals, opening tomorrow night, will be best-of-three series and the finals will be either best-of-five or best-of-seven, to be decided following the semi-finals.

In the semi-finals, the first team getting five points will win the series. Thus a team with either two wins or with one win and two ties will take the series.

Sudden-death overtime will be used. Dute to the time element, only one period of overtime will be played and if neither team has scored it will go into the books as a tie. That is for the semi-finals and it is expected that unlimited sudden-death will be used for the finals.

Joyce-Rollins moved Welbanks Motors at 7.45 and Trudeau Motors clash with the Pepsi's at 8.30 in Wednesday night's games.

Attendance figures remain at low for adults and 25c for children.

Petes Shut Out Juniors 8-0

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

PETERBOROUGH — Peterborough Memorial turned in a top performance from goal to goal on their way to an 8-0 victory over Belleville here last night in the opening game of the OHA Eastern Junior "B" round-robin series.

Belleville, facing a tough grind from here on if the club hopes to advance past the round-robin, meets Kingston Frontenacs in a nine-clock fixture Friday, in Belleville.

While the Monsens were at their best last night, the losers could do nothing right and never did get untracked against the driving Peterborough squad. It was 3-0 at the end of the first and 4-0 going into the third period.

Steve Rexe in the winners' net was good when he had to be, and got a key stop early in the game when Harkness got on him alone, and later stealing from Muirhead on end Duvall. Meanwhile his mates broke up many Belleville plays before they got to the Monsen blueline and kept a harnessed Sam Haskill pumping to the Belleville cage all night.

Peterborough took over the play shortly after Rexe's save on Harkness and Byer potted the games first goal, a 35-footer from the blue slot, at 8.13. The Monsens appeared to be offside seconds before the goal was scored.

Self tipped in Tapping's blueline shot for a 2-0 score at 12.36 as the winners continued to pass and shoot with authority. Belleville's Ted Scarlett drew a minor for slashing and had a misconduct added when he pushed referee Hay Muirhead at 19.30 of the period.

LeBarr stabbed the puck past Haskill to complete the scoring way play at 2.08 of the second and at 11.06 Self shoved a rebound into the open side of the net as Belleville was unable to control the puck in either end.

Self beat Haskill on the short side at 1.11 of the third and Bean sank a goal with Duvall off at 9.42. Duvall was credited for holding after he had been chased to the line from behind by Shearer seconds before, only to penally called.

LeBarr tipped home a blueline shot at 14.05 and Byer closed the scoring at 14.33 with one of his team mates in the penalty box. Rowland and Shearer tangled at 18.27 with Shearer getting a major, Rowland a minor and a major.

Play was actually rougher than the 11 penalties would indicate. The boers drew a total of that total, including Rowland's major and misconduct. Each club drew nine minors.

Mike Self paced the Peterborough scorers with three goals and one assist while Norm Bean had one of each. Jeff Tapping, Wayne Milburn, Billy Armour and Byron Goudy each had two assists, Bill Shearer and Bob Walsh one apiece.

BELLEVILLE: Haskill, Zubkoa, Reid, Muirhead, Risher, Duval, Muirhead, Jones, Harkness, Richards, Rutherford, Rushlow, Moreau, McGrimmon.

Skaters Fly In Sections To Cortina

TORONTO (CP)—Members of one of three sections of Canada's 18-man figure skating team left Malton airport Monday night on the first leg of their journey to the world championship in Italy later this month.

The group included Wendy Griner of Toronto, Don McPherson of Stratford and Debbi Wilkes of Guy Revell of Unionville, Ont., all winners in the Canadian-American championships in Vancouver last week.

A second group will leave today on the final group Wednesday. They are flying to London, then to Rome, and finally to Cortina, Italy, and the championships.

Nigel Stephens, president of the Canadian Figure Skating Association, said he is hoping to see Canadian skaters win at least three events at Cortina.

Boxer Goes Berserk After Loss

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (CP) — Dave Machado, Venezuelan middleweight fighter, went berserk after he was subdued in the seventh Sunday night after receiving a merciless beating from Fitzroy Hinds, British Guiana's middleweight champ.

Machado ran around the ring shouting "no no" after referee Bill Brown had stopped the fight in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

He pushed his handlers aside and rushed into Whyte's corner trying to resume the fight.

Quinte COSSA Hoop Finals

Quinte Wins 2 From BCI

By PETER CARVER

Quinte Secondary School basketball teams took the lead in the Quinte COSSA basketball championship playoffs here last night winning both games in the points-to-count series.

The Saints seniors defeated BCIVS 51-42 for a nine-point margin while the junior squad downed their BCI counterparts opponents by a close 56-50 score and a six-point edge.

The remaining games of the series will be played in the Moira S.S. gymnasium on Thursday, March 7 with the winning champions go to Peterborough March 2nd to compete in the COSSA championships.

JUNIOR GAME

The Junior Collegians played their usual game during the entire last half and were outplayed throughout by a higher Quinte squad. The score at half-time was a 21-21 deadlock but the Collegians fell apart in the rebounding and Meddings shooting owned the final two periods, Quinte outscoring Collegiate 20-7 and Quinte took advantage hitting for 14 points from the free throw line while the Collegians could manage only 12 points to Quinte's 22in the last period.

Bill Leslie and Ted Meddings split 48 points evenly to lead their teams.

Murray Swan and Jim Hurst were the best for the losers scoring 15 and 12.

BCIVS — Swan (15) Hurst (10), Anderson, Carver (6), Hurst (2), Cassidy, Walsh (2), Purcell, Mallory, MacCormack (2), Athey, McKibbon (5).

QSS — Meddings (18), Leslie (26), Besch (2) Taylor (3), May, Herring, Reppard (3), Hackett, Boyle, Valyear.

SENIOR GAME

Quinte led the game scoring-wise right from the opening whistle and never looked back. They stressed ball control and hit on a good percentage on their shots while BCI threw the ball away frequently on missed shots. The rebounding played a big role in the Quinte win as they came up with the ball when they needed it. The winners led 14-9 at quarter-time and 29-23 at the half.

BCI rallied in the third quarter. They started to press on defence and were controlling both backboards. They were within 2 points of victory early in the fourth quarter and looked as if they might pull it out. However the Saints were able to defended, they forced the Collegians to err on several occasions and took advantage converting violations and poor passes into baskets.

Doug Rose played a good game under the basket and in a shooting capacity. He topped the Quinteinans with 17 points. Gilroy and Davis hit for 11 and 10 respectively.

Terry McCabe sparked the Collegians. He scored 25 points and was the man in the rebound department. Bob Chick collected 9.

BCIVS — Williams (2), McCabe (25), Chick (9), Deacon (1), Smith, Bristow (3), Vaughan, Morrison, Bakker (2), Anderson, Hurst.

QSS — Rose (17), Onderdonk (2), Davis (9), Morton, Irvin (7), Gilroy (11), Philips, Goslin, Hall (5), Hancock.

Four Rinks Remain Unbeaten

By PAUL RIMSTEAD

GUELPH (CP)—Four rinks went into the afternoon of the Canadian schoolboy curling championships aiming to protect perfect records.

But not Newfoundland. It wants to break one.

Members of the Salvation Army High School rink from Bell Island would love to beat the powerhouse rink from Saskatchewan. Newfoundland has only one game in five years at the championships.

Alberta and a dark - horse Ontario rink remained perfect in games in opening rounds Monday to take an early lead. Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island, who played only one round apiece because of byes, were also rolling along.

The Newfoundland rink almost improved its province's record Monday, but dropped a last-rock heartbreaker 6-5 to Ontario in the opening round. Newfoundland's close shave Monday night as they were drubbed 16-4 by Saskatchewan.

ENDS FRIDAY

The round-robin competition, which embraces 11 rounds, ends Friday. Games are scheduled for 2:30 p.m. EST and the fourth at 8 p.m.

Manitoba and British Columbia rallied after bad beatings in the first round to score decisive victories Monday night. Ontario and Nova Scotia, winners in the first round, were also even after losses Monday night.

Newfoundland, Northern Ontario and New Brunswick each lost two starts.

While Saskatchewan caused most of the talk with its drubbing of strong Manitoba in the first round, Ontario also caused the thrills. Skip Jerry Blair of Ontario's Owen Sound rink threw light with his last rock but furious sweeping carried it by a mere foot ring. The shot cancelled three Newfoundland rocks and broke a 5-5 tie.

Alberta's knockout of British Columbia 10-6 in the first round and edged Nova Scotia 9-8 Monday. Alberta also defeated New Brunswick 7-3 in the opening round and Ontario 9-4 in the afternoon.

In the other first-round game, Nova Scotia rallied to take an 11-6 win over Northern Ontario. In the second round, Prince Edward Island beat Northern Ontario 8-7 and Nova Scotia came back after its first-round beating to wallop New Brunswick 12-2.

Hair Specialist Here Wednesday

Will Show Men and Women How to Save Hair and Prevent Baldness

OTTAWA, Ont. New home treatment methods for saving hair and preventing baldness will be demonstrated in Belleville Wednesday, February 20th, from 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

Specialist J. D. Alberti, will be in charge, representing the dynamic Roberts Hair and Scalp Specialists organization. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 12:00 to 8:00 p.m.

This new treatment is neither "mail order" nor "store-sale". It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination of each case is checked at regular intervals by a Roberts Specialist.

Who Can Be Helped?

Will the new Roberts treatments cure baldness? Not if we cannot help men and women who are sick-bald after years of gradual hair loss. But if you still have some fuzz on your scalp is still creating hair, you can at least save and thicken what you have. Special conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring an excessive hair loss—dandruff, itching, over-oiliness or dryness, follicle clogged with sebum or seborrhea—can be corrected by the Roberts home treatment if caught in time.

DON'T WAIT UNTIL IT'S TOO LATE

Baldness won't wait for doubters to be convinced, nor are going to keep right on losing hair 'till your're bald —unless you get your scalp in healthy, hair-growing condition again.

Examine You Free

We want to make it clear that you incur absolutely no charge or obligation by coming in for an examination.

Your only obligation is to yourself, to do something in cases that will not respond.

Guarantee Satisfaction

The Roberts Specialists will give you a written guarantee that you must be satisfied with in 30 days or it will cost you nothing.

For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk for Mr. Alberti's room number. Usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

The Art Linkletter Show Gives Audiences a Chance

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—It took a couple of years, but NBC finally figured out how to convert the basic idea of CBS Candid Camera into an audience participation show.

It is called The Art Linkletter Show, and made its debut last night. It may find an audience among people who think practical jokes are a laugh-riot.

Linkletter led the snickers over a filmed sequence in which an unsuspecting professional fashion model thought she was being hired to pose sharing an icestream sofa with another character. The character turned out to be a chimpanzee. The candid sequence was halted at the surprised expression on the girl's face when she saw the chimp. Then the audience participant (in this case the usual guest celebrity, Bobby Darin, plugging his latest movie) was asked to guess whether she would do it or refuse. That's the audience participation" play. She did it, with obvious amusement.

Joan Crawford was scheduled to appear on NBC's Tonight Show Monday night to receive an award and talk about CARE.

She notified the charitable organization three weeks ago that she would not be able to keep the date.

Somebody goofed, however, and NBC says that it did not learn about the cancellation until late last week. Many fans were disappointed.

Winners At Peewee Tournament

QUEBEC (CP) — Toronto teams won Monday night in the annual international peewee hockey tournaments here.

Toronto York whitewashed Ville St. Michel, a Montreal suburb, 9-0 and Scarborough overpowered Trois - Rivieres, Que., 10-0, while Toronto George Bell won a comparative squeaker, beating Montreal Lakeshore 5-1.

A loss means automatic elimination with 64 teams tying for the final game Saturday. Forty are still in contention after three days of hockey. Seventy games are played during the week.

Mrs. Dorothy Streacch, wife of the mayor of London, Ont., piloted her team to a comeback 4-3 victory over Wexford, a Toronto suburb.

Another game saw Kenora, Ont., win the Long - Distance Trophy with a 2-0 victory over Kentville, N.S. The trophy is played for by the teams from the most widely separated points.

Despite East Germany Ban

Cortina Skating Unchanged

DAVOS, Switzerland (AP)—The International Skating Union decided Monday to stage the 1963 world figure skating championships at Cortina, Italy, as scheduled despite the absence of an East German team.

Georg Haesler, secretary-general of the International Skating Union, announced the decision following a telegraphic poll of the seven members of the ISU council.

Haesler said all the council members except Russia's Genadi Michailichtch voted to go ahead with the world title meet opening Feb. 28.

Michailichtch did not reply in time because Haesler at first wrongly believed him to be at the world speed skating championships in Japan. Whatever the Russian's reply would have been, it could have made no difference to the council's decision.

DOUBT EXISTS

The championships had been in doubt following the Italian government's refusal to set aside a general ban on non-essential visas for citizens of member nations of the North Atlantic treaty alliance.

Despite appeals from Italian and international skating officials, the Italian government insisted its position that it would not grant Italian visas to the East German skating team because it does not recognize that government.

The East German team's request for special Western travel documents was refused by the Allied permit office in Berlin.

The council's decision is expected to lead to the withdrawal of Soviet bloc teams from the Cortina meet.

Can't Agree On Pan-Am Hoop Entry

VANCOUVER (CP)—An adamant East refused to budge Monday on its announced method of choosing a Canadian basketball representative for the Pan-American Games.

Luke Moyls, Canadian Amateur Basketball Association western officer, said he has been placed in an "untenable position" by the national president.

CABA p—etsainhrducpnfxvpvhg. The West wants Lethbridge Nationals to represent Canada at the Games, and the East—which has more voting power—wants the nucleus of the touring team drawn from the winner at a national tournament in Lethbridge March 13-14.

Moyls stated: "I want a position in a note late last week to CABA president M. W. Leeson in St. Catharines, and received the non-budge reply by phone Monday.

Moyls said Leeson told him Winnipeg has changed its mind and will go along with the East.

"I'm bouncing between the two," Moyls said Monday, adding he would speak with George Deegan, president of the Manitoba Amateur Basketball Association before making any more decisions.

Sports in Brief

BRAVES SIGN PICHE

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee Braves announced Monday the signing of lightheaded pitcher Ron Piche of Verdun, Que. The 27-year-old Piche won three games early last season, but then was belted for 14 runs in 12 innings in five appearances and was shipped to Toronto Maple Leafs, where he compiled a 9-4 record against International League opponents.

WITHDRAWS TEAM

KARUIZAWA, Japan (AP)—South Korea withdrew Monday from the world speed skating championships which open here Thursday, apparently in protest against the participation of North Korean skaters. A statement issued in Tokyo by Chang Hyp, leader of the South Korean team, said South Korea "cannot endure the appearance of another flag which is not ours and which would symbolically harm our national oneness and integrity."

SETS SWIMMING MARK

PERTH, Australia (Reuters) —Satoko Tanaka of Japan set a world swimming record of two minutes 28.9 seconds for the women's 200-metre backstroke here Monday night. Miss Tanaka's time also set a world record for the slightly shorter 200 metres event. In both cases she clipped seven-tenths of a second from the records she established herself in Sydney eight days ago.

SMOKIES WIN 3-1

PRAGUE (AP)—Trail Smoke Eaters, Canada's representatives in this year's world hockey championships, defeated a Czech team 3-1 here Monday night to get off to a fast start in a pre-championships tour. The official Czech news agency CTK iden tified the losing team as Slovan Bratislava.

PLAN FESTIVAL

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Manitoba Music Festival in 1963 may again set an entry record for Canadian festivals. Last year there were 2,000 entries involving 25,000 persons. This year there are already 2,000 entries for the March festival.

Canadiens Call up McCreary

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens said Monday left winger Bill McCreary has been called up from Hull - Ottawa Canadiens of the Eastern Professional Hockey League to replace Gilles Tremblay, injured Sunday night in Canadiens' 6-1 win in Detroit.

A club spokesman said Tremblay, checked hard by Detroit defenceman Pete Goegan in the second period, will be sidelined "indefinitely" with a fractured sinus.

A Detroit doctor who examined Tremblay after Sunday night's game said the stocky left winger will probably be able to play again in two weeks if he uses a special helmet.

McCreary, a 28-year-old native of Subdridge, Ont., has scored 19 goals and 21 assists in 43 EPHL games this season. He has played a total of 13 games in the National Hockey League in two previous tryouts with New York Rangers and Detroit Red Wings.

Red China Supports Indonesia

TOKYO (AP)—Ho Lung, Red China's vice - premier, said Monday that his government firmly supports Indonesia's fight for holding sports games of "new emerging forces."

The Chinese government and people "are willing to play their part" in promoting the realization of President Sukarno's proposal, Ho Lung said at a reception in Peking celebrating Nepal's day.

Ho Lung said the proposal was in full accord with "the desire of the peoples of Asia, Africa and Latin America," the New China news agency quoted him as saying in a broadcast monitored here.

Departmental Hockey

Two close games, both decided by a single goal, were played in the Interdepartmental Hockey League last night.

Public Works edged the Fire Department 8-7 while Utilities came from behind several times to shade the Ontario Intelligencer 5-4.

Ralph Sine scored twice for Utilities with single goals going to Jack Harris, Ron Morgan and L. Gagnon.

Ontario Intelligencer scorers were Ralph Harris, Bill Bourette, Jeff Walling and Merv Thompson.

The Dotted Line League

NEW YORK (AP)—Cincinnati Reds didn't waste any time dickering with Joey Jay this winter.

The big righthander held out a year ago after his 21-10 record helped win the National League pennant for Cincinnati in 1961. He finally signed after the start of spring training and although he again won 21 games, the Reds finished third.

Everything was lovey-dovey when Bill DeWitt, the Reds' president, announced Jay's 1963 signing a day in advance. Terms were not disclosed but DeWitt said Jay was given a "very substantial raise."

Guesses ranged up to $35,000 compared with the estimated $23,000 Jay received in 1962.

A couple of other righthanders signed for less money as the official opening of spring training drew closer.

TAKES A CUT

Chuck Estrada, who won 18 games for Baltimore in 1960 when the Orioles finished second in the American League but slumped to 15 in 1961 and only nine last year, signed for an estimated $18,000, a cut of about $2,000.

Larry Sherry, a relief pitcher for Los Angeles Dodgers last season, signed for a reported $22,000, off $2,000. It was indicated, however, that if Sherry makes good as a starter, he will receive a new contract.

Johnny Blanchard, reserve catcher for the world champion New York Yankees, also took a reported cut to $20,000.

Two Share Lead in AH League

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny McKenzie of Buffalo Bisons and Bill Sterling of Springfield Indians in the American Hockey League scoring race last week, but he has a new co-leader in his teammate, Art Stratton.

Stratton scored six points last week to five for McKenzie and only two for Sweeney. The weekly statistics, released today, show Stratton and Sweeney tied for the top at 68 points while Sweeney dropped from first to fourth at 65 as Willie Marshall of Hershey Bears took over third place at 66.

Cleland Mortson, of Hershey, Hank Ciesla of Cleveland Barons and Brian Kilrea of Springfield Indians are in a three-way tie for fifth at 61.

John Ferguson of Cleveland Barons is fifth No. 1 goal-getter with 31 while Stratton increased his leading assist total to 51.

Denis DeJordy of Buffalo continued as the top goalie, yielding 141 goals in 31 games for an average of 2.76. The penalty leader continued to Ed Van Impe of Buffalo with 186 minutes.

Lightfoots Eliminate Cobourg

Belleville Lightfoots won their way into the Bay of Quinte Basketball League playoffs in the air station last night by taking a sudden-death 59-51 victory over Cobourg.

The victory gave Lightfoots fourth place in the five-team grouping and eliminated Cobourg from the playoffs.

Lightfoots will meet the other Belleville team, Crawford Metals, in one half of the semi-finals while Trenton Wilsons and RCAF Flyers clash in the other half. The opening games in the two-of-three sets will be played as a double-header at the RCAF gym next Monday night. RCAF and Wilsons play at 7.15 with Crawfords and Lightfoots taking over at 8.30.

Belleville took an early lead last night, in front 29-21 at half time, but Cobourg battled back to within one point with about four minutes left in play. Lightfoots went on to an eight-point lead at the end.

Don Smith, one of the league's top three scorers, starred for the Lightfoots with a 30-point performance, accounting for more than half of his team's total. Denny Farnsworth played a strong defensive game while Mike Calwell's smooth ballhandling was a big factor. Caswell had eight points.

Dennis Clarke topped Cobourg with 13 points followed by John Cornish, 11. Highscorer Gary Quinlan was held to six points and ace Gord Harris was missing from the lineup.

BELLEVILLE LIGHTFOOTS: Don Smith 30, D. Farnsworth 3, T. Ewing 4, G. Reynolds 2, D. Morden, D. Skinner 5, M. Caswell 8, B. Marner 6.

COBOURG (51): D. Clarke 13, R. Stuart 3, G. Quinlan 6, D. Jeffery 9, J. Moorhouse 9, J. Gradish 11.

Donna Reed Will Be Back On Television Next Sesson

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Donna Reed will be back on television next season.

The announcement that The Donna Reed Show had been renewed for a sixth year ended what some people in the trade consider an annual cliffhanger. Last year at this time, Donna expressed doubt that she would want to face another season. She was persuaded to go for five.

Recently she was again reported as dubious about going it again. The renewal came last week.

"I know it sounds—like an annual event," she said. "But honestly, I didn't say anything this year. Maybe someone else did, but I kept my mouth shut. I learned my lesson last year."

Any such pronouncement stirs a fuss in network, sponsor and ad agency circles, not to mention Donna's private world of fans.

IN EVERY SCENE

Donna didn't seem perturbed at the prospect of another season.

"Actually, the crucial point came for me after the first two seasons," she observed. "Don't say I was tired; I was exhausted. The load was in every scene of every show.

"It is sheer suicide for any performer to be in every show, whether it is a movie or a television series. It's not only the exhaustion that comes from such strenuous work. You simply can't hold the audience's attention when you're tired of them all the time.

"I took action myself. I went through the scripts and set myself out of scenes where my presence wasn't necessary. I doubt if many performers ever cut their parts before, but it was necessary for me to survive."

She did survive, against powerhouse competition from the star-wrought Danny Thomas in a tense-ly emotional scene from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's suspenseful mystery romance, "I Thank A Fool," co-starring Peter Finch, the screen version of Vera Caspary's Lindsay Scott, Color and Cinemascope, showing tonight, and Wednesday, matinee daily.

AT THE PARK — A scene from "Spare the Rod", a high-tension story of a bailiwhich that calls itself a school. The startling film stars Max Bygraves, Donald Pleasence, Geoffrey Keen and Betty McDowall, showing today and Wednesday at the Park Theatre. On the same program a compelling human drama, "The Angry Silence", stars Richard Attenborough and Pier Angeli. One complete show starts at 7.30 p.m. "Angry Silence" at 7.40 p.m. and "Spare the Rod" at 9.30 p.m.

AT THE BELLE — Susan Hayward attempts to comfort an overwrought Danna Claman in a tense-ly emotional scene from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's suspenseful mystery romance, "I Thank A Fool," co-starring Peter Finch, the screen version of Vera Caspary's Lindsay Scott, Color and Cinemascope, showing tonight, and Wednesday, matinee daily.

Plan to Raise Million for Food Relief

OTTAWA (CP)—The National Centenary Administration held its first board meeting Monday and endorsed a proposal by the Toronto Bible Club members to raise $1,000,000 for foreign food relief in 1967.

The administration, headed by John Fisher, met to pass its corporate bylaws and resolutions, formally establishing itself as a Crown agency to coordinate federal, provincial and municipal plans for celebrating the centenary of Canada under the British North America Act of 1867.

"Think big" might well be the slogan for the administration. Mr. Fisher told a press conference. The administration is planning a competition to choose a centenary symbol.

Mr. Fisher and members of the executive posed with a five-foot long gavel presented to him some years ago when he was known as Mr. Canada on the tourist promotion and lecture circuit in Canada and the United States.

TO AID HUNGRY

George C. Metcalf of Toronto presented the administration with the first fully-planned project proposed by a privately-organized group to mark the centennial. It is a plan to raise $1,000,000 for food relief to hungry peoples, sponsored by the Number Young Men's and Ladies Class of Toronto, of which Mr. Metcalf is a member. The fund-raising campaign will run May 4 for "a gift to Canada on its birthday to alleviate hunger abroad."

Though the administration will have about $20,000,000 to give out in support of lasting local projects to be completed in the centennial year and other sums for major projects of national interest, the administration is primarily concerned with having regional and local planning groups organize themselves.

A cardinal principle will be biculturalism in every aspect of centenary planning.

Woman Carried Screaming From Court Room

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Clarinda Iva Kroeger was carried screaming and sobbing Monday from her murder trial courtroom.

She had been under cross-examination by Deputy District Attorney Mayer. Mrs. Kroeger, a 44-year-old grandmother, and her husband, Albert, are accused of strangling a couple whose bodies were dug up from the Kroeger basement.

"You dope," she screamed at Mayer, then began to rage in a babble of Old Greek.

"Listen here, I want to go home," she shouted. "I'm walking out right now."

She stepped down from the stand, walked to the jury, her and Iva broke into more shrieking Ballitf Emmett Hepherson finally picked her up and carried her into a holding cell next to the courtroom.

Mrs. Kroeger earlier had balked for nearly an hour at resuming the stand in her trial, now in its ninth week.

"I know my rights," she snapped at Superior Court Judge Harry Sheehan.

Her reappearance at the witness stand was in a dress scarcely a half hour. She refused to answer Mayer's questions and instead sang WHEN Irish Eyes are Smiling.

FLOODS HIT SPAIN

GRANADA (AP) — Torrential floods in southern Spain killed at least seven persons in 48 hours and left thousands homeless. Rains abated today after streams swelled from their banks in Cordoba, Granada and Sevilla provinces.

Venezuelan President To Receive Warm Welcome

By CARMAN CUMMING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Venezuela's Romulo Betancourt arrives in Washington today with the best recommendations a Latin American leader could carry there—enmity from Communist revolutionaries.

Recent flamboyant rebel attacks, including the seizure of a freighter and the theft of several French masterpieces, were said to have been aimed at focussing world attention on Venezuela.

They have succeeded, at least as far as Washington is concerned.

But if the aim was also to embarrass the Venezuelan president during his U.S. visit, it has backfired badly.

SENATORS CONCERNED

The trip coincides with a broadside of worried comment from senators and other U.S. politicians on the threat of Communist subversion in the hemisphere.

Senator Hubert Humphrey, influential Democrat - from Minnesota said in one of the weekend statements that "the battle is on" for Venezuela and that Washington should be assured the U.S. will not tolerate an attack on his country.

Betancourt was not always so popular in the United States.

A onetime revolutionary familiar with the world of exile and revolt, he started his political career in 1928 with a four-day jail-term for organizing a students' revolt. Two years later, in exile in Costa Rica, he led a group called the "worker and peasant bloc" that has since been described as Communist.

Betancourt now refers to that period of his life as a "youthful outbreak of political smallpox." But he still leans well to the left while opposing Communist and Castro influences.

TAPPED OIL INCOME

After taking office in 1959 he introduced a "50-50 plan" under which half the oil industry profits went to the government. Later the government share was increased to 67 per cent.

This made him unpopular with U.S. business interests but brought in an income of some $1,000,000,000 a year that enabled the government to start a series of social reforms.

Allocations for education were increased to 10 per cent from five per cent of the national budget, bringing the percentage of illiterates down to 13 per cent of the population from 58 per cent. A land reform program was launched under which more than 60 000 families have been given land titles and government loans.

Despite the reforms Betancourt has had to put down more than half a dozen uprisings—from all shades of the political spectrum—and has been the target of several assassination attempts.

His main reason for visiting Washington, however, is not subversion but oil—specifically the prospect of tightened U.S. import quotas.

Betancourt himself looks on Venezuela and Cuba as test cases for differing systems aimed at raising Latin America by its bootstraps. Given the present condition of the hemisphere, he is certain to get a sympathetic hearing in Washington.

Should Abolish Indian Reserves Says Senator

SUDBURY (CP) — Senator David Croll appealed Monday for the abolition of Indian reserves and assimilation of Indians into the "Canadian stream of life."

Abolition of the reserves should be a priority project for the Canadian centennial, he told a joint meeting of the Sudbury Council of Christians and Jews and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Indians should not be given the value they themselves place on the lands, but 20 times that amount.

"The time has come for us to take the Indians gently and firmly by the hand and lead them into the century to join the Canadian stream of life —to come to our cities and towns, villages and farms, where we have available for them now education and training, health and welfare services, employment and housing."

HOME OF MANY

Britain's population density is 554 persons to the square mile, the total area is 94,779 square miles.

Mackays Given Silver Tray

TORONTO (CP) — Lieutenant-Governor J. Keller Mackay and Mrs. Mackay were busy yesterday, with a party in the afternoon and a dinner and reception in the evening.

In a farewell gesture to the lieutenant-governor, more than 200 called at his home in his honor and were received by him later.

To show they had enjoyed the five years serving the lieutenant - governor, aides representing all Col. F. F. Mc-Eachren presented him and his wife with a silver tray. He vacates his office at the end of the month.

Sask. Medicare Plan Both Praised, Blamed in House

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Saskatchewan's medical care insurance program came in for both praise and blame Monday.

The praise was from two members of that province's own government, but the blame came from both inside and outside Saskatchewan.

Health Minister Eric Martin told the British Columbia legislature that there is "dictatorship in almost every line" of the Saskatchewan legislation which provided universal, compulsory medical care insurance beginning last July.

Defending the B.C. government's position that the federal government should start a health scheme in conjunction with the provinces, Mr. Martin said in the budget debate that Saskatchewan's plan "infringes on individual liberties of almost everybody."

But the plan was roundly commended by Martin Semchuk (CCF-Meadow Lake) and Gordon T. Snyder (CCF—Moose Jaw) as they moved and seconded the traditional thanks to Lieutenant-Governor John Bastedo for the speech from the throne, read at the opening of the Saskatchewan legislature.

CONTRIBUTE MORE?

Quebec's legislature had its usual Monday off, but in Alberta an opposition member urged greater contributions by the oil industry to educational costs.

Frank Gainer (Coalition—Banff-Cochrane) said the Alberta oil industry is losing its competitive nature through takeovers of small independent companies by large, integrated firms.

"We have got to obtain more revenue from the oil industry before atomic energy can destroy the market for oil as oil destroyed the market for coal," Mr. Gainer said.

He cited Venezuela, where he said the government received $140,000,000 in revenue yarly from the oil industry, and used the money for sharp reductions in the rate of illiteracy among its people.

Will Raise Fund Aid Harkness Publicize Views

CALGARY (CP) — Former defence minister Harkness said Monday he is not too familiar with a fund which has been started to help him publicize his views on defence issues.

.I don't know anything about it except from one gentleman who telephoned me," he said at a press conference shortly after he arrived here by train from Ottawa.

Four Toronto businessmen who launched the campaign said earlier Monday they have raised $1,300 in two days. An objective of $15,000 has been set for the fund but the group hopes that between $50,000 and $100,000 will be raised.

Mr. Harkness said the person who telephoned him took it I wouldn't have any objection to the money being raised."

He would not say who called him and added that he did not know the names of any other persons involved.

A Toronto report said two of the men behind the fund—Lawrence Skey, an investment counsellor, and Edward Phillop, executive director of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society—were identified as Progressive Co servative party supporters.

WOULD USE INK

MONTREAL (CP)—A police scheme calling for use of indelible inks was accepted by Montreal's fur industry Monday to stamp out thefts that have cost insurance companies $203,000 here since the start of the year. The ink would be applied to each pelt used in assembling a fur piece with a special system of coded markings that could be readily identified if a stolen jacket or stole was sold.

No Nuclear Arms Is Govt. Policy Says Diefenbaker

Delivers Keynote Talk To Party Convention

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker appears to have gone another step on the way to declaring a no-nuclear arms policy for Canadian forces on Canadian soil—with a qualified "maybe" for Canadian forces in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization abroad.

This was the gist of his remarks Tuesday when he delivered an election-year speech to some 800 delegates to the Progressive Conservative party's Ontario annual meeting.

He said it wasn't his official April 8 election keynote speech and that the government's defence policy will be spelled out in more detail in a few days.

Moreover, he added, defences will be a subject of discussions he will have this weekend in London with Prime Minister Macmillan, though he placed the subject last in line in trade and Commonwealth affairs.

Mr. Diefenbaker flies to London Friday to be made a freeman of the city Monday. He will return to the election campaign immediately.

SCORNS LIBERAL STAND

Mr. Diefenbaker, declaring he is going into the campaign to fight with all his might and main, gave a free-swinging appraisal of the nuclear arms issue as he sees it. He poured scorn on Liberal Leader Pearson's nuclear arms position. It sounded to the Conservative leader as though the Liberal leader wanted to marry now, while preparing for the divorce in advance.

The prime minister's line of reasoning: When Canada agreed to establishment of Bomarc missile bases in North Bay and La Macaza, Que., the United States intended to build 30 to 40 similar missile units to protect the U.S. Strategic Air Command.

The Strategic Air Command was then and still is the chief deterrent to a direct Russian attack, but at that time it was feared the attack would come by manned bombers and it was felt the bomarc missiles could counter the attack.

Now, however, the U.S. has built only six Bomarc bases in the United States and the threat of manned-bomber attack is being replaced by the threat of intercontinental ballistic missiles. Against ICBMs, the Bomarc is not effective.

FIFTH MEMBER LEAVES CABINET IN TWO WEEKS

G. Halpenny Gives Health as Reason

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Secretary of State G. Ernest Halpenny, 59, Tuesday became the fifth member of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's cabinet to announce his resignation in the last two weeks.

Mr. Halpenny announced his decision not to seek re-election in the April 8 election in an interview with the London Free Press at the Ontario Progressive Conservative party's annual meeting in Toronto.

He emphasized that his decision was for reasons of health. "I feel all right, but I have to respect the wishes of my doctor," said Mr. Halpenny, who has represented the constituency of London since 1957.

The announcement confirms recent reports from Ottawa that he was ready to declare himself out of the election contest because of his health.

Mr. Halpenny, who has suffered two heart seizures within the last 18 months, said the strain of the last parliamentary session, coupled with ministerial responsibilities, had left him exhausted.

Earlier withdrawals from the cabinet were Douglas Harkness as defence minister, George Hees as trade minister and Pierre Sevigny as associate defence minister, all of whom resigned over the nuclear issue, and Donald Fleming as finance minister.

Mr. Halpenny served as parliamentary assistant to the minister of health and welfare during the 1957-58 Commons session. He entered the cabinet in October, 1960 as minister without portfolio. He was named secretary of state in last August's cabinet shuffle.

Mr. Halpenny is a director of Canada Pharmacal Company Limited of London until he sold his interest in the firm last year. He is a native of Plantagenet, Ont.

ROBARTS TAKES BLAST AT ONT. LIBERAL LEADER

Calls Opposition Political Pygmies

TORONTO (CP)—The usually mild-spoken Premier Robarts has come out with one of his most strongly worded attacks on the Liberal Opposition since he took office 16 months ago.

He accused Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer Tuesday night of confusion and constant electioneering and the Opposition party of "blatant political opportunism."

The attacks came as the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association wound up a two-day convention here, the first since Mr. Robarts was elected party leader and probably the last before the premier calls an anticipated provincial general election.

Mr. Robarts dealt at length with his own government's program for Ontario development and the massive gains which he said have been made under the Conservative governments of the last 20 years.

SEES LIBERAL LOSS

He said the Liberals had been beaten six times by the Conservatives, and when an election is called "in the fullness of time," they will be beaten again.

"Seldom has a leader and a party" in our political history ever presented such a picture of conflict and contradiction," Mr. Robarts said, citing specific Liberal changes in policy on sales tax, medical care insu-

Govt. Cancels or Lowers Surcharges on Many Imports

OTTAWA (CP)—In a pre-election show of exchange reserve strength, the government Tuesday night cancelled or reduced its import surcharges on goods worth more than $1,000,000,000 a year.

An approximately equal amount remains subject to the surcharges, imposed last June 24 during the exchange crisis. Originally they affected some $3,000,000,000 worth of imports, or half the Canadian total.

Finance Minister Nowlan said in a statement the latest relaxation—the biggest—reflects continued improvement in the exchange reserve fund as well as in the balance-of-payments situation.

The decision likely will be seen in the business community as a show of confidence in the strength of the reserves, compared with their crisis level after the 1962 election, and thus the ability to maintain the external value of the dollar at 92½ cents in terms of U.S. funds.

At Jan. 31 the reserves stood at a record high $2,662,500,000 in gold and United States dollars, more than double the June 24 low point of $1,100,000,000.

Mr. Nowlan also said that while fourth-quarter 1962 figures are not yet available, it has become reasonably clear that the current account deficit in the Canadian balance of payments is being significantly reduced.

This has been attributed more to the dearer Canadian dollar than the emergency surcharges.

Another factor in relaxing the surcharges probably was international pressure. While recognizing Canada's difficult position, several countries have let it be known that they were displeased with the adverse effect of the surcharges on their trade.

Major Railways to Maintain Line Abandonments Freeze

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's major railways Will maintain their freeze on branch line abandonments until after the April 8 general election, reliable sources say.

The biggest, boldest program of railway rationalization in Canada's history, the freeze affects most of the 31 railway applications before the Board of Transport Commissioners to tear up 793 miles of branch lines and 12 miles of spur tracks.

With more applications expected, it adds up to an unprecedented drive to cut away unprofitable trackage and concentrate on the money-making mainline freight business.

For the railways, millions of dollars in ultimate savings are at stake. But the process also bears heavily on areas where the railways want to pull out.

The brunt of this social and economic upheaval is falling on the Prairies, where the CPR and CNR have plans before the transport commissioners to scrap 17 branch lines involving some 516 miles of track.

Less than 50 miles is in Quebec and Ontario.

Railway sources believe little would be gained, and much could be lost, by pushing ahead

Drug Inquiry Suggests End Of Patent Protection To Bring Prices Down

Has Produced No Benefits To Public Says Commission

By RUSSELL ELMAN

OTTAWA (CP)—Abolition of patent protection as "the only effective remedy" for reducing drug prices in Canada was recommended today by the government's anti-combines agency.

The restrictive trade practices commission, reporting to the justice department on a five-year general inquiry into the drug industry, put it this way:

"The commission believes that close control exercised by patents has made it possible to maintain prices of certain drugs at levels higher than would have obtained otherwise and . . . has produced no benefits to the public of Canada which would outweigh the disadvantages of the monopoly."

Abolition of drug patents, the commission reported, would force patent-holding companies that retain licensed drugs to compete with the lower prices offered by manufacturers and importers of drugs sold under proper (generic) names. Some companies might face temporarily reduced profits but "there is no reason to believe that the established companies would be able to live with the situation."

GOVERNMENT WILL STUDY

Justice Minister Fleming said the commission's recommendations will receive careful study and consideration in the light of information contained in the 862-page report.

The commission cited several factors which it said tend to lessen competition or maintain drug prices. These included inadequate government inspection of the safety and quality of drugs, certain selling practices of druggists, and doctors' traditional reliance on prescribing "brand-name" drugs.

The report suggested that improved federal safeguards would give both the medical profession and the public more confidence in choosing between products of rival firms.

In addition to urging tighter regulations under the Food and Drugs Act on the manufacture, promotion and introduction of drugs, it included the following key recommendations:

1. Abandonment by druggists of the practice of ceding prescriptions to other stores at price charged or quoted — described by the commission as coming "perilously close to price-fixing by agreement."

2. At least equally prominent display for a drug's generic name as for its brand name on all labels, containers, literature or other descriptive relating to drugs containing a single active ingredient or to such officially-recognized compounds.

3. Submission by manufacturers of detailed reports of clinical tests to determine therapeutic effectiveness of a new drug as well as tests of its safety before public sale is authorized.

4. More extensive inspection and testing of drugs by the federal food and drug directorate plus considerable enlargement of its staff.

SITUATION NORMAL

OTTAWA (CP)—The health department said Tuesday it is continuing to watch the influenza situation in this country closely in view of outbreaks in the United States. However, a spokesman for the department's epidemiology division said the occurrence in Canada appears to be normal for this time of year.

Suggestions Of Commission

OTTAWA (CP)—Key recommendations of the restrictive trade practices commission's report on the pharmaceutical drug industry published today:

Abolition of patent protection for drugs as the only effective way to reduce drug prices in Canada.

Abandonment by retail pharmacists of the practice of ceding prescriptions to indicate the price charged or quoted—described as "perilously close" to price-fixing.

At least equally prominent display for a drug's proper (generic) name as for its brand name on all labels, advertisements or other descriptive material relating to drugs containing a single active ingredient and certain officially-recognized compounds.

Submission by manufacturers of detailed reports of tests to determine therapeutic effectiveness of a new drug as well as tests on its safety before public sale is authorized.

More stringent regulations under the Food and Drugs Act with respect to manufacture, promotion and introduction of drugs.

Inspection by federal health authorities of all premises in which drugs are manufactured.

Inspection and testing by the federal food and drug directorate of samples from sufficiently large number of batches of ready-to-sell manufactured or imported drug.

Considerable enlargement of food and drug directorate staff to ensure thorough enforcement of regulations.

Possible federal supervision of all advertising and promotional activities related to drugs, including distribution of samples and content of advertising literature.

Possible federal sponsorship of an authoritative publication giving doctors all necessary particulars and objective evaluations of new drugs.

Judge Orders All Searched For Weapons

MONTREAL (CP)—Mr. Justice Roger Ouimet today refused threats against the life of Jean - Paul Fournel, key Crown witness in the Sans Class murder trial, have been received.

Mr. Justice Ouimet, presiding at the trial of George Lafleche on charge of capital murder; said that as a result of the threats he has given instructions that everyone entering the courtroom — the public, witnesses and the press — be searched for weapon.

He said that the reports he had received indicated that an attempt on Fournel's life would be made in the courtroom.

He disclosed the threat and the special security measures in reporters in his chambers before today's sitting, adding that he would not refer to the matter in court in front of the 12 man jury.

Fournel, testifying under the protection of the court, has identified Marcotte as the man disguised in a Santa Claus suit involved in the slaying of two constables during a bank holdup in suburban St. Laurent last Dec. 14.

Additional Quebec Provincial Police guards were stationed in the courtroom for Fournel's added protection.

Many Russians Leaving Cuba

Congressmen Not Satisfied With Red Withdrawal Plan

WASHINGTON (A.) — Leading congressmen of both parties today called for withdrawal of all—and not just part—of the estimated 11,000 Russian troops and technicians in Cuba.

U.S. sources Tuesday disclosed that Soviet Premier Khrushchev had sent President Kennedy a note Monday saying Russia intends within a few weeks to ship some several thousand Russian soldiers from Cuba.

This was generally accepted in Congress as a significant development. But both Democratic and Republican leaders said the Kennedy administration must continue to press for complete evacuation of Russian military men from the island.

Senate lawmakers said the Russians had given assurance that several thousand troops would be out of Cuba by March 15.

There was no official comment from the White House or the state department.

John A. McCone, directly of the Central Intelligence Agency, told the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee Tuesday that "several empty

U.S. Missile Edge Non-Existent

Says Red Warheads 100 Megatons

LONDON (Reuters)—A senior Soviet rocket commander said today in the defence ministry newspaper Red Star that Russians rockets are armed with 100-megaton warheads, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Col. - Gen. Vladimir Tolubko, first deputy commander - in - chief of Soviet strategic rocket forces, told the newspaper in an interview that U.S. claims to rocket superiority are merely intended to complicate the international situation.

He said the United States is trying to encourage the West German Adjies and persuade American taxpayers to spend more in the arms race.

The general said the main argument in favor of American rocket supremacy is the total number of rockets possessed by the United States compared to the number of Soviet rockets.

But he charged that Western experts deliberately ignored the relative power of rocket warheads when figuring the East-West missile gap, and only counted the number of such weapons.

"Otherwise, their conjectures about American rocket superiority would burst like a soap bubble."

When it is realized that American Titan rockets have warheads of seven megatons—equal to 7,000,000 tons of TNT—while Soviet rockets carried warheads reaching a power of 100,000,000 tons of TNT, commentaries are superfluous," the general said.

In counting up rockets, he said, Western experts "construct the most variegated forecasts, showing in every way that what they have is a fantasy."

"All their reasoning is groundless, and cannot conceal the obviously propagandistic nature of the fuss which has been raised."

While the United States still has means of anti - rocket defence—"despite forced labor in this sphere"—he said, the Soviet Union "has no means at its disposal."

Tolubko warned: "It is hastily permissible in this case to ignore the means of defence, or more precisely of anti-rocket defence, which the state (the Soviet Union) has available.

"To forget these factors is to testify to irresponsible and partisan reasoning of the Western propagandists."

Diefenbaker Promises Aid

Federal Govt. to Underwrite Full Cost of Slum Clearance

TORONTO (CP) — The Progressive Conservative party is prepared to enlarge federal assistance for redevelopment, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Tuesday before the Ontario PC Association.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the government would have introduced two amendments to the National Housing Act if it had remained in office "and will do so at the next session of Parliament if returned to office."

The first amendment would authorize the federal government to make loans to towns and cities covering the 50 per cent municipal share of the cost of urban redevelopment projects.

The second would extend the 50 per cent federal share to cover half the cost of new services and utilities that may be required after the redevelopment area has been acquired and the old buildings demolished.

"The federal government will then be bearing 100 per cent of the initial cost of revitalizing urban blight," Mr. Diefenbaker said, "and will enable the municipality to pay its share in instalments over a period of years, with only a modest interest charge.

"These two measures will encourage municipalities to launch major renewal programs."

Mr. Diefenbaker said the existing federal public housing plan would be broadened and that there would be a new plan introduced allowing municipalities or provincial governments to obtain 90 per cent loans at low interest from the National Mortgage and Housing Corporation for the construction or acquisition of public housing projects for low-income families.

"These projects would be owned and operated by the province or municipality or its agent," he said.

The federal government will

Transit Commission Report Shows Total Current Deficit For Last Year of $24,874

The Belleville Transit Commission, carried 763,471 passengers, an increase of 70,565 over 1961, it is revealed in the annual report of the commission released from city hall.

On five different routes, city buses travelled a total distance of 313,700 miles at an average cost per mile of 40.2 cents. Revenue per mile was 35.7 cents, resulting in a deficit of 4.5 cents per mile.

Operational deficit totalled $12,785, which with debenture charges of $9,925 and other items resulted in a total current deficit for 1962 or $24,874.45.

The report presents a brighter picture than a year ago in that there was more passenger revenue and reduced operating expenses.

The picture was said to be relatively good compared with municipal transit systems of comparable size.

BETTER SERVICE

Over 20,000 additional miles were travelled by city buses as the commission endeavored to give better service in the outlying parts of the city.

Despite the fact over 70,000 additional passengers were carried, the extended service the number of passengers per mile increased only from 2.17 to 2.18 and the revenue per mile by only .7 cents.

The Parkwood Heights route continues to show its best revenue.

Next in line is the East Hill routes; then West Hill-North Park; West Hill-Hillcrest and lastly the Avondale-Parkdale route.

NOT GOOD FOR RUSH HOURS

During the year three new "minibuses" were put into service in light load periods with their acquisition being considered successful, although their limited capacity presented operating difficulties when sudden rush periods occurred.

Conversely the two larger GMC buses had been unsatisfactory.

The 1963 chairman of the Transit Commission is Sidney Sillitoe, with members, T. E. Schwab and Kenneth Pinder.

Golden Hawks Welcomed to Kiwanis Club

The Golden Hawks of the Royal Canadian Air Force had a packed house yesterday afternoon at the Kiwanis Club's annual father-son dinner. Wing Commander Frank Hatton, D.F.C., comanding officer of the group, gave a brief talk in which he covered the formation of the Golden Hawks in 1959 to commemorate 50 years of powered flight.

The Hawks are now the only flying team which the RCAF has and the members are the top pilots of the service. They put on aerobatic displays across North America from late spring to early fall and take part in special training during the rest of the year.

The various technical aspects of the group were explained by Wing Commander Hatton. He said that the team had never had to cancel a performance thanks to the supporting crew which kept the equipment in top shape at all times. A ground crew of 35 men maintain the aircraft and the team personnel are rounded out by an announcer and a public relations officer.

A film of the team's performances at the World Congress of Flight in 1960 at Las Vegas, Nevada, was shown with Squadron Leader Lloyd Hubbard the team's leader giving the commentary. Flight Lieutenants, Dave Barker, Norm Garstecki and Al Young, who compose the balance of the 1963 team, were also present.

The meeting was conducted by president Ralph Graham.

Crows Feel That Spring Is on Way

Temperatures remain on the chilly side and we still get our almost daily quota of snow flurries, but at least the crows feel that Spring is on the way.

Today a Redcreville district resident called The Ontario Intelligencer to report he had seen a flock of crows flying in that area.

But then some crows don't feel if is worth their time to go south.

One pet crow owned by a Foster Ward resident may be seen flying around almost every day during the winter months.

GETS 25 YEARS

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man who told a city magistrate he imported a brick of morphine valued at $200,000 as "medicine for the stomach," Tuesday was sentenced to 25 years' imprisonment. Ah Hong Goh was convicted of illegally importing morphine and possession of narcotics for the purpose of trafficking.

Small Producer Pushed to Wall Says Argue

WEYBURN, Sask. (CP)—Liberal farm spokesman Hazen Argue said Tuesday night the agricultural policies of the Conservative government have accelerated corporation farming in Canada.

Addressing the Weyburn Liberal constituton, Mr. Argue said Agriculture Minister Hamilton has been promoting factory production of hogs and eggs and small producers have been "pushed to the wall."

He said Mr. Hamilton's policy "of farm credit to the bigger farmers is ruining the small farmers and has resulted in more small farmers being put out of business during the last six years than at any other similar period in our history."

Mr. Argue, member of the last Parliament for Assiniboia, challenged a recent statement by Mr. Hamilton that the Liberal platform calling for a $2 floor price for No. 1 wheat would benefit big farmers and ruin the eastern feeder.

That suggestion is "false and ridiculous," said Mr. Argue.

The floor price would not affect wheat's selling price. It was a guaranteed return. If sales were made at lower than 32 a bushel, a deficiency payment would be made to make up the difference.

Juvenile Sent To Training School

15-year-old Marmora youth, charged with armed robbery and five break-ins, was sent to training school today.

The youth, who appeared in juvenile court in Belleville, was charged with participation in several crimes for which five older men were sentenced to a total of 24 years last week by Belleville Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

New Industrial, Commercial Assessment Needed to Pay For New Capital Projects

New Industrial and commercial assessment will be needed if the city of Belleville is to take care of anticipated capital expenditures within the next few years without an increase in the tax rate.

This is the warning of City Manager J. R. Reynolds in his annual report to city council.

Mr. Reynolds said the city's ability to take care of debt anticipated during the next five years without an increase in taxes would depend on how successful Belleville was in bringing in new industrial and commercial assessment.

The city's debenture debt at the end of 1962 was $5,374,503.96 and will climb another $3,615,506.21 when debenture capital works done in 1962 are added. This will bring the total estimated debenture debt to $8,990,000.10.

But while the city's debenture debt is to climb during the next five years, the city should had an estimated surplus of $58,718.99 to carry forward to this year.

FOUR SHOW DEFICIT

Four city departments showed unfavorable 1962 year's operation but receipts were higher than expected as were over-all expenditures, although to a lesser degree.

Total revenue received in 1962 amounted to $4,357,061.58 exceeding the budget estimate by $136,918.58, and due substantially to the revenue received from the supplementary tax roll of approximately $70,000. Also the property levy on local improvements of approximately $21,000.

Expenditures for the year amounted to $4,298,187.59. This amount exceeding the estimates by $76,186.58.

City departments which failed to operate within their budget estimates were Law Enforcement and other protection; Sanitation and Waste Removal; Recreation and Community Services, and debt charges and special items.

ROLL SHOWS INCREASE

Last year's tax roll at $8,002,861.20 showed an increase of $212,383.40 over 1961 and was 90.79 per cent collected.

The city treasurer reported that tax collections are improving and despite the $212,383 increase in the tax roll last year, the tax arrears at the end of the year had increased only $18,869. The balance of tax arrears at the end of last year was $113,112.50.

All but $62,500.04 or 13.94 per cent of the city's general levy to pay off floating indebtedness has now been paid. There is still one instalment due this year and another in 1964.

Mr. Bender reported that tax collections are, improving as despite the $212,265 increase in the tax roll, last year's net December 31st increased by only $19,869, including interest of $5,515 which was added to the roll.

Mr. Bender said the annual tax sale is doing much to control tax arrears and that by the end of 1963 there should be no property taxes more than three years in arrears.

Two Children Burned to Death In Bushland

WAWA, Ont. (CP) — Trapper Mickey Clement emerged from northern bushland today and told how two small children perished in a fire Sunday at the village of Lochalsh, 35 miles northeast of here.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gideon were away at the time.

Clement, who was trapping in the area during the weekend tried to extinguish the fire with snow and buckets of water from nearby homes.

Wawa is 105 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie.

Butch Bain, 19, a neighbor, suffered severe burns on the face and hands while fighting the fire. He was taken to Chapleau Hospital where his condition today was fair.

Jim Gideon, employed by Canadian Pacific Railways, was visiting friends when the fire broke out.

His wife Shirley was at Chapleau, 65 miles east of Wawa.

Michigan Health Dept. 'Cures' Cancers in Dogs

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan health department plans to seek a patent on an organic compound it says has produced good results in treating two dogs afflicted with cancer.

The dogs were brought to the department in December. They were given a week or two to live. But both still are alive and apparently healing.

State officials Tuesday approved applying for a patent on the substance, which is called compound 1080.

Dr. Albert Heustis, state health commissioner, said the compound may be of use some day in treating human cancer, but no experiments have yet been conducted with human.

Egg Producers Get Bad Deal Says Martin

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The Ontario egg producer addressed recently by federal agriculture minister Hon. Alvin Hamilton "is the creation of a serious situation for the Ontario egg producer," Hon. Paul Martin, Liberal member of the last Parliament for Essex East, said in an interview Tuesday.

"The federal government proposes to replace the Toronto wholesale egg quotations in our daily papers with a price on eggs in cartons to the retail trade for the specific benefit of large commercial egg operations who sell on this market," Mr. Martin said.

"Even though Mr. Hamilton chooses to ignore it, the Toronto wholesale egg market is still there."

Mr. Martin said "30,000 of Ontario's egg producers depend on this market to sell their products. The 300 egg-grading stations in Ontario who service these family farms will be forced to buy eggs on consignment.

"The farmer will send his eggs to the grading station and will accept whatever price the station operator is willing to pay after the eggs have been graded and sold some three to six weeks later.

"The one segment of the egg industry who will capitalize on the new pricing policy is the Toronto wholesaler," Mr. Martin said. "He will try to buy his eggs from the grading station or country shipper as cheaply as possible, carton the eggs, and then he will sell to the retail trade for as much of a premium as he can get."

Cuba's Party Of Communists Nearly Formed

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba's long-awaited Communist party appeared nearly ready for formal launching, Western diplomats said Tuesday.

Premier Fidel Castro will address a regional gathering of nuclei of the United Party of the Socialist Revolution Friday night.

Diplomats saw the announced speech as one of several indications that organizational work is nearing completion of UPSR, Cuba's version of a monolithic, Marxist-Leninist party.

Another sign has been the increasing appearance in the press of references to the formation of political units or nuclei, more and more government leaders are referring to "the party."

Some East European observers, however, dispute the belief that the party is anywhere near ready for a formal unveiling.

Diplomatic sources in close contact with government leaders say the party will be unable to function as long as the Castro-Soviet rift does not make a clear choice between the conflicting policies of Moscow and Peking.

Cuba has kept out of the ideological battle now tearing at the unity of world communism. But there are signs the Cuban leadership leans more to the Red Chinese hardline policy than the Soviet peaceful-coexistence approach.

Muskrat Pelts Likely to Bring Good Prices

Muskrat traps may be a good investment this spring. Verne Davis of Selby has told several trappers. Mr. Davis, a fresh-lance raw fur buyer who operates on commission for Ben Zender, of Montreal, is mostly interested in beaver, but he expects the price of muskrat to rise.

Muskrat pelts have sold as high as five dollars for an average fur, and as low as fifty cents for a good one during the past few years. Now, the price is about one dollar each. The few rats appearing on the market are those that strayed into beaver traps, and most trappers are annoyed when they catch them.

The beaver for which the traps are set might be worth more than thirty dollars.

In Tweed yesterday, Mr. Davis bought about 30 beaver pelts, and fewer muskrat and mink. Also in Tweed yesterday, Les Hudgin said that the Hudson Bay Company bought nearly the same amount.

Mr. Davis commented that although beaver pelts are scarce at this time of year, they are often better quality than those offered in spring and fall. Part of the reason, he suggested, may be that most of the trappers working now are professionals, able to give each pelt the best possible treatment.

Continue Work On Secret Nuclear Weapon

LONDON (AP)—The British government said today that it will continue developing a secret nuclear weapon to be carried by Britain's V-bombers.

The weapon, details of which have not been announced, is expected to help fill the gap left by the junking of the American bomber-borne Skybolt missile which Britain has a Polaris-equipped submarine fleet. It will supplement the British Blue Steel bomb, which can be carried by the same RAF jet bombers.

The government made its disclosure in a White Paper reporting that Britain will spend $1,680,000,000 ($1,654,000,000) for defence in the next fiscal year. Nuclear deterrent was high on the list.

CAN SWITCH TO BOMBERS

The secret British weapon originally was intended for tactical use by fighter planes flying close to the ground to avoid discovery by enemy radar. The White Paper said air force experts had decided it could be adapted speedily and cheaply to give it strategic nuclear punch to the RAF's jet bombers.

Notwithstanding the cancellation of Skybolt," the White Paper said, "the responsibility for providing British strategic nuclear striking power will rest upon bomber command for some years to come."

As a substitute for the Skybolt, Britain is being supplied by the United States with the Polaris missile. Britain must build submarines to carry Polaris and it is expected to be about five years before they are in commission.

IN MEMORIAM

KORABECK. — In loving memory of my husband, Cortland (Dave) Korabeck, who died a week February 20th, 1953.

Within our heart I always keep,
A special place for you;
For there are memories and happiness
And treasure the rest of my life;
But to the world you were a stranger,
Unless the world was told
So looking back in memory
Upon the path we have trod,
I bless the years I had with you,
And leave you in the hands of God.
—Lovingly remembered by wife Loyola.

DENYES. — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mary Denyes, who passed away February 20th, 1961.

Time flies, years passed and gone,
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth
With grief to dwell.
The flowers we place upon her grave
May wither and decay,
But the love for her who sleeps beneath,
Shall never fade away.
—Sadly missed and remembered by husband Fred and family.

$209,755 Total Of Fire Loss Says Fire Chief

TRENTON — In his annual report to council, read Monday night, Fire Chief Cecil Ellis said that property loss for the year had been $107,818 on property valued at $243,200. Of contents, valued at $160,834, losses were $101,940. Total fire loss for 1962, $209,755.5.

During the year, the department answered 355 calls; 294 in town, 27 in Murray township, four in Sidney township, eight in Ameliasburg, and four Mutual Aid alarms and standbys. April was the worst month, fire-wise, with 59 fires recorded. Day-time fires totalled 216; night-time, 119.

Worst fires for the year were at Quinte Plumbing on March 6, with losses reported as $82,200; Canada Creosoting Company, April 30 with loss set at $82,000 and the McNair block on Dec. 7, with a loss of $93,600. The creosote fire loss was not included in the year's total loss estimate as there was no property loss.

Capital Cost Of Hospitals Autonomy Price

TRENTON — Miss Hazel Naudett, administrator at Trenton Memorial Hospital, told members of the Trenton Rotary Club Monday night that if hospitals wished to continue their local autonomy money to meet capital costs must be found at community level. She said that capital costs can not allowed for in the Ontario hospital plan or in government grants to hospitals. Building and extension needs must be supplied by local groups or individuals. Without such support, she said, the hospital autonomy could well become a thing of the past.

In order to merit local support, Miss Naudett said, hospitals must meet definite standards and extend service to all regardless of race, color or creed.

Miss Naudett said that the local hospital had a ¾ million budget per year. The local hospital is free of debt, (one of three in Ontario that can make this boast) and has property assets of $1,500,000, with $200,000 tied up in equipment. The local institution employs 210 persons, accounting for 70 per cent of the operating costs. Actual cost per patient per day is $22.44.

Miss Naudett paid tribute to the present hospital board of directors, many of whom have given long years of service to the institution. She said that the board and hospital staff all worked to give a good standard of care at the least possible cost to Trenton district residents.

Wants Rotary To Pay Cost of Pool Operation

TRENTON — Trenton youngsters may splash around in wading pools in east and west Trenton next summer. They will if Councillor James Duncan can persuade the Trenton Rotary Club, which has offered to build the pools, to also pay the salaries of recreation committee supervisors.

The recreation committee says it needs an extra $1,000 for salaries. Council can't quite see its way clear to digging into the town's coffers for the money, but approves of the pools in principle if the service club will extend its generosity.

Ask Re-zoning For Erection of 'Maisonettes'

TRENTON — A Toronto contracting firm, D. G. Hahn and associates, has asked that eight acres on the east side of Sidney Street be re-zoned to permit the erection of multi-unit, maisonette-type buildings. The firm plans to build 80 units in two stages.

At the present time the area, known as the "old market gardens" is zoned for single-family dwellings and, partially, multi-units.

Council's decision hinges on a report from the assessment department, the return to the town in taxes, in other words.

Last year, council turned down an application from the same firm to erect property on the west side of Dufferin Ave., (adjacent to Coulter Crescent) for the erection of maisonettes. Coulter Crescent residents opposed the move in strength.

Airman Elects Jury Trial On Drunk Driving Charge

A 35-year-old Trenton airman, charged with drunk driving in a fatal accident near Belleville, November 15, was committed for trial this afternoon. LAC Gordon Howard Gillespie elected trial by judge and jury at today's preliminary hearing before Magistrate Phillip Baker of Kingston.

Fatally injured in the mishap was elderly Saint Anne resident James Welsh. He was riding a bicycle along Highway 2 on the eastern outskirts of Belleville at the time.

OPP Constable Glen Hiuser told of observing the airman, who was driving a tractor trailer loaded with three Yukon aircraft engines at the time, before he was charged at Belleville district headquarters.

The officer said Gillespie walked with "a pronounced stagger" and later in the cells at Belleville "the air was quite strong with alcohol."

William Bloom, Picton, was one of the first witnesses on the scene of the accident. He said he and friends stopped at the scene and saw the transport pulled over to the side of the road and the man's body.

"We saw the man was coming in on a stretcher from a house to call an ambulance and police.

OBSERVED TRACKS

The highway was covered with heavy frost and he observed "weaving" transport tracks along the road. He also saw bicycle tire marks on the shoulder of the road.

"Are you sure you saw these tire marks?" asked defence counsel R. Gregory Stuart.

"Yes."

"Are you sure they came from a truck?"

"Yes. They were transport tracks."

"Is it possible," pressed Mr. Butler, "they may have been from some other truck?"

"It's possible," replied Mr. Bloom.

"The bicycle tracks. Do you know if they came from this particular bicycle?" pressed Mr. Butler.

"The substance of your evidence," he told the witness, "is you saw these tracks but you don't know what they belonged to."

"They didn't belong to a horse," retorted Mr. Blower.

He identified Gillespie in court and recalled he had seen him stagger at the scene.

William Messer, Point Anne resident, a friend of Mr. Welch, said he drove past the scene shortly afterwards and stopped. Mr. Welch, who was still conscious, was clad in blue jeans, a grey car coat and mitts.

He also recognized the accused man in court and claimed he was unsteady on his feet.

"How did he walk?" asked Mr. Butler.

"He appeared to be a little unsure of himself."

SAW MAN STAGGER

He said he never spoke to the victim.

"I saw he was suffering from shock. He was pretty gray.

LaSalle Ambulance operator Stuart Meeks said an airman whom he identified as Gillespie tried to help him unload a stretcher at the scene.

"Due to the condition this man was in, we told him to let go and we off-loaded it ourselves".

He said the accused man was staggering "and appeared to be under the influence."

"I was nine years in the service and I have seen a lot of people under the influence, and I would say he was pretty drunk".

TOOK KEYS FROM TRUCK

Constable Hiuser admitted he could understand Gillespie's speech. He agreed the airman had taken the keys from the truck of his own accord and later gave him the details on booking an RCAF sergeant.

"He gave you all these specific instructions?" asked Mr. Butler.

"Yes sir. He did."

The officer said he informed the airman he would be charged as they drove past the Belville post office.

"I was mulling it over in my mind," he told the defence counsel.

"You were not sure. Isn't that true," suggested Mr. Butler.

The officer replied that "eventually" he made up his mind.

Mr. Butler asked if he thought the accident might have had an effect on Gillespie.

"I couldn't really say sir," replied the constable.

Enumerators Must Not Ask Phone Numbers

MONTREAL (CP) — Nelson Castonguay, chief electoral officer, said Tuesday he will take action if complaints are received about election enumerators asking for voters' telephone numbers.

Enumerators in a number of Montreal ridings were reported Tuesday to be asking voters for their telephone numbers. Mr. Castonguay, in a telephone interview said he will have the practice stopped if voters complain to him.

Mr. Castonguay said telephone numbers are not needed for voters lists and voters asked for such information should refuse it. Nor were they required to give their age.

High School Board May Hire Supt. for 3 Schools

Members of the Bay of Quinte High School Board will decide next week whether a superintendent will be hired to supervise the operation of the three secondary schools in Belleville.

Board members discussed the matter at length last night at their regular monthly meeting but due to a lengthy agenda the meeting was adjourned without all business being completed and the board will meet again next Tuesday night.

Under Provincial Department of Education regulations, high school districts with more than 150 teachers are entitled to hire a superintendent.

Board members are still negotiating on salaries with local high school teachers.

In other business the board adopted a motion to commence a nursing assistants' course at Quinte Secondary School starting September 1st.

PROVIDE FACILITIES

Facilties for the instruction course will be included in the new addition at Quinte Secondary School, which is now being constructed. The school principal was authorized to prepare a brochure on the course.

The board agreed to go along with the request of the Ontario School Trustees' Council calling for province wide standards in advertising for teachers.

And it also agreed on the insertion of a "trial" advertisement in a new magazine "Teaching Opportunities" which is being circulated among all teachers in the province.

Permission was granted for Quinte Secondary School teacher Dean Kemp to apply for leave of absence with the view of doing overseas teaching.

To make things more convenient for the custodial staff at Belleville Collegiate, the board authorized installation of a doorway in a basement boiler room providing easier access to the first floor of the building.

WILL BE THANKED

Approval for will be extended to the Belleville YMCA for assistance given in swimming instruction at the Tops Motor Hotel pool, which is being used by Quinte students, while the school gymnasium is out of use.

The pool at the Tops will be used for about another month, it is expected.

In the meantime repairs to supporting trusses at the Quinte school gymnasium roof are expected to be proceeded with. Plans call for additional outside support on the west wall, plus additional roof support.

Cost of repairs to the gymnasium roof supports will be made without expense to the school board, it is stated.

Permission was granted to the Students' Parliament at Moira Secondary School to arrange for floodlightning of the school. Details of the plan are still to be worked out.

The board went along with the request of the Trenton Board of Education to enter into a reciprocal agreement regarding the attendance of Sidney township students who might be affected as result of annexation.

REQUESTS TABLED

Arrangements will be made to allow such students to continue in their present classes until the end of the school term.

Two requests asking transfer of students to another school were tabled until the June meeting when all such requests will be considered.

The board approved the engagement of Frank Quick as consulting engineer in connection with the re-wiring at Belleville Collegiate, which was started last year.

U. C. Minister At Orangeville Is Suspended

ORANGEVILLE, Ont. (CP)— Rev. Reginald Erickson has been suspended as minister of Westminster United Church here while the Dufferin-Peel presbytery of the United Church of Canada investigates him.

Neither presbytery officials nor Mr. Davidson will say why the suspension was ordered. A presbytery statement said the formation of a "serious nature" had been received.

Chairman of the presbytery, Rev. Keith Tudor, said only:

"His efficiency may reasonably be questioned."

But a church elder, who insisted on being anonymous, scoffed at the suggestion that it was a question of inefficiency.

"If a man is inefficient, it usually means a rap on the knuckles," he said. "This investigation is more like a royal commission."

Mr. Davidson came to Canada four years ago from Australia and has been minister of Westminster for three years.

Mr. Tudor conducted services last Sunday and told the congregation of the presbytery's action. A supply minister is to be arranged.

PRODUCTION UP SLIGHTLY

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain's industrial production in 1962 was only slightly higher than in 1961, it was reported today. The industrial index, compiled by the central statistical office, with 1958 being taken as 100, averaged 115 for 1962 compared with 114 for 1961.

Art of Selling Is Called Key to Healthy Economy

Belleville Sales and Ad Club members received what they will probably remember as the shortest and fastest yet most dynamic and most informative course in salesmanship ever given by a guest speaker, when C. G. "Hoffman, president of the Radio Sales Bureau, burst upon them yesterday evening at the Columbus Hall.

Alternating between the quiet serious approach and an explosive, fast moving presentation, Mr. Hoffman covered a wide range of subject material pertinent to successful salesmanship. His alternating moods served to emphasize certain points and to keep his audience on their toes if not almost jumping out of their seats.

The art of selling, he contended, is the prime moving factor in a healthy economy. Throughout his address he presented the basic theory that selling was not a game but a serious profession in which the participant should be fully cognizant of the human factors involved and be prepared at all times to be one up others as he would have others be unto him.

The many points which Mr. Hoffman advanced included such advice as: keep your ads brief and sincere; know your field; do not ask or promise something which you cannot produce; be prepared to listen to your customer; be a leader in your group, listening to the problems of others, what they have to say and then offering possible solutions.

DEMONSTRATE

Demonstration of the product one has to sell is the easiest and yet the most overlooked sales method, advised the speaker. If a potential customer says "no" it is usually because one has overlooked some point in his presentation which is pertinent to the buyer's needs and another presentation is required, Mr. Hoffman said.

Personal confidence, stressing past accomplishments and positive thinking, is vital to a successful sales career, he said. Small serious and habits can either make or break the individuals relationship with his clients, the speaker stressed.

It was also most important to make decisions, even though they might turn out to be wrong. To do nothing is the worst possible thing," Mr. Hoffman advised. Mistakes can and should be allowed for if an individual or group is to move forward, he said.

In concluding the speaker noted the saying, "blessed is the man who digs a well from which others can draw hope and faith." Such a philosophy, he suggested, should be the goal of the salesman both as a professional man and as a private individual.

GIVEN OVATION

The club gave Mr. Hoffman a standing ovation.

Vice-president Jerry O'Connor announced a special sales seminar, named "Sellsat '63," was being held for club members and other interested persons on March 30th, prior to the next regular meeting of the club. The clinic will last the afternoon and evening and is being subsidized by the club. Further information is available to non-members from Mr. O'Connor, a Front Street jeweller.

The meeting was conducted by president James Walker.

Information Roadblock

Science, according to Dr. Fred R. Cagle of Tulane University, is in danger of drowning in its own information.

Dr. Cagle, co-ordinator of research at the New Orleans college, considers the problem one of the most critical facing scientists.

The sum total of human knowledge, it is said, is now doubling every ten years, with scientific and technological information mounting at an even faster rate. There are now 70,000 scholarly journals being published regularly dealing with the field of physical and biological sciences. No wonder that scientists are finding it increasingly difficult to keep abreast of the latest developments, even in their own narrow specialties.

Faced with that sort of picture, one is tempted to take refuge in jocularity. An old definition, or rather two definitions, come to mind. What is a specialist? A man who keeps on learning more and more about less and less, until finally he knows everything about nothing. He is the opposite of the man with a broad general scholarship who, in today's world of ever-increasing knowledge, finds himself learning less and less about more and more until he finally knows nothing about everything.

This problem, though, is really no joke, as can be realized when one learns that today it often costs less to carry out research on a scientific problem than to hunt through information to find out if such research has already been done.

This is certainly a new dilemma facing the world's scientific community. But, before we become too alarmed, we might pause to consider the end results. At the worst, these could be duplication of effort—the expenditure of many hours of skilled labor seeking to solve a problem which had already been successfully tackled.

But in the past, before modern methods of communication were devised, how many thousands of men must have struggled to find an answer to difficulties which men elsewhere had conquered years, or even generations, earlier?

Tears in the Test Tube

Science, it appears, is about to present mankind with the greatest boon of history, an understanding of women's tears. The event slipped into the news unnoticed last week, with the announcement by columnist Hal Boyle that scientists have found a chemical difference between the tears wept by women crying emotionally, and the tears wept by women peeling onions.

So far, there is no practical use for this knowledge. After all, if a man asks a woman why she is crying, she will usually tell the truth if she has been peeling onions.

But one predicts the day is coming when the chemical content of all varieties of crying will be definitely established. When that day comes, the worried husband need only take a sample of the confusing tears to a basement laboratory for the answer to his questions.

Whether this will add to the sum total of domestic bliss, we leave for the next generation to discover.

An Equal and Opposite Reaction

Editorial writers sometimes defeat their own purpose. One U.S. magazine, for example, probably enjoyed record sales in Canada last week, just because of the editorials blasting the magazine for its scandalous attack on Mr. Diefenbaker. People who are normally more discriminating bought copies just to see what it was all about.

In the same manner, editorial comment on vandalism can have the effect of informing unimaginative vandals of the more original means of harassing society, and even politicians sometimes scan editorial columns looking for ready made opinions to regurgitate in public.

There is no ready solution to the problem, it just seems to be a part of life. One can hope, however, that the popularity which seems to accompany notoriety will be short lived, for at least one U.S. magazine.

Progress

One hundred years ago, nearly eight-tenths of all working energy in the world was supplied by animals, including men. Today, machines do about 65 percent of the work, while men and animals loaf.

So far, so good. But one hopes the mechanical brains can be held at bay for at least a few more years.

Spacemen to Be Scientists

By Neal Stanford in The Christian Science Monitor

There are signs that the future in space belongs to the natural scientists, as distinct from engineers and astronauts.

It is not that any of these three groups is not needed, if space is to be thoroughly explored.

But as it becomes easier in fly spacecraft, building them becomes better understood, it is the scientist — the astronomer, physicist, the geophysicist — to do the actual exploration and investigation and understand what he sees.

Already scientists are demanding a greater part in manned spaceflight programs. The eight-week study last summer, involving dozens of American and headed by Dr. James A. Van Allen, made this the major recommendation of its report.

Actually the officials in the space administration have been aware of the increasing importance of scientists to space exploration.

NASA chief James Webb has agreed for some time that when spacecraft have room for two or three or more in a crew, there should be astronomers, biologists, geologists, geophysicists, etc., among them.

These would all have a basic space training in astronautics, but their presence in the crew would be primarily to make use of their knowledge in their special fields.

Commenting on this during a recent speech in Philadelphia, Dr. Homer Newell, Director of NASA's Office of Space Sciences, said that all his office now has been assigned specifically to work out the means of introducing scientists into spaceships.

* * *

Dr. Newell added that he, personally, would like to see scientists have at least an astronaut training program right now. But he said that, in this case, the scientists will have to be fully qualified crew members and not just observers.

* * *

Spaceflight has not yet become so routine that one can dispense with the requirement that all spaceship occupants be fully capable of taking over control of the craft.

If such scientists can be found, they should be fed into the program now, according to Dr. Newell.

But if there are no scientists who can qualify as full-fledged astronauts, then he acknowledged it would be better to wait until they can go along as observer-passengers.

As the time approaches when men will be landing on the moon and Mars, and possibly other planets, it is obvious the more scientifically knowledgeable these men are the more they will be able to appreciate and understand and explain what they see.

This is no criticism of an astronaut who is first a test pilot. It is only to point up the future need for other than ex-jet pilots to make these spaceflights.

These scientists with their critical capacities for scientific judgment, discrimination, and analysis (especially of a total situation) can do what neither instruments nor astronauts can do, however important their role may be.

For example, the urge to search for life beyond earth, with its obvious compelling fascination for peoples of all nations, is no longer the sole province of the science fiction writer.

It should, in the opinion of the Van Allen study, take precedence as a scientific goal in space research over everything else.

The study notes that "Of all the discoveries that may come from or can now be anticipated from man's efforts in space science, none so easily captures the imagination nor is more likely to focus interest and acclaim than the discovery that there is in this universe a biota other than our own."

* * *

As to the prospect of success these scientists who wrote this are not only hopeful, they are downright optimistic. They promise that planetary systems like this one are common in the vast reaches of the universe (it seems more than probable), and with possibly millions upon millions of systems to choose from, the prospect of organic life existing elsewhere is, as they put it, immense.

Should organic life be found on Mars and its independent origin be demonstrated, then it is almost inevitable that life in some form pervades the other one billion or more systems.

For if such life arises twice in a related environment, it is argued that it must surely occur abundantly elsewhere in the staggering numbers of comparable planetary systems.

Judge's Duty Is to Know Inequalities

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A reader in North Carolina calls my attention to a recent case in which a judge, during the same week, sentenced two juvenile offenders for committing the same kind of act — in boys was given a "hard" sentence, and the other was given a suspended one.

My correspondent was indignant at this and, in what he called "injustice." He thinks that the two offenders should have been treated "exactly" for equal offenses. And he asks me to share his indignation.

Actually, I don't think the contrary. I don't know what the facts in each case were, but the principle followed by the judge is the only sound one. It is not "equality" to treat unequals equally; it is gross unfairness.

It was the portentous Mikado in the operetta who proposed to "making the punishment fit the crime." But the punishment should fit the criminal; justice is blind, but it cannot be stupid also. And nothing is more stupid, in criminal jurisprudence, than failing to distinguish real differences between those who commit similar crimes.

Three boys may steal separate cars; one as an ill-advised escapade; another as an act of rebellion against his parents; and the third for dark and ugly reasons. Must all three be punished in the same way?

I think not. From the point of a philosophical grasp of what "justice" is, we cannot understand the principle of equality. For instance, parents who claim that they give their children "equal treatment" are guilty of a great fault if by this they mean that they judge all their children by the same standard.

The loving and intelligent parents take into account the profound differences between their children — differences in temperament, in character, and in bodily structure. To discipline one's children fairly means to give unequal treatment to unequals; for to treat them the same would be manifestly unfair to the weaker, the more delicate, the less intelligent ones.

Justice is the correct proportioning the means to the ends. And this can be accomplished only by knowledge of the individual case. A judge who sentenced all auto thieves to the same term would be a ridiculously fluous official; the statute books can do that without the need of a judge.

Indeed, one of the tragedies of our crowded and archaic system of jurisprudence is the lack of time, talent and resourcefulness that would enable the court to analyze cases with an individual basis, taking into account all the complex and psychiatric variables in each case. It is the "mass production" aspects of American justice that create as much misery as the crimes that confront them.

Witness Box Given Doors

Saint John Telegraph-Journal

You can't please everybody, and no one knows it better just now than a certain judge in Kansas City. He tried, but it just didn't work out.

In recent months Judge O. Q. Claflin observed that more and more feminine witnesses were appearing in skirts that, though modish, were both tight and short. Some of these did distract other litigants, but it seemed to make the ladies themselves a bit uncomfortable self-conscious.

The judge reasoned that only Paris can dictate about hemlines, but at least he could add swinging doors to the witness box. This is what he did.

His quirt is decorous enough now, but even the witness box thing that it lacks a certain something. All of which would seem to prove that justice isn't blind after all.

The Canadian Red Cross has issued a call for more blood. Thousands of pints are needed until needed now, before the inevitable heavy demand comes upon us. There is no doubt that these needed pints will be forthcoming. Surgeon General Magee comes back from North Africa with a whole sheaf of stories of men who were given plasma on the battlefield from bottles hung on bayonets and branches, and who could not otherwise have been moved to a hospital; stories of plasma flown to the fighting line in planes or carried on trucks.

Boys discharging air rifles off Sidney Street in the direction of Albert College caused authorities considerable concern yesterday afternoon. The air gun pellets were striking the school and came dangerously near breaking windows.

Tentative plans, it appears, with Mr. E. E. Through this office alone some 20,000 books are expected to be registered. The Trenton office takes care of all Sidney Township (except Bellleville), Rawdon township and Ameliasburg, Stirling, Frankford, Batawa, Glen Miller, Consecon and all such towns and villages.

What Can One Buy a Lady?

Vancouver Sun

Let the organ warble a sympathetic dirge for Provincial Secretary W. D. Black. Poor Mr. Black, confronted with the task of choosing tokens of public esteem for a team of rejoicing B.C. lady curlers, sent them earrings.

MDPs Leo Nimsick arose in the Legislature and clawed Mr. Black all up and down the back.

Now mind you, Mr. Black was open to criticism. It's hard for men to choose things that will like for one lady. With a whole team of ladies . . . .

Should they have all had pierced ears?

Stockings — the last refuge of the beseiged? What politician can take the risk of buying one lady, let alone several. What size stockings she wears?

It would be a public scandal.

Silverware? How can be match what she's got?

Diamonds? Not out of public funds.

Cosmetics? They've all got them.

A bottle of — er —scotch? Tut-tut-tut!

No, sir — Mr. Black didn't have a chance.

This is one of the burdens of public office under which the boldest politicians wilt.

In 1682 he discovered the Mississippi Delta, claiming the Mississippi, all the rivers that entered it and all the land watered by them for the King of France, Louis XIV. He named this vast tract Louisiana. He was assassinated by a trusted man among the colonists he was leading to settle the delta in 1687.

To Your Good Health

Rheumatic Fever Related To Beta Hemolytic Strep

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What are the causes and effects of rheumatic fever?

What is the prognosis for a sufferer with moderately severe heart damage?

Can such a person ever return to a normal, useful life? — J. M.

Rheumatic fever is an inflammatory disease which appears to be related to a form of streptococcus infection — the beta hemolytic strep, technically.

The characteristic pattern is for a severe sore throat to develop first, with high fever, followed in about seven to 10 days by the joints becoming sore and swollen. There is very likely to be mild fever, headache, weakness. (There can be substantial variations in pattern in some cases).

Not all sore throats are due to strep; not all strep throats lead to rheumatic fever. But once rheumatic fever is identified, careful treatment is required. In addition, thereafter the patient should be beware of every illness which might threaten a new strep infection or flare-up of the old one.

The most dangerous result of rheumatic fever is inflammation of heart valves with subsequent formation of scar tissue and in turn prevents the valve from opening and-or closing properly. The result: heart damage, heart. There are, of course, other causes of the same type of damage.

Other possible consequences of rheumatic fever include chorea (St. Vitus dance), pleural or kidney infections.

In short, it's a nasty disease, but with vigilance and careful treatment, prospects of cure are good.

Bed rest is essential until symptoms have disappeared. It is not always easy to convince patients of the importance of this, but getting up too soon can be costly in health. Salicylates (aspirin - type drugs) in large doses are given or in some instances steroids of the cortisone type. The choice may depend on how well a patient tolerates one or the other.

When the patient is allowed to get up, he should maintain extreme caution against colds; keep nutrition and rest at levels which will maintain his resistance against germs. It is now regular (and most useful) practice to give long-acting penicillin once a month for a period of years to prevent further ones.

It is not usually the first attack of rheumatic fever that devastates health; it is repeated strep infections.

Thus I can say that a single attack of rheumatic fever does not mean invalidism; recurring attacks can. An added tip: Dental extractions can lead to them. The precaution is use of a sulfa drug or other antibiotic before, during and after extensive energy and auxiliary daily tasks — housework and the like — to take strain off the heart.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please send me a booklet or something on causes and cures for itching and fungus in ears — P.M.

I don't have any such, but I don't know of any simple remedy for fungus infections, so I'd have to say: If you really want results, see a dermatologist, or skin specialist.

Note to Mrs. G. F.: I don't know of any evidence that Vitamin A can be of benefit in heart cases. I don't know of any harm it could do, either.

Never take "cures" from diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee Ill., for a copy of his booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease". Please enclose a long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope and 25c in coin to cover cost of handling.

Price Increase

Saint John Telegraph-Journal

From the billion dollars In-American property confiscated by Fidel Castro to the loss of $750,000,000 annual exports to large dollars and the $62,000,000 ransom paid for Cuban prisoners, the enthronement of Communism 90 miles off the shore of the U.S. has cost the American people more than $3,000,000,000 since Jan. 1, 1959.

Not bad for a peanut-sized dictator, considering that the whole U.S. expenditure for World War I was slightly more than $32,000,000,000. The price of war — and peace — has gone up.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

When times are good, as they have been by and large or the past twenty-years some business get into the habit of treating themselves for their own convenience. We are, of course, in the very flower of the Age of Convenience. The motor car is the chief implement of our convenience but so too are the buttons we push on the wall for light, the taps we turn for water, the furnaces we instruct with little needles on the wall, the telephones we imagine have sent at our hand from time immemorial. Who can remember when we had to stand and watch the iceman hoist the ice into the ice box? Who can recollect the first supermarket they ever entered? Convenience has been said is being perfected to such an extent that we are now irritated by any inconvenience.

It is no wonder when that convenience should have quietly introduced itself into the office of life, including our way of doing business. When some goods get lost on the mail or delivered for three days, I made determined enquiries as to what held up the delivery. I believe it was not convenient for the clerk who took the order to put it through that day, because it would have detained her until the rush hour started. The packing clerk did not find it convenient to attend to my order as he was also a victim of convenience by the piling up of previous orders. And so on. When I called the boss to task for a lingering crony of mine, why he didn't fire such people, he said the business was being people, and having to hire and train new ones, was far too inconvenient.

City Population Is 30,332 With an Assessment for '63 Taxation of $31,961,865

Belleville had a 1962 population of 30,332, and an assessment for 1963 taxation will be $31,961,865, it is revealed in the city assessor's report for 1962.

This is a population increase of 1,262, and an assessment increase of $1,348,710 over 1961.

Total assessed value of all property in the city, including that exempt from taxation was given at $38,050,965.

The assessment per capital last year was $1,006.26, increased from $1,001.50, from 1961.

By way of comparison the city's population stood at 15,042 back in 1943. The same year assessment stood at $11,049,415 and the tax rate an attractive 37 mills.

Last year's tax rate was 89.3 mills for residential property and 98.6 mills for commercial.

ASSESSMENT UP

Residential assessment in the city in 1962 totalled $18,551,545, making up 57.98 per cent of the total. The percentage of commercial assessment was 26.6 and that of manufacturing 11.39.

The assessment breakdown shows that total assessment for public school support was $27,- 256,200 and for separate school support $3,663,335.

Addition to last year's tax roll under Section 39 of the Assessment Act totalled $341,- 730.

Assessment commissioner G. Leighton Thompson reported the reassessment program was well on its way toward completion with the new system to be in effect for the 1963 assessment roll.

Film Festival Opens at Corby Library

The first of a four-night showing of the 1963 Film Festival staged by the Belleville and District Film Council was held last night at the Corby Public Library.

The next showing will be Thursday evening, with showings also on Tuesday and Thursday of next week.

Film Council president Bernard Wright told last night's audience of about 50 persons that spreading the four-night showing out over two weeks would enable more people to attend.

Last night's showing of films included a ten-minute travelogue on the beauties of the Saguenay River in Quebec. A second travel film, "Two Ancient Cities and Two Royal Residences" showed scenes in historical and architectural wealth of Warwick and York in Spain as well as the splendor of ancient royal residences.

Feature picture of the night was a dramatic documentary on the 230-bed hospital ship SS Hope, on a mission of health in disease ridden Far Eastern countries.

The quality of films for the first night of the festival was outstanding and the quality of films for the remaining evenings promises to be equally varied and interesting.

with their abandonment plans in the heat of an election campaign. The net result is that action on transport problems has been shelved until after the election.

MUST THIN OUT

There seems to be fairly common agreement among most vitally interested parties that the railways must be allowed to thin out their deficit branch lines.

But the Prairies want a master plan, based on a federal study of the present interests of the Canadian economy, the special interests of the transportation industry, the prairies and the agricultural industry.

The basic ingredients for a master plan have been advanced by the MacPherson royal commission on transportation.

The commission, which submitted a three-volume report after two years of intensive study and public hearings on railway problems, said flatly branch lines that don't pay their way must not be subsidized by the government.

In essence, the commission suggested a $13,000,000 annual subsidy to compensate the railways for losses incurred by uneconomic lines pending their abandonment. The subsidy would lift the burden of the railways' net losses from shippers, while allowing the railways to run out red-ink branch lines on a gradual basis.

This program would allow affected interests to adjust to alternative forms of transportation. It would also permit a reassessment of the remaining lines as the program proceeded.

SIX INDICTED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six men, including the former Speaker and a former member of the Maryland state legislature, were indicted today on mail fraud charges involving savings and loan association activities. Among those named was A. Gordon Boone, 53, Towson, Md., Speaker of the House in the current session of the Maryland legislature, in which he has served since 1947. He was identified as a lawyer.

THE WORD OF GOD

In the very nature of things man cannot know God, the Creator of the universe, unless He reveals Himself to man. Man left to himself would have as many ideas of God and His purpose concerning mankind as there are men upon the face of the earth, and none of them would be true.

The Hebrew Scriptures testify that they are the word of God and concerning them Christ said, "Thy word is truth" (John 17:17). On the surface they are but the record of the lives of certain individuals with whom it is stated God dealt, and the history of the nation and prophecies relating to them, but hidden therein is to be found the truth concerning the origin of man and the plan and purpose concerning man and the way in which He will carry out that purpose, which revelation can be found nowhere else. Christ and His apostles quoted from Hebrew Scriptures and the New Testament is the record thereof (Isa. 8:20; Luke 24:27; Acts 26:22). Heaven and earth shall find; knock and it shall be opened unto you. True Christians know the right basis upon which they believe it and have a "thus saith the Lord" therefor.

All creation seaks of the knowledge, wisdom and power of God Almighty, the Creator of the heavens and the earth (Psalm 19:1). Yet there are those who thought they will allow it takes intelligence to build a log shanty will not allow that it took any intelligence to build the living tree from which the logs were obtained. The tree just "happened" by the law of nature. A law without a lawmaker? "Shall the work say of him that made it, or he made me not? or shall the thing framed say of him that framed it, He had no understanding?" (Isa. 29:16). Not that planted the ear, shall he not hear, he that formed the eye, shall he not see?" (Psalm 94:9).

Christendom, while claiming to believe in Christ, has been and is so brainwashed by the philosophy that men who have never learned the Scriptures, let alone know what they teach, deny them as being the word of God. Where that answereth a matter before he heareth it, it is folly and shame unto him" (Prov. 18:13). Others have readily been led to criticize them, without any thought of seeking to understand them. Well do the Scriptures say, "The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God" (Psalm 14:1). He is so blind he has not even the beginning of wisdom and understanding. "The fear (reverence) of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom" (Psalm 111:10).

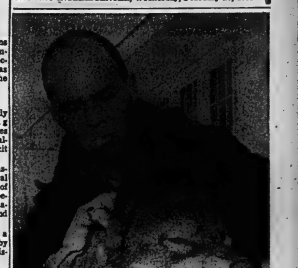
It is only by meditation upon God's word, His law and precepts, that one can gain the spirit of a sound mind and have God revealed to him in wisdom and understanding. Any wisdom, so-called, that is not based upon His word will perish. It will come to naught (Isa. 29:14-16). "To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them" (Isa. 8:20). If a teaching is based upon a true foundation it will lead to further truth. If it is based upon a false premise it can lead only to confusion. The philosophies of this world are based upon a disbelief in the word of God or upon a false conception of His character, His plan and His purpose for man. Hence the chaotic condition we see in the world today, politically, economically and religiously.

God declares, "So shall my word (the Hebrew Scriptures) be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it" (Isa. 55:11). What then has God by His word accomplished?

His word, at the appointed time, brought forth from among men Jesus, the promised Messiah, and speaking of His baptism into the will of God David prophetically said, "Lo, I come (in the volume of the book it is written of me), to do thy will, O God" (Heb. 10:7; Psalm 40:7, 8). By it He was begotten of God's spirit and by it He was guided and directed in all His ways saying, "The word which ye hear is not mine, but the Father's which sent (commissioned) me" (John 14:24). God's word has brought forth, and is quietly and without show bringing forth, Christ's true followers; they, too, being begotten of God's spirit through the word of truth (1 Peter 1:23). In due time has now come when it will shortly bring forth all-Israel, the Israel of God, the twelve tribes, (the ten tribes of Anglo-Saxon-Celtic peoples and the two tribes of Judah and Benjamin), the whole house of Israel, purged and purified as by fire, a "people for His name" (Jer. 33:7-9), by which and through which He will bless all the nations of the earth with knowledge, wisdom and understanding, until every knee shall bow to Him and "every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father" (Phil. 2:11).

God tells us in His word that from the very beginning He determined to make man—not some men but all men—in His own image, His own likeness. He has made that purpose He will not, He cannot fail, for the love of God will in due course constrain all men to worship Him in spirit and truth. But it is only since the close of creation man seemingly has been allowed to have his day and way, culminating in the times in which we now live as described by the Apostle Paul over nineteen hundred years ago when he wrote, "This know also, that in the last days (of the reign of sin and death) perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away" (2nd Tim. 3:1-5).

Man from the beginning has slandered God, destroyed one another and sought to take the place of God over one another and so in the Scriptures man is spoken of as the "devil" (meaning slanderer); the dragon (meaning destroyer)—the serpent (meaning deceiver); and Satan (meaning adversary). The Scriptures state He will utterly destroy this wickedness from the face of the earth but the sinners themselves (all mankind, for whom Christ died) will not be destroyed, but will be saved from their sinful ways.



We are now living in the closing days of man's alienation from God, brought about by Adam's disobedience, and just as Christ declared, "Except those days should be shortened, no flesh should be saved" (Matt. 24:22), so a new one can take its place so that present world order, political, financial and ecclesiastical, must be wiped from the face of the earth to make room for the kingdom of truth and righteousness and the fulfilment of Christ's prayer, "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven." The government of that kingdom will be headed up in Christ Jesus the Lord, with Him as their Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace, to the increase of whose government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this" (Isa. 9:6, 7).

Of this government Daniel also testified, saying: "And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed: and the kingdom shall not be left to other people, but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever" (Dan. 2:44).

And so ultimately God through His word will gather all nations unto Himself, to the end that He may be "All in all" (1 Cor. 15:28). Then shall the Lord be glorified, that he might have mercy upon all. O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor? Or who hath first given to him, and it shall be recompensed unto him again? For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen" (Romans 11:33-36).

Clarence Lemke, of Plevna, Ont., caught this timber wolf which was turned in for bounty at the Lands and Forests Station in Tweed yesterday. In the picture, Conservation officer Bill Hutchison is removing the snare. For bounty purposes, only the wolf's ears are required, but most trappers are co-operating with the department's request that the whole carcass be turned in. Almost twenty carcasses this year have been shipped to the departmental laboratories at Maple. Investigations by R—O—Standfield are aimed at developing better means of discriminating between the timber wolf and the brush wolf, or coyote. Now, the final bounty judgment is passed after measuring the distance between the wolf's canine teeth. Adult timber wolves invariably measure more than 25 millimeters, brush wolves less.

Drug Inquiry Recommends End of Patent Protection

5. Full information for doctors about drug costs, with possible federal sponsorship of an authoritative publication giving all necessary particulars and an objective evaluation of new drugs.

The inquiry was launched in April, 1958, after informal complaints about high costs of drugs. Strictly speaking, it was not concerned with whether drug prices are reasonable but whether they result from trade restraint or monopolistic practices.

The commission said its report is of a general character and should be distinguished from one arising from an investigation into alleged contraventions of anti-combines laws. The inquiry was not designed to disclose such offences and none was alleged.

Because of public interest, the commission held public hearings across Canada in 1961 to supplement material gathered by the combines investigation branch. It heard from provincial governments, federal officials, the Canadian Association of Consumers, Canadian Federation of Agriculture, private doctors—there was no brief from the Canadian Medical Association—an economist, druggists and drug manufacturers.

SIGNED BY LAWYER

The report was issued under the signature of commission member Pierre Carignan, a lawyer. The terms of former commission chairman C. Rhodes Smith, a one-time Manitoba attorney-general, and A. S. Whitley, an economist, expired last fall but the two men were kept on to complete work on the report.

On the question of patents the report said evidence does not show that patents have either cut the price of drugs or improved them in any way.

It said Canadian drug patents appear to have conferred substantial economic advantages on patentees, nearly all of them foreign, with only a handful of Canadians receiving similar benefits.

The commission concluded that "the control over drugs exercised through patents in Canada is disadvantageous to the users of drugs in this country by enabling the suppliers . . . to charge high prices in relation to the cost of production and distribution."

PATENTS MAKE PROFITS

It added that the patent system "by placing a profit premium on the development of minor modifications of existing drugs which can be patented, is at least partly responsible for the appearance on the market of many drug preparations of slight value or even questionable activity."

The report said unilateral action by Canada in abolishing patent protection for drugs might be regarded as a means of obtaining the fruits of research and invention in other countries without Canada having to contribute to the cost of new drugs.

The commission conceded abolition might possibly have some effect on future research developments, but it "would neither eliminate the limited amount of research now being carried on nor prevent further research being undertaken in the future." Any reduction in present price margins would not be narrowed to the point where no contribution could be made towards research.

PRICE FIXING INFORMAL

The commission said evidence did not indicate that the high degree of uniformity in retail drug prices is due to any agreement or arrangement between druggists or to any rules of professional conduct adopted by pharmaceutical associations.

"It appears to be due chiefly to a general feeling among pharmacists that price-cutting lowers the dignity of the profession.".

There was evidence that pharmaceutical associations had received complaints of price-cutting by one druggist, but the commission had no evidence that the associations had ever done anything about the complaints.

"The practice of coding prescriptions, however, comes perilously close to price-fixing by agreement," the report continued. "There seems to be only one prime reason for the practice—that any other pharmacist to whom the prescription is taken will identify the code symbol and quote or charge the same price."

The report defines coding of a prescription to mean that the druggist places on a prescription or a copy a code symbol which will indicate to any other pharmacist who sees it the price charged or quoted by the first druggist. The public cannot decipher the code.

In addition to recommending abolition of the coding practice, the commission suggested that pharmaceutical associations consider removing from their rules any provisions in any way related to the practice.

Wider use of and greater emphasis on the generic names of drugs was strongly advocated by the commission. Besides being a factor towards lowering prices, this would also offset some of the disadvantages which the commission said are inherent in the use of brand-name drugs.

The percentage of drug prescriptions for which a generic preparation could conveniently be supplied may have been as low as 15 to 20 per cent during the period of the inquiry, it reported.

"However, there is no doubt that this proportion would be increased if druggists believed they could rely on the quality of a wide range of products marketed under proper or generic names."

CUTS COMPETITION

The loyalty of physicians to drugs they know and whose effects they have found to be good made the successful introduction of a new drug more difficult and reduced the impact of price competition upon the market.

"Brand names applied to single drugs and the few official compounds that can be of considerable commercial value, but, from a medical and social point of view, they are of very doubtful value and may actually have detrimental aspects," the report said. "The commission can draw no other conclusion from the . . . following propositions which the evidence clearly establishes:

"There is no real virtue inherent in mere-names.

"No conscientious physician will prescribe a drug without knowing its proper name and the family to which it belongs.

"All names may lead to confusion, but while a generic name, when properly coined, is informative, a brand name, as a rule, does not indicate the nature of the drug and the class to which it belongs."

BRANDS BOOST COSTS

The commission suggests brand names increase needlessly the multiplicity of names; tend to increase the expenditures on advertising and promotion; tend to prevent their use is the result of habit they tend to displace a generic name with the effect of reducing competition by preventing the dispensing of other preparations of the same drug.

The manufacturer's own name, or the trade mark name of his drugs, should be sufficient to help him keep the goodwill built up by the excellence of his products. If there were no brand names, a conscientious physician who wanted to use a certain company's products would specify the company's name in addition to the generic title on the written prescription.

The commission supported its contention that generic - named drugs can result in lower prices by quoting examples of reductions in price of certain brand-name drugs in recent years.

SUGGESTS LEGISLATION

The report suggested provincial legislation to enable druggists to substitute a pharmaceutical equivalent for a brand-named preparation specified in a prescription, to be effective, however, the measure would require the co-operation of physicians and druggists.

Government testing and inspection also would have to be improved.

"Inadequate inspection leaves psychological barriers to competition, and thus operates indirectly to restrict freedom of trade and limit the impact of competing products on the market."

The commission's proposals for strengthening food and drug regulations include inspection by federal health authorities of all premises where drugs are manufactured and inspection and testing of samples from sufficiently large number of batches of every Canadian-made or imported drug.

Consideration should be given to possible federal supervision of all advertising and promotion activities, including distribution of samples. The commission said frequently the manufacturer's message does not receive the attention of the recipient, is sometimes incomplete and may be misleading.

"There is a danger that drug manufacturers' promotional activities will be self-defeating in that medical practitioners generally may cease to pay any serious attention to the flood of material directed to them."

rance, education and other questions.

He said it is "painful" to compare the Liberal party as it was years ago with the "visionless, bewildered, confused and befuddled political pygmies who now are leading the once-great Ontario Liberal party in 25 different directions."

Mr. Robarts also took special pains to define a "made-in-Ontario" policy for decisions which affect Ontario's future.

"Today Ontario, occupying the position that it does, cannot afford to leave to others the decisions that will affect our destiny," the premier said. Nothing which affected this province could be regarded as outside its jurisdiction.

ON OWN CRUSADE

For this reason, he added, Ontario had embarked on its current trade crusade—despite federal government interest in trade—to further Ontario's development.

Earlier, Elmer Bell of Exeter, Ont., was re-elected president of the association; George Hogan of Toronto secretary and Dalton Bales of Toronto treasurer.

Edwin A. Goodman of Toronto, who resigned as a federal party organizer earlier this month in disagreement with Prime Minister Diefenbaker's defence policy, was voted out as third vice-president of the association.

Donald Huston of Ottawa, running on a strong pro-Diefenbaker ticket, defeated Mr. Goodman in an unusual secret ballot requested by Mr. Huston.

Twelve vice-presidents elected were:

Dr. J. M. Spence, Fort William; Miss Laura Mann, Ottawa; Donald Huston, Ottawa; Mrs. Lorne Chamber, Owen Sound; Miss Joyce Boundy, Hamilton; James Sintzel, Toronto; McGillivray Pratt, Listowell; John Trimble, Hamilton; Mrs. Frances MacOdrum, Brockville; Joseph Dobbs, Brampton; Jack Garner, Barrie and Oscar T. Sigsworth, Toronto.

Auditors elected were Richard Dillon of London and Gerald Nash of Welland.

Govt. Cancels

The extra duties have been singled out as a factor in the U.S. international - payments situation.

Today's government order will eliminate surcharges on goods totaled at about $950,000,000 annually. Freed completely from extra duty was the entire range of industrial capital equipment and materials, plus aircraft and engines.

LOWERS OTHER RATES

In addition, surcharge rates were lowered on another $235,000,000 in goods. The top rate, 15 per cent beyond normal duty, now has been wiped out completely and imports subject to that surcharge will henceforth be tagged at the reduced surcharge of 10 per cent.

The 10-per-cent surcharge on China and soap powders was removed entirely. There was a cut to five per cent from 10 in surcharges on sanitary ware, washing machines and parts, radios, certain cameras and furniture.

Mr. Nowlan's statement said remaining surcharges "will be eliminated as soon as further improvements in Canada's external accounts make this possible."

No Nuclear

were armed they would offer no protection to Canada east of Montreal and west of the Lakehead. Therefore, seemingly, the only course left open for Canada is to press for disarmament. There is no defence against the ICBM.

As to Canada's forces in NATO, Mr. Diefenbaker said decisions on nuclear warheads will be taken when the North Atlantic council meets in Ottawa in May.

He assured the Ontario Conservatives that whatever decision the council makes, "Canadian forces in NATO will not be lesser armed than (those of) any of her allies."

One of the top questions before the council meeting will be the establishment of a NATO nuclear deterrent force.

While some diplomatic sources doubt whether a firm decision will be reached in detail, it seems apparent NATO will have a nuclear shield and it would appear to follow that Canadian Air Force squadrons in France and Germany would have nothing less than the nuclear tips provided for their allies.

Pastor Is Glad to Help

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—As a pastor who has a good relationship with the young people of his church, and one to whom they come frequently with personal and family problems, I was disturbed by the recent letter of "Desperate." She was a 16-year-old girl, pregnant, who thus far hadn't been able to tell her parents or boy friend.

I would like to assure her, and any other of your readers in difficulties of one kind or another, that many young people today are finding understanding help from their minister or priest. Sometimes we do know before their parents, and we find we can form a bridge over which "telling" understanding, and fellowship can pass between parents and young people.

Likewise, through the close relationship many of us have with the various social agencies, we can assist in securing practical assistance with the problem at hand.—A MINISTER WHO FINDS YOUR COLUMN HELPFUL.

DEAR MINISTER—Wonderful! Shock-proof understanding which attracts those who need a guiding hand is priceless. Ministers and priests like you can carry a torch for us all.

DEAR DORIS—About two weeks ago I wrote giving you a problem of mine to consider. I saw nothing in the paper, but read where you don't answer anonymous letters. Well, since my problems concerns homosexuality, I couldn't possibly reveal my identity. Understand?

Please answer me now, I am pleading. (1) Tell me how to face life. (2) Do you think it would be wise to tell a man I love and am closely associated with? (3) Am I mentally ill? (4) Is it a sin?—PERVERTED TROUBLED.

DEAR P. T.—I have your letter. Watch for my column on this problem—which touches more lives than you might think.

* * *

TO D.K.—No one ever needed personal counsel more. Whether or not you should leave him or stick it out depends on so many things that there is no glib solution. Get in touch with your regional welfare officer or family agency.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO REFORMED—Prove you've reformed by not "shooting off your mouth." Unless you learn good manners and some discipline, people may wonder whether reform school did you any good. Write me for the name of a good book on manners, enclosing a five-cent-stamped, self-addressed envelope.

(Do you wonder why people do the things they do? Write to Doris for a fresh slant on your particular human problem. Remember that five cent stamp).

Home Improvement Loan

Maybe a loose shingle started it. Or worn-out weather stripping. Or a gnawing band of termites. Whatever it was, plugging a leak properly can be expensive—and, of course, the longer it's left, the more costly a repair becomes. This goes for peeling paint, crumbling concrete, and missing mortar too.

Yes, keeping a house in shape sometimes costs a lot of money, and occasionally it may cost more than you have on hand. What then? The answer may be a Scotiabank Home Improvement Loan . . . money you can borrow at low interest for repairs . . . or for extra bedrooms, a garage, a carport, modern heating, new and up-to-date plumbing—things that maintain or improve your home as an investment. Just call at your nearest branch of The Bank of Nova Scotia. See the manager. He will welcome the opportunity to discuss how a Scotiabank Home Improvement Loan can help you.

Montessori Education Method Taught in School

TORONTO (CP)—In a corner a 3½-year-old boy is painting. On the floor a four-year-old studies arithmetic with colored number sticks. At a desk a child works with jig - saw puzzle maps.

The scene is a class for preschoolers in the Tuxedo suburb of Don Mills where "success" in reaction of principal Mrs. Helma Trass, 63 children are being taught by three teachers employing the Montessori method of education.

The system, developed by the late Dr. Maria Montessori, an Italian-born educationist, early in this century, has become popular in parts of Europe but is relatively new to Canada.

It's based on the belief that between the ages of three and six a child can be encouraged to develop habits and attitudes that will equip him for a lifetime of learning.

It recognizes that young children can learn difficult subjects such as mathematics if presented in an environment that seems natural to the youngsters.

LANGUAGES EASY

There's no problem with languages, says Mrs. Trass. Many children learn to speak several languages before school age if they are spoken at home. And, of course, every child learns to speak his native tongue without special instruction.

It's more difficult with mathematics, however. "Who speaks mathematics? No one. Therefore, it is necessary to create a special environment that will help to stimulate sensory perception."

Accordingly the school in Don Mills, now in its second year, provides a variety of equipment. Numerals cut from sandpaper help the very young get the "feel" of numbers, as do the colored counting sticks. Jig-saw puzzle maps lead them easily into geography.

A second such school was recently opened in Oakville, Ont., under direction of Mrs. A. T. Ross, an arts graduate of the University of British Columbia who completed her training in the Method at the Associ-tion Montessori Internationale in Greenwich, Conn.

"The aim of a Montessori school is to help the child gain mastery of himself and his environment and to prepare him for life of learning," says Mrs. Ross.

"The techniques of learning — concentration, confidence, coordination and the ability to carry through the learning tasks—if established in early childhood, make for a confident, competent learner in later years.

"One of the most astonishing features of a Montessori school is the intense and prolonged concentration which the children display when they are working with the apparatus."

Children in the schools are allowed to develop at their own pace. The teacher must be trained and alert to recognize when the pupil is ready to move up the ladder of learning, and to help him at each stage.

The environment is deliberately non-competitive. "Never let a child risk failure until he has a reasonable chance of success," said Dr. Montessori.

NORWEGIAN POTATO PANCAKES

Wash, pare and cook 6 medium-size (about 2 lbs) potatoes, cut in halves. Cook about 20 minutes, or until tender when pierced with a fork. Drain. To dry potatoes, shake pan over low heat. Mash or rice potatoes thoroughly. Whip in until potatoes are fluffy ½ cup butter, ½ cup milk and a mixture of 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon monosodium glutamate (optional) and ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Whip potatoes until light and fluffy. Cool potatoes; chill in refrigerator. Set a griddle or heavy skillet over low heat. Measure 2½ to 3 cups sifted flour.

Remove chilled potatoes from refrigerator. Add about ½ the flour and beat until smooth. Beat in enough remaining flour to make a soft dough. Shape dough into a ball and turn onto lightly floured surface; roll into-a round about ¼-inch thick. Cut into six-inch rounds. Test griddle temperature in the right. Do not grease griddle.

Place lefse on griddle and cook until lightly browned. Turn and lightly brown other side. Then, turning frequently, continue cooking until lefse are browned and dry. Remove to a clean, dry towel. Cool completely.

Spread cold lefse with butter, softened. Roll loosely and serve.

Yield about 2½ dozen lefses.

For new, exciting adventures in cooking, use the Scandinavian Cookbook.

Family Planning Slowly, Steadily Grows in China

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—Best - selling Malayan author Han Suyin says the economics of daily life are causing young couples in Communist China to turn increasingly toward family planning.

Miss Suyin, author of Love is a Many-Splendored Thing, told a conference of the International Planned Parenthood Federation here acceptance of family-planning is increasing slowly but steadily in China, principally because of its popularity with younger women.

Before 1949, she added, there was practically no family planning in China. Limitations on growth of the population—now 700,000,000—were caused by flood, famine and infanticide.

According to available statistics, China's population increased at a rate of only 0.3 per cent a year from 1850 to 1953. In 1953 and 1954, the birth-rate increased sharply and by 1956 there was 15.6 per cent of the population under four years of age and 41.1 per cent under 17.

"This increase occurred as medicine began to limit infant mortality and it also was a result of the return of peace to China," Miss Suyin said.

It has been estimated, she added, that the average annual population increase in China over the last few years has been 2.4 per cent.

New birth control programs are almed principally at Belgian parents, Miss Suyin said.

Born in China of Chinese and made several visits to China in recent years. She returned from her most recent visit late last year.

WEDDING

FORESTELL—COURNEYEA

St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church, Peterborough, Ontario, was the setting for a lovely double-ring wedding on Saturday, Febrbuary 2nd, when Mary Elizabeth Courneyea, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence S. Courneyea, of Peterborough, became the bride of Francis Dorian Forestell, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Forestell, of Madoc. The Reverend Edward McSherry, CSsR, officiated at the nuptial Mass and ceremony.

Mr. Albino Francalanza provided the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Gerald Beresford, who sang Schubert's "Ave Maria"; "O God of Loveliness," and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

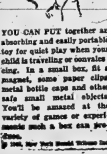
Given in marriage by her father, the radiantly lovely bride wore a bridal gown of white peau de soie fashioned with fitted bodice having a scoop neckline and long lily-point sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt was of floor-length and accented with lace appliques and detachable chapel-length train. Her headdress was in crown style studded with seed pearls and rhinestones with finger-tip veil of silk tulle illusion, and she carried a cascade bouquet of Starlight carnations mingled with Queen Anne Lace.

Miss Patricia Tompkins, as maid of honor, and the Misses Donna and Anne O'Connell as bridesmaids, were gowned alike in red peau de soie in short length, designed with shaped pleated skirts, scoop necklines and cap sleeves, and Watteau-draped backs accented with back bows at the necklines. They wore matching peau de soie pillbox hats with short tulle veils each topped by a cabbage rose; matching red shoes, and peau de soie mitts. They carried cascade bouquets of red and white carnations.

The little flower girls, the Misses Anne Marie Courneyea, sister of the bride, and Michelle Courneyea, of Toronto, cousin of the bride, were frocked in full-skirted red velvet, with three-quarter sleeves, and wearing beanie-type hats of red velvet trimmed with narrow pleated edging and topped by white pom-poms. White fur capes and white muffs crested with red carnations, completed their costumes.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Gerrard Forestell of Madoc, while the guests were ushered by Mr. "Chuck" Courneyea, brother of the bride, and Mr. Edward Tobin, also of Madoc, Ontario.

The reception was held in the Imperial Room of the Empress Hotel, Peterborough, where the bride's mother received the guests, attired in a sheath gown and jacket of brown magic crepe with gold metallic bodice. She wore brown and white accessories, with corsage of Regal gold roses. She was assisted in the receiving line by the bridegroom's mother, who wore a jacket ensemble of beige and brown figured crepe, with beige and black accessories, and corsage of pink Sensation roses.



Out-of-town guests attended from Arthur, Belleville, Cayuga, Copper Cliff, Erin, Glen Miller, Guelph, Havelock Kitchener, Madoc, Manotick, Morriston, Orangeville, Owen Sound, Stoco, Toronto, Trenton and Tweed.

For travelling to western points and the United States, the bride chose an apple-green wool sheath with black coat, black and white accessories and corsage of gold-toned roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Forestell will reside at 297 Sixth Street, Hanover, Ontario.

NEVER TOO LATE — Sculptor Mrs. Ethel Rosenfield holds one of her works on exhibition at a sale of contemporary art at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts. It's never too late to follow a creative urge, says Mrs. Rosenfield, who was 45 when she first picked up a hammer and chisel eight years ago. (CP Photo)

Never Too Late to Start Ambitions Says Artist

MONTREAL (CP) — Mrs. Ethel Rosenfield, a Montreal sculptor, says "it's never too late" for people to start following their creative ambitions. Polish - born Mrs. Rosenfield speaks from experience.

She picked up a hammer and chisel for the first time when she was 45. Now she is 53, and her work has been exhibited at the 80th annual exhibition and sale of contemporary art at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts.

"Because I was a late starter, my husband jokingly called me Montreal's Grandma Moses," she said "It stuck, and now it has gone beyond family circles." Mrs. Rosenfield is not a grandmother, but she is a mother. Her 17-year-old daughter is an arts student at McGill University and her 21-year-old son, David, is a poet.

The entire family has given Mrs. Rosenfield support. She enrolled in the night course in sculpture at L'Ecole des Beaux Arts and never missed a class for three years. For the next three years she continued as a day student.

Last year she exhibited her work for the first time with the St. Laurent Art Association. She is also a founding member and the current treasurer of the Quebec Sculptors' Association.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS BY PATRICIA LEWIS

PLANNING A VISIT WITH CHILDREN

Taking a youngster to a friend's home for a visit can be a pleasant experience for both mother and child, providing it's planned in advance.

Part of the planning should include a briefing from mother about what a child may and may not do. Mother should also keep in mind that maintaining discipline is her responsibility. If both remember what is expected of them, a visit will run smoothly without danger of a major catastrophe.

Even without a briefing, a child usually knows pretty well what is considered "nice" behaviour and what is not. Because it's been drummed into him at home, he knows better than to jump on furniture, slam doors, run a marathon indoors, grab things that don't belong to him, punch other children and make a grandstand play for complete attention.

It's difficult to keep an eye on junior every second of a visit, but, if it's to be carried off successfully, some supervision is necessary so the child won't harm himself or the hostess' possessions. Whether she likes it or not, mother should serve as watchdog. It's distressing to a hostess to have to ride herd as well as pour tea. It's also unfair, since, in a child's mind, it makes her seem like Simon Legree. Mother should set the standards and see that they're carried out to everyone's satisfaction.

When visiting, it's helpful to bring along a new prize or two to keep a child interested and distracted. Puzzles and blocks usually are diverting. Coloring books also keep small fry quietly active, but the considerate mother should make sure that the crayons are the kind that wash off, just in case.

Naturally, children can't be kept under wraps too long without having good behavior wear a trifle thin. To keep youngsters in the proper mood, visiting hours should be limited as to time of day and length of duration.

Children over seven usually can weather a long visit, but younger ones often get fidgety in a short time. When a child starts to get fussy and tearful, it's more considerate, both to him and the hostess, to start for home, rather than try to talk around or over a wailing handful.

It's also wise to take very young children visiting after nap time, when they're fresh and cheerful and less likely to develop a peevish streak. Visiting is a marvelous way to help children mature socially, but it should be a pleasant experience if any profitable lesson is to be learned from it.

Chinese Chow-Chow Unique

By ZENA CHERRY
Doggy Data!

The oldest breed of dog known in the world is the Saluki — with his greyhound body, feathered ears, tail and legs. Carvings of him have been found in tombs of the Sumarian empire dating from 7,000 to 6,000 B.C. When the word dog appears in the Bible, it means Saluki.

Another ancient breed is the Afghan whose history can be traced to 4,000 B.C. — to the mountains where Moses received the Ten Commandments.

For 2,500 years the Maltese spaniel (often mis-named Maltese terrier) has been an aristocratic pet and the Greeks often erected tombs for them.

The Beagle also dates back to the days of ancient Greece.

Two Chinese dogs which reach into mists of time are the Chow Chow which incidentally is the only breed in the world with a blue-black tongue, and the Pekinese, at one time held sacred. He still esteems himself highly.

For over 2,000 years the Mastiff, a combo of courage and good nature, has been bred as a watchdog in England. Caesar described these dogs in his 55 B.C. invasion of Britain and how they fought valiantly with their masters against the Romans.

The tallest of canines is the Irish Wolfhound, known in Roman times and still used in Europe to hunt wild boar, in Africa to hunt lions. And the smallest is a this-continent citizen, the Chihuahua, first owned by the Toltecs who lived in the 9th century in Mexico.

Classified as the outstanding trait of these bright-eyed toys — Chihuahuas do not like other breeds of dogs.

There are only three breeds named after men: the Keeshond, national dog of Holland who was called after Kees de Gysaler, the 18th century patriot; the Doberman Pinscher was named for Louis Doberman who first bred them in 1890 in Apolda, Germany; the Gordon Setter takes his name from the Duke of Gordon. # Missionary Receives Farewell Gift

WELLINGTON — A pleasant time was spent on the evening of February 20 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Mason, Consecon, when a farewell party was held in honor of Miss Gladys Hunt, a missionary from Africa, who has been home on a vacation.

Hearts and Cupids was the theme of the decorations of the home. Miss Hunt leaves in March for her return to Africa.

The family was entertained by the showing of slides taken by Miss Hunt in Africa. Among the guests were: six sisters and two brothers and their families. This was the first time in many years that they had all been together. Three other sisters were absent and it was regretted that Mrs. Harry Bedford of Wellington, was unable to be present, due to ill health.

Miss Hunt was presented with a piece of luggage and a sum of money, a gift from her family.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Bill Pollard. The evening ended by wishing her a "Bon Voyage" and a safe return.

Those attending the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Mason; Mrs. Muriel Dove, of Prescott; Mrs. Anne Wright, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Easton and Grace, West Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hunt, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hunt and family, Belleville; Mrs. Bill Pollard, Campbellford; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Craig and family, Wellington; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hyatt and Gena, West Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Bob McLuskie, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. John Hagraham, Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoag, Bloomfield and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Bowerman and family of Wellington.

When frying meat or fish, grease will not spatter if you cover skillet with a colander. Hot oil even seems to escape, but keeps spatters in.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mr. T. H. — I'm disappointed in my son. He stooped to cheating.

Malcolm — Everyone does it. The teachers just pretend not to see.

Mr. T. H. — It came back to me that in the recent final exams my son did some cheating. He's 15 and in high school. A friend of mine confided that his boy revealed an "arrangement" among three kids, including Mal, for sharing answers on a "crib sheet."

I'm shocked and wondering what to do next. Do I go to school and expose the whole thing? Or do I get hold of the three boys and try to show them the wrong and the danger of what they did?

This isn't a matter of white lies or childish pranks. How can I impress Mal that it's out-and-out dishonesty?

Malcolm H. — It's too bad one of the others talked. I know my Dad wouldn't understand and would get upset. He and my mother have taught me to be honest, but this is different. They have an Honor System in our school but it's a joke. The teacher know answers get passed around. Once in a while they catch somebody, but most of the time they ignore it. They probably know by now not to take the exams too seriously.

I think there should be monitors and they should watch us like hawks. I'd really study then, and a high mark would mean something. But this way, what's the use? I get the high mark without studying.

The Council: It's lucky for Mal that the doctor who guards his health didn't cheat on his illvence exams, and the pilot who lands him safely on the airstrip didn't copy the answers to the navigation test!

If this sort of moral collapse is rampant in high schools (and a survey by the Luther League of America polled a large number of teenagers, 87 per cent of whom owned up to cheating on school tests), what good are the expensive marble halls put up by the taxpayers? The graduates will be no better prepared for the good life than were Fagin's disciples who learned how to pick-a-pocket in his cellar classroom.

By all means, Mr. H., go to the school and plank for the end of this Honor System which has degenerated into a Dishonor System, with the emphasis on the "system." You mention the "crib sheet." The above survey lists other techniques such as Wandering Eyeballs and Giraffing.

School is supposed to prepare kids for life, and life — the good life — has rigid standards of right and wrong. Maybe it's arbitrary to count time from Greenwich, but that's our base and we take it from there. In moral matters too we can only "navigate" from a firm stand on honesty and dishonesty. Regardless of how many wrongdoers "get away with it," whether on high school tests or later, with phony stock sales, Malcolm and his classmates must be taught emphatically that cheating is wicked, corrupting and punishable. And especially to school it is sad, because the child cheats himself. He fails to learn, even though he succeeds in manipulating his marks.

This is the time to nip condonation of misbehavior. An Honor System is fine, so long as there is honor. Malcolm's teachers may have to turn into the hawks he asks for during test periods. But in between they can answer home the meaning of three sacred words, "On my honor. . ."

Club Activities

CA's
FRANKFORD — Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle held their weekly C.A. service last Friday evening. President, Keith Helm, welcomed everyone and opened the meeting.

Mr. Lonnie Reilly led in prayer and vice-president, Mr. Reg Williams, led the song service. The Scripture, Psalm 113, was read by Mr. Ken Reichert. Mr. Ken Helm, Mr. Elgin Payne recited the poem, "Tom Gray's Dream". Mrs. Eldon Sine sang the solo, "The Love of God".

Mr. Alex Nyppasnen, of E.P.B.C. Peterborough, brought the evening message from Daniel 1 speaking on "Daniels Purposing in His Heart to Serve God Regardless of Adversity".

U.C.W. View Film On 'Family Life'

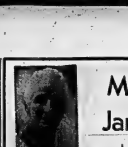
The February meeting of Plainfield U.C.W. was held at the manse last Wednesday evening with the president, Mrs. Violet Elliot, presiding. She opened the meeting by reading a poem, "It Only Takes a Minute".

Mrs. Jack Salmon conducted the worship service, reading the Scripture passage 1 Corinthians 12: 13-31, the theme being "What is the Church?" "We are the Church, the body of Christ. Here on earth we are a colony of heaven. Our church should be a fellowship."

Membership fees were paid. There are 19 paid members for 1963.

Mrs. Daisy Colden, 1st vice-president was put in charge of the World Day of Prayer to be held in the church on March 1st at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Elliot read a letter from the supply secretary, stating the allocation is knitted cap, mittens and socks for a two-year-old. It was decided to have a bazaar in the fall.



Mrs. Allen Gibson had charge of the program, the subject being 'Family Life'. She gave a few opening remarks and called on the Rev. and Mrs. Nicholls to present the film strip, "Family Life".

Three problems were introduced: The Neglected Child, Dating Problems and Courtship Problems. Each was followed by the question, "How would you handle it?"

The members were divided into three groups led by Mrs. Harold Skelly, Mrs. Jack Salmon and Mrs. Grant Kerr. Interesting and worthwhile discussions followed and the findings reported. Another strip was also presented showing how the problems had been solved.

The answers are not easy. There may be different answers one would guide his actions in a Christian way if he knows God's will, the teachings of Jesus, and have concern for others.

After thanking the hostess and all who helped with the meeting, Mrs. Gibson and three committee served lunch and a social half-hour was enjoyed.

Mid-Winter Jam Session

by Mary Moore

The trouble with this jam is I don't get hang on to it.

Everybody that came into this house on the day that made it went home with a jar and when I came to quietly taste and judge it I had exactly two little jars to dip into.

Its chief recommendation is that it can be made now and will replenish your dwindling jam shelf.

It calls for liquid fruit pectin. If you cannot find that in your supermarket because it is not the season for making jam, go to an independent grocery store. The proprietor will in all likelihood have some bottles of it.

WEDNESDAY
Dinner Menu

Skinless All-Meat Sausages; Milk Gravy; Baked Potatoes; Buttered Brussels Sprouts; Celery Sticks; Stuffed Eggs; White Cream Cheese; Cubed Pineapple and Mandarin Orange Fruit Cup; Coffee.

APRICOT JAM (calls for dried apricots)

½ lb. dried apricots; water; 2 tablespoons fresh or canned lemon juice; 3½ cups sugar; 6 tablespoons liquid fruit pectin.

Soak ½ lb. dried apricots in cold water to cover overnight. In morning simmer until very tender — 30 to 40 minutes. Strain and reserve liquid. Force apricots through sieve. You should have 1½ cups thick apricots puree. Add ½ cup of the reserved juice to it in a large saucepan. Then add the sugar and lemon juice and stir over high heat until it comes to a full rolling boil and boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat and add the 6 tablespoons liquid fruit pectin which has been previously measured. Mr. Reader. Let stand 5 minute. Pour into 6 medium-small jam jars which have been scalded. Cover with melted paraffin, adding second coat when first is cold.

I made double the amount above. When I had poured half of it into jars I stopped. To the remainder I added ¼ cup finely chopped candied ginger and stirred it well and poured it into the remaining jars. This ginger - flavored apricot jam was popular with the ginger addicts in our family.

Apricot jam is excellent as a dependable filler for little tart shells, or cake fillings. As you know too, it can be diluted and used as a professional-looking glaze for baked ham.

I made plain blanc mange and put a spoonful of apricot jam on top of each serving. I passed top milk to be poured over but you might like to use table or whipped cream, depending on how important the occasion is. A good topping too for cottage cheese and yogurt.

BECAME BOOM TOWN

In the first decade of the 20th century Oudtshoorn, South Africa, became a boom town producing ostrich feathers for fashion.

Mother's Helper

TREE DECORATIONS made by your children are sources of pride as well as beauty. Old-fashioned ideas you may have forgotten about: popcorn strings, cranberry garlands. Popcorn should be of the giant variety, for less breakage in pushing a needle through the fluffy white kernels. Cranberries must be fresh and plump. Use heavy button thread for stringing.

Kingston Member Urges Law To Protect Reporters Who Refuse to Give News Source

TORONTO (CP) — Lack of legal protection for reporters who refuse to disclose a confidential news source could "muzzle" the press and lead to concealment of many officers, William Nickle (PC—Kingston) told the legislature Tuesday.

Urging an amendment to Ontario Libel and Slander Act that would protect reporters, Mr. Nickle said the day is past when "a judge should have the power to put a man or woman in jail for not disclosing where he got the information for a news story."

Mr. Nickle said the freedom of the press must be defended and those who write sincerely and honestly for newspapers should have the fear of imprisonment removed from them.

"A reporter should be able to honor the secrecy of his material," he said.

CAN INSPIRE FEAR

Fear of being held in contempt of court for refusing to reveal a news source can prevent a reporter from publishing stories on wrongdoing, he said.

Mr. Nickle said he believes newspaper writers called as witnesses before courts or royal commissions should be given by law the right to withhold names of confidential news sources. He referred to the recent British case where two reporters were given prison terms for refusing to name sources when testifying before a government tribunal investigating espionage.

Lack of legal protection to a reporter could result in concealment of offences, Mr. Nickle contended. A reporter might be afraid to publish a story of wrongdoing because he could be held in contempt if he refused to name his sources when called upon to do so by a court or commission. A spy, for example, could "be allowed to carry on unmolested" in learning of security measures for our country because a reporter has the story, is afraid to publish it . . ."

WANTS FACTS

"A newspaper reporter should be allowed to honor the confidence he gives to the one who gave him his information. If a government department is wrong, if a corporation is wrong in what they are doing, in the name of justice let us have the facts and right the wrong no matter what it may be."

Mr. Nickle urged that the premier and attorney-general consider the question of an amendment to the act during the present session, although he did not specify the form he thought the amendment should take.

Asked by Vernon Singer (New York Centre) whether there ever had been such cases in Ontario, Mr. Nickle said he was called one in Western Canada involving magazine writer Blair Fraser.

(Mr. Fraser, then Ottawa editor of Maclean's magazine, was a defendant in 1954 in a libel suit brought by Gordon Wismer, then attorney-general of British Columbia attorney-general. Mr. Fraser's defence was thrown out in the B.C. Supreme Court when he refused on examination for discovery to disclose his sources of information. The B.C. Court of Appeal dismissed an appeal and the Supreme Court of Canada declined to intervene.

(Subsequently the libel action was dropped following publication of an apology by the magazine.)

Mr. Nickle praised his city's newspaper, The Whig-Standard, for its reporting of the news

SPECTACULAR RESCUE — Clifford Paul, 37, of Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., a St. Lawrence Seaway worker, is hoisted from the locks at the Welland Canal at Thorold, Ont., by a helicopter during a rescue operation. He had been working on a gate about 35 feet above the floor when he suffered a slipped disc in his back. He had to be lowered to the bottom by rope and then hoisted up by the sea-way's 50-ton mobile crane. He was treated by a chiropractor and sent home. (CP Wirephoto.)

Expect Canada to Request Resumption of Negotiations For Access to Nuclear Arms

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is expected to ask Washington soon to resume the deadlocked negotiations for emergency access to nuclear weapons for Canadian forces in North American defence, reliable sources said Tuesday.

At the same time, a new aspect has been given to the question of nuclear arms for Canada's NATO air contribution in Europe by Defence Minister Churchill's first public speech since succeeding Douglas Harkness in the defence portfolio.

Mr. Churchill gave an indication Monday night that, because of aircraft delivery dates and air crew training periods, less than half of Canada's NATO air squadrons could be in a position by the end of the year to use nuclear weapons.

The first of eight Canadian squadrons being converted for a strike-reconnaissance role in NATO will not have completed training in this role until toward the end of June. That will be the deadline for a decision on NATO ministerial meeting here at which Canada expects a re-appraisal of its NATO role will be made.

TALKS BOG DOWN

The continental defence negotiations with the United States bogged down some months ago. This was followed by U.S. state department criticism of Canada's stand and the resignation of Mr. Harkness on grounds Canada was not fulfilling commitments in NORAD and NATO to acquire nuclear arms.

In a press release Jan. 30, the U.S. state department said: "The Canadian government has not as yet presented any arrangement sufficiently practical to contribute effectively to North American defence."

Mr. Churchill said in Winnipeg:

"We are ready to continue negotiations with the American concerning the problem of making readily available nuclear weapons in case of need for the Voodoos and the Bomarcs and we have made practical proposals in that connection."

Canada has five squadrons of Voodoo jet interceptors armed with Falcon missiles carrying non-nuclear warheads, representing about five per cent of the continental interceptor defence against bombers. In addition, Canada has two Bomarc anti-aircraft missile installations; the Americans have six.

Half of the American interceptor squadrons are designated to perform a nuclear role in continental defence and half a conventional role. This may open a way around the political problem of Canada having nuclear weapons on her own soil and Canada's insistence in maintaining her sovereignty.

A rotation system under which some Canadian squadrons would participate in the nuclear role, involving training and operations from American bases, might solve these difficulties.

In that way, nuclear arms would be readily available to Canadian interceptor squadrons participating in continental defence in Europe. To keep the number of squadrons operating in Canada with conventional arms up to the present five, American squadrons could join the Canadian interceptors operating from Canadian bases.

Indians Reject Suggestion to Close Reserves

SUDBURY (CP) — Leading spokesmen for Northern Ontario Indians rejected Tuesday a suggestion by Senator David Croll that all Indian reserves be closed by the time of Canada's centennial.

Sen. Croll, describing the reserves as a colossal disgrace, told a Brotherhood Week dinner here Monday night the Indians should be offered 20 times the value they themselves place on the reserve lands and then integrated into Canadian society.

But Mrs. Stella Kinoshameg, a member of the Wikwemikong Reserve on Manitoulin Island and a head-table guest at the dinner, said the Toronto senator's speech was another example of the Indian being told what to do.

"The Indian's opinion is never asked," Mrs. Kinoshameg said. "When they going to take them off the reserves and create more slums in the city?"

Mrs. Kinoshameg, a school teacher, said Indians would become responsible citizens if they were forced to pay taxes.

William McGregor, chief of the Ojibway band on the Birch Island reserve for 30 years until last December, said Indians have been conditioned to live under the dictatorial attitude of anyone.

"Doing away with the reserves would be detrimental to all the tribes, particularly the ones in the Far North. They aren't out of the bush yet . . . they aren't prepared to get along without reserves."

Arthur Henderson, secretary of the Six Nations Indian Council reserve at Ohsweken, said the senator's suggestion was presumptuous.

Dairy Operator Against Colored Margarine

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government should not allow the sale of yellow-colored margarine in the province, a Liberal member of the legislature said Tuesday.

Ross Whicher, a dairy operator and member of Peel, said butter "deserves to be yelow by right" and had been yellow for hundreds of years.

Leonard Reilly (PC—Toronto-Eglinton) suggested during the debate that the time for government lift its ban on the sale of prepared margarine in the province.

Mr. Whicher also said a Liberal government would borrow from surplus four- or five-year certificates to finance a "crash programme" for rural sewage disposal systems and more university space.

Mr. Whicher also said his party's proposed system of education finance would provide equality of education standards for all schools in the province.

Mr. Whicher said rural students were having less money spent for their education than Toronto students, and separate school students in Toronto less than public school students in the same city.

Matchmor Warns His Church And Protestants Generally Against Being Too Smug

TORONTO (CP)—Rt. Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, forthright moderator of the United Church of Canada, had words of praise for the Pope.

Warning his church and Protestants generally against smugness, Dr. Mutchmor said Tuesday: "I understand Pope John is a free-swinger."

"He gathers a few cardinals around him and away he goes. This is very refreshing."

He told the annual meeting of the United Church's board of evangelism and social services, that Protestants have been smug in assuming government and the Roman Catholic church are slow-to-change institutions.

He sponsored a resolution passed unopposed, calling for Protestants to expose themselves to study and evaluate the radical criticisms now being levelled at the church.

Dr. Mutchmor said the Protestant church seems to be static and almost entirely ineffective in taking the Christian gospel beyond its own structure.

The moderator, who will retire June 30 as secretary of the board, will retain his post as moderator until September, 1964.

Dr. Mutchmor met opposition on his stand on nuclear arms from Rev. G. B. Mather of Saskatoon.

Earlier in the day, the moderator called on the Canadian government to take a stand on nuclear arms, at the same time advancing his own support for Canadian banking of a NATO-controlled nuclear force "which for defence purposes only would back up a clear and strong policy of credible deterrence."

Mr. Mather, an assistant secretary to the board, said he seriously doubted whether the distinction between offensive and defensive weapons could be maintained.

"Even if the whole effort for peace should fail, it would be better to die nobly as one whose influence had tended toward reconciliation than as one who from fear or complacency had been part of the problem himself," Mr. Mather said.

Mr. Mather told the board the church should stimulate community discussion of a medical care plan on a reasoned, restrained and Christian level.

At a lanquet last night, Dr. Mutchmor was honored by 500 persons.

Former Ontario premier Leslie Frost said of Dr. Mutchmor: "He is not intolerant as some people and some newspapers would have us think . . . that he is positive is undeniable."

Rev. R. C. Chalmers of Halifax said Dr. Mutchmor was "the moral godfly of the United Church and Canada."

SEEKS JFK SUPPORT

JAKARTA, Indonesia (Reuter)—The Gold commander of the northern Borneo rebel army, Lt.-Gen. A. Zulkifli, appealed to President Kennedy in an open letter today to urge, Britain to withdraw its forces from Borneo. The letter to the Afro-Asian Journalists Conference here, said British troops were still meeting armed resistance in Sarawak, Brunei and North Borneo.

Nuclear Test Gap Narrower But Deeper

By LIONEL WALSH

GENEVA (Reuters) — The United States delegate to the 17-nation disarmament conference said today that the gulf between the West on the one nuclear test ban issue seemed narrowed but deeper than before.

William Foster told the 100th session of the conference "it is true that we appear to be closer together than we have been, at least since November, 1961. We are at the same time, however, in danger of a perhaps more difficult gulf to bridge.

"For, as our positions in some regards have come closer, the gulf between them seems to have deepened," Foster said. "As a result the last step across this gulf appears difficult to take."

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union put on the agenda a draft non-aggression pact between NATO and its East-European equivalent, the Warsaw Pact powers.

The Soviet Union has for some time been calling on the disarmament conference to agree to such a non-aggression pact as a "collateral" disarmament measure which could be taken immediately for reducing the risks of war.

Foster spoke amid press reports that the U.S. may move toward bridging the gulf by slightly reducing its minimum quota of eight to 10 annual inspections on Russian soil to police a test ban agreement. There was no official confirmation of the reports, described here as speculative.

Foster said: "I wish quite simply but earnestly to reaffirm the desire of the United States for an effective nuclear test ban treaty.

"Let there be no mistake about it, the United States is in Geneva to negotiate such a treaty.

"We are willing and intend to engage in give-and-take negotiations on all major issues which must be agreed upon if there is to be such agreement on a nuclear test ban."

"The United States, as an earnest of this intention, already has already indicated its flexibility in private talks and its willingness to consider such positions as the Soviet Union might put forth on key issues of the negotiations."

He said Russia refused to discuss anything but its own proposals for numbers of on-site inspections—two or three — and automatic seismic stations — numbers on which it insisted the West must agree before anything else could be done.

RECOGNIZE REGIME

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has officially recognized the new government of Iraq, it was announced Tuesday. The new Iraqi regime was established following the overthrow 2½ weeks ago of Maj.-Gen. Abdul Karim Kassem.

NDP Workers In York Centre Don't Like Split

TORONTO (CP) — A New Democratic Party candidate says a request that half the NDP paid NDP enumerators be turned back to the party has left the party in this riding about 100 enumerators short for duties before the April 8 federal election.

Val Scott, NDP candidate for York Centre, said he was returning offices for the riding that had to recruit enumerators aligned with the Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties to fill out the NDP's quota.

By law the two parties which topped the polls in the previous election in each riding have to supply a returning officer with a list of enumerators—one for each polling division. Then the enumerators are supposed to be teamed in pairs—in the case of York Centre, one Liberal with one NDP.

Returning Officer Dean Richardson said when the two parties did not supply him with sufficient enumerators, it was his job to select the remainder. Mr. Scott said despite withdrawals of many NDP enumerators, the 330-odd persons contributing some of their enumeration fee of $32 plus 10 cents a name listed have swelled NDP campaign funds in York Centre to about $8,000.

OPP Constables Gets Promotion Much Quicker

TORONTO (CP)—First - class constables in the provincial police will not necessarily have to wait 15 years to become corporals in future, the attorney-general's department announced Tuesday.

A spokesman said first-class constables "who have successfully completed an advanced training course at the Provincial Police College here will be eligible for immediate promotion. Previously, promotion was based on 15 years' experience in all but exceptional cases.

Senior positions will not be affected by the change. Merit has always been the main consideration in promotions above the rank of corporal, the spokesman said.

Between 40 first-class constables from all 17 police districts attended the first five-week advanced course at the college which ended last week.

The spokesman said the new course is in line with a long-standing desire for more non-commissioned officers in the 2,000-man force.

HOSPITAL GETS GIN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sixty cases of seized gin and scotch were turned over by criminal court to the Children's Variety Hospital. "In the old days," Judge Ben Willard said Tuesday, "we'd order contraband poured down the drain, but this liquor is too good to be destroyed when it can be used by the hospital." (Officials plan to sell the liquor to raise money for the hospital.)

Exodus of Negro Students Represents Red Battle Lost

By KEN PRITCHARD
Intelligencer Staff Writer

Sour notes from Bulgaria during the last week marred the oft-played Communist tune that all is harmony in racial relations behind the Iron Curtain.

The West's racial troubles have long been a favorite theme for the propaganda mills of the Communist world. Stories of race riots and discrimination have been disseminated by Communist propaganda machines places calculated to do communism the most good. A principal target has been the emerging nations of Africa.

Many of the new-nation students who have received their education in Communist countries went with a sympathetic attitude to overlook racial troubles and, above all, convinced they would not find discrimination there because communism is a creed. Some found different.

A mass exodus of Negro students from Bulgaria has let the world know about discrimination in that country and sent the West a fortuitous but considerable ideological victory.

STUDENTS QUIT

Negro students from Ghana, Ethiopia, Nigeria, Togo, Guinea and Somali—Soviet sources say they number about 100—recently all left Bulgaria or are in the process of leaving.

"We categorically declare that there is more racial discrimination in Moscow than under communism than there could be in a capitalist country," one group said on reaching the West.

"We have been insulted in Bulgaria," said one student, called black monkeys and jungle people and the people spat before us."

They also found that they were receiving a full quota of Communist indoctrination as a major part of the studies set up for them.

The students tried to form an all-African union so they would have organized representation with which to protest various phases of their treatment. Arabs and other nationalities joined the Negroes, banned their organization and set up a red guard to seven leaders out of the country.

COMPLAIN IN RUSSIA

Negro students in the Soviet Union also have reported grievances, but Hungary and Poland apparently are providing better treatment. Reliable information was not available about students in Romania and Czechoslovakia.

Western countries are reported ready to accept the students leaving Bulgaria and it is expected that a good many of them will join the thousands of African now studying in Canada, Britain, the United States, France and West Germany.

Foreign students in western countries have had difficulties—notably arising from housing discrimination—but they have had the right to resort to protest demonstrations and mass departures.

Medical Care Discussed In Three Legislatures

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Medical care insurance came up for discussion in three of the five provincial legislatures sitting Tuesday, including Saskatchewan, where it was introduced nearly eight months ago.

Saskatchewan Liberal Leader Thatcher said his party, if elected, would have a bolder plan than "that will work." He denied suggestions he attributed to Premier Lloyd speakers that the Liberals would discard health schemes already developed by the province.

He accused the government of "bungling" the introduction of compulsory medical plan introduced last July, of favoring doctors over patients by slow action on payment of medical accounts and by deliberate harassment of the medical profession.

In Alberta, the only Progressive Conservative member of the legislature, Peter Watkins of Calgary, said the Social Credit government was prompted to introduce its voluntary group paid medical care plan this year by a provincial government election imminent. The plan was mentioned in the speech from the throne.

In Ontario, Ross Whicher of the Liberal opposition said a provincial government in the province would finance a "crash program" for medical care insurance "if additional universality space by borrowing money on four- or five-year certificates.

Quebec—Liberal Premier Lesage announced that the province's first issue of provincial savings bonds—similar to ones offered by British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba will go on sale March 11. Sales at face value will stop April 16. He said the bonds will be issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and $5,000, and will be dated April 1, 1963. They will mature in 10 years.

Victoria—Arthur Turnoy, New Democratic Party member for Vancouver East, asked for an investigation of a Social Credit campaign fund which he said Gulf Oil Corporation had given Conservatives through "shakedowns." He said the fund, the B.C. Free Enterprise Education Fund, "extracted $200,000 from B.C. businessmen in an 18-month period between 1956 and 1958."

Halifax—The 1963 sitting of the Nova Scotia legislatures, expected to be a routine seven-week session, will open today.

Cross-Canada Survey

Canadian in Car-Buying Mood and Makers Predict Another Record Sale's Year

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadian automobile manufacturers, still smiling with satisfaction after their best year ever, are looking for big things again in 1963 although the industry generally is hesitant about predicting another record-breaker.

Canadians are in a "car-buying mood," says E. H. Walker, who doubles as president of the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce and General Motors of Canada Ltd.

And his prediction of continuing prosperity is supported by the comments of dealers in all parts of the country handling North American models, a Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press shows.

In 1962 sales of passenger cars for the first time surpassed half a million, based on preliminary estimates. And while this alone was reason for satisfaction, there were factors of even greater significance to Canadian car-makers.

They found a growing preference among buyers for bigger, roomier cars and expect this to continue in 1963. The so-called compacts, introduced several years ago to meet the competition from the smaller European imports, held fairly steady. Sales of cars from overseas, however, were hard hit.

SALES DOWN 28,000

Final figures are expected to show total sales of all cars in 1962 at about 501,000 compared with 437,319 in 1961. The total for European imports is estimated at 75,000, a sharp drop from the 101,197 in 1961. And with no significant increase in sales of compactr, the figures mean standard - size and luxury North American models jumped by about 90,000 units during the year.

The 10-per-cent duty on imported cars and parts imposed last summer as part of Canada's economic austerity program was the chief reason for the drop in sales of European imports.

"The surcharge is adverse to our business," says R. J. Lucas, deputy managing director of the British Motor Corp. (Canada) Ltd. "What is 10 times worse is the impression in the consumer public mind that the surcharge is only temporary. Therefore, they hold back from buying until the announcement is made."

Brian Rootes, managing director of a family firm importing Humber, Hillman and Sunbeam cars from Britain, admits there was a need for temporary austerity measures but says Canada's economic situation now is improving and he can no longer see the need for the surcharges.

SEEK PRESTIGE

"Our sales here will come back," Mr. Rootes says, "though not to the level of several years ago."

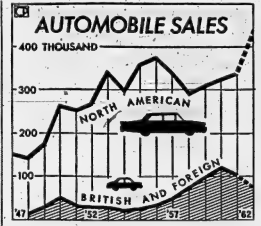
Prestige, road-handling and general comfort seemed to combine to raise sales of the flashier North American models.

General Motors, with total car production of 259,639 compared with 167,275 in 1961, had the lion's share of the market last year.

GM's president, Mr. Walker, expressed confidence that total sales of all new motor vehicles this year would come close to the 1962 record.

Kaz Soth, president of Ford of Canada which turned out 118,190 cars against 97,907 the previous year, says there is a "substantial reserve of purchasing power" in Canada and adds he is sure 1963 will find Canadians "in a mood of optimism" ready to buy more large-size cars.

Chrysler Canada Ltd. was third in 1962 with production of 50,560 automobiles compared with 46,726 in 1961.



"The current projection for 1963 indicates a total North American vehicle market of approximately the same proportions as that experienced in 1962," says Chrysler President Ron Todgham.

RAMBLER SUMP

Perhaps the most optimistic is American Motors (Canada) Ltd., which saw production jump to 21,852 cars in 1962 from 8,606.

"Following a retail sales gain of more than 75 per cent last year, our aim in 1963 is to have a further gain of another 50 per cent," says President E. K. Brownridge, whose firm turns out the increasingly popular Rambler.

Studebaker, which marked up a modest production increase to 7,948 from 6,227, looks for a 20- to 30 - per - cent increase this year.

FOREIGN CAR SALES DROP — Popularity of British and European cars decreased in Canada last year. Their sales dropped from a 1961 total of 101,197 to an estimated 75,000 in 1962.

Graph shows total annual car sales in Canada since 1947. Sale of North American cars climbed from 336,122 in 1961 to an estimated 426,000 for a record-breaking total of 501,000 last year. (CP Newsmap.)

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Trail has its "Smoke-Eaters"; Toronto its figure skating champions and Maple Leafs; Winnipeg has its Blue Bombers, and so on down the line, but there's not a soul of the 5,000 population of Hanover, Ont., who would trade its latest sports sensation for the "hall kit and kaboodle."

When the Ontario Curling Championships started, the rink from the small town in the Grey-Bruce counties district was given little chance. It was just another provincial entry which had won its district championship. How, was of little importance at the moment.

Starting a long shot in the provincial stakes, the Hanover took the lead from the barrier and with Skip Bob Mann in the saddle, defeated the seven-entry field without being headed once. It was the biggest "dark horse" upset in the history of Ontario curling.

The Hanover rink is the youngest in history to compete for the famous "Brier," and there is no doubt that after its sensational record in the Ontario championships it will command both the attention and admiration of the spectators at the national classic.

Hanover in particular and veteran curlers in general are hailing the effort of Skip Robert Mann, a transplanted "binenose," who whipped three ex-schoolboy curlers into championship form and romped through the seven-game Consols round-robin undefeated.

Mann's lead is 20-year-old Dick Palmer, 21-year-old Keith Munro is second, and the vice-skip is 23-year-old Ken Buchan. All are novices in the Brier play while Mann is a veteran with some national experience.

Palmer and Munro are students at Waterloo College. Buchan attends the University of Western Ontario. The skip is a sales supervisor of agricultural machinery. A report on the championship stated: "The Hanover rink won honors in every respect. Mann was undoubtedly the most impressive skip in the series. His rink proved itself time and again and while all the youngsters curled beautifully, Buchan is the third position was simply Murder Inc. for all opposition."

Mann, it was stated, left no room for doubt. His youngsters, "blistered hands loaded with tape," were so impressive that even before the final day the spectators behind the glass were pulling whale-heartedly for the small-towners.

The Hanover rink's mastery of the "roarin' game" borders on the sensational. When you consider the fact that these three youngsters had been together for a short time and had had something like eleven club and practice games under their belts before going into competition, their feat is all the more amazing.

Under Mann's masterful tutelage, the boys swept the championships at Districts 13 and 14 and went on to win 14 consecutive victories in the Consols playdowns.

The forty-one-year-old skip who stands 5-6 and weighs but 141 pounds, has not forgotten the Brier experiences he attained while playing second for the Nova Scotia rink in 1956. One crowning moments, to date, came when he defeated the powerful Ottawa and Galt rinks to round out his winning string.

The three student youngsters have implicit faith in the ability of their skip. Mann told reporters after his sensational victory: "We might have felt a little cocky going into this thing, but it was only because they knew the capabilities of the boys. I knew they trusted me fully and I knew that if we didn't get too far off our game we'd give anybody a hard run for all the marbles. Let's say we never lost confidence, we had a few nice breaks and we played up to snuff."

The youthful Black Princes under Sir Robert Mann won their golden spurs on the Ontario battlefield. Now they face the biggest test of all when they compete in the national tournament at Brandon, Manitoba, in March.

They will meet sturdy tournament-wise veterans who represent the other provinces, including the world champion Richardsons, and the battle-scarred Jimmy Shields and Lorners of the western areas.

With the controversial "pro-amateur" question coming up for discussion at the DCA meeting, it would be more or less ironic if this untried, overnight-sensation rink from Hanover won the national championship. It would be a feather in the argumentative cap of those who claim the "pros" do not dominate amateur tournaments.

Will Draw Customers Says O'Quinn

Parker, Trimble Fan Bait

OTTAWA (CP)—Red O'Quinn says Montreal Alouettes had no choice but to hire Jim Trimble as coach of the Eastern Football Conference club.

"They had to have somebody the Montreal fans would have confidence in or season tickets sales would have been impossible," the general manager of Ottawa Rough Riders said Tuesday.

"The club really needed a big name guy to run things and they couldn't have made a better choice. The fans will be coming out to see boy big Jim handles that club.

Trimble, appointed Tuesday coached Hamilton Tiger - Cats for seven years.

O'Quinn also said in an interview he is very happy that Toronto Argonauts obtained all-star quarterback Jackie Parker from Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Conference.

"I'm happy because the eastern fans will be turning up in droves to see Jackie. But I'm not happy that he will be playing against us. If he's going to have any bad days, I hope they all happen in Ottawa."

Sazio Offered Hamilton Job ★★★★★

Larks Lure 'Jungle Jim' From TiCats

By MARVEN MOSS

MONTREAL (CP) — Jim Trimble, 44, onetime wonder boy coach in the National Football League, has been lured away from Hamilton Tiger-Cats by Montreal Alouettes for a contract believed to call for a piece of the gate at home games, plus other bonuses.

"There are incentives," said Trimble Tuesday at a press conference. But he declined to reveal contract terms. So did Ted Workman, 30, president of the Alouettes.

Trimble left an $18,500-a-year job at Hamilton with another season left in a five-year contract.

Reliable sources here say his Montreal contract provides about $22,000 annually in addition to bonus payments for ticket sales in excess of 20,000 a game and a winning effort.

"It's the greatest opportunity I've ever had in professional football," said Trimble.

His Hamilton job was offered to Ralph Sazio, Tiger assistant coach the last 10 years. Sazio was expected to reply today.

TRIMBLE REPLACES MOSS

Workman, fired Perry Moss as Argos head coach and general manager Jan. 30 after a losing campaign.

Workman said Tuesday Trimble will take over as the club's director of player personnel, a scouting post filled by W. J. Albrecht who quit the Als two weeks ago to join Oakland Raiders of the American Football League as business manager.

Trimble, a native of McKeesport, Pa., and father of six school-age children, said earlier he wanted the best Moss held. But Workman said the general manager's post will be a job—he will take over the work it entails with help from Danny Pickell, 34, club's director of development.

Workman processed a list of 19 candidates for the coaching job including Leo Cahill who came to Montreal with Moss as assistant and got Perry's endorsement to take over as head coach.

CAHILL IS UPSET

Workman said Cahill was "a little upset" about the turn of events. Cahill wasn't at the press conference but he said later in an interview:

"Hell, yes, I was upset. I felt I was the logical guy to take over. But I had a tough man to beat out and I'm really gratified about the support the fans gave me anyway."

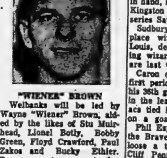
He said he would confer with Trimble and then decide whether to stay on.

Reaction to Trimble's appointment was highly favorable among the Alouette players who reside here.

The Tiger-Cats rode into the Grey Cup game in five of the seven seasons Trimble steered them but they were shipped three times by Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the East-West final.

"Now maybe they can get a coach who can beat Winnipeg coach Bud Grant," said Trimble.

Trimble was named coach of the year in the NFL with Philadelphia Eagles in 1952, an unprecedented feat for a big league rookie.



A onetime tackle with University of Indiana, he started coaching at his alma mater in 1945 and went to the Eagles as an assistant in 1951.

City League Playoffs Tonight

Playoff hockey comes to Memorial Arena tonight when four evenly-matched clubs hook up in the first games of this City Hockey League semi-finals.

The opening game, at 7:45, pits Welbanks Motors against the Joyce-Rollins Combines.

The nightcap, slated for 9.15, finds Jack Pepich who finished atop the league standing, tackling Trudeau Motors. Both are best-of-three series with sudden-death overtime in effect.

"WIENER" BROWN

Welbanks will be led by Wayne "Wiener" Brown, aided by the likes of Stu Muirhead, Lionel Reilly, Bobby Green, Floyd Crawford, Paul Zakos and Bucky Ethier. Brown, a strong contender for the loop's M.V.P. award, scored 14 goals while playing just half of his team's regular games.

Joyce - Rollins will counter with Ric Taylor, Jackie Elliott, Larry Mavety, Ron Hull, Duke Dornan, Ted Rowland and Gordie Hall. The Combines get goal tending, and they likely will if young Bobby Rose is in top form. He should be a tight series all the way.

Pepich have, without a doubt, the best balanced club in the loop, including such players as George Jacklin, Dave Jones, John Trendell, "Shaker" Baker, Billy McGuire, Bob Brooks and Claude Carr. The team is strong from goal out and will take a lot of beating.

Trudeaus boast top scorers is Gary Goyer, "Pug" Keller and Ed Mastrangelo with their front-line strength is weaker from here out. Don Barrett gives them top goaltending and Vern Goyer "makes" the defence when he is there.

Fans who had their choice of opponents by virtue of finishing on top, chose Trudeaus and Ed Plata's crew hopes to make them regret it.

No club has a sure winner in this loop so look for the hardest-working club to take it all.

COLLAPSES AFTER SWIM

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Satako Tanaka, Japan's great backstroker, collapsed from shock and exhaustion Tuesday night after swimming the last 75 yards of the 220-yard final of the Australian championships in darkness resulting from a power failure.

The 20-year-old swimmer bettered the 2:36.1 world record with a time of two minutes 31.9 seconds in winning the race. She was carried from the pool and rushed until to compete in a rerun of the event. The black-eyed girl was the only one to defeat Miss Tanaka's teammate, Miss Takahashi, eclipsed the world record in winning the women's 220-yard butterfly final in 2:22.2. This bettered by 1.4 seconds the world mark set by Becky Collins of Indianapolis in 1961.

Waits For 'Hand Of Authority,

Howie Young Skips Camp Again

By MARVEN MOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Terrible - tempered Howie Young has skipped camp again. Detroit Red Wings said Young vanished Tuesday, missing a team practice.

They issued a statement saying he would report today, but Young did neither than that he had gone home.

The defenceman was waiting for the hand of authority to fall when he left the camp of the National Hockey League club.

Young's tantrum in a game against Montreal Canadiens in Detroit Sunday brought him a total of 27 minutes in penalties, giving him an all-time NHL record high of 210 minutes. The Red Wings still have 16 games to play.

NOT SUSPENDED

The outburst also resulted in three automatic fines totalling $100 and made-his case subject to a review by league president Clarence Campbell, who could impose more fines or a suspension.

Campbell's interest in Young has another aspect. All NHL contracts carry a clause dealing with other off the ice.

Young took off once earlier this season, disappearing for three days last month after a game in Chicago.

Wings coach Sid Abel threatened severe punishment, but Young showed up and all was forgiven.

Young's past antics had him in fewer hot water with Abel's predecessor Jack Adams, and at one point he was suspended by Adams.

BACKED BY SKINNER

Tuesday, however, Detroit's chief scout, Jim Skinner, claimed referees pick on Young.

"I know a half dozen guys who should get more penalties.

He named Carl Brewer and Bobby Baun of Toronto and Montreal's Lou Fontinato, who established the penalty minutes record Young smashed. Fontinato's mark was 204 minutes—set six years ago when Lou played for New York Rangers. Said Skinner:

"... Howie is a full-tilt guy. He goes everything out in the open. Those other guys have defense and referees don't see half the things he does.

The Red Wings don't play again until Thursday night, when they meet Chicago's league-leading Black Hawks in Detroit. Tonight the schedule sends Montreal against the Maple Leafs in Toronto and Boston Bruins against the Rangers in New York.

Fronteancs Defeat Braves 4-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kingston Frontenacs had too much power for the last-place St. Louis Braves in the only scheduled Eastern Professional Hockey League games Tuesday night.

The Frontenacs' four second-period goals powered them to a 4-2 win and first-place tie for the league leadership with Hull-Ottawa Canadiens. Each has 70 points. Canadiens have a game in hand, however, and will meet Kingston in a home-and-home series Saturday and Sunday.

Sudbury Wolves are in third place with 51 points and St. Louis, despite the recent scoring wizardry of Alain Caron, are last with 36.

Caron opened scoring in the first period Tuesday night with his 36th goal of the season, tops in the league, but the Frontenacs tied it early in the second on a goal by Dick Terry.

Waterloo Tigers Ousted

Galt Grabs Playoff Spot

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Galt Terriers came from behind for a 5-4 win over Kitchener-Waterloo Tuesday night which eliminated The Tigers from a playoff competition and wrapped up fourth place for Galt in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

The Terriers ensured themselves of a berth in the playoffs by scoring four goals in the final period to overcome a 3-1 count in the second period.

Defencemen - John Lowes pumped home a pair of goals to spark the rally and then Galt held off a last-minute surge by the Tigers before 500 fans in Galt.

Keith Worrall, Ron Brain and Eddie Burr were the other Terrier marksmen. Don Emms scored the first three goals for the Tigers and Joe Hogan added a goal in the final minutes.

The Tigers pulled goaltender Bost Hurley after Hogan's goal at 19:43, but couldn't get a shot at Galt's Dave Dryden.

The loss eliminated the Tigers from playoff contention even though they are tied for fourth place with Galt. They have only two games left in the regular schedule and must beat Galt by five points in the standings to ensure a playoff.

Kitchener-Waterloo received a four-point penalty for losing a pair of games to Sarnia before that club dropped out midway in the schedule.

TORONTO (CP) — Jackie Parker checked into town from Edmonton Tuesday night—in a happy frame of mind and anxious to talk contract with his new football employers, Toronto Argonauts. The same could be said of the Argonauts.

Parker, triple-threat quarterback traded to Argonauts by Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Conference for five players, was flown here to appear on a television show and to attend a press conference. He and Argos' will open contract negotiations Friday.

The 31-year-old grid star was welcomed to Toronto in a style usually reserved for dignitaries. Mayor Donald Summerville showed up in the Argo office to greet him.

Parker will get together with managing director Lew Hayman of Argos.

Parker, rated by many experts as the greatest all-round player to perform in Canada, said he anticipates little trouble in agreeing to terms. He wants a contract that contains security for him and hopes to sign for two or three years.

FOR YEARS MORE

The nine-year veteran of Eskimos, who led the Western Football Club to three straight Grey Cup victories in 1954-55-56, said he hopes to be able to play "at top speed" for four or five years more at least.

"When I feel I have reached my peak and can't play as I used to, I'll pack up. It's hardest to play offence when you reach 35 but a guy with any natural ability to play defence can go on until he's 40."

He reiterated that the reason he asked Edmonton to trade him was that playing in the East would open up better business opportunities for him and help him towards getting a coaching job eventually.

Hayman said he and coach Nobby Wirkowski realised Parker isn't going to make Argos a contender in the Eastern Football Conference all by himself.

"Jackie has that indefinable quality to lead and the talent to back it up," Hayman said. "But he's got to have help and we're not going to stop trying to get the players that are needed to get the job done."

IS UNCONDITIONAL

The five-for-one trade is unconditional and stands regardless of whether the Argo players report to Edmonton. The players are halfbacks Joe Hernandez, Jon Rechner and Mike Wicklum and linemen Bill Mitchell and Zeke Smith.

Money was also involved in the deal but Hayman declined to say how much.

There was no indication the Argonaut players would refuse to report to Edmonton, although Mitchell was unhappy because he said the clubs were slow in advising the affected players about the deal.

"Lil" Albie Likes New Strike Zone

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The new, enlarged strike zone which has brought howls of anguish from some of the American League's biggest hitters holds no fears for Albie Pearson, baseball's littlest player.

"I believe the new strike zone will help me," said the sparkling centre fielder of Los Angeles Angels, who at five-feet-five and 140 pounds looks like a jockey who has slightly outgrown his trade.

"It may cut down my baseon-balls production, but it's bound to make me a better hitter, if only by making me swing the bat more. I've always been a high-ball hitter, so raising the strike zone from the armpits to the top of the shoulders should not bother me. I hope to add about 20 points to my batting average in 1963."

Albie, the most popular Angels player with the fans, isn't completely satisfied with his season's work in 1962, especially with his batting average, which slipped from .288 in 1961 to .261.

"Defensively, I had the greatest year of my life," he said. "But I should have hit at least 20 points higher."

Pearson led the league in runs scored with 115, was seventh in walks with 96, eighth in stolen bases with 15, 12th in times at bat with 614 and 20th in hits with 160. He drove in 42 runs, not bad for a leadoff hitter.

BREED HYBRIDS

Trappers and hunters in the Canadian north have for many years crossbred dogs and timber wolves to produce large, strong, sled teams.

Bow to Oshawa Teams

Bantams Out, Midgets Lose

Belleville Bantams bowed out of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association playdowns and the Quinte Midgets fell nine goals behind in the first game of their series, played in Oshawa last night.

Oshawa Bantams downed Belleville 9-2 to capture the round 14-6. Belleville Midgets dropped a 10-1 decision to Oshawa and will face the nine-goal deficit in the second game here Saturday morning.

BANTAMS

The locals, who lost 5-4 in the first game at home, fell behind 1-0 in the first period last night, tied it early in the second and then saw Oshawa go to a 4-2 lead by the end of the period. Five goals without a reply in the third left no doubt as to the outcome.

Richard Ellis and Dale Duvall scored the Belleville goals while Ron Hannah drew a single assist.

Mike Hewer, Bill Morrison and Larry McAvoy triggered two goals apiece for Oshawa with singletons going to Darryl Hodgin, Don Bowen and Terry Oatle.

The clubs divided eight minor penalties.

Belleville — Paul Smith, John Menary, Dan Smyth, Jim Cockburn, Larry Moore, Ted Herrington, Dale Duvall, Cliff Scott, Richard Ellis, Ron Hannah, John Holgate, Pete Fleming, Bob Beecher, Bill Wichert.

Oshawa — Wayling, Senick, Bowen, Sawyer, Marrison, Andrusco, M. Hewer, Smith, Oatle, Dionne Grabko, Salowski Hodgin, J. Hewer, McAvoy.

MIDGET

Oshawa jumped into a quick lead, on Elliott's goal at 1.55 of the first period, and led 3-0 at the end of the first. They added one goal in the second and outscored Belleville 5-1 in the final two minutes.

Second game of the series will be played at 10.30 Saturday morning in Belleville.

S. White scored Belleville's lone goal at 13.17 of the third, cutting the lead to 5-1 at that time. Five more Oshawa goals wrapped it up.

G. Elliott paced the winners' attack with three goals while G. Bradley and J. Dionne fired two apiece. McGraw, Salmon and Sutton also scored.

Each club drew six penalties in the rugged contest. Belleville's J. Pringle drew a misconduct at the end of the second period while Stewart got the same early in the third. Sutton and Hannah had majors for fighting in the final minute of the game.

Edges RCAF To Square Series 3-3

Picton Snatches 8-7 Win

PICTON (Special) — The Picton Macs staged a tremendous last-minute rally to beat out an 8-7 victory over RCAF Globetrotters here last night, evening their best-of-seven Lakeshore Intermediate Hockey League semi-finals at three games apiece.

The seventh and deciding game is slated for Trenton on Friday night at nine o'clock.

Trailing 7-6 with just over two minutes left in the game, the Macs tied it on a goal by Sam "The Man" Mulholland, and won the "clifthanger" on Dave Jones' marker at 19.10.

Jones' goal was Picton's third without a reply in the final chapter after RCAF had fired four in a row in the second period to open up a 7-5 lead.

Early in the game Picton held a 3-0 lead but the Trotters tied it 3-3 by the end of the first. The losers went ahead briefly early in the second, 3-2, but this time it was Picton that roared back for a 5-3 lead by 6.41 of the period. Then came four consecutive goals by RCAF for the 7-5 lead going into the third.

Faulkner cut the margin to 7-6 at 4.07 of the third but the Macs were unable to get the equaliser until Mulholland and Jones took over in the dying seconds.

Dave Jones, with two goals and two assists, and Sid Faulkner, with two and one, paced the Picton scorers. Leo "Wiener" St. Denis bagged a goal and assist while Doug Murray, Sam Mulholland and Jim Guernsey also scored. Ron Hull, Ron Weese and Bob Fawcett each drew two assists, Lionel Bolly one.

Peterson and Maroney were two-goal men for the Globetrotters while McKinnon, St. Pierre and Drake also scored. Austin Gerrard was a playmaker and earned himself five assists. Gebhardt and Blanchard each drew three assists and Riley one.

Trenton picked up five of the game's six minor penalties in another hard-fought but clean tilt.

37 Horses Perish in Barn Fire

BERRYVILLE, Va. (AP)—Thirty-seven thoroughbred race horses, most of them yearlings and two-year-olds, were destroyed Tuesday night as fire whipped through the main barn at Glen Arden Valley Farm in northwest Virginia.

There was no estimate on the value of the horses, but the barn was valued at between $100,000 and $200,000. Cause of the blaze was not known.

Grayson A. Grear, 15, son of the manager of the farm owned by millionaire sportsman-industrialist James F. Edwards, saved 11 of 48 thoroughbreds in the barn.

Cop Gives The 'Rocket' The Heaveho

MONTREAL (CP)—Maurice (Rocket) Richard was shoved aside at city hall.

The former Montreal Canadiens' hockey star, paying a business call, was waiting at an elevator Tuesday when a policeman approached him and said: "You can't stand there. The prince is coming."

The Rocket looked flabbergasted for a moment and then disappeared in the elevator before Mayor Jean Drapeau and Prince Albert of Belgium hove into view.

Told afterwards that he had been talking to Richard, the policeman said: "You say that was the Rocket I didn't really look at his face. I didn't recognize him. After all, he was just wearing a business suit."

Schoolboy Curling

Alberta, Quebec Undefeated

By PAUL RIMSTEAD

GUELPH (CP)—Luck or no luck, skip Wayne Saboe had his Alberta rink in the favorite's role in the Canadian schoolboy curling championship today.

But nobody discounted a strong Quebec rink from Montreal High School, the only four-some which could match Alberta's record of four wins in four starts.

Thanks to Saboe's shrewdness and shotmaking, Alberta scored a 6-5 win over might Saskatchewan Tuesday night in the fourth round of the 11-round tournament.

It was a skipping duel which provided the best curling of the first two days of the round-robin competition. Saboe and skip Dennis Balderston of Saskatchewan were brilliant.

Saboe broke a 5-5 tie with his first rock in the final round but actually won it in the eighth.

Quebec's John Hammond, with a surprisingly solid rink, needed an extra end and a spectacular last shot to defeat winless Northern Ontario 10-9 in the fourth round. The Northern Ontario rink, skipped by Bob Ash of Kirkland Lake Collegiate, took five in the ninth end to spoil unbeaten Quebec 8-7 going into the 10th.

Hammond made a great last-minute rock shot in the 10th to force an extra end and in the 11th, with Ash lying one and well guarded, Hammond executed an extremely difficult raise from the outside which left him counting two. Ash, with the last rock, nudged a guard and went off target.

Another winless team came close to pulling an upset in the third round when Newfoundland almost defeated Saskatchewan. Balderston was the hero in that one. He needed a fine takeout shot with his last rock to win 6-5.

In other fourth-round games, Manitoba downed British Columbia 9-4, Prince Edward Island scored its third win with a 10-6 victory over New Brunswick and Nova Scotia defeated Ontario 7-4.

In the third round, Nova Scotia defeated New Brunswick 8-4, Alberta downed Manitoba 9-6 thanks to a five-ender in the eighth, British Columbia beat Ontario 10-3 and Quebec belted Prince Edward Island 14-5.

PINSON HAS OPERATION

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Vada Pinson, star centrefielder for Cincinnati Reds, had his appendix removed in an emergency operation Monday night and may miss virtually all the spring training season. After the operation, Pinson's physician told the outfielder's wife, Jacqueline, the 24-year-old veteran may not get back to normal activity before April 1. The Reds open their National League season April 8.

Coaches Have Tough Time

Curling 'Dads' Same As Others

GUELPH (CP)—What, precisely, are the duties of a curling coach?

This can be an embarrassing question for the 11 coaches accompanying the rinks in this year's Canadian schoolboy curling championship.

And people have reason to ask. It is the only curling competition in which rinks have coaches—and, unlike in other sports, the coaches are not really allowed to coach.

Once a game is in progress, the coach is not allowed to talk to any member of his rink.

Steve Kashuba, coach of the Bonnie Doon Composite High School at Edmonton which is representing Alberta, said: "A curling coach is like a coach in any other sport. In addition to talking about strategy and certain shots before or after a game, there is the question of the rink's mental attitude.

"Only a team both physically and mentally prepared can win a national curling championship."

Another coach told about the disadvantages:

"Their fathers like to tell you about your mistakes," he said, "and some want publicity for their sons.

"Publicity for boys this age can be bad. It's a long fall if things don't work out. And, as for their curling strategy, we conducted an experiment.

"Some of the fathers had been top flight curlers so we challenged them to a game . . . The kids licked them easily."

Crothers, Kidd Run In New York

TORONTO (CP)—Bruce Kidd and Bill Crothers, Toronto track sensations, will carry Canada's hopes in the United States National Amateur Athletic Union indoor meet at New York Saturday night.

For Kidd, the meet will be his last of the winter season. Fred Foot, his coach, said Kidd, 19, should be helped in keeping his honor standing at the Uni versity of Toronto by the break from his rigorous schedule. He also intimated Kidd had developed a minor foot ailment which real would improve.

Crothers, 22, a U. of T. pharmacy student, will run in the 1,000-yard event. He has won eight consecutive races at 1,000 or less and captured the 600-yard event in the same meet last year.

Western Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was an unnerving night for two Western Hockey League goalkeepers. Gilles Villemure of Vancouver Canucks and Calgary Stampeders' Roy Edwards.

One of Spokane Comets' goals —at they edged the Canucks 4-3 in Vancouver Tuesday night— came from a shot Villemure decided was wide. The blueline shot by Ray Brunel slid past the confidently inert goalie.

Calgary's 3-2 overtime loss to Portland Buckaroos in Calgary was a tale of woe for Edwards.

It started in the first period when Edwards raced for a loose puck, but got there a second after Tom McCarthy of the Buckaroos, who fired into the empty net.

Lou Jankowski tied the game and Gord Redahl put Calgary ahead 2-1 in the second. Then in the third, Tommy McVie tied it again. With about a minute left, Edwards and Portland's Ken Laufman collided in the net and hoisted the cage from its moorings.

Edwards needed six stitches to close a gash in his ear. After he got back on the ice Art Jones scored the winning goal.

At Vancouver other Spokane scorers were Dick Lamoureux, Steve Witiuk and Max Mekilok.

Phil Maloney, Buddy Boone and Larry Popein scored for the Canucks.

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Jim Ferree of Aiken, S.C., carries a one-half point lead into the Caracas Open, third leg of the Caribbean professional golf tour, starting Thursday.

A special prize goes to the player with the most points after five tournaments.

The 31 year-old Ferree moved ahead of George Knudson of Toronto by winning an extra-hole playoff from John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich., for the Maracaibo Open after each finished with 72-hole score of 288.

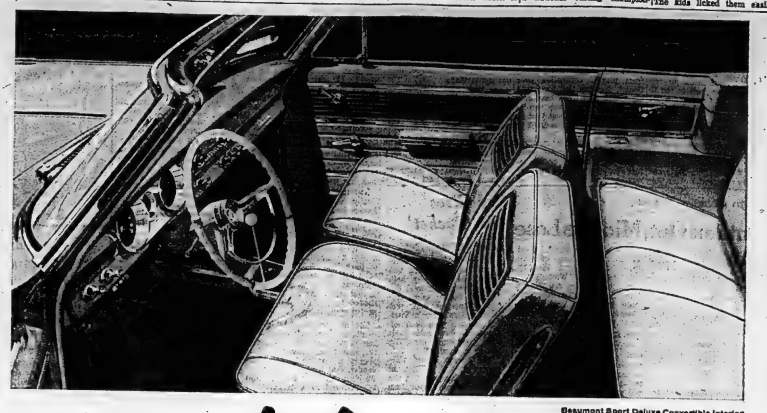
Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.



This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured tissue and eliminates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination painless. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Nighbor Won 1st Byng Award

By BEN WARD

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP) — One of the most unusual trophy presentations in hockey history occurred in Ottawa on a warm spring night in 1925.

Lady Byng, wife of the Governor-General, sent a message to Frank Nighbor, star extraordinary of the famed Ottawa Senators. Would Mr. Nighbor drop into Rideau Hall at his convenience?

When Nighbor arrived, Lady Byng took him into a drawing room where a huge silver trophy was displayed on the table. She held it up and asked him whether the National Hockey League would be willing to accept it for annual award to its most sportsman-like player.

Nighbor said the NHL probably would be delighted.

"Then," said Lady Byng, "I present this trophy to Frank Nighbor as the most sportsman-like player for 1923."

Nighbor, today living in comfortable retirement in this Ottawa Valley town, recalls that as one of the most memorable events in the 1915-30 hockey era when his name and exploits were as familiar to sports fans as those of Gordie Howe or Rocket Richard are today.

JUDGMENT UPHELD

There were no complaints about the rather arbitrary manner in which Lady Byng, an ardent hockey fan, handled the inaugural award of the Lady Byng trophy. A vote of sports writers in the league cities a year later upheld her judgment by naming Nighbor a repeat winner.

"They hand out a $1,000 cheque with the Byng award today," says Nighbor, "but I wouldn't trade this for $10,000." He was holding up the miniature Lady Byng trophy the governor - general's wife gave him that night 38 years ago.

Nighbor, hair thinning and step slowing to a shuffle, recently marked his 70th birthday. But he still is only five pounds above his 160 - pound playing weight and has a photographic memory of those bygone years when hockey was front-page news across the country, when his $7,000 salary was considered fabulous and when only Toronto had artificial ice.

Born in Pembroke, he began skating at four on old-fashioned blades strapped on to overshoes. At 15 he starred with a district senior team...that lost only one game in two years.

In 1909 Nighbor went to a Port Arthur club and had two seasons there before a scout signed him for Toronto in the old National Hockey Association, five-team forerunner of NHL. Salary: $750.

DEFENSIVE WIZARD

Faded newspaper clippings of the day make only secondary mention of the 23 goals Nighbor produced in his 20-game rookie season. The sensation was his introduction of the "sweep check," in which Nighbor held the length of his stick flat on the ice and swept it across the path of opposing forwards. It collected the puck almost every time.

Time has even dulled the memory of his sweep-checking skill, however, and today old-timers remember him for his effectiveness with the "poke check."

Toronto fans howled at the end of the season when he was drafted by Vancouver Millionaires. The Pacific Coast League had made a deal with the eastern circuit, after threatening a player raid, under which the Western clubs were allowed to select two players from the east. Frank Patrick, then coaching Vancouver, took Didier Pitre from Montreal and the new wonder boy left-winger from the Torontos.

His selection paid off 12 months later when Vancouver won its first and only Stanley Cup. Nighbor's checking was given much of the credit.

"I really loved it in Vancouver," Nighbor told an interviewer. "But my mother was sick back east and I jumped the club after the first season. Patrick threatened to sue my ears off."

SCORED 41 GOALS

Thus in 1915 he hit the ice with Ottawa. The late Tommy Gorman, coach of the Senators, later called Nighbor one of the best hockey players he had ever seen. Moved to centre, he was hailed as the outstanding two-way forward in the league.

In the 1916-17 season he and Joe Malone of Quebec City staged one of the greatest scoring duels of all time, ending up tied at 41 goals in 20 games.

Nighbor was with Ottawa on four Stanley Cup teams—three of them in the four years from 1919 to 1923. On the night of the final Stanley Cup game in 1927 the last cup year for Ottawa, his only one as a player, he was named Frank Stanley in honor of the victory.

In 1924 the Hart Trophy was established, to be awarded to the most valuable player in the NHL. Nighbor was the first to win it, although he was 12th in the scoring list that season with 10 goals. But Ottawa's 1923-24 league title was largely due to his defensive work.

Elmer Ferguson, the Montreal sports writer, wrote after one of Nighbor's performances against Montreal: "Frank Nighbor picks the puck off the stick of a forward with all the grace and deadly accuracy of a master fencer."

INJURED LEG

During the 1928-29 season, when he was in the $7,000 salary range, he was injured during a game and underwent an operation that removed a leg cartilage. From there the Pembroke Peach went downhill.

"I knew I was just about over the hill," he recalls. "Then Conn Smythe offered Ottawa $50,000 for my contract. I couldn't believe it."

Nighbor moved to Smythe's Toronto Maple Leafs for the 1929-30 season but he had a tough time keeping pace with younger players.

At the end of the season Smythe revealed the real reason for his purchase. He asked Nighbor to coach Toronto.

"It was a great chance," he says, "but I had to turn it down. My wife was back in Ottawa dying of TB and I decided to get out of hockey and stay with her."

Mrs. Nighbor died in May, 1931. "I didn't know what to do with myself for the next couple of months. Then a couple of Buffalo executives came and told me to get off the seat of my pants and back into hockey."

GAVE UP HOCKEY

Nighbor ran Buffalo Bisons of the International League for three seasons, winning the title in the first two. It was the first hockey title ever won by Buffalo. Later he coached London Tecumsehs, in the same league, for a season "but my heart just wasn't in it any more."

He returned to Pembroke and the general insurance business he had kept up in partnership with Dave Behan all through his hockey career.

Nighbor retired from the insurance business 18 months ago, buying out Behan and turning the firm over to Frank Jr. Then he took a five-month winter vacation in Florida before settling back amid his memories and mementos.

He remains a keen hockey fan, watching televised games regularly and sometimes visiting the school rink up the street from his home.

But a check of the youngsters playing on the rink one afternoon recently showed that none of them had ever heard of Frank Nighbor, the "grey ghost" of New York sports pages in the 1920s and the 12th player admitted to the International Hockey Hall of Fame.

The Dotted Line League

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Burly Jack Sanford, 24-game winner for the National League champion San Francisco Giants says he pitched the final week of the 1962 baseball season with a two-inch cut in his heel from an operation to remove an abscess.

Currently involved in a contract cold war with the Giants, Sanford put a couple of hot coals into the dispute Tuesday when he told the San Francisco Chronicle of his operation and implied that the Giants' pitching pattern was being used as a weapon against a hefty raise.

"Few people know this," said Sanford, "but just before I beat St. Louis 4-2 in the final week I had an operation on my heel involving cut. It hurt. Toward the end I also worked with a cold that drained me. Yet I worked something like three games in six days."

The fastballing righthander, who won 18 consecutive games at one stretch as the Giants made their run at the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers then fired his verbal broadside.

"Chub (Giant vice-president Chub Feeney) mentioned I did not complete many games last year. Thirteen. But that was the ordered pattern. Pitch as hard as I can as long as I can and then let the bullpen clean up."

Sanford's asking price for the 1963 campaign is believed to be in the neighborhood of $35,000, a boost of about $10,000. Sanford says he and the Giants are "far apart," which is taken to mean about $5,000.

'Nine Hours to Rama' Deals With Gandhi Assassination

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Film maker Mark Robson has taken the historical fact of the assassination of Mathatma Gandhi and fashioned around it a fictional melodrama, Nine Hours to Rama.

The result is a generally exciting movie, well paced and set against stunning Indian scenes. It may well help to restore the fading fortunes of 20th Century-Fox.

The ethic of turning recent history into film fiction might be argued. The screen play, taken from Stanley Wolpert's novel, features only two real-life figures, Gandhi and the assassin, Natu Godse. The intention was to explain how anyone could kill such a saintly man.

In this Robson succeeds. So much sympathy and understanding is built up for Godse, played compellingly by Horst Buchholz, that the moviegoer finds himself in a dilemma: Identity with the sealot's misguided cause but repugnance at his mission.

Robson, a craftsman (Champion, My Foolish Heart, Peyton Place), plays these mixed emotions for what they are worth. Some of his side trips into romance seem irrelevant, but when he sticks to the holiday toward the violent event, he is on sure ground.

Nine Hours to ama is magnificent pictorially. Fortunately, Robson did not fail into the trap of so many U.S. films made abroad since Three Coins in the Fountain. This is no travelogue of India.

The crowd scenes, the temples, the funeral pyres—all are photographed as part of the plot.

Robson drew from the large Indian film industry to augment his British crew. Most of the locals were shot in New Delhi, where there are no studios and hence no trained extras.

The Indian crew shouted directions in Hindi and the extras reacted spontaneously. As a result, the crowd stuff is marvelously realistic.

Jose Ferrer plays the dogged police inspector striving vainly to head off the tragic event. Valerie Gearson, beauteous and talented Britbers, is lovely to look at. But you never believe for an instant that she is a high-born Indian.

The most brilliant casting is J. S. Casshyap, a 64-year-old teacher turned writer — actor, who portrays Gandhi. It is the most inspired impersonation since Raymond Massey played Lincoln.

All Color Musical Show Opens Thursday

ELVIS IN "G.I. BLUES"

A "new" Elvis Presley, minus the famous pompadour and sideburns, makes his debut in Hal Wallis' "G. I. Blues", opening Thursday at the Park Theatre. The Paramount Technicolor release, in which Presley introduces 10 new numbers, marks his first motion picture since completing military service.

Portraying a role that he filled in real life for close to two years, that of a U.S. soldier in peacetime Germany, Elvis wears a modification of the regulation Army butch haircut. This style calls for maximum hair length of 2½ inches and no sideburns.

Juliet Prowse, the shapely dancing sensation of "Can-Can," is co-starred. Norman Taurog directed.

Cliff Richards in "IT'S WONDERFUL TO BE YOUNG"

Cliff Richard, whose teen-age following around the world are numbered in the millions, has some surprises for them in his first song-and-dance film, "Wonderful to Be Young", with which he bows to American audiences. In the Technicolor musical released by Paramount which also arrives Thursday at the Park Theatre, Cliff dances for the first time, and wears more formal clothes than he ever did before.

Says the astute young star: "It's all part of the process of broadening by appeal. After all, I can't remain a teen-ager and I've got to think of the fans that are growing up with me".

Robert Morley, distinguished stage and screen character actor, and Carole Gray, dancer from South Africa, co-star with Cliff.

Complete shows at 7.00 p.m. and 8.45 p.m.

Scouting activities

5th AND 20th CUBS AND SCOUTS

On Sunday, February 17, the Cubs and Scouts of 20th Belleville, upon official invitation, joined with the Cubs and Scouts of 6th Belleville for a special Scout Week service at Tabernacle United Church. This joining together is significant of the Brotherhood stressed in Scouting, particularly during Baden-Powell Week.

Parade marshal was Scoutmaster Hutchison of 6th Belleville. The boys assembled in the downstairs auditorium and entered the sanctuary in a body with their leaders, followed by Group committee men, and members of the 6th Ladies' Auxiliary.

Flag bearers were Scouts Ralph and Brian Spencer of the 20th, Cub Bill Akey of 6th and Cub Norman Taylor of the 20th.

Leading in the worship service were Scouts Bruce LaRue and David Lott of the 6th who are presenting their badges, their Religion and Life Award, ACM Ruth Howard gave the children's story.

The minister, Rev. Morgan McFarlane, chaplain of 6th Belleville gave a sermon entitled "How Would You Answer?" which was unusually well suited to the occasion. It was based on three familiar questions: "What is Your Name?", "How Old Are You?" and "Where Do You Live?" Mr. McFarlane pointed out the deeper meaning to these questions. To the first, he showed that the individual and personality were the things that made others think well or ill of us. To the second, the fame mentioned. On the second question, the significance of one's age should be measured by what he has accomplished in the time that he has been on earth. On the third question, Mr. McFarlane pointed out that it is not very important where one's material home is, but that it is most important where his mind and soul dwells—whether his thoughts are lofty or low.

Mr. McFarlane highly praised the Scouting movement as a training ground for producing better citizens. In Belleville it is very fortunate in having a fine chaplain who takes such an active interest in the group.

Newly-elected Group Committee chairman Malcolm McClelland is to be commended for his excellent work in organizing this combined service. Since the McClelland has been both a Cubmaster and Scoutmaster in the past, he has a full understanding of both the uniformed and non-uniformed sides of Scouting, and we are certain that both the Pack and the Troop at 8th Belleville will benefit from his able leadership and co-operative efforts.

DISTRICT CUB LEADERS

A meeting for Belleville District Cub Leaders was held on February at Christ Church Parish Hall, with 41 leaders present.

The meeting was conducted by Gordon Russell, A.D.C. for Cubs, assisted by Stuart Taylor, District Cubmaster. The main purpose of the meeting was to have the Cub leaders of the Belleville District become better acquainted with each other. Four discussion groups were formed and each group given a part of the Cub program to discuss and see how these assignments were carried out quite well and the discussions held after each session were very informative.

Stuart Taylor gave the group an outline of the functions and the purpose of an "Akela Club." It was unanimously decided to form a club for Cubmasters and assistant Cubmasters of the Belleville District. The first meeting of this newly formed club will be held at Hillcrest Public School on March 14th at 8.30 p.m. with 14th Group as hosts. It is hoped that leaders who were absent from this meeting will make an effort to be present at the next one as it is felt they missed an interesting evening.

The following Groups were represented: 1, 2, 3, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 17, 18, 19, 21 and 23. Attendance was served during informal discussions.

CUBS OF 20TH

On Monday night February 4, the Cubs of 20th Belleville were taken on an old-fashioned sleigh ride. It was over the snow-whitened fields and lanes, and through wooded areas in the clear moonlight for one of their most enjoyable evenings this winter.

The good-natured fun of pushing each other off in the snow was started when Akela Norm Howard, seated in mid-centre, surrounded the boys by spreading his limbs, thereby sweeping a goodly number of Cubs off on the snowy roadside. They promptly picked themselves up, piled back on the sleigh, and retaliated by hanging up on Akela and giving him his turn at being pushed off.

Then the happy outing, the boys were taken back to their meeting place, R. B. Ahlen School, where three of the Group Committee men, Garth Bradshaw, Ken Dewsnap, and Norm Edwards were waiting to serve hot dogs and soft drinks to the Cubs, who by this time, had appetites to appreciate the treat.

3RD ST. MICHAEL'S AUDITORIUM

A Bridge and euchre card party, sponsored by 3rd Belleville Ladies' Auxiliary, was held in St. Michael's Auditorium recently with a gratifying turnout. Seventeen (17) tables of bridge and 12 tables of euchre players.

The winners at bridge were: Mrs. M. Trudeau, Mrs. K. Soden, Mrs. E. Logan, Miss Mary Jarrett, Mrs. J. McCabe, Mrs. G. McIvoy and Mrs. M. Lynch. The euchre winners were: ladies' first, Mrs. J. D. Brunner; second, Mrs. E. Rivers; third, Mrs. G. Wilson; men's first, Jack Chumbley; second, Mr. T. Daley; third, Mr. Bill Eaton; the spot prize winner was Mrs. J. D. Brunner.

Winners of other prizes were (according to who bought the groceries) by Mrs. Rhodamattis; the door prize, an electric bun warmer, was won by Mrs. D. Gibbon; other door draws went to Mr. J. Mooney, Mr. T. Daley, Miss M. Donoghue, and an unidentified party.

A delicious lunch was served by the Social hostess, Mrs. Mac McCallum, assisted by other Auxiliary members.

The Bridge was convened by Mrs. J. Menary and Mrs. G. Fitzgibbon. The euchre was convened by Mrs. J. D. Brunner, Mrs. J. Doyle was in charge of the euchre for the evening.

A grateful thank you is extended to all who contributed to the success of the card party, especially to the conveners, Mrs. J. Menary, Mrs. T. Black, Mrs. B. McAlpine, Mrs. T. McCabe, Mrs. D. Jones, Mrs. McIvoy and Mrs. Rhodamattis. The Group Committee who were present to lend a hand, and to the Victoria who assisted in greeting the guests to their tables and other good deeds requested of them.

CANNIFTON-CORBYVILLE AUXILIARY

The Mothers' Auxiliary of the 1st Canniffon-Corbyville Cubs and Scouts met at Canniffon United Church for their February meeting with Mrs. Freeman Holgate presiding.

Roll call consisted 10 members present. Mrs. Brownson gave the secretary's report and also the treasurer's in the absence of Mrs. McMurter. Correspondence included a letter of appreciation from Auxiliary Dis trict Committee for the use of the church.

Mrs. Holgate thanked all the ladies who helped with the lunch at the "Workshop Meeting" held recently.

It was reported that Mrs. Clarence Reynolds had returned from hospital.

Mrs. Coxon informed the Auxiliary that she and her husband were taking over leadership of the Cubs.

A discussion regarding plans for a Father and Son banquet was the next item on the agenda. Coffee and cookies were served by Mrs. Ralph Sigwirt.

20th BELLEVILLE GROUP

Remarkable progress has been made in the 20th Belleville Group since last September. ACM Morris Bradshaw and ACM Claude Hennessy came into the Pack at that time, holding a quartet of Six Cub WO 8-8038.

AT THE PARK — Happy Twosome — Juliet Prowse, Cliff Richard in "Wonderful to be Young" in "G.I. Blues" Elvis Presley. The Red Wings grabbed an early one-goal lead in the first game of the goals-to-count series for the BMHA midget championship last night.

Larry Blakely and Bill Carswell each scored twice and Jim Ling once for the Black Hawks. Keith Smith earned one assist.

leadership with Cubmaster Norman Howard and ACM Ruth Howard. Several new boys have joined the Pack since September. Much progress has been made in training and test work.

A more active Group Committee under the chairmanship of Garth Bradshaw has made considerable progress. The newly-elected chairman of the Ladies' Auxiliary is Mrs. Norman Edwards, who, we are certain will fill this position in a capable manner.

One of the proudest achievements of 20th this year is the formation of a Scout Troop under Scoutmaster Norman Gerow who is an able leader and an enthusiastic outdoorsman We hope that the group as a whole will give the troop and its fine leader all the support needed to make it an outstanding success.

DISTRICT COUNCIL

The Belleville District Boy Scout Council held their February meeting in St. Thomas Parish Hall with the president, Mr. Percy Pickering presiding. A special guest at this meeting was the Provincial Field Commissioner of the Boy Scouts' Association, Mr. L. Wilcox, who spoke briefly to the members congratulating them on the fine progress being made in their districts and on behalf of the Scouting movement. Scouter Campbell of 1st St. Thomas, also addressed council.

SCOUTERS GET TOGETHER

The committee for the Scouters get-together have finalized plans for a dinner and 'dance to be held at Club Canara on March 8th. This is an annual event, and what better way is there for group committees to express their appreciation to leaders by extending them an invitation to take part and meet with others in the Scouting Movement locally. Tickets may be obtained from Mr. A. Glover, 44 Southview, WO 8-8038.

Variety Shows Call Dancer To Help Solve Problems

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

TOMORROW AT THE BELLE — Kim Novak listens to the words of one of the four "boys" she has agreed to entertain on different nights of the week in the MGM Joseph Levine comedy, "Boys Night Out", in Color and CinemaScope, opening tomorrow at the Belle Theatre. Jack Cassidy, Tony Randall, James and Duff make up the eager quartet.

NEW YORK (AP)—"My complaint about most television variety shows is that they call in like choreographer when they can't solve their problems any other way," observed James Starbuck, dancer and choreographer.

"They know they have to put some movement into their shows — if they don't, people might just as well listen to a stack of records.

"But calling in a man to plan some dancing and movement late is like calling in the plumber to patch up a leak after it's done the damage."

Starbuck has been putting movement and dancing into television shows for 15 years. During that period he has developed a curious specialty of supplying non-dancers — principally singers and dramatic stars with enough simple dance steps to "integrate" them into the variety shows or, at least, to get them gracefully on and off stage.

It was Starbuck who turned all those celebrity guests on the old Arthur Murray Party into one-shot waltzers and cha-chas and jitterbug practitioners. It was Starbuck who turned the 25-man Sing Along With Mitch chorus, a balding, middle-aged bevy first, into mobile performers.

Fourth Time
Alexander Trophy To Bruce Kidd

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto's Bruce Kidd, the only person to win the Viscount Alexander Trophy more than once, has received the same award for the fourth consecutive time.

It was one of two trophies presented to the track star at the second annual awards dinner of the central Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada Tuesday night.

Kidd, 19, won the trophy, awarded to the outstanding junior male athlete in Canada, for the first time in 1959. Four setting records in international track meets, Kidd also received the Dr. Fred Tees Trophy as the most outstanding university athlete in Canada.

Wilhelm Weiler of Camp Borden, Ont., senior Canadian all-round gymnastic champion, was awarded the Norton H. Crowe Memorial Trophy. It was the second consecutive time Weiler has won the award, given to a male athlete "for outstanding performance and sportsmanship" in sports controlled by the union.

Australia Retains 'The Ashes'

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Australia retained the Ashes today when the fifth and deciding match of the Test against England ended in a draw. Each side won one and the other three ended in draws in the best-of-five series.

Australia, which was set to get 341 runs in 360 minutes for its win today, failed to make the challenge and at stumps had scored only 152 runs for 6 wickets.

England's captain, Ted Dexter, seeking a decision in the match, declared his second innings closed at lunch today at 368 for 9.

England needed to win the match to clinch the rubber and regain the Ashes. But Australia was not to be tempted into going for the runs and perhaps losing wickets.

For the Aussies a draw was enough to retain the symbol of world cricket superiority for at least another two years, when a team will tour England.

POST 24 WINS

LONDON (Reuters)—Leyton Orient defeated Hull City 3-0 and Leicester City downed Nottingham Forest by the same score in two games on Tuesday night. Leyton Orient's victory moves the club into the fourth round of the Football Association Cup against Derby County. The Nottingham Forest-Leicester City game in the English First Division originally was set for Dec. 22 but postponed because of bad weather.

Sport Snapshots
By HARVEN MOSS

LACHINE, Que. (CP) — An off-season deal has shunted Tim Harkness from the powerful Los Angeles Dodgers to the last-place New York Mets in baseball's National League.

But the tall first baseman, born and bred in this Montreal suburb, calls it "a lucky break."

"Frankly I'm hoping it means I'll be playing every day," he said in an interview.

Harkness, six-feet-two and 185 pounds, was sent to Casey Stengel's Mets along with second baseman Larry Burright last November in a swap for pitcher Bob Miller.

He signed a contract for "something more than $10,000" and reports to New York's training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 24.

For the first base job, he'll have to beat out Marv Throneberry, veteran Gil Hodges and Ed Kranepool, a $100,000 bonus baby.

Says Harkness:

"All I want is a chance to show them I can play regularly."

The dark-haired 25-year-old ding on conditioning in the off-season. A tool and die engineering cases on a delivery truck for a brewery and worked out regularly in the basement of his home, using a 12-pound sledgehammer

"The hammer is kind of a training invention of mine. You swing it around and it builds up muscles in your hands, wrists, forearms and shoulders."

Tim is concerned about getting more wood on the ball this season. He's always been known as a good glove man but his work with the bat left something to be desired.

With the Dodgers last season, he hit .239 in 91 games. He started the season as the team's regular first baseman but wound up doing defensive duty and pinch-hitting work.

"It was kind of political thing," Harkness said. "They told me they had to play the higher-priced players."

Wally Moon took over initially and later Ron Fairly.

In 1961 Tim got into only a couple of games with Los Angeles, going six-for-12 at the plate, an even .500.

He broke into professional ball in 1956 with the Philadelphia Phillies organization, went to the Dodgers chain the following year and worked his way up to the big league.

His minor league record includes brief stints in 1957 and 1959 with the defunct Montreal Royals in the Class AAA International League.

Harkness is among nine Canadian-born players listed on the spring rosters of major league clubs. All eight others are pitchers.

Ray Daviault of Montreal, Ken MacKenzie of Stellarton, Ont., and John Bukowski of Toronto are to join Harkness with the Mets.

Bob Baillargeon of Montreal is on the Phillies list, Claude Raymond of Drummondville, Que., and Ron Piche of Montreal are with Milwaukee Braves, and Toronto's Ron Taylor has been traded to St. Louis Cardinals from Cleveland Indians.

Tod Rowsfield of Penticton, B.C., rejoins Los Angeles Angels.

TRINITY, Nfld. (CP) — The tourist who heads down the road from this eastern Newfoundland town is making a journey into the past.

Travelling south by car, you come to a fork in the road after nine miles. Depending on which way you turn, 80 seconds of driving takes you to Old Bonaventure or New Bonaventure, two really unspoiled outports.

There women still work on the fish flakes and wield the hay forks in the summer sun. Making mats and knitting socks, mitts and other garments from wool from the family flock of sheep are winter pursuits.

Men carry on the salt cod fishery in almost the same way they did generations ago, the only difference being the lusty roar of gasoline engines.

They build fish flakes, piers and storage sheds, small boats, garden fences and frame houses from timber cut in the surrounding countryside.

'SENSE OF SECURITY'

Alonzo Bailey and his son Oscar are among the men who work in the ancient salt fish industry.

Ask Alonzo why these small settlements keep their people steadfast to the sea and rooted to the soil and he'll say it's "probably the peace and quietness, and a deep sense of security away from the hurry and bustle of larger places."

Not that residents refuse to leave. Oscar went to St. John's last summer to take a job with a construction firm because the fish weren't running in their usual numbers. But he doesn't want to stay away. He plans to try fishing again next summer.

Even those who have left to make their homes elsewhere come back. The elder Mrs. Bailey says that during the summer her house is always full of returning friends and relatives.

One visitor was Rev. N. G. Vivian, a 75-year-old Anglican clergyman who was born in New Bonaventure but now lives in the United States. "The community is still home to me," he said.

Bonaventure, a favorite name with the Spanlards and Portuguese, appears on the earliest maps of Newfoundland and the twin towns are believed to be among the island's oldest settlements.

Their combined population now is about 340 and many of their activities are a study in co-operation. Last year when a new two-room day school was built, it was put mid-way between the two towns. And the men of the area pitched in to help build the school, with the result it was completed for only $12,000.

With higher education and trades being emphasized as part of the province's new way of life, one wonders what will happen in these places off the beaten track.

Thomas Miller, 84, of New Bonaventure, who lives in retirement with his 79-year-old wife after a busy life as a fisherman, part - time farmer, church lay reader and Sunday school teacher, isn't sure whether the young folk will stick to their one - trade, cod-fishing settlements. But he's willing to recommend the life.

"I think a comfortable and decent living can still be made in this way if the young folk are willing to work hard and long enough."

France Balking At Plan To Hold Talks On Berlin

U.S. Wants to Accept Soviet Bid for Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — The western allies are reported intent on pursuing a new round of exploratory talks with Russia on Berlin.

While the United States takes the view that Soviet overtures for a fresh start should not be rebuffed, high diplomatic informants said Wednesday night, France remains opposed to another session with the Russians. Britain and West Germany, the sources said, are supporting the U.S. position.

Talks between the United States and Russia on the divided German city have been stalled since last spring. Earlier this month, the Russians proposed a new attempt to try to find a solution to the Berlin problem. The United States immediately consulted its three allies.

The consultations still are going on in Washington with Llewellyn Thompson, the state department's ex-ambassador at large, presiding. The group also is discussing related matters, including military contingency planning, informants said.

FRENCH OPPOSE TALKS

At these discussions, the French continue to stand apart from the other allies, insisting that nothing would be gained by further talks. Beyond this need to co-ordinate positions, informants said, a report of detailed questions have to be clarified, including who should talk to the Russians and where, and what approach should be made. There has been a suggestion that it would be appropriate to ask for some evidence of good faith from the Russians before sitting down with them again.

This is not the administration's view, authoritative sources said. Although few of the details are known, discussions with the Berlin question are optimistic about the outcome of a new round of talks. The administration is reported to be reluctant to put a price tag on the importance of the Kremlin's invitation.

PRIME MINISTER TO GET FREEDOM CITY OF LONDON

Pomp and Ceremony Will Be Displayed

OTTAWA (CP)—A thousand years of London's history, from the legends of medieval giants through the story of a poor boy's cat and the beheading of a queen and a king, will be the background of a trip to Britain this weekend by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Accompanied by Mrs. Diefenbaker and a small staff, he flies from Ottawa Friday night aboard an RCAF Yukon to confer on Saturday with Prime Minister Macmillan and be made a Freeman of the city on Monday.

He will return to Ottawa immediately to begin campaigning in earnest for the April 8 general election.

Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker, staying as guests of the Canadian high commissioner and Mrs. George Drew at their Mayfair district residence, will dine with Prime Minister and Lady Dorothy Macmillan Saturday night at 10 Downing Street.

Sunday is being kept free in the Prime Minister's program for preparations for two addresses he will make Monday.

HAS FULL DAY

On Monday their day starts at the royal courts of justice with a formal procession—in an open horse - drawn landau, loaned by the Queen, if weather permits—to London's 15th century Guildhall for the formal presentation of the freedom of the City, and then to the Mansion House for a civic luncheon.

Mr. Diefenbaker will be the Ontario Progressive Conservative party's annual meeting on Tuesday that he feels as proud of the honor as Dick Whittington, the poor boy who sold his cat to the King of Morocco for a fortune and became

Five Men Sentenced to Be Shot For $224,000 Swindle in Russia

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Russian Supreme Court has sentenced five men to be shot, one for leading a group illegally profiting from the manufacture of fountain pen bottlecaps, razors and rulers, the newspaper Sovietskaya Rossiya reported today.

It said the accused totalled several million roubles and netted about 200,000 rubles (about $224,000) in five years. Five others received 15 years' imprisonment each.

Others accused in the four-month trial, which ended in witnesses appeared, received "various prison sentences," the newspaper said.

There were 150 volumes of court papers on the case—"and each page has one, deceit and machinations," it said.

Chief of the "gang," G. Povarenkin, sentenced to be shot, was production chief of a Leningrad factory where the wares were fraudulently produced with the aid of a "double bookkeeping" system, it alleged.

Western observers said the case was one of the most important reported by Soviet newspapers since the death sentence for such offences was introduced in 1961.

The four others sentenced to death were named as S. Krupnik, S. Bogdanov, I. Zaitsev and V. Kazakevich.

Western observers said the last two names were Jewish-sounding. Jewish - sounding names have been figured among the accused in a number of such trials reported here.

Pravda said: "This was their reward."

The newspaper's report ended: "This was their reward. It inevitably follows when encroach upon the people's goods."

In the last few months scarcely a week has passed without at least one report of a death sentence being imposed for corruption in the Soviet Union.

Last November, Premier Khrushchev said the equivalent of more than $56,000,000 had been embezzled from the state in the first half of 1962.

WRECKAGE AIDS SEARCH FOR MISSING TANKER

Flares, Flotsam Found in Ocean

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—An unidentified flare and flotsam lettered "Sulphur Queen" stimulated a search south of Key West today for traces and possible survivors of a freighter that vanished after sailing Feb. 2 with 39 men aboard.

The flare was seen Wednesday night in the Straits of Florida, between Key West and Cuba. The U.S. Coast Guard had no assurance that the light had anything to do with the 523-foot converted Liberty with a private plane that disappeared Wednesday.

A Navy boat checked the flare and reported it found nothing. A twin-engined Beechcraft also made an overflow on a flight from Miami to Great Inagua, The Bahamas, and officials said visibility on the ocean might have come from the plane.

The patrol boat's flare mission delayed its trip to Miami with articles recovered from the sea. Searchers also believed to be from the missing freighter Marine Sulphur Queen.

EXAMINE DEBRIS

U.S. Coast Guard headquarters in Miami said it was the formed "Sulphur Queen" was lettered on a lifejacket and an oil can. Searchers also picked up bits of lumber and they will be examined to see if they came from the missing vessel. The lifejacket was found in the Gulf Stream about 14 miles southeast of Key west.

The Houston Post reported that the debris was recovered near a spot where the tanker had laid a practice minefield. Washington and 'Key West naval spokesmen said, however, that the mines were not explosive and that all were recovered after the exercise.

The freighter, laden with 15,700 tons of molten sulphur, left Beaumont, Tex., Feb. 2 for Norfolk, Va. A crew member sent a personal radio message the next day giving the ship's position at 220 miles southeast of Key West. She never was heard from again.

Full Support To Venezuela Is Pledged

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has pledged full support to Venezuela in resisting the Communist campaign of international Communists, aided especially by Cuban Premier Castro, Betancourt President Romulo Betancourt's government.

Kennedy's pledge of United States support was announced Wednesday night in Caracas, marking the windup of Betancourt's official two-day visit to Washington.

Betancourt and Kennedy said they had "considered the gravity of the situation created by the establishment in Cuba of an alien, anti - democratic structure by which they are threatened the independence of other American republics."

In a speech at the National Press Club Betancourt said the American republics should maintain an ever - tightening economic isolation of Cuba to prevent infiltration by Communist Aid.

He told a special meeting of the OAS council that an inter-American conference should be called immediately to consider effective discourage military takeover in the hemisphere.

APPROVE FEDERATION

8,000 Russian Troops May Leave Cuba Within Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. sources report some Russian troops — perhaps as many as 8,000 may ship out of Cuba within days. And American officials hope some of the Russian weapons will be leaving, too.

The forecast of the early departure is partly based on the arrival in Cuban waters of four empty or lightly loaded Soviet ships. One already has docked, sources said Wednesday night, and the three others are approaching the island.

The ship movements were disclosed barely a day after word circulated from congressional and diplomatic sources that the Soviet government had promised Monday to withdraw several thousand of its troops from Cuba by March 15.

The soldiers arrived there last fall with the offensive missiles and bombers which set off the Cuban crisis.

Experts estimated the four vessels were of a size that could handle as many as 8,000 men—almost half the 17,000 Russian military personnel President Kennedy said he believed were still on the island.

But the potential removal of some of the Russian troops could raise a new problem—that of the Soviet weapons on Fidel Castro's island bastion.

Administration officials do not regard the weapons as an o

Witness Accuses Lawyer Of 'Instigating' Robbery

MONTREAL (CP)—The trial of Georges Marcotte, accused of killing two policemen, took a strange turn Wednesday when Crown's star witness accused a defence lawyer of having "instigated" a bank robbery.

Jean-Paul Fournel, 49, who has accused Marcotte of being the Santa Claus rifleman who killed the policemen during a bank robbery Dec. 14, made the accusations against lawyer Trajan Constantin.

The allegations were made during cross - examination of Fournel by Yves Mayrand, Marcotte's lawyer of record.

Election Campaign May Be Regionalized Say Strategists

OTTAWA (CP)—The April 8 election campaign may be more regionalized than in 1962, party strategists say.

In other words, things may be said in west of Canada that won't be repeated elsewhere.

The trend in this direction is to lay down a firm platform nationally in the early stages of the campaign for last June's election.

The changed situation arises in part from the events of 1962 when the Progressive Conservatives survived as a minority government on a rural support and Liberal gains were made mainly in the cities.

Both Liberals and Conservatives are expected to aim at retaining their support in areas of strength and making the necessary gains elsewhere. Thus, it was broadly the accident that Prime Minister Diefenbaker's Toronto speech Tuesday laid heavy emphasis on Conservative promises for urban development and redevelopment assistance.

Liberal party sources agree that the prospect of a regional and or "fragmented" campaign is one reason for attempting to ensure more flexibility this time in itineraries and other plans.

The Social Credit and New Democratic parties have similar problems. Social Credit won 30 seats in 1962 but 26 were in Quebec and most were rural. Of the other 19 seat, 10 were won ins British Columbia and six in Ontario—most of an urban-industrial nature.

Subsequently, the nuclear arms issue created stresses in both the Liberal and Conservative parties. Regional pockets strongly for or against nuclear arms have been defined.

There are other controversial topics as well.

It is reported the Conservative party anticipates presenting a line of argument in some Prairie constituencies and in rural Ontario that will be critical of Toronto dissidents who questioned Mr. Diefenbaker's leadership.

That argument, which can hardly be used in seeking to regain party strength in Toronto or other urban areas, may cultivate voting support among Prairie and other rural voters who have a traditional suspicion of eastern industrial circles.

TIMBER POLICY IS ASSAILED IN LEGISLATURE

Liberals and NDP Claim Trafficking

TORONTO (CP)—The Liberal and New Democratic Party leaders joined forces in the Ontario legislature Wednesday to demand a full public inquiry into "illegal trafficking" in northern timber-cutting rights.

Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer said granting of settlers' permits had been intended to give small farmers a means of supplementing their income by cutting up to 100 cords a year. But many of the individual permits had been transferred illegally to large lumbers.

NDP Leader Donald C. MacDonald said paper companies in Northern Ontario "play off" union employees cutting on company leases against unorganized settlers.

He added that the government had been warned about the "excessive situation" in the Kapuskasing area two years ago but a union brief was ig. nored.

Three union members were killed near Kapuskasing in a dispute between the settlers and union members last week. Twenty settlers have been charged with non-capital murder.

In other legislature business, licensing of vendors to sell hunting and fishing permits and control of the fish-consuming sea lamprey were discussed.

MUST PAY PREMIUMS

The health and welfare committee approved a bill that would hold directors of a bankrupt corporation personally responsible for employers' hospital insurance premiums.

Dr. Fred Eva, counsel for the Hospital Insurance Commission, told the committee that in some bankruptcy cases, the company owed as much as four months in arrears in remitting premiums.

Health Minister Raymond said money collected from employees' wages as well as company contributions "doesn't belong to the corporation" and should be paid to the hospital insurance commission ,regardless of bankruptcy.

Lands Minister Reiso Roberts told the House control measures have reduced the sea lamprey

BIRTHS' INCREASE

OTTAWA (CP)—Registrations of births increased 2.2 per cent in January to 44,615 from 43,671 in the corresponding month last year the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday. Deaths declined 3.6 per cent to 14,498 from 15,103 and marriages rose 1.8 per cent to 8,866 from 8,815.

Robarts Rejects Catholic Plea For High Schools

Will Provide Equality For All School Boards

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government will revamp its system of grants for education beginning next year in a bid to provide equality for all school boards — public and separate, rural and urban—Premier Robarts announced today.

Mr. Robarts told the legislature the new system, incorporating some features of present educational grants and some new concepts, is a major step "towards a fuller equalization of educational opportunity" for every child in Ontario.

To be called the Ontario Foundation Tax Plan, it will take effect in the calendar year 1964.

At the same time, the premier rejected a request by the Roman Catholic bishops of Ontario for a system of separate high schools and teachers' colleges. He suggested that a system of credits for religious instruction outside the high schools could be studied as a possible substitute.

GRANTS TO BE CHANGED

Mr. Robarts, who was education minister for three years until last October, said there will be changes in provincial grants this year to provide more gradual transition of the new plan.

"In total, with these changes, the amount estimated to be paid in school grants in 1963 will be increased by more than $22,000,000." The total of provincial grants this year, he said, is expected to be $233,300,000 out of the provincial government's total education budget of $395,532,000.

The premier's lengthy announcement made no mention of increases in other measures to increase government income.

Apart from the reference to the total increase in grants this year, there were no specific figures. He indicated the new plan is designed not so much to increase overall grants as to ensure more equal distribution of such grants as are made.

OUTLINES PLAN

Mr. Robarts gave this breakdown of the new system:

1. A basic tax relief grant "per pupil of average daily attendance" throughout the province.

2. A special grant designed to encourage school boards to provide such services as textbooks, learning classes, English as a bilingual classes, and to dollar-for-dollar stimulate the boards to explore new ways of improving the school system.

3. A three - part system of equalization grants designed to recognize the existence of a wide variation in local ability to support school services.

The principle behind the equalization grants is one of tax

WILL PROVIDE Page 7

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario cannot afford a system of separate high schools and teachers' colleges for Roman Catholics, Premier Robarts told the legislature today.

"The duplication of facilities from a financial point of view is not only impractical, but impossible," Mr. Robarts said. "... our society simply has not enough wealth to support a dual school system beyond the elementary level, or a multi-denominational system at any level."

To be called the Ontario Foundation Tax Plan, it will take effect in the calendar year 1964.

The premier's statement came in answer to a brief submitted last fall by the Roman Catholic bishops of Ontario—and a host of unfavorable and favorable answering briefs which it prompted from non - CAtholic and Catholic groups.

REQUESTED COLLEGES

The bishops asked for an extension of the present system of public and separate elementary schools into the secondary school level and the establishment of teachers' colleges.

Mr. Robarts announced today a new system of grants for education, to begin next year. He said he hoped that the difficulties Ontario's Catholics are having to finance their separate elementary schools while bringing greater equality to all school boards, both public and separate.

Mr. Robarts said the bishops' suggestion would also be hoped to include our university system." To recognize this concept would "of course mean the recognition of all denominational secondary schools, both Protestant and Roman Catholic."

One needs only examine the political history of other countries and our country to realize how very controversial these matters can become.

He was determined that the question should be discussed without rancor, ill will, rancor or bitterness among the various groups in our province.

But the course suggested by Roman Catholic bishops "would constitute a complete reversal of policies followed by governments of all political parties for the last 100 years."

"The strength of these public policies is illustrated by the fact that the leaders of both the Liberal and New Democratic parties ... have opposed this proposition."

He described the financial

Heat Overcomes 1,000 Children Waiting to Greet Queen, Prince

ADELAIDE (Reuters)—More than 1,000 schoolchildren collapsed from overcrowding Thursday while waiting to greet the Queen and Prince Philip under a scorching South Australian sun.

A senior ambulance official estimated this was the number of children treated at two gatherings where the royal couple were greeted by some 90,000 schoolchildren.

"It will be at least two days before we know the full toll," the official said.

Temperatures soaring to nearly 90 degrees claimed the first casualties among 17,000 school children assembled to greet the royal couple at Military Reserve, near Elizabeth—a new town 17 miles north of Adelaide named after the Queen.

Later, ambulance workers were again busy at Victoria Park racecourse, where the royal couple were given their most tumultuous welcome in South Australia by a crowd of between 70,000 and 80,000 children.

On the third day of the visit to South Australia, the Queen and Prince Philip drove to Windsor Green, a small park in the centre of Elizabeth, where most of the population was gathered to greet the Queen.

Then they unveiled a fountain commemorating her permission to name the town after her.

When she turned a tap to start the fountain, a stream of water gushed into the pond, and Philip turned to photographers and said: "I didn't want to touch it."

This was apparently a reference to an incident in Britain in which he was reported to have sprayed photographers with a hose.

Tree-Planting Projects Discussed at Meeting

A meeting in the interest of Reforestation in the Trent Valley Area was held last night in Belwoa Community Centre when about 80 people gathered to discuss the problems and advantages of Government protected tree-planting projects. Forestry experts were present from the Trent Reforestry Branch and also from the Department office at Napanee.

Since the ordering deadline has already passed Mr. Edson of the department of Lands and Forests assured those present that an order submitted at once might be included in Spring deliveries of this year. It was pointed out that trees of many kinds are available for reforestation and the establishment of windbreaks in the region of the Retawa Ski Club property was a legitimate project for reforestation.

General chairman of the meeting was Art Dumas and Forestry expert Harold Detlor directed the technical portion of the meeting with assistance of Paul Heisler of Murray Township, who has a large reforestation plot where he has achieved a high rate of successful planting. Mr. Harold Detlor made reference to the Pine woodlands on Highway 14 near Chatterton that was planted about forty years ago by the late Col. R. Vanderwater.

Wide participation in the question and answer period portrayed the keen interest in the subject and further meeting will be planned to put forward the work of reforestation along the Trent Valley. Some excellent films climazed the program which was held in the new Community Hall Loungeroom . . . at Retawa Orders for several thousand trees to be planted.

Dogs Running At Large Become Problem

Each year commencing in late February and March dogs running at large become a problem because their owners fail to keep them tied or indoors. The result is that many of these dogs roam at will through country inhabited by deer, and frequently chase, molest and sometimes kill these game animals, says R. E. Whitfield of the Lands and Forests Department.

Dog owners are reminded that it is an offence, contrary to Section 34 of the Game and Fisheries Act to permit dogs to run at large during the closing season in that locality shall be deemed to be at large with leave of the owner and may be destroyed on sight by an officer without incurring any liability or penalty therefore.

Certainly no one takes pride in destroying someone's dog, that is, if the animal is of any value to the owner. However, it can only be assumed that the owner who permits his dog to run day after day in areas frequented by deer cares little for the welfare of his own animals and less for the game in the area concerned.

"If you own a dog, keep it out of the bush unless you are with it and have it under your control," says Mr. Whitfield. "Following these rules you will aid in the conservation of game animals, especially deer, as well as your own dog."

Note Increase In Beaver Population

For the past few years the Lands and Forest Department has been attempting to improve its practices in the management of beaver in the Tweed District says W. F. Cheshire. One of the more important aspects of management is to gather information which can be used for planning the harvest of this natural resource.

Each fall an aerial beaver census is made over the Tweed District. Predetermined transect lines are flown at an altitude of 800 feet above the ground and all signs of active beaver colonies are counted along the transect lines. The same transect lines are flown in subsequent years and the results compared between years.

The information which has been gathered to date has been checked with general observations and it appears the technique is effective in determining the trend in beaver population.

So far there are no signs of a general decline in the number of beaver and all information to date indicates that beaver populations are higher this winter than last.

Couple Honored At Meeting of Senior Citizens

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Senior Citizens' Club was held on Wednesday evening, in the Recreation rooms on Pinnacle St.

The meeting was opened by the president with the singing of the National Anthem and the club theme song and a short period of singing old familiar tunes, with Mrs. A. T. Shirley at the piano.

The special feature of the evening was the occasion of the club members celebrating with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Williamson the 50th anniversary of their marriage.

The honored couple were called to the front with the singing of the "Bride Goes to Bride," and the Rev. W. H. Walkey gave a brief and timely address of congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Williamson, mentioning in particular their faithful services to the church and the community as a whole.

Mrs. Walker also presented her personal compliments.

Mrs. Hilda Reid, Recreation Director, contributed his personal sentiments and introduced Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Reid, a member of the recreation commission who very graciously did so on behalf of the commission and Mayor A. M. Haig, who sent his regrets at not being able to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson with a very beautiful silver tray, thanked everyone.

Expressions of good will were also extended by James Lane and Mrs. Lane and A. Forestall.

This was followed by a very interesting entertainment provided by dancing pupils of Miss Freddine Smith, the artists being Lorraine Dafoe and Janette Smith, presenting several dances with Rosco Garrison at the piano.

Mr. Dan Garrison, with members of the club, sang a number. Don Grass and A. Jones, entertained for a considerable period with songs, dancing, music and joks. Mrs. John Young won the door prize draw.

The luncheon of the refreshment committee served lunch and the meeting adjourned in the usual manner.

Cancer Society To Start Fund Drive in April

The Belleville and District Unit of the Canadian Cancer Society will be holding its annual campaign for funds in April this year. The campaign and house-to-house canvass will begin on April 1st, the new campaign chairman, Dr. Robert Brain, announced at a recent executive meeting of the Unit, held in its quarters at 224 Pinnacle Street, with President Clarence D. Farmer presiding.

Preliminary arrangements are now underway for the campaign Dr. Brain reported and the canvass will be organized in a similar manner to previous years which has proven most successful. Ward and poll chairmen are to be appointed and in turn their canvassers will arrange for the large number of individual canvassers needed to cover the city of Belleville. Such an arrangement is standard throughout the Quinte district and campaigns will be conducted in Deseronto, Madoc, Marmora, Stirling and the villages of Bancroft and Tweed and Stirling.

Due to the increasing demand for assistance to cancer patients in the Belleville and district area the cadlpaign objective has been conservatively increased to $12,960. With each succeeding year more emphasis is being directed to cancer research in Canada as research is the only way this dreaded disease will eventually be controlled.

The local unit of the Canadian Cancer Society supplies dressings, transportation, one month housekeeping services and anagesic drugs for cancer patients in the Belleville area.

A large film library loaned to groups or organizations, free of charge, is also available for educational purposes. These films and informative brochures are obtainable by calling the office at 224 Pinnacle Street.

The theme for 1963 is "Hope". And indeed there is confidence that through the many hundreds of research cancer projects in Canada and around the world a cause and cure for cancer is not long off, said Dr. Brain.

Crisis in Unemployment, Education Said Interwoven

Hand in hand, a crisis in education costs and mounting unemployment in the unskilled fields stand in the path of Canadians.

This is J. Deutsch, vice-principal of Queen's University, outlined problems ahead in education, at a meeting of the Eastern Ontario division of the Canadian Manufacturing Agents' Association. The meeting was held recently at the Cataraqui Golf and Country Club.

"Possession of skill and knowledge in a large part of our population is the key to success, the key to progress," Dr. Deutsch emphasized.

"It is in our interests and necessary to our survival to devote an increasing amount to training and education of our people."

Formerly assistant deputy minister of finance, secretary of the treasury board, economic adviser to the Senate and a member of royal commissions on unemployment insurance and higher education in New Brunswick, Dr. Deutsch spoke for two hours to attentive purchasing executives and their guests.

With a budget of $400,000,000 for education in Ontario, cost of education this year is four times as large as the entire Ontario budget not very long ago, he noted.

"We are still at a stage where these costs are going to continue to rise as the realization of their importance we have to attach to the function of education."

A country this year is drawing less on possession of raw materials and undeveloped resources, and more and more on the skills, knowledge and aptitude of our people. This is the key to economic progress and growth," he said.

"We are witnessing a growing spectre of unemployment for persons not equipped with a useful method of earning a living.

"The unskilled face longer periods of unemployment, white collar job numbers are falling and production jobs are increasing very rapidly if at all."

Despite a year of increasing production and "quite considerable prosperity" he pointed to a "fairly serious" unemployment average of about six per cent of the labor force.

"The heaviest rate of unemployment is among the young people who have less than a high school graduation education.

"These people find it extremely difficult to get jobs. Opportunities are not increasing."

While generally unskilled persons face unemployment, persons with skilled training, persons with degrees in managerial positions and those in the professional class are not numerous enough to fill the openings.

"This is a reflection of our economy generally with great implications for our whole program of education," he said. "These will become more prominent and continue."

Dr. Deutsch said a person could expect on the average to change jobs at least once in his lifetime. He pointed to the scientific and technological revolution in which we find ourselves as the cause of jobs becoming obsolete within a lifetime.

With about 70 per cent of young persons in this country dropping out of school before they complete their high school graduation work or junior matriculation, they are swelling the ranks of the unskilled and will face unemployment, he said.

Importance of academic training in basic subjects such as arithmetic and mathematics, the elements of science and the ability to read and write properly were stressed as the necessary foundation stone.

"It is estimated in the United States there are 35,000 jobs becoming obsolete every week. A similar proportion will be taking place in our own country," he stated. "This kind of change is going to be with us. Trades or skills will become obsolete in a lifetime as a consequence of technological change. The capacity to learn and a higher degree of skill are often required. On-what basis can we do this? We must have a certain level of academic education."

Fish and Game Club Honors Two Officials

The Belleville Fish and Game Association paid well-deserved tribute to two of its members at the monthly meeting at Club Camera this week.

Some 300 members unanimously endorsed the executive's presentation of life membership to Director "Roy" Farrell of Point Anne and the club's efficient secretary Ken Yorke, presented by Hastings County Game Commissioner Jack Hastings.

Three of the club's new 1962 directors were also honored with membership with Ron Isaac and Fred Fisher introducing and thanking the guest speakers respectively.

President Jack Layton was given another term at the first meeting of the 1963 board of directors with Ken Yorke again assuming the secretarial duties and Fred Clarke retaining his position as "keeper of the purse".

The only executive change this year is the appointment of William Phillips as vice-president.

Secretary Yorke and director Payne were given fine ovations after receiving the life membership awards at the fourth and fifth members of the club to be presented in this report. The others are the late "Cap" Bottum, the late "Perc" Ketcheson and Joe E. Shortt.

Director Payne is one of the charter members of the club, which was started in the city hall some 30 years ago. Joe Shortt was the club secretary for many years. Both with other life members aided materially in bringing the club to its present high status.

The guest speaker was Barry Penhale, an outdoor writer from Campbellford who spoke on several phases of outdoor life.

Winners of the major prizes were Mrs. Ingrid Shean, and George Whitman, both of the city.

Memorial Arena Had Deficit Of $9,150.96

The Belleville Memorial Arena had an operating deficit of $9,150.96 during 1962 — just $35.96 more than had been budgetted for by city council.

Expenditures for the year at the arena were $29,694.71, while revenue is given as $20,743.75.

At the beginning of the year expenditures for 1962 were estimated at $29,658.

Wages and benefits were the major expense item at $14,- 433.31; power and lights cost $2,935; water, $2,532, and heating $3,802.

Hockey rental provided the biggest source of income at $8,158, skating returned $3,- 324; Junior "A" hockey, $2,- 494; Intermediate hockey, $1,444, and minor hockey, $3,231.

Revenue from wrestling rental amounted to $1,450 with matches being held on 21 consecutive Fridays with an average attendance of 525.

Last February an ice planer was purchased enabling the arena staff to maintain a consistent thickness, thus reducing operating and maintenance costs.

Driving Record Of Accused Being Obtained

A Downsview man was remanded a week in magistrate's court in Belleville today while OPP officers awaited his driving record from Toronto.

It with there would be some way of getting these records back more quickly," commented Magistrate R. C. Jackson, as he set $300 bail for Ralph Bulmer, charged with having no driver's licence.

Bulmer was arrested after he received minor injuries when his car left the road on Highway 401 near Glen Miller February 14. He has been in custody since.

Crown Attorney John Pringle at first requested $500.

"We don't want to hold him unduly," said the magistrate. "On the other hand due to the circumstances there has to be a reasonable amount (of bail)."

Few Major Fires Last Year But Department Kept Busy

There were few major fires in the city in 1962 but nevertheless the Belleville Fire Department had a busy year.

The annual report of Fire Chief Gerald Vance shows 734 calls were answered, an increase of 183 over the previous year. There were two general alarms, and 126 alarms to townships with which the city has fire fighting agreements.

The city has fire fighting agreements with Sidney, Thurlow, Tyendinaga and Ameliasburg townships.

Also during the year the fire department assisted at other fires in the Belleville area under the Mutual Aid plan. Three of these fires were at Trenton, two at Frankford and one at Point Anne.

PROVIDE FOAM BANK

The Mutual Aid Association is comprised of departments in Hastings and Prince Edward counties. During the year the Association established a foam bank to provide an effective means of fighting certain types of fires.

Major fire in the city last year was at the Bon Safe block on East Bridge Street. Other serious blazes were at the Zegouras Grocery store at 52 Dundas Street, East, G. Butcher, 214 North Front Street, the home of Mrs. A. McGrimmon, 25 Wilkins Street, and at the Bakelite plant in the east end of the city.

But taking the position that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, the city fire department strives to prevent fires as well as fight them.

To this end the department has a fire prevention bureau under the direction of Chief Vance and Inspector J. Darnell. In addition to inspections an educational and publicity pro gram for safety is carried on.

During the year 1729 inspections were made of which 410 were at residences, 120 at public buildings, 200 at stores and 45 industrial.

Of the above inspections 65 involved electrical defects of a minor nature.

But all fire department activity did not concern fires and their prevention. Firemen are also engaged in many civic projects.

HOLD BINGO GAMES

They hold bingo games to raise money for the purchase of toys and clothing for underprivileged children at Christmas time. They also distributed prepaired used toys to nearly 1,000 children in the city and area.

The department assisted the Muscular Dystrophy Association in their fund raising campaign and conducted groups of children and other interested persons through the fire stations.

And last, but in the eyes of local children, far from being the least, firemen organize the annual Santa Claus parade in downtown Belleville.

Planning Board To Be Set Up In Murray Twp.

TRENTON — Murray Township Council last night passed a by-law to set up a township planning board. The new board will be a subsidiary of the Trenton and Suburban Planning Board. It will consist of the sitting reeve, two councillors, four men not on council or connected with any other township board. Appointments to the board are expected to be made by March 5.

Meantime, Town Planning Consultants have advised the council to prepare a township plan and adopt a zoning by-law. Councillors were advised against trying to prohibit the winterizing of summer cottages, as this would lead to too much policing, but were told to prohibit school construction in cottage areas and to insist on minimum floor space and a minimum lot area for all buildings.

A York Road resident appeared before council to protest "spot" planning of school areas. He said that properties along the No. 2 Highway are assigned to school sections willy-nilly. Some children are sent to the York Road School; some to Smithfield. The Smithfield school provides a bus. Now, many people want to send their children to Smithfield, but find they are in the wrong school section.

Council advised the complainant to get together with other local residents on the subject and apply to have the school section changed. This will all take time, so parents may contact the York Road and Smithfield school boards in the meantime to see if some arrangement may be worked out whereby the children could go to Smithfield if they pay tuition fees.

FIRE FIGHTING PROBLEM

Murray council will seek an early meeting with the Brighton council to discuss the cost of fire fighting. Brighton has notified Murray that unless a contract is signed forthwith, fire fighting services will be cut off.

Brighton wants a stand-by fee of $200 annually. After this is paid, it costs the township $100 for the first hour of any fire and $30 for each succeeding hour. Brighton claims it needs the stand-by fee to defray the cost of an expensive fire alarm system. Murray council feels that the regular fee for fires isn't too high but objects to paying the stand-by fee.

A monthly report from the Northumberland County Health Unit was read. In the past month, three rabid skunks and three rabid foxes have been found in the county. Council took no action.

An advertisement will be placed in a local newspaper to the effect that if township residents put pay up their taxes, back and current, tax collector Lloyd Dorland will be instructed to take whatever action he deems necessary to collect them.

Council will meet again on the afternoon of March 5th.

CLOTHES TELL STORY

The carved headgear and blankets worn by Tsimshian Indian women are designed to tell a story.

Frankford's Liquor Vote Will Be Held on April 3

TRENTON — Frankford's voters will be asked to decide April 3rd whether or not they want a liquor store and (or) a beer warehouse in the village.

A by-law to authorize the plebiscite was passed last night as village council ended a three and a quarter-hour meeting with all members present.

Clerk-Treasurer Glen Mitts reported that the Ontario Water Resources Commission has approved plans for the installation of water and sewer services in the area of north and south Trent St., and is expected to call for tenders before March.

The water mains are expected to cost $25,500 and the sewer installations $62,813, for a total cost of $88,377. The village is expected to get grants to wards construction after the Ontario Municipal Board has cleared the way for a start on the project.

RINK QUESTION

The question of the village taking over the responsibility of setting up a recreation commission was brought up by Reeve Frank Rabel. Did council want to buy the land from the Lions Club and assume responsibility for building a new rink to replace the building that was destroyed by fire just before Christmas, he asked. By doing so, the village would qualify for a provincial grant of $5,000 apiece for the building and the rink; 25 per cent on the cost of the land, and 25 per cent of the cost of upkeep. A condition, he said, was that the land must be debt-free when purchased.

The Lions Club has been in the process of raising funds for a new recreation hall, which will be completed, and a new adjoining ice rink. Reeve Rabel said the village could also get a grant of 25 per cent on the cost of construction now completed, if the project were taken over by a recreation commission.

The reeve said the Lions Club is willing to turn the project over to the village, and he believes the club is asking $7,500 for the land which is worth "at least $25,000."

Councillor Earl Bonisteel asked whether there would be provision for artificial lights. "No," said Reeve Rabel, "if they are needed, we may be forced, to take a second look at the project. Artificial lights cost anywhere from $40,000 to $60,000, but a provision for them could probably be made."

The reeve said money for the project will still have to come from donations, not debentures.

"And we aren't looking for 25c, but $25," he added.

No decision was made re the creation of a recreation commission.

Councillor Earl Bonisteel reported the community hall kitchen was broken into recently and a thermostat damaged. He said he would investigate conditions at the hall, after it was reported the building is not always in an orderly condition.

Building Inspector Jack Hughes was re-appointed for a second year. He told the council there were 24 applications for permits last year. The total this year so far is five applications with a total value of $35.

A discussion on speeding drivers in the village developed into criticism of the police but ended with criticism of local courts. They were accused of being too lenient with offenders.

Councillor Moran said that speeders pass near his home without regard for the rules of safety, and cited cases where youths caught on driving infractions had not been dealt with severely by the courts.

Reeve Rabel suggested that if drivers had not been fined or so points left, they would be more careful.

"We spent $80 on one case," said Reeve Rabel, "and if that keeps on we'll make appeals."

He suggested speaking to Crown Attorney John Pringle of Belleville, about the matter, but was told by Councillor Carman Mikel: "Pringle, he's in with Magistrate Wills."

"Well, I don't think we should go over their heads," replied the reeve.

"I think we should go to Toronto, that's where we should go," interjected Councillor Moran. "Folks down my way are getting fed up with law enforcement in this town."

Reeve Rabel said he would speak to Mr. Pringle the next time he is in Belleville.

Councillors Mikel and Moran will study Trenton's new parking bylaw, together with Darling's, with a view to drafting a bylaw for the village.

Mr. Mitts described the Trenton bylaw as "very comprehensive."

Murray Twp. Goes to Dogs And Councillors Unhappy

TRENTON — Out in Murray Township man's best friend isn't the dog.

Township dogs, according to report, are running in packs of eight or nine and are committing such crimes as tearing clothes off clothes lines, upsetting garbage and lining up across the road and defying motorists to pass.

Things were not always so. At one time, when Murray had a dog-catcher, most dogs had a healthy respect for humans in Murray. In fact, most dog owners had a healthy respect for authority back in the old days, and kept their dogs tied up. Then the dog-catcher quit. Since then neither man nor dog has known a moment's peace.

At last night's meeting of Murray Council, the challenge was thrown back to the dog-owners and the dogs.

Reeve Douglas McMaster summed it all up thusly:

"Darn that Pet Clinic over CJBQ," said the reeve, "They advertise cute little puppies to give away. People welcome the little dogs into their homes. Then they grow up into big useless mutts. Their owners don't want 'em, so they turn them loose. It's a desperate situation."

"Is there a law against shooting dogs?" asked Councillor Walter Thompson.

"Shoot one and you'll discover that you've shot a very valuable dog all of a sudden," said the reeve, ruefully. "Besides that, we've got a law against discharging firearms out here."

"Try BB guns or salt in your gun," advised Mr. Thompson, who declined an offer to supply the BB shot, because of conflict of interest.

SOME GOOD DOGS

Each councillor said that he had received a number of phone calls from irate township residents. However, in defence of the "good" dogs in the township, one councillor said that some people called up if they saw a dog a half a mile away. Subdivision dogs are the worst offenders, it seems. Farm dogs more or less mind their own business.

"Well, council should make a decision one way or the other," said Mr. Thompson, "We should either hire a dog-catcher or let people to get rid of the dogs any way they want."

Upshot of the discussion was that council decided to contact Trenton's dog-catcher, T. Weedle, and see if he could round dogs in the township. Dog owners will be required to tag their pets and dogs will be required to wear the tags. If they're found straying, the dog catcher will impound them. If they're tagged, owners will be contacted and required to pay a fine. If they're not tagged, the dog catcher can get rid of them as soon as he wants to. If the plan works out, council hopes that township residents will treat their dogs as they should be treated . . . or turn to cats for pets.

Bancroft Man Heads Quinte Zone of LODA

TRENTON — At the annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte Zone of the Lake Ontario Development Association held in the Gilbert Hotel in Trenton last night, Allan Bronson of Bancroft was elected chairman. Earl Dickmeyer, Belleville was elected secretary.

The three directors elected were Wilbur Shannon of Marmora, Harold Cleave of Bloomfield and Jack Ireland of Belleville.

The meeting was attended by about 40 regional representatives and a civic welcome was tendered by Nostrand Sprague of Trenton. A county welcome was extended by Major Reeve Thomas Burnside.

Guest speaker for the occasion was D. E. Holland of the Ontario Department of Economics and Development. Mr. Holland spoke on regional development.

Donald Kingdon, of Peterborough, general manager of the LODA, reported on the past year's work.

Gentlemen: February 18, 1963

I have made an examination of the books of account and supporting records of the 1962 campaign for 1963 operations of The Belleville United Appeal for the period September 1, 1962 to January 31, 1963. My examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion, the preceding Balance Sheet and related Statement of Revenue and Expenditure present fairly the financial position of The Belleville United Appeal as at January 31, 1963 and the results of its 1962 Campaign for 1963 operations for the period ended on that date, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

I shall be glad to furnish you with such further information as you may require, relative to my examination or this report.

Yours very truly,
JOHN D. LEWARS, C.A.

Harkness Stays With Party

Congratulations are in order for Douglas Harkness, former minister of national defence.

He has done much to put the controversy regarding the acquisition by Canada of nuclear warheads in its proper perspective.

"It is my job to remain in the party," he said in an interview upon his arrival in his home city of Calgary.

Of course it is.

We have no quarrel with the man who, finding himself at odds with his party on fundamental issues, cuts himself adrift from it.

But whether or not Canada should have nuclear warheads does not involve any fundamental political principle.

That is not to say that we should sneer at the man who holds that the question is so important that it transcends other issues. Such a man has a right to his opinions and a right to act on them in whatever way he thinks necessary, including leaving his party if he so desires.

But the issue is not one of those which distinguishes one political party in Canada from another. True, most New Democrats feel that Canada should not accept nuclear warheads under any circumstances—but there are Liberals who take exactly the same view and Hon. Howard Green, Canada's minister of external affairs, has been such a staunch foe of nuclear armaments that New Democrat Erhart Regier, who resigned his Burnaby seat to make way for his leader, Tommy Douglas, has publicly urged his party not to oppose Mr. Green in Vancouver-Quadra.

Mr. Harkness is eventually numbered amongst that group—surely the great majority—which believes there are other, more important, problems facing Canada. Just because he cannot agree with the official policy of the Progressive Conservatives on nuclear arms does not mean that he is willing to renounce all those political principles he has so vigorously upheld over the years. As a man of integrity, he could not remain responsible for administering a defence policy of which he disapproved—but he can and will remain with the party whose policies, more than those of any other party, reflect his viewpoints on a host of questions.

That is the proper stand for any man to take when he finds he differs with his party on any issue he does not consider of paramount importance. Any other attitude would make stable government dependent upon a plentiful supply of hypocrits, willing to endorse publicly what they do not privately believe, or dullards, blindly accepting every party dictate without bothering to think about the problem themselves.

Unpleasant Parallel?

"Le Devoir," Montreal French-language newspaper, reports that the next trade delegation will be sent to Europe by the Quebec Government in March. Its duty will be to investigate the possibility of establishing a steel mill in Quebec. Groups in France, West Germany and Belgium are said to be interested in a plan under which they would own such a mill jointly with the government.

One's first reaction is to welcome such initiative, promising as it does a badly needed expansion of Quebec's productive machinery and the tapping of a valuable alternative source of foreign capital. If we cannot rid ourselves of the necessity of having others acquire ownership of our expanding industrial complex, (and apparently we cannot), then the next best thing is to make sure that we do not bind ourselves to shove all our dividend cheques into one wallet, that of our rich cousin to the south. Perhaps, if we have many creditors, we can divide and rule, if not conquer.

This reaction, though, reckons without a story from Paris, which arrived in this office before the ink was dry on the report just quoted. From this second story we learn that Monsieur Aqui Sachs, a Parisian journalist, has taken the initiative in the formation of the French Committee for the Independence of Quebec and Eastern Canada.

Geography spares us from any necessity for viewing this proclamation in the same spirit as Czechs considered German interest in the right of self-determination of Sudeten Deutschland a quarter of a century ago. Nevertheless, it makes one wonder whether there is not something to be said for dumping all one's eggs in Uncle Sam's basket, after all.

What is rebellion in one generation has a fatal habit of becoming orthodoxy in the next.—Sir Jack Westrup, Oxford Professor of Music.

Pitchman O'Leary To Be Barker at Tory Rallies

By RICHARD JACKSON
(from The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA—Funny, isn't it, how things work out.

There was M. Gratian O'Leary, for years the noted editor of The Ottawa Journal, then a Minister of Prime Ministers (Conservative and Liberal), former Parliamentary Press Gallery correspondent and always the working newspaperman, finally, at 73, getting that appointment to the Senate.

Most politicians — and if politics were not Gratian O'Leary's direct daily bread and butter, it was his working hobby — on being given the Senate rather regard it as being comfortably put out to pasture.

Certainly, at 73, a man—even an old Parliament Hill hand—becoming a Senator might expect to play the role of a spectator, or at most, a very leisurely participant in the political hurly-burly.

Well, if that is what Gratian O'Leary thought — casting himself in the honored role of an Elder Statesman—it was one of the few times he has been wrong.

WHAM:

So, there he was, just starting to put his feet up and relax — if ever that dynamic, still black-haired fire-ball of energy could take it reasonably easy — when the political feud fell.

And he was up to his eyes brows in the thick of it.

In the nerve-racking tensions of the two-week political crisis that brought down the Government and triggered the Cabinet resignations, he was in and out of the East Block and 24 Sussex Drive, the Prime Minister's Parliament Hill offices and suburban residence) more often than any member of the Ministry.

And thriving on the drama and excitement which, to hear some of the Cabinet Ministers tell about it, was exhausting them and leaving them wrung limp.

Officially, in the Parliamentary Guide, Gratian O'Leary is called the Senator from Carleton" — which is the county in which the capital is located — just as Senator Wallace M. Mc-Cutcheon, the Conservative Party's "moneyman" is normally known as "the Senator from Toronto."

But Parliamentary Guide or not, Gratian O'Leary immediately became to Parliament Hill, and, presumably, the country, too, "the Senator from The Ottawa Journal."

It was he, at the now-famed Conservative caucus, who rallied the backbenchers and roused their anger to rise and crush the "palace revolution" in the Cabinet against the Prime Minister and save John Diefenbaker's political bacon.

THE VOICE:

Now he has become more deeply and personally involved than perhaps even he knows at the moment.

For the "backroom boys," busy in their "smoke-filled rooms" cooking up the strategy and tactics for the election campaign, plan to field a full-form team of John Diefenbaker and Gratian O'Leary.

The fiery Irishman from the Senate, an impassioned orator who can light a hot fire of emotion under his audience, is drawing the assignment of warming up the crowd as he and Dief speak, and, with a pep-up stump, from platform to platform, through arena, hall, theatre, church, auditorium and town meeting house from one end of the country to the other.

When the Diefenbaker team of Senator and Commoner, plus the Ottawa Journal has got 'em on their feet and shouting, then the campaign moves in for the big political pitch.

Or that is the way the "backroom boys" are hoping to toe it up.

If it comes off — and it will be a campaign routine in at least some sections of the country — it should be the greatest political show of the age.

If Dief is up to his old fire-eating form of his Opposition days in the Commons, or even his the same hot stride he had in the '58 campaigns, then sparks will fly.

For the Conservatives, this is going to be a tough campaign, hardest for 20 years, the road all up hill.

But with such a two-man combination as their star attraction, they will be going for broke.

And the fireballs' turn the campaign into a real political revival trail.

Nasser Backs Birth Control

By David Holden
in the Manchester Guardian

Compared to the population explosion in Egypt, that promises to double the nation's numbers in 30 years or so, all other Egyptian problems are apt to seem peripheral; and President Nasser is commonly reproached with having failed in the past to make artificial contraception as the most direct means of reaching the heart of the matter.

Whether his advocacy would have made the slightest difference even if he had tried it, or if he had trumpeted his belief in birth control with the vigor that he has usually devoted to lambasting the imperialists.

Babies are much harder to abolish in Egypt than the British.

But this year, as last, he has answered his critics — and confounded some of the diehard ulema of Islam — by pushing out four square for contraception.

In his proclamation last May of the so-called national charter — in Nationalization Law — the policies towards which he has been working his way for the last decade, President Nasser described the increase in population as "the most dangerous obstacle" that faces Egyptian people in their drive towards raising the standard of production" and declared that scientific family planning must be supported.

Since then the grand sheikh of the Moslem University of Al Azhar has lent the weight of academic laiam to the president's declaration, with the discovery of a convenient quotation from the sayings of the Prophet to the effect that a strong child is better than a weak plenty.

And the secular university of Cairo, official blessing has been bestowed upon the experiments in the Cairo birth clinic with the latest tablets for oral contraception and the government is now negotiating with a German firm to begin manufacturing the tablets there under license.

The Ministry of Social Affairs, headed now by the first woman minister, was instructed appointed in Cairo is preparing to dispense appropriate advice to Egyptian couples throughout the country. But whether it will all make much difference may be doubted still.

Quebec Uses Two Tongues

Sherbrooke Record

In 1960, a three-volume city planning study for Sherbrooke was published. Called the La Haye report, it ran to hundreds of pages. Yet, simultaneously with the appearance of the original French-language edition of the volumes there were made available identical English-language translations. This in a city where the English-speaking population is much less than 30 per cent of the total.

The Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce regularly issues reports, studies and notices in both languages.

And there are countless other examples around the province.

There is no reason why the general government in which is, after all, a government of all the people — should not operate more than it does now in both of Canada's official languages.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

25 YEARS AGO

February 21st, 1913

Last night, Agriculture Minister Gardner told a meeting of the Ontario Cheese Producers Association that Britain has asked Canada to provide 150,000,000 pounds of cheese in the 12 months beginning April, 1st. He went on to state that in the year just closing, Canada undertook to supply 125,000,000 pounds of cheese to Great Britain, but has been able to exceed that amount. As yet Canada has not undertaken to supply 150,000,000 pounds in the coming year because of the uncertainty as to what the Canadian total production will be. Last year Canada produced more than 200,000,000 pounds of cheese, being twice the amount produced in 1903. Some 90,000,000 pounds was consumed in the domestic market.

Mechanization of farming came to the assistance of the local Public Works Department yesterday in Albert and Bridge streets where streets of deep ice ruts while are making driving difficult for motorists. Finding it virtually impossible to touch the ruts with pressure of equipment, the services of a diesel powered 'bulldozer' owned by the McFarland Construction Company of Picton, were acquired. Deep icy ruts on West Bridge Street Hill, that were impeding motorists considerably, disappeared as if by magic when shaved off by the heavy bulldozer' blade.

Sixty-five civilian donors gave their blood at the regular Sunday clinic held in the Kiwanis Centre. A feature of the clinic was the presence of fifteen residents of Bloomfield who motored to the city of their convolition in order to make their contributions.

Quite Often Success Breeds Contempt

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: To ask the right question, it is necessary that we already know much of the answer; and those who do not know are perpetually condemned to be asking the wrong questions and getting no satisfactory replies.

One can always tell when a criticism strikes home, for the person criticized promptly gets angry and counterattacks; when it misses its mark, he yawns or merely shrugs or smiles or calmly ignores it.

Some people are incapable of assuaging their own secret doubts until they have persuaded others; in the very act of jealous conversion, they are stilling their own uncertainties while kindling the beliefs of others.

When the Corporation speaks to the Employee, it customarily says the things that it would like to hear, and not what the Employee would necessarily like to hear; thus the failure of so much official communication designed to improve morale, increase loyalty, and promote better understanding.

"In the final analysis" is a phrase only young men should use; men of middle age and older should know that there is no final analysis.

There is a saturnine truth, however, in the remark of the observation made by N.F. Simpson: "Each of us as he receives his private trumpings, at the hands of fate is kept in good heart by the moth in his brother's garments, and the scorpion in his neighbor's underwear."

It seems to be the essential law of the world that whatever we have been given just enough intelligence to manufacture for the maintenance of the earth, but not quite enough intelligence to prevent us using these tools to oppress, exploit and exterminate one another.

Con men and cynics, who are fond of quoting Barnum's famous phrase, "A sucker is born every minute," to justify their behavior, pay no attention to Barnum's other remark (much more true and profound), that "More persons, on the whole, are humbugged by believing nothing, than by believing too much."

Failure breeds bitterness, and success breeds disenchantment; this is the best argument for attempting what is unattainable, so that the striving becomes an end in itself.

The God I worship can accept sinners and doubters, the debauched and even the degenerate; what He finds most offensive above all is the virtuous person with a mean mind.

To Your Good Health

Whether Disease Hereditary Does Not Affect Treatment

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: When I entered the army in 1943 my blood showed a positive Kahn test. I took 20,000 units of penicillin and was O.K. Now it is positive again. Could this be hereditary? I know of no other way it could have happened. — J. A. L.

We usually give more than 500,000 units of penicillin for a complete treatment for syphilis, but the fact that your blood test became negative the first time is a good sign. It may be that you need further treatment.

It is also possible that you are one of those unfortunate people whose blood test won't change. It happens. But with proper evaluation of your case, and treatment if it is needed, you can at the same time be without any clinical indications of the disease. Examination of the germ is in the blood to make a test positive, but except for that you can be well, and not run a risk of passing the disease on to anyone else.

Incidentally several newer and more sensitive tests have been developed in the last 20 years, and can do a more accurate job in difficult cases, than can the Kahn or Wassermann tests. However, the two tests are still very useful for most purposes.

As to whether your case is hereditary, I'd have no way of knowing, but what's the difference? Whether the disease is contracted as a result of heredity or through the more usual way, it still should be treated until it no longer is a peril to either the patient or his family.

Dear Doctor: Is it possible to get syphilis from a man who has had relations with a woman yet he does not have the disease himself? — Mrs. B. J.

I never have known the disease to be passed in that fashion. While I can imagine circumstances under which I suppose it could happen, they would be so extraordinary as to be scarcely believeable.

The syphilis germ, you see, doesn't survive very long except in the human body. But in the body — oh, how persistent it is. For a person to carry the germ for more than a very short time, give it to someone else, yet not contract the disease himself would be quite unusual.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss pinworms, where they breed, how they spread, treatment, and whether a doctor's prescription is necessary? — Mrs. R.S.C.

So-many people have asked the same thing that I have written a booklet which covers all of those questions. Yes, a prescription is necessary for the modern and highly effective treatment now in use. (Send 25 cents in coin and a long, unstamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy of "The Commonest Pest — Pinworm". Address your request to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate P.O. Box 158, Dundee Ill.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can one get cured of trench mouth? — M. M.

Certainly, but the quicker you get to your dentist, the sooner you'll be cured.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does diabetes affect one's nerves? Does it interfere with one's ability sexually? — L. M. M.

Yes, sometimes. There can be "diabetic neuritis" with pains and reduced sensations as well. Any diabetic should be careful of hot water bags, electric pads and the like. They sometimes can burn themselves because they don't sense how hot the things are getting.

A nervous involvement can occur causing reduced sexual potential. It can also involve the intestinal tract, causing either diarrhea or severe constipation.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee Ill., for the booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures", explaining the various ways it can be treated. Enclose a long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope.

THE PACKSACK

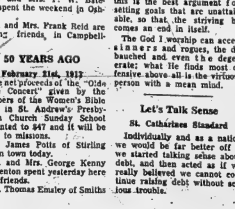
By GREGORY CLARK



Whenever the overture to Wagner's Tristan and Isolde, or especially the love-death, is played on the radio hi-fi, I find it help but wonder how Wagner must have behaved as he sat at his writing desk setting down the little black marks on the score. Did he just sit there, a practitioner of his art, professionally jotting down the necessary notes? Or did some "central relationship". They can up, blinded by tears, and pace his room shaking with emotion and trying to pull himself together as, in the fantastic crystal caverns of his imagination, the sound he was evoking rolled in passion and glory? How does such a man go about the magical task of creating beauty, line by line, bar by bar, stroke by stroke of brush or of chisel?

To be the first to stand in the presence of beauty is the immeasurable reward of the artist.

Wagner was 52 when he produced Tristan. At 52, a man is far-more emotional than he is at 42 or 32. Then next time you hear Tristan, try to picture Wagner during the hours and moments of its creation. See him leap away from his desk, tear-blinded; going to stand at the window looking out at the rain; and returning, after a little while, to the table to crouch over the paper as if in prayer.

Remand Coombs Week on Murder Count

Leonard Joseph Michael Coombs, 32-year-old Scarborough man charged with the murder of 4½ teenage Actinolite girl, today was remanded another week in Belleville magistrate's court.

The formal remand was given Coombs, after a charge of capital murder in the stabbing of 18-year-old Sharon Frost at St. Amable February 14, was read before Magistrate R. C. Jackson.

"I am asking for a further remand," crown attorney John Pringle told the magistrate as Coombs appeared for the second time since his arrest immediately after the girl was found dead seven days ago.

"I understand arrangements have not been made as yet to have you represented by counsel," the magistrate told Coombs. "It will have to be laid over until arrangements have been made."

The formality of remanding the accused man took only about two minutes. Coombs, wearing a green-checkered bush shirt and blue denim pants sat handcuffed to Ontario constable Ken Williamson throughout his appearance.

His case was called as soon as court opened.

Coombs was committed to his cell in Hastings county jail immediately afterward.

Three Dozen Planes Hunt Missing Craft

E. J. Gurnett Is Elected President United Appeal

More can be done by the participating agencies to help the citizens of the community gain an appreciation of the aims and objectives of the United Appeal, said E. J. Gurnett on his election as president of the Belleville United Appeal at the group's annual meeting held yesterday evening at the city council chambers.

The new president suggested that each agency should set aside a period at each meeting at which they discuss their relationship with the United Appeal and determined how they might better help the Appeal to gain its objective.

Retiring president J. J. Trudeau observed that some difficulty was being experienced in getting the message of the United Appeal over to the public and suggested that clinic attendants be called to this matter in the future.

The future of the United Appeal, he advised, was good since there existed considerable enthusiasm amongst the workers and because it served such a wonderful purpose.

Mr. Trudeau expressed his thanks to the agencies, organizations and persons for their help in carrying on the work of the Appeal. He also paid tribute to the late Harold Parker and his work for the Appeal.

A number of reports were submitted. Secretary - manager Les Grandinger reported that the Appeal had been steadily increasing over the past three years but had yet to reach its objective. He noted that a successful appeal should receive contributions from at least 35 per cent of the community's citizens, which meant a goal of 7,500 contributors locally. The last campaign had 5 040.

He reported that the efficiency of the 1962 campaign was much better than is normal according to the results of a survey of 20 Canadian united funds.

It was reported by Mrs. Jane Forrester that the agency participation committee had approached the local units of the Salvation Army, the Canadian Cancer Society and the Retarded Children's Association.

The results varied between no reply received and a budget which the agency concerned and the appeal were unable to find mutually comfortable grounds.

Applications for inclusion were received from the John Howard Society, the Multiple Sclerosis Society and the Belleville Humane Society Association, Mrs. Forrester said. Of these the latter two were accepted and the John Howard Society was advised that there would have to be a clear indication of directors before they could qualify.

A number of other reports were given by the various divisional chairmen, all of whom made suggestions for a change in the approach used within their divisions to further improvements. Several expressed disappointed in the results with the 1962 campaign and the decreases over the past year.

Amongst those assisting retiring secretary Mrs. Lennox Smith, Dr. Russell Scott, Cecil Griffiths, Y. J. Lewis, Cecil Hauser and Donald Williams.

A constitutional amendment increasing the number of directors from the community at large from 10 to 15 was approved. The term of office for these people will be one year.

Dr. Scott, the retiring campaign chairman thanked his workers for their support and announced that the annual giving division had won the David Tropkx for the best increase over their previous year's performance.

Norman Keith, the new campaign chairman, stated that there was no magic formula to a successful campaign. He stressed full support and co-operation plus publicity and trained canvassers.

Properties Razed For New Bridge Will Cost $180,420

Purchase of properties required for the approaches to the new North Front Street bridge over the CNR double track, will cost an estimated $180,420 it has been revealed.

The bridge structure itself, together with approaches has been tendered to the Looby Construction Company at $170,-743.85, with construction to commence shortly.

Completion date of the bridge is scheduled for the summer. The narrow obsolete structure which has carried traffic for over half a century has been removed.

The bridge contract calls for a reinforced concrete structure with an over-all length of 194 feet and an over-all width of 61 feet. The structure will contain a 48-foot wide paved roadway and six foot concrete sidewalks on each side of the bridge.

The new bridge and its approaches will be lighted with eleven 400 watt mercury vapor street lights, four of which will be on the bridge structure itself.

21 PROPERTIES REQUIRED

Over a dozen different properties were required for the approaches to the new bridge and several of the residences have already been razed.

This week city council awarded a contract for the razing of other structures.

During the construction of the new bridge traffic is being detoured around the site on Grier and Geddes Streets.

And according to Alderman Jack Allin the heavy traffic on the detour route is already punching holes in the roadway.

"Those streets were never intended to take such heavy traffic," the alderman told council this week.

Douglas Will Be Opposed In His Riding

OTTAWA (CP) — Tom Kent, special consultant to Liberal Leader Pearson, may run against New Democratic Party Leader T. C. Douglas in Burnaby-Coquitlm a in the April 8 federal election.

Liberals party headquarters said Wednesday night in making the announcement that it is not yet known whether Mr. Kent will be opposed for the Liberal nomination. The nominating meeting is scheduled for Monday night.

Mr. Kent, 40-year-old former newspaper man and business executive, once was described by Prime Minister Diefenbaker as one of "the powers behind the throne" in the Liberal party.

He carries the title of "co-ordinator of policy planning" in the Liberal party. After senior editorial jobs with the Winnipeg Free Press and the London Economist, he was vice - president of Chemcell Limited, a Montreal firm controlling several large enterprises. He took on a full-time position in the Liberal party 18 months ago.

so that Mr. Constantin could buy a bankrupt restaurant.

The same branch was robbed three times in June, September and December.

The two policemen, Denis Brabant, 31, and Claude Mercure, 34, were killed during the third robbery.

Fournel is himself accused of capital murder in the case along with Jules Reeves, 39. They are scheduled for trial later.

Fournel said Mr. Constantin was an inspector of bankruptcies. He said that last July or August, Mr. Constantin approached him and Crafence with a proposition to buy the Monticello Restaurant, which had gone broke.

"He wanted to use Crafecence and me as a front," he said.

He said Mr. Constantin put pressure on them for a month to find the money and at one point suggested "the last place that you did." This was a reference to the St. Laurent bank robbed in June, he said.

Mr. Constantin later asked for permission to question Fournel but the request was denied by Mr. Justice Roger Ouimet after Mr. Constantin said he plans to testify in the trial.

Robarts Rejects

Implications of the suggestion as "frightening."

CITES DIFFICULTIES

"The difficulty which the Roman Catholic minorities are having in financing separate elementary schools . . . would be magnified many times over by the extension of a separate school system into our secondary schools, both academic and vocational. Our teachers' colleges and our universities."

As well, separate facilities would dilute the quality of instruction in the schools.

Mr. Robarts stressed the need for "religious and spiritual concepts in our educational system in all levels . . . In the materialistic days in which we live, when man is trifling with such enormous forces of destruction."

His proposals for solution, he said, were drawn from experience in Ontario's universities. He cited the Universities of Windsor and Waterloo, and Laurentian and McMaster Universities as examples of non-denominational institutions surrounded by denominational colleges which "aim to develop the spiritual and religious lives of the adherents of a particular faith."

"It might very well be that this principle could be extended into our secondary schools and teachers' colleges, where religious options, carrying credit standing, supervised by the clergy of the faith concerned, might be provided.

". . . I would be very happy to institute the necessary discussions in order that this concept . . . could be closely examined and evaluated in relation to that area of our educational system lying between Grade 8 and the universities."

CONDITIONS, INCOME VARY

He told the legislature that "it is a great mistake to believe that separate and public schools have been differently dealt with" under the present system of school grants. But because of varying local conditions and varying levels of income across Ontario, he said, provincial grants in 1962 "provided 58 per cent of separate school costs and 34 per cent of public school costs, and provincial grants per pupil were $111.07 for separate schools and $102.36 for public schools taken on the average."

He emphasized, however, that a separate school and a public school receive exactly the same grants when all things are equal between them.

Mr. Robarts said the position of the Roman Catholic separate schools is "entrenched" in Ontario under the provisions of the British North America Act and can be changed only through an amendment to the BNA Act "which is completely impracticable."

"Even if such a change were desired by the Roman Catholic minority in Ontario, for example, or by the Protestant majority for that matter, the fact is, the enactment affects minority rights of other groups in different ways in other provinces would make any constitutional change a practical impossibility."

The constitutional rights of Roman Catholics cannot be abrogated either in letter or in spirit, he added.

That fact had been a critical one in determining the new system of grants for education.

The statement was issued to the press before delivery.

Newcomers Speak Out

DEAR DORIS—I have read the article of Maria as well as the answer of a person who said, "this nation is a sad and non-caltivate race." Many newcomers to Canada will agree.

I have figured out that Canadians are not unfriendly, but their philosophy of life is different. The laws of nature are just followed close enough. Therefore, the nation is getting sick and in a sick body cannot live a healthy mind. Overeating, alcohol, nicotine, caffein and all kinds of tranquillizers cannot make happy and talkative people.

Money is still the main factor here and the children are treated like automobiles. They need love and understanding. Materialistic things cannot replace it. People live in a make-believe world. Where is nature?—MARGARET.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR MARGARET—There is much in what you say. Material comforts are not permanently satisfying, and students of human nature know nothing can replace love. The "sad ones" need another set of values.

DEAR DORIS—I read your column every night and I read where the woman was wondering where she could donate one of her eyes to help support her family. I sure would keep my eyes if I were her, so some day she may be able to see this dog crawl for what he has done.

I have partly lost the sight of one eye with beatings I have received through the years, and these monsters go scot free! I had to live like this because I had a son and stayed and raised and educated him.

Any punk who beats a woman should be lashed six times a day for five years.

I have wrestled the storm, keep myself nice. My son is married and has two nice little boys. Thank God I've won.—KEEP SMILING.

DEAR KEEP SMILING—Wouldn't it have been better to register an objection early in the game?

All the pomp and ceremony of the old City of London will be displayed. But one bit of history won't be re-enacted—that performed by the Lord Mayor's Fool, an office which has been abolished. His duty on such occasions used to be to jump fully clothed, into a large bowl of custard.

Homeowners Urged to Plan Family's Escape From Fire

By
Matthew B. Dymond, M.D.,
Health Minister for Ontario

In any one year in Ontario about 20,000 homes are partially or completely destroyed by fire, causing an annual cost of roughly $30,000,000. This loss of property is staggering enough by itself, but when we consider the fact that in the course of this destruction the lives of 180 Ontario citizens are lost every year, it becomes even more clear that fire alone is a major cause of inestimable human suffering in our midst.

Safety organizations and fire departments all play a very active role in attempting to show the homeowner how to prevent fires, and undoubtedly the only lasting cure to the problem is removal of fire hazards and public awareness of fire dangers.

But if we were to do nothing more than save the 150 human lives now lost yearly from fires in Ontario homes, we would be taking a tremendous step toward solving a serious menace to safety and life. Despite warning of safety organizations and fire prevention bureaux, the hundreds of home fires continue to break out every year. Despite the attempts to remove combustibles, change careless smoking habits, correct electrical faults in our homes, there is always a possibility that one thoughtless act could cost us everything we own—even our lives and those of our whole family.

Do most of us really know what we would do if fire suddenly struck our homes? I doubt it. While emergency fire drills are carried out regularly in schools, and public buildings are equipped with warning signs, fire exit lights and alarms, the average home is seldom a place where such planning and precaution take place. Yet it is in our homes that the danger is greatest, where we spend our sleeping as well as our waking hours.

Your Department of Health urges every homeowner to develop escape routes for every member of the family in the event of fire, and to practice home fire drills regularly. A new pamphlet called "Plan Your Escape" recently produced by the Ontario Safety League is designed to help you in this planning, and may be obtained from either your local Fire Department or the Ontario Safety League, 208 King St. West, in Toronto.

Remember that in spite of all your precautions, you may some day have a fire in your home. Planning your escape now may make the difference between life and death for your whole family.

population in Lake Superior by 90 per cent. Efforts to wipe out the remaining 20 per cent would be continued by the same method—poisoning of the lamprey in its spawning grounds.

Robert Gibson (L—Kenora) said the lamprey problem had reached critical proportions in the last few years and had contributed to a reduction in the Great Lake commercial fishing catch.

The sea lamprey is a species of eel that feeds on fish.

MR. Roberts also said some four-week courses are being planned to train Indians in northwest Ontario for employment with his department.

He said at least two courses will be held this summer. They are being organized by A. S. Bray, the department's regional director for northwestern Ontario.

Will Provide

sharing, Mr. Robarts said.

They fall into these three categories.

1. A corporate tax adjustment schools.

grant for all elementary

2. A grant to cover such special expenses as debt charges, capital outlays from current funds and transportation charges—up to 90 per cent for the most needy school boards, graded according to a specific formula.

3. A school tax equalization grant—the "foundation" of the new system's title—designed to guarantee to each school board the money to meet the burden of current operating costs according to a formula which will compensate for differences in population and assessment, salaries, maintenance costs and other factors which vary from area to area.

WILL VARY WIDELY

The total grant under all systems of calculation in the new plan "will vary from the minimum for the wealthiest board up to 55 per cent of the cost of operating in the case of very poor boards," Mr. Robarts said.

The new plan would provide both stability, through the basic grants, and flexibility. The autonomy of local schools boards would be preserved.

Among the new sub-divisions, the one concerning corporation taxes was regarded as most important.

The Roman Catholic bishops, who pressed for a "re-examination" of financial aid to separate schools, maintained that the nearly 2,000,000 Catholics in Ontario "have been denied our fair share" of such tax revenues.

COMPLAINTS JUSTIFIED

Dealing at some length with the corporate tax adjustment in the new plan, Mr. Robarts said Roman Catholics have complained, "it must be admitted with some justification," about their inability to direct the spending of their share of corporate taxes.

But, he said, there are "many localities where separate schools receive the majority of corporate assessment while the public schools receive little, if any."

The new provision, applying equally to public and separate schools, is designed to provide revenues to all elementary school boards not getting their fair share of local corporation assessments, he said.

The grants will be based on the amount of residential and farm assessment each group—public and separate—is assessed for. The grant would be paid so that each group received the "proportion that its residential and farm assessment bears to the total public and separate residential and farm assessment."

"At the same time, of course, the total assessment of the public or separate school board receiving such supplement will be increased by an equivalent amount for the calculation of other equalization grants," the premier added.

He emphasized that nothing will be taken away from the amount paid at present to either public or separate school boards.

THINKS PLAN FAIR

Although the new system is "bound" to produce "inaccuracies," he said, it seems "by all odds the fairest yardstick" for assessing what each board should receive from corporation assessment.

And the premier added:

"I feel that, by the introduction of this provision, the controversy in connection with corporate taxes can be regarded as being finally settled with positive justice to all concerned."

Mr. Robarts said the basic idea of provincial aid to educations since the Conservatives came to power in 1943 has been to "equalize educational opportunity across this province."

Recognizing the disparities between rich and poor areas of the province, he said, "the province pays grants up to 85 per cent of the cost of education" under the present system.

Toward that goal, the government had instituted grants based on assessment per classroom for elementary schools and assessment per capita for secondary schools, with adjustments for average daily attendance of pupils.

There were also allowances for special needs in fast-growing municipalities, variations in property to be assessed, equalized assessment and the position of separate schools.

Mr. Robaris said he is sure the new plan, if viewed with "goodwill, tolerance and freedom from prejudice," will recommend itself to everyone.

The statement was issued to the press before delivery.

CUT POLIO CASES

Only seven cases of polio were reported in Bulgaria in 1962 compared with 1,066 cases in 1957.

It was announced that the Provincial Command meeting will be held in Belleville by May 29th. Plans are underway to make this big event a great success.

The annual sport event is to be held at Stirling, Sat. 31, Toronto, Ontario, May 4th.

Mink, Ermine Eyelashes Fail To Arrive

NEW YORK (AP)—A shipment of mink and ermine eyeashes failed to arrive in time for Jamie Mann's eye fashion show Wednesday, but the blonde glamour girl hatted her own pretty peepers twice as hard to make up for things.

They were fringed with fur seal.

Her attractive helpers also wiggled their ways through the congested salon, shoved their faces close to each guests, widened their eyes, then fluttered the lids.

"I don't even know I have them on," they assured the women in attendance. "Don't they look natural?"

To demonstrate the method of application, a brunette hovered over a flame-haired TV personality. Relaxed in the lady's lap was a grey French poodle with sweeping false black eyelashes made of human hair.

ONLY COLOR DIFFERENT

"Fur lashes are thicker, more lustrous," said Miss Mann, who added that the mink and sable ones to show. "Really, they look the same on as on those for ours ones I have on. The only basic difference is the color."

Miss Mann frames her own brown orbs with brown seal lashes for casual daytime wear, but dons her black mink lashes for exotic evening ogling.

Human lashes cost less than $5. Mink and ermine ones cost $10 and seal somewhere in between.

The lashes are trimmed to suit the face and occasion: Short for day, longer for evening and even longer for formal appearances.

Surgical adhesive holds them on the lids.

The lashes come off easily without taking any of the natural follicles with them.

Girl Guides, Brownies Mark Thinking Day

Girl Guides, Rangers and Brownies in the Belleville Division will join with thousands of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts around the world on Friday, February 22, to celebrate "Thinking Day." Chosen because the date marks the birthday of the founder of Scouting and Guiding, the late Lord Baden-Powell, and the World Chief Guide, Olave, Lady Baden-Powell, "Thinking Day" is the occasion of special ceremonies stressing the Guide ideal of international friendship. Girls the world over give "Thinking Day Pennies" which are used to promote Guiding throughout the world.

The pennies collected by Belleville companies and packs will help send trainers to establish Guide programs in new or "tenderfoot" countries; send aid to Guide organizations in time of disaster; (as in the recent Iran earthquakes) and assist in refugee camps.

HELP WORLD FRIENDSHIP FUND

Thinking Day Pennies from Guides all over Canada are gathered together in the World Friendship Fund and from there go out around the world. This fund helps Canadian Guides, too. "As members of an international organization, we help the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts put Guiding within the reach of every girl who wants it wherever she may be," explains Miss E. Henrietta Osler, Toronto, Chief Commissioner for Canada.

A part of the World Friendship Fund goes to each of the three World Centres (Our Chalet in Switzerland; Our Cabana in Mexico and Our Ark in London.) Canadian Guides visit these centres for adventures in international friendship. Invitations to International Camps and Training Sessions which come to Canada from around the world each year.

An All-Girl Mititia Unit Being Trained

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — An all-girl militia unit is being trained here as an operational unit of the Nuclear Detonation and Fallout Reporting System.

It will consist of 36 Canadian Women's Army Corps personnel who will staff the Northeast Filter Centre. Members will be on the militia strength of the 58th field regiment (Sudbury) but will operate independently at the filter centre.

The Nuclear Detonation and Fallout Reporting System is associated, through the Canadian Army, with the Federal government and North American Air Defence command.

Capt. F. J. Norris of the 58th Field Regiment said "the functions of a filter centre are new and interesting, but also very important and deadly serious for on its accuracy and speed of reporting will certainly depend thousands of lives."

Capt. Norris said the Northeast Filter Centre will determine location, height, and intensity of nuclear detonations. It will plot wind speed and direction up to 120,000 feet and provide information on when and where areas will be affected by fallout.

There are 52 posts staffed mostly by lands and forests employees and railway men which report to the Sudbury filter centre.

Training courses started Jan. 14 and parades will be held two evenings a week.

Two weeks paid summer camp training will be provided with an extra bonus.

Mr. and Mrs. Garry Moxam are shown cutting the cake following their recent marriage in Bridge Street United Church Chapel, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Marilyn Aileen Vandervoort, daughter of Mrs. J. M. Vandervoort, Belleville, and the late Mr. Vandervoort. E. Riley, Belleville).

MOXAM—VANDERVOORT

A pretty double-ring wedding was solemnized in Bridge Street United Church chapel on Saturday, February 9th, when Marilyn Aileen Vandervoort, daughter of Mrs. J. M. Vandervoort, of Belleville, and the late Mr. Vandervoort, was united in marriage to George Garry Moxam, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Moxam, of Belleville, by the Reverend Harry M. Davis, pastor of the church.

The wedding music was provided by the church organist, Mr. S. Alec Gordon, at the console of the chapel organ.

Given in marriage by her mother, the bride was charming in her brown wool ensemble with mink trim, with all-white hat and white veil. She carried a nosegay of white gardenias and carnations tied with streamers knotted with feathered carnations.

She was attended by her sister Miss Jocelyn Vandervoort who was attired in honey-colored suit, with apricot accessories, and carried a nosegay of white and apricot 'mums.

Mr. John Douglas Stillane, of Stratford, attended the bridegroom.

A reception, for the immediate family, was held at the home of the bride's mother, at 238-A Foster Avenue, where the bride's table was appointed with pink damask, and centred by a three-tier, all-white wedding cake topped with three white bells beneath an arch of satin ribbons and lily-of-the-valley, and encircled about the base with pink Sweetheart roses, entwined with silver ribbon. Tall white candles in crystal holders and the bridal bouquets completed the nuptial setting.

Mr. and Mrs. Moxam left for a honeymoon in Toronto.

Bohan, Dior Bring Back Shift, Chemise

By PEGGY MASSIN

PARIS (Reuters). — Marc Bohan at Christian Dior and Yves St. Laurent bring back the shift and the chemise for spring and summer in two of the most exciting collections here this year.

These newest versions of the fashion intellectuals' favorite silhouette stress wider shoulders, novel sleeve treatments, knee-length hemlines, and fluid, relaxed waistlines.

Change has come slowly and logically throughout the French haute couture industry.

It is a season of choice which does not outlaw last year's styles. Yet attention has moved in a subtle way from skirt treatments to the top of the silhouette, where it is focused in opened up necklines and dramatic new sleeves.

The bulky top look, combined with straighter skirts, survives the procession of the recently favored silhouette with its skinny shoulders and low set skirt fullness.

NO PADDING

Broad shoulders for the coming season are achieved entirely through cut without artificial padding. The Dior sleeve is rounded and set in close to the neckline. Culinary collars are filled in with neat white dickies or modest vests.

Yves St. Laurent brought his own 1962 look up to date by turning the successful Norman Norell's smock into a full-length chemise dress.

He also launched the jumper dress with kimono shoulder line emphasizing full sleeves made of a contrasting fabric and color.

Yoke effects and wide sleeves gathered into a tshirt cuff are the theme of the farmer's blouse which has turned up interlayers in coats and suits.

In the over-all picture, the smock, the shirt, and peasant influence with drawstring necklines and back fullness are among the season's most dominant facets.

"Also rans" in the spring silhouette race are the sheath, the shirtwaist, the A-line and a modified "princess" line.

Cookbook No. 14 — Recipe No. 1

THE HUNGARIAN COOKBOOK

What kind of salads do they serve in Hungary? Well, today we have two unusual salad recipes, both taken from the Ontario Intelligencer's Hungarian Cookbook. If you haven't yet ordered your copy of this Cooking Magic book, you'll certainly want it — for it's full of wonderful things to do with food, all of them Hungarian style. The Cooking Magic books are prepared by the famous Culinary Arts Institute of Chicago.

CANTALOUPE SALAD

Halve and cut into halves two medium-size ripe cantaloupes.

Remove seedy centres and pare. Cut cantaloupes into ¾-inch cubes, put into large bowl and set aside.

For dressing — mix together until well blended ¼-cup mayonnaise; ¼-cup thick sour cream; ½-teaspoon salt; and ¼-teaspoon pepper. Pour half the dressing onto cantaloupe and toss lightly, until well mixed. Chill cantaloupe and remaining dressing in refrigerator for about one hour. Remove from refrigerator and place individual servings on crisp lettuce on chilled salad plates. Top each serving with some of the remaining dressing. Serves 8.

GREEN BEAN SALAD

Cook according to directions 1 package of one 10-oz. package frozen French-style green beans. Drain beans thoroughly and put into bowl; set aside to cool. Meanwhile, prepare oil-vinegar marinade by mixing in a small screw-top jar ¼-cup vinegar; 2 tablespoons olive oil; 1 tablespoon sugar; 1 teaspoon salt, and ½ teaspoon freshly ground pepper.

Cover tightly; shake jar until ingredients are well blended. Pour marinade over beans. Gently toss beans until well-coated. Chill beans in refrigerator about one hour; carefully turn beans occasionally.

Shortly before serving, panbroil 4 slices bacon. Crumble bacon and set aside. Drain beans thoroughly. Put beans into a bowl and mix them with bacon. Makes 3-4 servings.

These are two of 151 recipes in the Hungarian Cookbook.

Gathering Food News

by Mary Moore

Plainclotheswoman Moore inspected the meat counter and detected items to cheer the hearts of budg-eting epicures.

1) I discovered some skinless pork sausages at 57c per lb. that were all meat — no filler — and mildly flavored. I pan-fried these, starting them in a cold heavy pan and stood over them all the time, gently turning, to evenly brown them. I poured off the excess fat as it accumulated. There was 3 oz. The skinless sausages had a crisp and golden crust and the seasoning was subtle enough for the mildest of tastes. I remembered back to college days when our landlady make milk gravy to serve with pork chops. So when I had lifted the sausages from the pan I returned 3 tablespoons of the fat to it, added 3 tablespoons flour, stirred to blend then stirred in 1½ cups milk until thick and bubbling. I added just a little salt and served this with delicate mashed turnip. It —and on mashed potatoes. too.

2) For the same price per lb. (57c) I discovered a blade roast weighing a little over 5 lbs. and without a minute's hesitation I hoofed it up and put it in my shopping cart, with happy thoughts of the pot roast I would concoct.

FOR ROASTED BLADE

Be sure the meat is snugly tied so it does not "slip its moorings" for you must turn it over frequently. Have some of its fat melted in heavy kettle or Dutch oven (or use pressure cooker without pressure). Sear meat over high heat until dark brown all over. This smokes up the kitchen but is essential to the covered pot roast flavor. Season generously with salt and pepper. Cautiously add ¼ cup hot water and 2 to 4 beef bouillion cubes. Cover and simmer, at least 4 hours, turning frequently and adding 1 tablespoon water each time it is needed. Remove to hot platter. Make gravy by adding enough hot water to bring liquid in pot up to 2½ cups. Mix to a paste 2½ tablespoons cornstarch and ½ cup cold water. Stir in until thick. Serve with mashed potatoes.

Dinner Menu

Dashi -no Moto (clear seaweed and fish soup — see Tuesday); Japanese Sukiyaki (see Tuesday); Fluffy Rice; Creme Brulee with Preserved Fruits; Chilled Canned Figs, Chilled Canned Apricots; Tea.

I had the privilege of eating breakfast with Mr. Arthur Dana, food consultant to the American Hotel and Motel Association, at the Ontario Hotel Association Convention at the Royal York Hotel. I want to pass on to you a few significant tips he gave me. Mr. Dana thinks: (1) that a little onion is indispensable to a good salmon loaf; (2) hamburg should be broiled and pink or rare — never well done if you want to retain its flavor; (3) raw shredded pineapple should not be sugared until just before serving; (4) chicken and tuna salad sandwich fillings should contain pieces of chicken or tuna — not be a homogeneous mass; (5) too many commercial doughnuts are ruined by being fried in rancid fat. Be sure your fat is fresh. Frying doughnuts smells sweet and pure.

Thank you Mr. Dana.

TURBANS — THE ALL PURPOSE HAT FOR SPRING

Last November, one of our columns was called "The All Purpose Hat — Instant Fashion." It listed the virtues of fur hats for the winter season ahead, with emphasis on the fact that they look well with tailored or dressy fashions.

We promised one interested reader (whose letter had sparked the idea) that we would look for the all-purpose hat for spring. We have searched the spring lines in Canada as well as the New York and Paris collection and report back here with good news. One type of hat was found in many styles, which we feel fit the requirements of the all-purpose chapeau. The fact that it is also instant fashion is a nice, fringe benefit. Watch for new, soft turbans made either of silk ribbon or peterham in the high-priced versions or in rayon bengaline in the less expensive versions.

There are many types to choose from. Most of them are banded with stitching and the crowns are loosely pleated or that they can be draped and adjusted on the head. If this hat is ornamented with a jewelled pin, it takes on an elegant air. Stripped of its jewel, it can go walking with the most tailored coat or suit. It can run in prices all the way from about $5.98 to well over $50 for the "hand-made" look.

More cheering news — as always the price of millinery in the spring is slightly lower than in the fall. Even though there is a gradual rise of prices to meet the climbing cost of doing business, the Canadian made hat is still one of the best buys in the world's millinery market. Workmanship is excellent, and styling goes hand-in hand with that of New York and Paris.

Last November, we advised our readers to shop the millinery hats in order to build up a millinery wardrobe. We repeat that advice, by all means purchase a draped turban, but watch the sales which offer tremendous savings on sample hats and special purchases. Here is an opportunity to pick "the" hat in just the right color to match your ensemble so as to keep your fashion budget on an even keel.

This spring, the Hat Bars of many stores will feature tailored straw hats, the prices of which will depend on the quality of the trims. If you like the style and color of an inexpensive hat, what's wrong with retrimming it yourself? Replace that shoddy band with a lush, velvet ribbon, or add your own better-looking pin.

Whatever you finally decide on, be sure to have at least one hat in the versatile, fabric turban beforehand — fashion's newest classic. In our opinion, it is here to stay for quite awhile!

Foxboro W.I. Holds Annual Supper, Hears 'Citizenship' Talk

The February meeting of the Foxboro Women's Institute took the form of their second annual supper meeting. Following the meal, Mrs. Bamber called the meeting to order and welcomed the guest speaker, Mrs. T. Keilty and the husbands of the members.

The short business session was held and it was decided that each member give 50 cents or the equivalent for the teachers banquet in February and several members volunteered to help that evening.

GUEST SPEAKER

After the business, Mrs. C. Bamber introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. T. Keilty of Tweed, the district president of the East Hastings district.

In her introductory remarks, Mrs. Keilty stated she had been contacted by those in charge of organizing in regard to a Hastings County library, which might be either a book mobile or a travelling library. Mrs. Keilty said since the Belleville General Hospital is now a joint effort of the city of Belleville and Hastings county, she had been contacted by some of the members of the hospital auxiliary with a view of bringing to the attention of Institute members a chance to observe neighborliness as our chief church organizers observe neighborliness with each other.

Our Institutes have a need of individuality as each branch has different ideas and problems in their different localities. No member should say it doesn't matter if I'm not at the meeting. It does matter, for each one needs to get out and meet friends and neighbors to discuss problems, ideas, ways and means of bettering the community, district and herself. Mrs. Keilty also said, "today there seems to be a lack of kindliness and neighborliness among neighbors that there was a few years ago."

Mrs. Keilty was thanked for her most interesting address by Mrs. W. R. Johnston.

Following Mrs. Keilty's address, a sing-song, under the leadership of Mrs. W. Rombough with Mrs. R. Skinner at the piano, was held.

A most timely paper on Citizenship was prepared by Miss Jayne Gay, who was unable to be present. It was read by Mrs. B. Hollinger. Miss Gay said "we as Canadian women have ambitions which we share with women all over the world—peace and freedom. Let us do all we can to strengthen the bonds of friendship and understanding throughout the world so that we feel we have done our part."

CANADIAN CITIZENSHIP

"It is surely as important and necessary for native Canadians and those whose forefathers helped open up this great country to learn the Oath of Allegiance, the etiquette of the flag, and the significance of our national holidays as it is for our new Canadians.

"For Canadian citizenship has become more valuable to us as we have learned the procedure of obtaining it from our new Canadians."

Miss Gay also said "to make honest, law-abiding citizens of our young people should be one of our first and foremost aims—the foundations of such a life begins in the home, and parents must set such an example. So we, as Institute members, should strive in our homes and communities to teach our children to think for themselves and to stand up for what they believe in and not always be one of the mass."

Following Mrs. Keilty's and Miss Gay's thought-provoking addresses, Mrs. Rombough called on Mrs. Earl Dafoe, who read from an old issue of "Home and Country", about the Mary Stewart Collect and a little on the life of the author, Mary Stewart.

The roll call was not given, "Why I'm Glad My Wife Belongs to the Women's Institute", but, Mr. George "Pat" Scheil, recited "The Monkey's View Point" after thanking the Institute members on behalf of the husbands present, for their hospitality.

"Sixteen Flag Etiquette Rules" were read by Mrs. H. Beatty. "Dedicated to Mom and Dad", was read by Mrs. M. B. Shorey and a humorous reading was given by Mrs. J. S. (Stan) Hayton.

Mrs. C. Hubble, on behalf of the members of the Institute, presented Mrs. W. L. Thompson who is leaving to make her home in Montreal, with a gift. Mrs. Thompson, though taken by surprise, thanked her for her gift, and said she had enjoyed working with the members of the Institute.

FILMS SHOWN

The last item on an interesting program was the showing of some films of interest and some films on the motorcycle trials at London, Ontario, by Mr. and Mrs. Don McKeown.

Mrs. W. Rombough thanked all who had taken part in the program, and Mrs. Bamber thanked all who had helped make the evening such a success.

District Pres. Visits W.I.

IVANHOE — The February meeting of Ivanhoe W.I. was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Ted Pollock, on February 13.

The citizenship convener, Mrs. Klaas Tuinman, had charge of the program. The roll call, "What makes a good citizen?" was answered by 16 members and ten visitors, also twelve children.

Mrs. Rex Rollins of Cooper District President, paid her official visit. Her message explained the work of the ACWW and some thoughts given by the provincial president, Mrs. Lymburner.

Business items were then discussed. The president reported the proceeds of $10.25 from the lunch served in the County Federation annual meeting at the township hall. Mrs. George Wood was appointed branch curator of the Tweedsmuir Book, with a committee consisting of Miss Bessie Fleming, Mrs. John McInroy, Mrs. Barclay Hall.

Mrs. K. Tuinman then took charge of her program. The motto, "It is a good neighbor better than a far friend" was dealt with by Mrs. John Wallace.

A piano solo was contributed by Mrs. Art Hassall. Mrs. Peter Roeper, of Holland, a citizen, described her experiences in obtaining her Canadian citizenship. She displayed her citizenship card and papers. Everyone benefitted much from Mrs. Roeper's personal experiences.

The collection amounted to $4.30.

The March meeting will be held in the afternoon on the regular day at the home of Mrs. Elmer Wood, with the Agriculture convener, Mrs. James McMillan, in charge of the program.

The hostess and her assistants served lunch. All the ladies enjoyed a social half hour with the visitors and former members.

U.C.W. Meeting

SALEN U.C.W.

MINTO—The February meeting of Salem U.C.W. was held at the home of Mrs. Frank McGee on Thursday with Mrs. McGee as hostess and Mrs. Will Donald and Mrs. Orval Jackson the program committee.

A quilt was completed for Mrs. Tom Clements, and dinner was served at noon.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Everett Snise, president, opened the meeting with a poem.

Mrs. Orval Jackson read a poem, "Success." Mrs. Will Donald read the Scripture lesson with Mrs. Orval Jackson giving the comments. Mrs. Loyne Hagerman gave a reading and roll call was answered with a donation to the flower fund.

Business was discussed and donations for catering to the community sale in March were received. A thank-you was acknowledged from Mrs. Frank McGee for remembrances, also from Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tanner for many cards received.

The Day of Prayer services was announced.

Mrs. Stanley Keller and Mrs. Lindsay Tanner sang "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning."

Mrs. Stan Thompson gave a reading. Mrs. Lorne Hagerman and Mrs. Stan Thompson gave splendid reports of the annual meeting of the U.C.W. held in Picton.

Mrs. Harold Holden expressed thanks to the hostess and all who helped with the program.

A TRADITIONAL DESIGN — The Carrick-macross lace of this three-quarter-sleeve blouse has become the hallmark of Dublin couturier Irene Gilbert. # Names of 3 Designers Have Put Irish Fashion Firmly on World Map

By CAROL KENNEDY

DUBLIN (CP)—"It all started with a red flannel petticoat."

The words sound out of place in the elegant Georgian drawing-room overlooking Merrion Square where Sybil Connolly, Ireland's best-known designer abroad, entertains visitors in the grand manner.

In nine years the names of Connolly, Irene Gilbert and Kay Petersen's new Anna Livia boutique have put Irish fashion firmly on the international map. No longer are the words "hand-woven tweed" synonymous with arty peasant crafts—the hallmark of all three major designers is an original and highly sophisticated use of exquisite hand-made native materials.

In North America, particularly, the Dublin couturiers are regarded as 'exclusively "different" from those of Paris or London.

Each of the "big three" has her own speciality among the local fabrics. Sybil Connolly's is gossamer-fine Irish linen, hand-pleated and stitched to form a light, unerushable, hard-wearing material with a richly textured feel.

RED FLANNEL WAS HIT

She makes it up into cocktail and evening gowns, dyed in brilliant pinks, bronze-gold and slate-blue. Unbleached, it forms the well-covering of her Dublin salon, setting off the gilt Empire furniture and moss-green carpets.

Yet it all started with that red flannel petticoat worn by a peasant woman in a cottage doorway in Connemara. In the spring of 1953, Sybil Connolly was brooding over her first collection on a motor tour of western Ireland. "I stopped the car and thought 'I must have that in my collection.'"

She bought yards of the traditional red flannel, quilted it and made it into a long evening skirt. Teamed with a white crochet blouse, it bowled over the American buyers at the show. It still is a top seller in the Connolly boutique.

Tipperary-born Irene Gilbert, an aristocratic-looking woman with the reserved charm warming into gaiety that forms a distinctive "Dublin manner," was Ireland's first couturier. She began in 1947 and has perhaps been unfairly overshadowed by the publicity given abroad to Connolly's clothes.

BUYS OLD GOWNS

Miss Gilbert's hallmark is Carrickmacross lace, hand-sewn by nuns and cottagers to age-old designs, mounted on fine net and made up into filmy cocktail frocks and blouses for movie stars and members of the Irish county nobility.

Besides commissioning work, Miss Gilbert buys up lace wedding gowns and christening veils from the treasure chests of old ladies. She remodels the leg o' mutton sleeves and tight bodices into a line as modern as the twist—a delicate job because of the risk of cutting the edges of the lace patterns.

Most Irish couture clothes go overseas—the Republic is still too poor and underpopulated to support such a luxury industry—but Dublin is one of the few capitals left where people dress formally for private dinner-parties, and Irene Gilbert's casual elegant styles are widely seen in the castles that form the hub of Irish county society.

The Countess of Rosse, Princess Margaret's mother-in-law, is dressed by Gilbert. So is Lady Eaton, matriarch of Canada's department store family, who takes one-day trips to Dublin from London to be fitted.

INSPIRED BY AUTHOR

In contrast with the ageless elegance of Connolly and Gilbert, Kay Petersen's gay outfits are aimed more at the younger set.

A James Joyce addict, she first made headlines last June with her Bloomsday Collection, named for the day Joyce described in the action of Ulysses. The outfits were all called after characters in the novel, the most sensational being an evening dress in three bands of brilliant tweed called Molly Bloom.

"Molly was hardly ever out of bed in the novel," Miss Petersen told this reporter. "I tried to imagine what she would wear if she did get out."

Kay Petersen's boutique, a trim olive-and-white doll's house in smart Dawson Street, is called Anna Livia after Joyce's name for the River Liffey, his symbol of Dublin.

While Connolly is known for her hand-pleated linen and Gilbert for her lace, Kay Petersen's speciality is Donegal tweed. The other designers also have tweeds specially woven and dyed, but Miss Petersen's originality lies in her range of weights and textures, varying from heavy bainin—pronounced "bawneen"—to lacy stuff weighing barely an ounce a yard, woven from soft Shetland wool.

Mr., Mrs. Sterling S. Chappell Celebrate 65th Anniversary

CAMPBELLFORD — Mr. and Mrs. Sterling S. Chappell of 82 Inkerman St., Campbellford, spent a quiet Sunday this week celebrating their 65th wedding anniversary.

The couple were married at the bride's home in Cramahe Township, on February 16, 1898. Mrs. Chappell is the former Cecile Raine, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Raine.

Following their marriage, the couple farmed in Cramahe Township, then moved to a farm in Seymour Township in 1920. They operated the farm in Seymour for about 2 years and moved to Campbellford shortly after their only son, who was then 2½, drowned in Crowe Bay, just above the town power house.

They have lived in Campbellford for more than 40 years, about 20 of those years in their present home.

Both still remember their wedding day. The bridesmaid was the late Stella Raine, sister of the bride, and the best man was the late Bert Cole of Percy Township. The Rev. J. Rose, then of Grafton, performed the ceremony.

Mr. Chappell is 86, his wife a few years younger. Both enjoy reasonably good health, although Mrs. Chappell suffered a stroke nearly nine years ago and is not as active as she used to be. Both read their daily newspaper and tend a garden during the summer months.

They received a number of cards and messages of congratulations on the weekend.

'Lines on Life'

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

Much of our human distress is the result of being shackled to our own tiny, subjective realms. We have eyes only to see our little worlds as if there were no other.

Like Narcissus of old we fall in love with our own reflections and live as if no other reality existed but our own.

One doctor's experience gives the clue. A woman telephoned to say that she wished to visit his office that same day. The physician replied that he was not free that afternoon, but that he would be pleased to receive her the following day. To which she impatiently responded: "But doctor, I live very close to your office. I can come over in ten minutes!"

It did not matter to her, of course, that the doctor could not see her. Since the distance was small, it saved her time to reach him. What matters to her is herself: If she saves time, then he must save time too. Her only reality is herself. What she experiences and wants, all others must, too!

IRON WILL.

This same unrealistic, super-subjective mentality strains many a relationship — because we tend to be under-related to others when we are over-related to ourselves. Many parents have concern for their children primarily in these wrong terms. What rates, in their estimation, are the things which children do that give them pleasure — without regard to the young-one's feelings at all. Too often we consider the achievements of our children to be worthy only if they bring credit to parents or if they prove how obedient the children are to do the iron will of elders.

To be sure, it is normal and natural for fathers and mothers to seek to guide and to share the lives of their youngsters. Indeed, parents who lack the will-to-lead cannot excuse their own moral laziness in the name of a vague, spineless, often pointless "democratic" family life which tumbles to the level of the lowest common denominator.

But wise leadership must always take followership into account—if, that is, to be loved, not feared—if it is to wield the authority of influence rather than of coercion. And we influence best when we stand a little higher than our children, but not so high that we lose sight of them—or that they, in turn, can no longer catch a vision of us.

Husbands and wives suffer, too, from similar difficulties. A noted psychiatrist asks: "How many husbands have a picture of their wives as being domineering, because their attachement to mother makes them interpret any demand as a restriction of their freedom? How many wives think their husband are ineffective or stupid because they do not live up to a phantasy picture of a shining knight which they might have built up as children?"

SUBJECTIVE FEARS

It has been suggested that doctors, lawyers and clergymen may see the same people but that they see them differently. A doctor usually sees people when they are "at their worst"—when sickness drives them to seek help. A lawyer often sees people "at their best"—when for fear of saying incriminating things they measure words most carefully. But a clergyman tends to see people just "as they are"—at their best, at their worst, from "fair to middling."

This is the way out of our narcissism—to see people and things as they are—objectively.

And more: to learn to keep an objective picture of what we see free from that picture which reflects only ourselves—only our subjective fears and our personal passions.

We need to reflect on the reflection of others if we are to keep from losing sight of the world.

New Course for Training Nurses' Assistants Outlined To Women's Hospital Aux.

Details of a proposed new course for the training of nurses' assistants in Belleville were presented to the member of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary at their regular monthly meeting by Mr. Leslie F. Reid, principal of Quinte Secondary School.

It is expected that this course, which is sponsored jointly by the Belleville General Hospital and the Bay of Quinte District High School Board is to help overcome a serious shortage of nursing assistants, will be instituted in September, 1963.

The course, of two years' duration, will consist of classes in academic subjects, and in the theory of nursing given at the Quinte Secondary School and clinical experience to be taken in the local hospital.

GRANTS APPROVED

To accommodate this new course, two specially equipped units have been included in the plans for the new vocational wing at Quinte Secondary School. Government grants of $40,000 towards the building of these rooms and $10,000 for the equipment have already been approved.

Admission to the Nursing Assistants' Course will be open to girls who have completed Grades 9 and 10 of any high school course. Upon completion of the two-year course, a girl would be awarded a high school Graduation Diploma by the Ontario Department of Education, and would be eligible to try the examination for the Certified Nursing Assistants' diploma, given by the Ontario Department of Health.

A brochure describing this new course will shortly go out to every High School in Hastings County. Only 20 girls can be accommodated for the first year. Belleville will be the third Ontario Municipality to offer such a course, similar courses having already been set up in London and Weston.

Mr. Reid was introduced by Mrs. Kenneth Bird, and the appreciation of the members was expressed by Mrs. Charles Cook.

The February meeting, well-attended by about 60 members, was the inaugural of the new 'president', Mrs. Fred Beaby.

AUXILIARY ACTIVITIES

The ever-increasing scope of the Auxiliary's activities was reflected in the many measures considered by the members during the business session.

Mrs. R. E. Wood, convener for the Sunshine Cupboard, reported that 12 women are sewing and knitting for the services which provides clothing for needy infants discharged from the maternity ward. One hundred dollars was voted for the purchase of materials to maintain this cupboard.

The benefits to the city's residents of the Belleville Community Nursing Registry were outlined by its Director, Mrs. J. Campbell. The Auxiliary voted a donation of one hundred dollars to this organization.

The report of the Opportunity Shop was given by the new convener Mrs. Herb Brown, who announced that, beginning in March, the shop will be open for two hours each Friday morning in addition to the present operating schedule. To facilitate the donating of goods to the shop by Belleville citizens, a pick-up service has been established which will serve all sections of the city and its environs.

APPRECIATION EXPRESSED

Mrs. William Cavers convener of the Coffee Shop, expressed her appreciation of the donations of baking and casseroles by the members. She appealed for more volunteers to serve in the shop on weekends.

It was reported by Mrs. Owen Clarke, convener of holiday treats, that 200 tray favors had been made for hospital patients by Belleville Guides and Brownies to mark Valentine's Day. A similar service will be rendered on St. Patrick's Day by the Belleville Ranger group. The sum of $60 was allocated for the purchase of Easter treats for patients.

Two new in-hospital volunteer services were described by their director, Mrs. John Buchan. Already ten teen-age meal-time assaistants are in service, and 20 more are being instructed in feeding patients. In addition, a volunteer has been appointed to assist in the Occupational Therapy Department one day a week. The amount of $200 was approved for the purchase of uniforms for volunteers.

One hundred dollars was voted towards the maintenance of the Hospital Library, which is operated jointly by the Corby Public Library Board and the Hospital Auxiliary.

It was anounced that Mrs. B. E. Burley will convene the annual Fashion Fiesta, to be held in October.

Mrs. A. Lennox-Smith, convener of puppets, reported that 70 puppets are made each month by her department and given to young patients upon their discharge from the pediatrics department. Two groups from Bridge Street and Eastminster United Churches are assisting the 11 active members of the Auxiliary group. The sum of $150 was voted for the support of this project.

Auxiliary members were most gratified to learn from the president that a gift of $2,000 had been received from one of the original members of the Association to support its activities. A decision regarding the disbursement of this gift will be made in the near future.

P. S. Board Accepts Two Resignations

CAMPBELLFORD — All members, principals of both schools and Public Schools Inspector C. W. Young were present at the February meeting of the Public School Board. Chairman R. B. Bennett presided

Two resignations were accepted with regret: Miss Judith Archer from the Bridge St. Schools and Mr. H. E. Cryderman from the Public School Board. Mr. E. R. Steele, speaking for the members of the board, expressed their appreciation to Mr. Cryderman for his eight years' service. Mr. A. Whitfield spoke for the Kent School staff and W. Rodwell for Bridge St. Schools, thanking him for his interest and assistance during his time on the board. Mr. Cryderman's resignation was received last week just previous to his appointment to the High School Area Board made by Seymour Council.

Mr. Young reviewed his findings during his visit of inspection to Kent School. He also answered questions concerning budgets and grants. C. V. Johnson made plans for the budget night when all budgets will be brought in and prepared for the Municipal Council. This meeting is to be held on February 28th.

Mr. E. R. Steele, chairman of property, reviewed all the things that had been done for both schools since the last meeting. He also reported on the survey he and Mr. Machesney had made of both schools for plans for 1963.

Chairman Bennett appointed William A. Murray as chairman of the management committee with Wm. Machesney to serve also on the committee.

Mr. M. Locke was appointed to teach grade 4 at Bridge St. School from Easter to the end of the term.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

Question: We live in an apartment house in an area where parking is at a premium. It's very difficult to find a space in front of the house, so, when I have a date who is to pick me up in his car, I watch from the window and hurry downstairs when I see him double-park in front of the building entrance. My mother thinks this is disgraceful and that the boys are impolite not to call for me at my door. I've tried to make her understand that it's not a matter of bad manners, but just a matter of convenience. — Would you agree? — A. L., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Answer: No. Good manners should never hinge on what is convenient and what is not. The boy who arrives by car is just as obligated to call for his date at her door as the one who arrives by shoe leather. If parking is so tough, then the poor lad should plan to arrive ten or fifteen minutes early to snare a space and still be able to ring your doorbell right on time. Not to do so shows disrespect for you, your mother and the law, which, incidentally, he breaks each time he double-parks and waits for you to toddle down obediently on your own.

Question: I'm about to order invitations for my wedding and would like to know if special invitations must be sent to children of relatives, as well as their parents. There are twenty-one children on the list, ranging in age from nine to twenty. — L.S., Baltimore, Md.

Answer: Separate invitations should be sent to those over eighteen. Younger children may be included in their parents' invitations in this manner: The outside envelope is addressed to the parents. The inside envelope is addressed simply "Mr. and Mrs. Smith," and the names of the children, such as "Tom, Sarah and Betsy," are listed underneath.

QUESTION: Each morning I pass a women police officer who is on duty at school crossing. Should I tip my hat to her when I greet her? Salute maybe,—R. K. Summit, New Jersey.

ANSWER: These kind and conscientious women really do deserve a salute for the excellent job they do. But, despite the uniform, a tip of the hat or a tug at the brim would be a more proper form of greeting.

Gold Cord Presented at M-D Banquet

MARMORA — A mother-and-daughter banquet was held in the Sacred Heart Parish Hall when Mrs. MacLean Haig, area commissioner of Belleville, was present and presented the Gold Cord to Guide Rosemary Brady, and several other badges to guides, Janet Crawford, Judy Goodchild, Janice Howden, Kathy Jones, Linda Empey and Mary Jane Parkin.

Mrs. A. M. Jones, District Commissioner, welcomed the guests and introduced Mrs. Haig who gave an interesting address on the work of Rangers, Guides and Brownies.

The Guides demonstrated a regular meeting and three Tenderfoots were enrolled as Guides. They were Sally Bleeker, Kathaline Murray, and Susan Draper.

The Brownies entertained with a song and the Guides did a dance.

A campfire was simulated with Guides and Brownies sitting round it and singing several songs brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

Visitors were present from Madoc and Belleville.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mrs. E. V. — She'd be married by now if she knew when to shut up.

Rita N.— It happens that I'm well-informed. Why hide it?

• • •

Mrs. E. V. — I'm sick of arranging dates for Rita. She's my best friend and I'd love to see her married and settled down like the rest of us. But she has one fault that seems to queer her with the boys who take her out. She talks too much.

That would be all right if it was clever talk, like asking the right questions and making the fellow feel ten feet tall. But it's show-off talk, to prove how well-educated and well-read she is. I've tried to explain to her that no fellow takes a girl out to get his mind improved. He wants to relax and have a good time.

Nevertheless, she acts like a female Billy Graham trying to stuff a man full of words. Can the Council show her the folly of this?

Rita N. — If a man can't enjoy talking to a woman, then he must regard all women as being alike and serving just one purpose. When I'm out with someone I like to show him that I'm different. I'm me, I'm someone interesting. I can't believe what my friend Ella keeps telling me, that men like dopey girls because then they feel brilliant by comparison. Nobody, male or female, likes to be in the company of a blockhead!

I'm passionately interested in Broadway and off-Broadway shows, and in oil paintings, and in the best-seller books people talk about. I also keep up with the headlines in politics and business. What's wrong with opening my mouth and having one of my say? If a man can't stand an alert girl, let him date a store-dummy!

The Council: Unless a man is a sultan with a harem, he seeks a girl who, as a wife, can be several women rolled into one. When he strays, then, it simply means that Wonder Woman has fallen down in one or more departments, even though she's OK in some. But the last to stray is probably the husband whose wife is "passionately" interested in him — wrapped mind, Broadway, oil paintings, etc.

Clever girls sense this and, when vis-a-vis a fellow they like, push all those bright remarks into a mental cubbyhole labelled "Use Sparingly!" That is all Mrs. V. is trying to get across to Rita. She's warning her not to let herself get carried away with her own brilliance (real vs. imagined), lest it keep her from ever getting carried across a bridal threshold.

Of course Rita may realize this. Perhaps she hasn't yet met the guy who leaves her breathless and speechless. The ones who date her, on orders from Mrs. V., may be such bores that she decides if she can't love 'em she can "learn" 'em! So she goes into her spiels on the European Common Market and Virginia Woolf to keep from yawning.

But just to make sure that Rita gets the message of how important it is to romance for a girl to know when to open her mouth and when to close it, we cite the great allure of the enigmatic Mona Lisa. And think of the Sphinx, a female who has lasted for centuries by letting everyone else have the last word!

Once safely married to the bright man she will surely snarl, (by giving him the spoil(t)). Rita can regale him with scintillating conversation and be the shining star at dinner parties they attend together. Always, however, she continues to cultivate 1) the art of listening. 2) a sense of timing, and 3) his ego.

St. Andrew's CGIT Plans Pancake Feed

The St. Andrew's C.G.I.T. group held its weekly meeting on the evening of February 18th at St. Andrew's Church.

There was a short worship service which was followed by a business meeting in which a discussion of the mother-and-daughter banquet held February 19th took place. Money was collected for the chocolates, so far there has been $31 handed in. The pancake supper was also discussed.

There was a mission and Bible study period, also a singsong.

The group was honored to have Mrs. Beverly Boyce present at the meeting as she assists the group leader, Miss Margaret Perry, when possible.

The St. Andrew's group has planned its annual C.G.I.T. "pancake supper" for Tuesday, February 26, at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, to be held from 5 to 7 p.m.

Tickets are available from the girls of the group.

ST. MARK'S W.A.

BONARLAW — The regular meeting of St. Mark's Women's Auxiliary, was held in the parish hall, February 14th, with 15 members present.

After the meeting opened, the Litany and prayers were led by Rev. R. Stewart. The Bible reading taken from St. Matthew 25: was read by Mrs. Tom Heath.

Mrs. William Neal gave the treasurer's report; - parochial secretaries gave an account of their work in the various month. Mrs. E. Heath, Deanery secretary, read the list of articles needed for the school sale and also invited the members to her home for potluck dinner and quilting, later in the month.

Correspondence was read and many items of business were discussed with motions being made when necessary, one of which was the acceptance of an increase in the pledge funds.

Mrs. A. Burkitt and Mrs. J. Pratt were in charge of the program and used the theme, St. Valentine.

Mr. Stewart showed slides of the work among the Indians in the Diocese of Saskatchewan which proved most educational. Mrs. A. Burkitt read the story of St. Valentine. Mrs. J. Prest conducted a musical contest with Mrs. B. Woodcock at the piano, as a guessing game.

The hostesses, Mrs. J. Eggett and Mrs. A. Neal served lunch and everyone enjoyed a social half hour.

Annual Ice Carnival Colorful Spectacle Attended by Many

WELLINGTON — The night was very cold, but despite the zero temperature, a real good crowd attended the annual Ice Carnival in the Wellington arena on Saturday evening.

Many lovely and original costumes were worn by the large crowd of skaters, making a most colorful picture on the ice. After a fine exhibition of skating and solos, the skaters were lined up in their age groups for the judging. Although their task was not an easy one, the three judges, Mrs. Hope Boyd, Mrs. Jack Colden and Mr. Vic Allen, all of Picton, showed fine judgment in their choice of winners and the giving of their services were much appreciated.

The master of ceremonies was Mr. Vernon Vandewater, who presented prizes to the following:

Girls, 6 years and under, 1st Sandra Wight; 2nd Debbie Greer; 3rd Sandra Macdonald. Boys, 6 years and under, 1st Terry Greer; 2nd Bobby Greer; 3rd Teddy Nash.

Prize for youngest skater was ice cream donated by Quinte Milk and for best dressed man, $2 in cash, donated by Master Freda.

After the awarding of the prizes the spectators were given a fine exhibition of figure skating by the Belleville Skating Club, which included: a swing dance by the club skaters; a pair of fancy skaters, Susan and David Beatty; Brenda Gold and David Beattie presented solo skating; Jack Sinkens in a "Comedy on Ice"; club skaters presented "Formation Fourteen"; a solo by Susan Beattie, and the finale "Ten Fox" by the club.

The arena board feels fortunate in securing this fine club and anyone who missed seeing them here should try and see them when they present their carnival in Belleville in March.

Canada's Dollar Troubles 'Worsened' U.S. Payments Balance Says Department

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States commerce department, looking over its 1962 international trade and payments picture, finds the U.S. deficit bigger than anticipated. It says Canada's dollar troubles "worsened" the U.S. payments balance.

At the same time, a state department official praised the Canadian government for removing more of the special import restrictions imposed during the 1962 dollar crisis and expressed hope the remainder would be removed shortly.

The view here is that the U.S. government expects Canada to remove all of the restrictions because the important bilateral trade conference gets under way at Geneva in May. That meeting is to be the stage for 1964 tariff negotiations under President Kennedy's trade expansion program.

DEFICIT HIGHER

The commerce department had anticipated the U.S. payments deficit for 1962 would be about $2,000,000,000. A closer look showed it was a little higher, $2,070,000,000. And even though the U.S. had raised an extra $367,000,000 during the last few months of the year through advance debt prepayments by Britain and Canada, the sale of short-term bonds in Europe.

The transactions with Canada temporarily improved our balance in the first half of last year, but the surplus later declined and worsened it in the second half when they rose, thus "considerably reducing the gain in our over-all balance between the two countries," the commerce department said.

Looking over the 1962 situation, the commerce department said major developments which had an adverse effect on U.S. payments balance were "the establishment of a lower and fixed exchange rate for the Canadian dollar . . . various measures taken by the Canadian government to strengthen its international reserves."

Soviets Counter With Offer As West Makes Concession

By KEN PRITCHARD
Canadian Press Writer

A concession on on-site inspections was offered the Soviet Union by the West Wednesday, the Soviets countered with a diversion.

On the same day 4 U.S. spokesman indicated the West would accept fewer than eight annual on-site inspections as part of any nuclear test-ban treaty, placed before the 17-nation disarmament conference in Geneva the draft of a non-aggression treaty between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Warsaw pact powers.

The proffered non-aggression agreement would have the NATO and Warsaw pact countries "solemnly pledge to refrain from aggression, threat or use of force by any means incompatible with the aims and principles of the United Nations charter, both against each other and in their international relations in general." It provides for consultation when situations arise dangerous to the peace.

The Western concession was a genuinely new offer designed to reach a compromise between the West's view as to how many annual inspections are needed to enforce any disarmament and the Soviet Union's insistence that the number be limited to three.

DIG INTO MOTH BALLS

But the NATO-Warsaw pact treaty question was an old one, resurrected from moth balls to couther the Western move.

The North Atlantic Treaty was signed April 4, 1949, by the foreign ministers of United States, Belgium, Denmark, France, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, the United Kingdom and the United States. Greece and Turkey joined in 1952 and West Germany in 1955.

NATO's declared objective at its inception was to further the aims of peace by developing individual and collective capacity to resist armed attack.

The Warsaw pact came into being May 14, 1955, two days after the signing of a peace treaty with Austria.

The arrangements among the Western Second World War allies, the Soviets had the right to keep troops in Austria and Romania to guard communication with Austria. The treaty ended the occupation of Austria.

To allow it legally to keep its troops in Romania and Albania, the Soviet Union accepted an "invitation" from the governments of those two Communist countries, based on the terms of the new Warsaw pact.

Finally, the pact also consists of the Soviet Union, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Rumania, Bulgaria, Albania and East Germany.

Essentially, the pact accepts the Communist portrayal of the Warsaw pact as the eastern counterpart of NATO.

PROPOSED IN 1958

In 1958, one year after the Warsaw grouping was formed, Nikolai Bulganin, then Soviet premier, wrote to President Eisenhower suggesting a non-aggression pact between the Warsaw pact countries and NATO. Every year since then the suggestion has been duplicated, in letters, diplomatic notes or speeches by Soviet leaders.

In May, 1956, at a Warsaw pact conference which made the proposed NATO-Warsaw pact treaty was drafted. It never was signed, but that treaty was one unlike those now offered at Geneva.

Britain's chief delegate to the Geneva talks, Joseph Godber, said the disarmament conference would have to take a look at the Soviet proposal presented Wednesday, but he called it "not exactly helpful . . . it takes us away from these talks."

It is much more probable that is just what the proposal was intended to do—take the spotlight off the U.S. concession and give Moscow time to plan counter-proposals.

Liberal Power Lies in Kingston Says Supporter

KINGSTON (CP) — Harry Blacklock, president of Frontenac-Addington Liberal Association, said Wednesday Ontario Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer is only a figurehead at the top of the party and that real power lies with a Kingston group.

Mr. Blacklock, 79, said in an interview the riding is split over the nomination Dec. 15 of Mrs. Theresa Chippendale, 37, of Kingston.

He said the nominating convention had been postponed twice and was held despite a registered letter from Ontario Liberal campaign headquarters in Toronto forbidding it.

The riding's executive, he said, stands 100 per cent behind Mrs. Chippendale. He said Mrs. Chippendale, on the instructions of the executive, placed an advertisement in the press and radio.

The advertisement says: "I do not intend to see my party manipulated by one man, who, through ambition or personal interests, has decided to wreck its wishes to set aside the democratic wishes of local Liberals."

CANDIDATE HAD NO SAY

Mrs. Chippendale declines to comment, but Mr. Blacklock said: "I can't call a man in a minute, but everyone knows who he is. He's a King group."

Radio station CKWS reported that another nominating convention will be held to unseat Mrs. Chippendale. The station credited the story to a Liberal party spokesman but did not reveal his identity.

Mr. Blacklock said he is seeking legal advice to see whether the station can be forced to court to reveal the identity of its informant.

Mr. Wintermeyer said last Friday he is calling a meeting to reconcile the parties concerned. He said difficulty had arisen because the nominating convention had been held "too suddenly without an opportunity for all to participate."

Mr. Blacklock said: "If Wintermeyer has any guts he'll come down here . . . I think he wants to come down but he doesn't seem to be allowed to."

Mr. Wintermeyer said last Friday he regarded Mrs. Chippendale as a very fine, hard working Liberal."

The Liberal leader was not available for further comment on the dispute.

100-Year-Old Wants to Get Into Politics

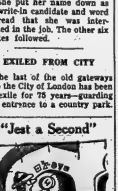
JASPER TOWNSHIP, Mich. (AP)—Mrs. Clara Moyer, who celebrated her 100th birthday last Feb. 11, figures it is about time she got into politics.

She is a candidate for justice of the peace in the April election in this tiny central Michigan community of 15 persons.



"I was always wanted to perform a marriage ceremony," said Mrs. Moyer who was nominated by write-in votes, one of them her own, in last Monday's primary.

Mrs. Moyer, who has reporters she is "dead serious" about her belated political debut, said she was filling out a ballot when she noted there were no candidates for justice of the peace.

She put her name down as a write-in candidate and word spread that she was interested in the job. The other six votes followed.

EXILED FROM CITY

The last of the old gateways into the City of London has been in exile for 75 years—guarding the entrance to a country park.

Shortage of Personnel Problem Facing Mining

TORONTO (CP)—Shortage of personnel is one of the most serious problems facing mining today, D. R. Gillanders, president of the Canadian Metal Mining Association, said at today's annual meeting.

"There now are 107 students in mining engineering and 215 in geology at our universities," Dr. Gillanders stated. "This compares with 227 for the years ago when the situation was already acute."

Questioning whether the role of the mining industry is understood and appreciated by Canadians at large, Dr. Gillanders commented:

"We are all aware of some popular misconceptions about the promotional aspects of the mining industry which do us no good. We should hammer away at these misconceptions and inform the general public of the solid achievements of the industry and the vital role it plays in the well-being of all Canadians."

OPENS UP COUNTRY

"Metal mining produces $1,500,000,000 of new wealth each year. It furnishes full-time, year-round employment to 110,000 Canadians. Its products account for more than 20 per cent of our exports. It stimulates manufacturing and service industries by its requirements in equipment, construction, power supplies and services, almost all of which are provided in Canada. It opens up the country and develops new and settled communities."

In fact the value of all minerals — metallic, non-metallic, mineral fuels and structural materials—established a record dollar value of $2,840,000,000, an increase of 10 per cent over 1961.

Devaluation and pegging of the Canadian dollar in May, 1962, Dr. Gillanders stated, played a large part in the increase in the country's income. If the picture of the industry would have been distinctly less encouraging.

Discount on the dollar had been substantially reduced, he said, dividends in 1962 of $179,400,000, an increase of about nine per cent.

Will Install Underground Heat System

LONDON (AP) — An English soccer club said Wednesday it is investing $33,600 in an underground heating system that will keep its playing field free of ice and snow.

Bob Wall, secretary of the Arsenal Club, said the work will be done at Highbury Stadium this summer. He said it will make the field playable in all sorts of weather.

"For the last two months English soccer has been at a virtual standstill because ice and snow have made fields unplayable."

Tottenham Hotspur, Arsenal's neighbor in north London, said it also planned to try the heating system.

Murrayfield, a Rugby Union stadium in Edinburgh, Scotland, used an underground heating system. Games have been played there this winter despite bitter weather conditions that forced postponements in others places.

Sevigny May Run in Longueuil As Independent

By ALEXANDER FARRELL

MONTREAL (CP) — Pierre Sevigny, a former minister in the Diefenbaker government, says he may announce next month that he will run as an independent candidate in Longueuil riding.

He is a prime conference called to announce his plans in view of the April 8 federal election, Mr. Sevigny said Wednesday "I have not yet decided my personal course of action."

Formerly associate minister of national defence in the Progressive Conservative cabinet, he resigned Feb. 9 in a dispute over defence policy.

Wednesday he repeated earlier statements that Canada has specific commitments toward the North Atlantic Treaty Organization "that we must respect."

These commitments could only be discharged if certain weapons, such as the Bomarc missile and CF-105 Arrow bomber, were equipped with "strategic nuclear warheads" "of a tactical or defensive nature."

DISPOSES UNITY

Turning to other details of the program on which he will run if he decides to run, Mr. Sevigny said Canada is practising "a grave crisis" on the issue of national unity.

Jean Lesage (premier of Quebec) said recently that Confederation has reached the hour of last chances. He was right."

". . . If we wish to arrive at a climate of unity by 1967, we must adopt total measures at once to dissipate the mood of uncertainty that now prevails and prevails in various parts of Canada."

He said he advocates immediate formation of a school of bilingualism in Ottawa for all those already employed by Crown corporations, and of a national unity bureau to study and correct the inequalities or injustices where they exist and receive the grievances or suggestions of Canadian citizens."

He also favored a royal commission on biculturalism, headed by a judge of the Supreme Court or a university rector.

Other platform planks would include a distinctive national flag, recognition of O Canada as the national anthem and distinctive Canadian ceremonial.

Mr. Sevigny said the Diefenbaker government has done more than any other in the history of Canada to promote harmony and remove inequalities between the country's two major cultural groups, but the Conservative party "now needs to be completely reorganized."

HEADS AUTO GROUP

QUEBEC (CP)—George Whiston of Montreal was elected president of the Canadian Automotive Wholesalers and Manufacturers Association Wednesday at the association's annual meeting. H. J. Pratt of Barrie, Ont., was named first vice-president and H. K. Jackson of Oshawa became immediate past president.

Pearson Ready To Equip Arms With Weapons

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal Leader Pearson says that for some time ahead Canada must and will retain its present weapons and it is essential they be made effective.

Mr. Pearson said in a statement Wednesday that two opponents say a Liberal government would accept nuclear weapons today and get rid of them tomorrow."

"This is not our policy. No responsible government would suggest such a course. Now, and for some time ahead, we must, and we will, retain the weapons that we have. It is essential, therefore, that they be made effective."

He said that by the end of 1962 the nuclear rockets and missiles involved in the government's commitment to accept nuclear weapons had been delivered and the time for a decision had arrived.

"But no decision was made. So these weapons stand useless because the government of our country refuses to accept the nuclear ammunition which is necessary to make them effective."

Without going into any details, Mr. Pearson also said that Prime Minister Diefenbaker in a Toronto speech Tuesday contradicted what Defence Minister Churchill said in his policy speech at Winnipeg Monday. And both had contradicted the statement of former defence minister Harkness "in which he left no doubt that the government of Canada made commitments to our troops and to our allies that are not being kept."

Douglas Says Election Will Be Referendum

PITT MEADOWS, B.C. (CP) T. C. Douglas said Wednesday night the April 8 federal election will be a referendum on voting "whether we want Canada to be a nuclear power or not."

The leader of the New Democratic Party said only the NDP "stands clearly and definitely against nuclear arms for Canada without any equivocation or reservation."

He said the Progressive Conservatives could have had NDP support on the day before the government fell if Prime Minister Diefenbaker had said he was "prepared to negotiate Canada out of all nuclear arms under NORAD and NATO."

The Conservative government would not do that because, in fact, it was already negotiating with Washington to take nuclear arms.

Mr. Douglas spoke to 400 persons in a community hall in this Fraser Valley riding community 35 miles east of Vancouver and two miles from the edge of his own Burnaby-Coquitlam constituency.

PROBE TB OUTBREAK

WINNIPEG (CP)— Dr. O. J. Rath, head of Indian health services here, said Wednesday two federal health department men are investigating an outbreak of tuberculosis in the Keewatin settlement of Island Point. He said 26 patients were flown to Clearwater Lake Sanatorium in The Pas, Man.

Perhaps 30,000 Red Troops In Cuba Says Exile Leader, Wants U.S.-Led Invasion

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Cuban exile leader says there are more than 17,000 Soviet troops in Cuba and perhaps up to 30,000. He called for a United States-led invasion "to restore peace to the hemisphere."

Dr. Manuel de Varona, president of the Cuban senate from 1950 to 1952, also said Wednesday:

1. Well-informed sources in Vienna" report the Russians have established two secret military bases in Latin America, one in the jungles of northwest Brazil, the other in the mountains of Paraguay.

(In Rio de Janeiro, a spokesman for "Brazil's foreign office rejected the statement as absolutely ridiculous, saying it is impossible that such a base could exist without the government's knowledge.)

2. Cuba has set up numerous cells of saboteurs and guerrilla warfare throughout Latin America, directed by a council of eight Communist officials in Havana.

SPEAKS TO COMMITTEE

De Varona, speaking through an interpreter, Dr. Nester Carbonell, made his statements in testimony before the House of Representatives inter - American affairs subcommittee. It is investigating Communist subversion in Latin America.

Senator Kenneth B. Keating (Rep. N.Y.), who says Soviet forces in Cuba are a threat to the hemisphere, discussed the situation with State Secretary Rusk and then reported: "We do not yet have the kind of data which Soviet troops may be removed from Cuba."

Before De varona committee, Carbonell read a de Varona statement saying: "Only joint military action from all countries under the leadership of the United S t a t e s, can liberate Cuba and restore peace to the hemisphere."

The supplement read later, however, he called first for a naval and air blockade, then adequate military help, especially for freedom fighters in Cuba's mountains and abroad and finally "collective military action" against Cuba if needed.

Alonzo Boyd Back in Prison, Breaks Parole

TORONTO (CP)—Bank robber Edwin Alonzo Boyd, 48, is back in Kingston penitentiary after a brief spell of freedom in Toronto.

His parole was revoked earlier this month for persistent breach of parole conditions. He refused to heed parole officers' warnings not to associate with a 16-year-old Toronto girl.

He was released from Kingston in October after serving 10 years of a life sentence following a spectacular bank robberies in 1951.

He twice broke out of the Don Jail while awaiting trial and two of his accomplices, Leonard Jackson and Steve Suchan, were hanged for the murder of Sgt. Edmund Tong, shot to death in Toronto.

RCMP officers escorted Boyd from Don jail to Kingston Tuesday after a short appearance in magistrate's office at Toronto where the recommittal papers were signed for him to begin the maximum security prison.

A penitentiary official said Boyd, while hopeful, could possibly come before the parole board for consideration in two years, it was unlikely he would be considered for at least another five years.

Penitentiary Warden Victor Richmond said at Kingston Wednesday: "Boyd is still in the hospital and won't be assigned any permanent work duties for two or three weeks until his case is reviewed by the prison team."

Boyd, in his earlier confinement in Canada's toughest prison, Boyd has been assigned a cell among the normal prison population rather than being segregated for the interview procedure normal procedure for first offenders.

Teachers' Salaries in N.S. To Be Raised Says Speech

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Nova Scotia legislature went to work Wednesday, the seventh province to start this year's sessions.

The Speech from the Throne promised a substantial increase in teachers' salaries through higher provincial grants to school boards. The speech said this move was designed to ensure an adequate standard of instruction in the province's schools.

The speech also said Premier Robert Stanfield's Progressive Conservative government is negotiating with the federal government to extend aid to the Maritime coal industry by a further 10 years. The present convention payments on coal used by power generating stations.

The plan, started in December, 1959, has brought $5,000,000 in subvention payments.

Legislation is promised to introduce a code of human rights.

REPEAL OLD ACT

The session quickly moved into its routine. Welfare Minister W. S. Kennedy Jones introduced a bill to repeal the Apprentice's Act that since 1851 has given parents the right to bind their children as apprentices. Government members said the act was out of date and never being enforced.

Perry Rogers (PC — Cape Breton Nova), commenting on a proposal in the throne speech to bring apprentices under Labor Day Act, warned against overmodernization of it as a result of public opinion.

Regina — Saskatchewan Premier W. S. Lloyd, in the throne speech debate, told Saskatchewan has made tremendous economic progress under the 20 years of CCF government.

He also said a general decline in rural population has been stopped in Saskatchewan. This decline started in 1931 and continued during Liberal governments.

Edmonton—Municipal Affairs Minister A. J. Hooke of Alberta said it was "ridiculous to suggest" Premier E. C. Manning had anything to do with the fall sitcrash.

LIZ WINS CLAIM

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor's $5,000,000 damage suit as a result of the plane crash death in 1958 of her husband, Michael Todd, was settled Wednesday for $40,000. Defendants in the suit were Ayer Lease Plan Inc., owners of the plane, Trade-Ayer Inc., the plane's charter broker, Continental Aviation and Engineering Corp., Inc., maintainers and controllers of the twin-engined aircraft.

Aim of de Gaulle Is to Make Europe 'Really European'

France's attitude toward Britain and the United States has raised many questions about Charles de Gaulle and his aims. The Associated Press asked a French author, a confidant, some of the thinking behind de Gaulle's actions, and to tell what all this may mean to France in the end. The writer, foreign editor of the Paris newspaper France-Soir, is president of the Association of Diplomatic Correspondents in Paris and has covered most of the big international conferences in that city since the war.

By MAURICE DELARUE
Copyright 1963
By The Associated Press

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle cannot be reproached for lacking continuity in his thinking. Tactical necessities may oblige him to zig or zag. But his final aim is clear, and long since a matter of record.

This aim is to make of a united Europe "a Europe that is really European." It must be its own master and, first of all, control its own destiny. It must direct, but allied to the United States. Europe and the United States would be equal in stature and power.

The Atlantic alliance remains indispensable as long as the Soviet menace exists. But this united and independent Europe would act as a magnetic attraction for the Russian people. It would prod the Russian regime to change and become more human. Others pressure would add this metamorphosis, which would be slow but already is under way, and would permit establishment of a "European understanding from the Atlantic to the Urals." This could not be done against the United States, but with the American agreement, after the cold war has disappeared.

TREATY OF STATUS

The political outline of Europe is a weak point in this vision of the future. How would this united Europe be covered?

De Gaulle evades the question with sarcasm against "supranationality" or "stateless Europe."

He thinks that for the present it is necessary—and sufficient—to bring into being a common market or an organized cooperation among governments, through regular and frequent consultation from chiefs of state on down.

Sooner yet, as a practical start on this program, it is necessary —and sufficient—to organize cooperation between France and Germany. The rest will follow. For almost 15 years, de Gaulle has never stopped preaching in favor of this practical arrangement between Gaulle and Germany" which finally took form in the French-German treaty signed last Jan. 22.

For de Gaulle, the Common Market is only a machine that he found in working order when he returned to power in 1958. He uses it because it has proved effective in welding together the economies of the continental nations.

NO PLACE FOR U.K.

In this Gaullist Europe, England has no place. Not that de Gaulle has a low opinion of England. His gift high tribute to England's historical accomplishments in his recent press conference—as he injects was the largely overlooked while the headlines went to his arguments against British entry into the Common Market.

In de Gaulle's view, England would challenge France's preeminence in the "Europe of states." And above all, England is really not European. It is, with the Commonwealth, still another world.

No doubt it is a world in the process of breaking up but Prime Minister Macmillan had the opportunity and the time—in 18 months of negotiation in Brussels—to hitch England to Europe. Instead, in 48 hours in Nassau, he chose another course.

He made his option for America and brought down on the president Kennedy the most unique contribution that England could have offered to Europe as a dowry—its nuclear force.

This is the Gaullist interpretation of the Nassau agreement, and the explanation of the French veto at Brussels.

WOULD REWARD NATO

A non-American Europe does not signify an anti-American Europe. De Gaulle said Dec. 20, "the Atlantic alliance is more necessary today than ever" as he bade farewell to Gen. Lauris Norstad. In moments of stress —on Berlin, on Cuba—he has proved himself the firmest of allies. Premier Khrushchev knows it well and on Feb. 5 fired off the most violent Russian note that Moscow has ever received, to complain about the French-German co-operation treaty.

But if the Atlantic alliance is one thing, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is another. For NATO, NATO is under American domination. It cannot be otherwise as long as the defence of Europe depends solely on the American atomic deterrent. The tasks must be redistributed, not as U.S. Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara would like, in supplementing the American atomic monopoly by classical arms with Europe, but in granting Europe all the means for its own defence.

Certainly, this European arsenal would have to be combined with that of the United States. In return, the United States would be assured of the unconditional support of its European allies in case it was menaced.

SEES TRIUMVIRATE

In the absence of a European political authority, the nuclear forces in Europe can only be under national control. In the present circumstances in Europe, they can only be French. Nuclear armament of Germany would carry the risk of setting off a major crisis with Moscow. These are the facts of the hour.

According to de Gaulle's reasoning, these facts should lead the Atlantic alliance to organize itself on the basis of three big, balanced political ensembles: The United States, Great Britain and its Commonwealth, and Continental Europe. These three ensembles would co-operate as equal partners, notably in the nuclear field and could co-ordinate their action everywhere in the world.

As an atomic power, France would be the natural and de facto delegate of continental Europe to all the contacts table with Great Britain and the United States.

De Gaulle set forth these conclusions in a memorandum Sept. 24, 1958. As long as his conclusions are not realized, there is little reason to hope that de Gaulle will show himself more co-operative in NATO.

This de Gaulle conception is widely accepted by the French people. The president's most outspoken and chauvinistic outbursts find the nationalist temper of the people and in the end bring him increased popularity.

REDS CHANGE TUNE

As usual, the reaction from de Gaulle's internal political opposition shows its divisions and contradictions.

The Communist party, in the name of peaceful coexistence, has discovered the merits of NATO. The non-Communist left has been converted to supranationalism. The partisans of a supranational Europe have become the defenders of Great Britain, which has always opposed such a solution.

In reality, only one argument is likely to profoundly influence French public opinion: How much does it cost? Success of the Gaullist undertaking rests for an immense financial effort. Most of the French people have not yet realized the extent.

The results of de Gaulle's foreign policy have been more than disappointing.

In Europe, France, which was supposed to be the great shepherd herding together the nations, has never been so isolated. Only the aged West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who is nearing retirement, has been won over to the ideas of de Gaulle.

But Gen. de Gaulle has never set out to list his supporters and opponents. To win, he counts only on numbers but on time. The future and historical tides, he believes, will inevitably prove him right. And, as he wrote in his memoirs: "The future lasts a long time."

Electric Heating for Houses Solution to Ancient Problem

Heating Costs Covered By Guarantee

Purchasers of electrically heated homes in Ontario can now obtain a full guarantee of their annual heating costs.

The Electric Heating Association of Ontario will guarantee the annual operating costs of qualified electric heating systems, and reimburse the homeowner for any extra cost, Ray Pfaff, EHA president, announced today.

The guarantee is available for all electric heating systems awarded the EHA Triple Seal of Quality after Feb. 1, 1963, Mr. Pfaff said. Electric heating systems which are designed and installed to EHA residential heating standards are eligible for the EHA Triple Seal of Quality.

"We have taken this step to demonstrate to customers our confidence in the superior features of electric home heating systems which earn Triple Seal Standards", he said. "The Triple Seal itself guarantees the workmanship and design of the electric heating systems, and EHA is now prepared to back it in terms of dollars and cents".

Here's how the EHA guarantee can be obtained:

Prior to installation of the electric heating system, the building contractor calls in a qualified electric heating contractor. Lists of more than 700 qualified electric heating contractors in the province are available from electrical power utilities and Ontario Hydro offices.

The electric heating contractor designs and installs the heating standards. Following inspection, the completed heating system is awarded an EHA Triple Seal of Quality and the estimated annual operating cost of heating the home is entered on an EHA Triple Seal guarantee. This certificate will be checked and signed by an authorized EHA representative and presented to the homeowner.

For the purpose of the guarantee, which covers two years, cooperation of the electric heating system, a separate meter is required for measuring energy used for heating.

Under the terms of the guarantee, EHA will reimburse the homeowner if his annual heating bill should exceed the estimated cost.

Enlarged Caves Became Houses

The homes of our cave-dwelling forefathers were a far cry from the all-electric comfort and convenience available to us today.

A visit to any Medallion home will reveal the high degree of electric excellence which is ours to enjoy.

But to begin at the beginning, a cave, on perhaps a wigwam-shaped hut covered with leaves, in the forest was the start. It kept out the rain and the wind, and provided some protection from wild animals. A fire on the floor heated the cave, provided light and cooked the food.

Eventually Stone Age families outgrew their one-room caves and huts. Cave dwellers discovered they could expand their living by removing rock in front of the cave entrance, with roof of hide leaves over the space. Those who lived in huts learned to build groups of huts into an enclosure, and later huts in a row with interconnecting doorways.

From the expanded huts and caves came two more civilized types of living. Villages were developed extensively by the Greeks and other Mediterranean, with a number of rooms under one roof; and courtyard houses, in which rooms of the rooms opening off an open garden or stable.

The growth of towns, villages, and the middle classes during the next few centuries produced the typical houses in house design. The rich continued to live in huge castles, and of course, and the poor in one-room huts. But the land-owning peasants started to build cottages with two or more rooms, slate or thatch roofs, chimneys and fireplaces. And all the town-dwelling merchants built two, three, and even four-storey houses.

A typical town house in the 12th century might have had three storeys, each divided into two rooms. On the first floor would be the shop, opening out to the street. Behind it would be the family kitchen, and stairs leading to the main living quarters on the second floor, usually a living room and a bedroom. The third storey would be an attic, possibly an extra bedroom.

During the next 600 years, until the middle of the 19th century, the design of homes in western civilization remained basically the same. More rooms were added, and decoration became much more elaborate, but no drastic changes developed.

In North America, the colonists' first homes were log cabins and sod huts. Later they built houses similar to those they had left in England and Europe.

The Industrial Revolution brought about important changes in the design of homes. First in North America, where tradition was less strong, and later in England and Europe, inventors and engineers began to add stows, furnaces, plumbing and later time-saving devices which made housekeeping easier. Today, nearly 100 electrical appliances are on the market.

In a Medallion home, electricity has replaced the cave-dwellers' fire for heat, light and cooking. And electricity does much more, making the all-electric Medallion home the ultimate in 20th century comfort and convenience.

Electric Homes Stay Cleaner

From the homemaker's point of view, the all-electric features of a Medallion home are designed to make light work of keeping house.

With flameless electric heating, there's no soot, no fumes, no smoke, no residue. Home makers don't have to cope with smudge marks around registers, grimy curtains and drapes, or a film of grease on the walls. Day-to-day dusting and mopping is reduced to a minimum and spring cleaning becomes a breeze.

You never have to joggle electrical appliances in a Medallion home. Adequate housepower ensures ample circuits for your present appliances, and extra circuits for the future. Receptacles are conveniently placed in every room.

"Jest a Second"

"Before we go ahead with the banns I'd like you to try a test."

A fast recovery 40-gallon electric water heater installed in every Medallion home guarantees plenty of hot water whenever it is needed.

Because a Medallion home is light-conditioned, you are assured of good general illumination, and proper lighting in specific work areas throughout the home.

This Week-End At 'Doublette' All-Electric Home

Explains Reasons Behind Selection of 'Doublette' Plan for All-Electric Home

The background story of the "Doublette" and the thinking behind selection of this particular model was revealed by Doug Grant, a veteran salesman with Frank Follwell Real Estate, Mr. Grant, who got his start in the real estate business in Winnipeg in 1936, commented on the various phases of house construction.

"First and foremost is the selection of a plan to comply with the measurements and characteristics of a lot.

In this case, our lot of medium width and rather exceptional depth called for a plan wide enough to occupy most of the frontage with sufficient depth to take advantage of the extra depth of the lot.

In considering the assets of the area, I was aware of good layout for garden and patio and several hundred feet of open field to the south culminated by beautiful St. Joseph's Cathedral whose illuminated spire forms a beacon view at night.

This exceptional southern background called for a living room with rear picture window view of the field and church. Since many customers also want a front view, it was necessary to select from several hundred plans before finding one with both front and rear windows in the living room. Incidentally, all the windows in the "Doublette" are either double plate glass or double sliders with screens."

Next in mind was a plan allowing for maximum number of bedrooms and living space in a house to sell at minimum price. This called for full use of living space in the basement specifically designed for this purpose. Everything has been done to simulate the living conditions of the main floor. The house has been raised high out of the ground to attain more light and ventilation through wider, deeper windows. A back door gives a convenient private exit from the basement to the garden.

The objective of utilizing 100% of the basement space for living purposes was one of the factors favoring the choice of electric heating. By saving the space usually occupied by furnace and oil tank it is possible to realize enough space for garden tool storage, laundry facilities, two bedrooms, kitchen, living room and future bathroom.

The basement area is presently heated by three baseboard units which can be moved or added to according to the needs and purposes of the owner.

Constant humidity can be maintained through the use of an automatic de-humidifier which comes into action as the necessity for heat diminishes.

Many Belleville home owners have attained greater use of their basements through the use of de-humidifiers and I believe they will become standard equipment for this purpose.

One of these units will be demonstrated in action during the open house.

A requirement of electrical heating which specifies six inches of insulation in the ceiling, six inches in the walls and two inches on basement walls to one foot below ground level tends to keep the house snug and free of drafts in winter and exceptionally cool in summer. Movement of air is maintained by the use of two fans.

Ceiling cable used to heat the main floor has the advantage of being invisible and non-obtrective. It covers the entire area of the house like a blanket with no cold spots to be found anywhere. The radiant action of electric heating maintains an almost constant temperature between ceiling and floor.

Some other requisites of planning which favored choice of the "Doublette" are centre entry to a nearby coat closet, a family size kitchen and excellent separation between kitchen, living room and bedrooms.

The windows have been placed for maximum ventilation and privacy. In fact there is scarcely any need to draw the drapes on the living room picture window since the nearest neighbor with direct visibility is 460 feet away.

Lighter pastel shades have been favored for tiles and walls allowing furniture and drapes to dominate the color scene.

Since many people prefer to do the finishing work themselves, the basement has been left in a state of potential development so the new owner can carry on or hire the services of Ed Bell or some other builder of his choice to finish the job according to his preference.

Choice of the "Doublette" was also influenced by vision of the most likely buyers as a man with a very large family requiring five or six bedrooms with recreation room near schools, a housewife who would like a huge fourth master bedroom, a man who likes to have a den or office with a back entrance and some privacy from the rest of the house, a man with in-law troubles who prefers to keep them under rather than beside him, and any family who prefers the superiority of electrical heating.

The "Doublette" is the first of a series of Trend Setting designs incorporating latest developments to be built by this firm on Harris Crescent, Parkdale, and the West side of the city.

"Remember now, keep an eye on that projector so we'll know when to get back to our chairs."

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Toronto almost forgot its Maple Leafs and Montreal pigeon-holed the Canadiens as the red carpets rolled out to welcome two of Canada's outstanding football figures.

Jackie Parker, for nine years "King of the Edmonton Eskimos" with an eye to more than playing out his remaining football years, was given a "dignitary's" reception in the Queen City.

Jungle Jim Trimble, the former top Tabby of the Hamilton Tiger Cats, was given a packed-gallery press-conference welcome in Montreal when he reported in as head coach and personnel director of the Alouettes.

Parker is the second quarterback over the last few years who is expected to take the floundering Argonauts by the hand, lead them out of the wilderness and mold them into a fighting football flock.

Not so long ago a chappie named Tobin Rote was hailed as the savior of Toronto gridiron hopes and spearheaded what was then termed as the "greatest offensive combination" ever assembled in Canadian football. You know the rest.

In Parker the Argos have acquired a versatile star who has turned in brilliant performances at quarterback and halfback and can kick and play in the defensive backfield.

Trimble, who adds a neat vocabulary to his coaching prowess, piloted the Tiger-Cats to five Grey Cup finals in his seven years as top bwana of the Jungle City crew.

Jolly Jim, it will be remembered, set the national football reporting clicking last December with his pre-Cup predictions that the Cats would "whomp hell" out of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, later adding his Tigers would "waffle 'em."

I believe the Alouettes got the better of the "Big Switches" deal.

Argonauts got Canada's outstanding football player. Parker was a Western Conference star seven times; was the leading scorer twice and was named top football player in Canada three times. He scored 79 touchdowns and a total of 476 points, completed 779 passes in 1,484 attempts and threw 70 touchdown passes. He once kicked five field goals in one game.

But one swallow doesn't make a spring. Argos must needs fill some gape to round out what they hope will be their first Grey Cup team since 1952. In Parker, they will have the leadership. But what he has to lead is important, too.

Trimble is rated one of Canada's top coaches. He had a 61-43 won-lost-tie record in seven seasons with the Tiger Cats after coaching the Philadelphia Eagles in the NFL. He also has a 10-7 playoff and Grey Cup mark but four of those losses came in the Grey Cup to Winnipeg's Bud Grant.

Montreal football writers feel that the Hamilton rock-ribbed defence will be shifted to the Alouettes with the acquiring of Trimble. Trimble told them he feels the defence is adequate but he will make some switches.

He indicated he will give newcomer Dave Hoppman of Iowa State, a shot at the first-string quarterback job. Sandy Stephens had too many interceptions last year but he can throw the long ball. "It will be a matter of consistency," Trimble said.

He said he would balance his offence on the traditional 60-40 running game and indicated he would exploit Marv Luster, George Dixon and Don Clarke as pass receivers to a greater degree.

Of course the 'big switches" will raise Cup hopes in the hearts of Toronto and Montreal fans, but lest we forget there are the Ottawa Rough Riders and the Hamilton Tiger-Cats who may have something to say about the matter.

Refused To Honor Penalties

League Suspends Pepsi Coach

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Fiori Goegan's open defiance of the game officials brought an abrupt ending to the City Hockey League playoff double-header at Memorial Arena last night and an equally abrupt ending to Goegan's coaching, for the current season at least.

Goegan repeatedly refused to send first one, then two of his Pepsi's players to the penalty bench late in the first, period with Trudeau Motors holding a 2-0 lead in the first game of their best-of-three league semifinals.

Referees Tim Williams and Bill Hurst warned Goegan several times that the game would be forfeited if he did not place two players in the penalty box, one on a bench penalty and another for delaying the game.

The Pepsi's coach again refused. The officials pulled the watch and one minute later called the game and gave it to Trudeau.

League president Clifford "Sonny" Belch announced minutes later that Goegan was suspended immediately for the remainder of the season.

Earlier in the evening, Welbank Motors had shaded Joyce-Rollins Combines 4-3 in one of the hardest fought games of the campaign.

FIORI GOEGAN

The second games in both best-of-three series will be played next Wednesday night.

An improved crowd watched one top-notch game and what appeared to be another one in the making, until the 19.00 minute mark of the first period. Then came the explosion. Trudeau had scored the game's only goal at 17.35 with Bob Brooks of the Pepsi's in the penalty box. Bob Hughes took Vern Coyer's setup pass and beat Carr from ten feet out, then came the suspension incident.

Belch informed manager Bill Shaw of Goegan's suspension. "It is the only decision that can be made under the circumstances", he said, adding that "no one man can openly defy the league officials, regardless of who he is." "Goegan left the referees no other choice but to call the game on the spot. He hurt the league as well as his own club", Belch said.

"I expect the Pepsi's to go ahead with the second game of the series at 7.45 next Wednesday night, minus Goegan, and if the club does not, then the series will be awarded to Trudeaus and they will meet either Welbanks or Joyce - Rollins for the championship", Belch concluded.

The Welbanks - Combines game was a thriller from the start and ended up with a terrific finish, the losers pressing six attackers into the battle with about one minute left to play and a Welbanks' player in the penalty box.

Welbanks took a 2-0 lead early in the game, on goals by Richards and Turner, despite the inspired goal-keeping of young Bobby Moon of the losers.

Joyce - Rollins cut the lead to 2-1 at 14.58 on Elliott's goal and tied it at 6.00 of the second after Moon had robbed the Welbank scoring aces time and again. Boombower fooled Bob Green with a close-in shot to the short side for the 3-2 score.

A minute later Jack Elliott walked in alone, shifted Green to one side and bounced his flip shot off a goal-post on a play that made a world of difference in the end.

Penalties paved the way to the Welbanks win when Doug Hull, Ted Rowland and Larry Mavety, all of Joyce - Rollins, got the gate in quick order, two were still off when "Weiner" Brown finally beat Moon on a rebound at 16.45 to snap the deadlock. There were 11 seconds left in Mavety's penalty when Brown made it 4-2, aided for the second time by Buck Ethier and Stu Muirhead.

Mavety got one back at 19.56 of the second for the final 4-3 score and the clubs battled tooth and nail through the scoreless third.

Kakos drew the winners' lone penalty at 18.43 of the third and Moon was lifted for the sixth attacker. Combines pressed hard but the nearest they came to scoring was the six-man pile-up in the Welbank goalmouth at 19.43. When the players were unpiled, Green was on the bottom — with the puck.

Brown's two goals and singletons by Norm Richards and Rod Turner accounted for the Welbank scoring. Ethier, Muirhead and Jack Gill each earned two assists and Earl Cousins one.

Jack Elliott and Larry Mavety had a goal and assist apiece for the losers. Carl Boomhower also scored while Hyralle Bryant and Jim Sheridan drew assists.

Moon emerged as the game's star, inspiring his mates despite the fact that the Combines were a missing scoring aces Bob Taylor and Ron Hull.

Toronto's Bob Pulford, who got both goals in the Leafs' 2-1 win over Montreal Canadiens.

Rookie, Bob Leiter, whose last - period goal enabled Boston Bruins to salvage a 3-3 tie with New York Rangers.

That old coaching bromide, the lineup shuffle, has helped carry Toronto Maple Leafs into the runner-up spot in the National Hockey League.

To give his attack a little more oomph, manager - coach Punch Imlach made a couple of switches Wednesday night and came up with a 3-1 win over Montreal Canadiens.

Butan injury to 30-goal scorer Frank Mahovlich rubbed some of the gloss from the victory.

The Big M was racked up by Montreal's Jean Gauthier in the second period and taken to hospital for treatment of what was diagnosed initially as a minor charleyhorse of the left leg.

In Wednesday's other NHL game; Boston Bruins salvaged a 3-3 saw-off with the Rangers in New York on a third-period goal by rookie Bob Leiter.

Chicago's league - leading Black Hawks and the Red Wings, idle Wednesday night, meet in Detroit.

PULFORD SCORES BOTH

In Toronto Wednesday night, the Leafs got both goals from Bob Pulford, shifted by Imlach to centre a line with Bob Nevin and Carl Brewer moved up to left wing. Brewer dropped back to defence in later shuffles after Mahovlich was sidelined:

Dickie Moore was the Montreal producer. All goals came in the second period.

Pulford has played on left wing almost all of the current campaign. He now has 14 goals. The win gave Toronto 63 points, three shy of the Black Hawks. Montreal follows with 61 then Detroit with 59. The Rangers have 44 now and Boston 40.

Leiter scored at 15:34 of the final period, deflecting in a shot from the point by Doug Mohns.

WILLIAMS COUNTS TIEY

Wayne Hicks and Tommy Williams were the other Boston scorers. Camille Henry, Andy Bathgate and Vic Hadfield counted for the Rangers. It was Hadfield's first goal of the season.

Hicks and Henry scored on power plays.

Murray Oliver drew an assist on Williams' goal and pulled even with linemate Johnny Bucyk for the league lead in the point-scoring list. Both have 59. Bucyk was held pointless in the game.

Maroons Whip Woodstock

Dogs Bury Terriers 18-7

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Windsor's line of captain Lou Bendo, Real Chevrefils, and Jack Costello romped to a total of 27 points Wednesday night as the powerful Bulldogs humbled Galt Terriers 18-7 in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A contest in Windsor.

With the win, Windsor maintained their six-point lead over runner - up Chatham Maroons, who also flashed scoring power with a 9-2 win over Woodstock in Chatham.

All three members of the Bulldogs' big line finished the evening with nine points. Bendo set a club record with six goals, while Chevrefils scored three and Costello had nine assists.

Jim Josephson also scored three goals for Windsor, with Bob Brown and Irwin Gross season, and Toby Black were adding two each. Tom Walker and Tom Micallef netted singletons.

Terriers, who arrived an hour late and played the first period with only eight men, got two goals apiece from Mel Aucoin and Ron Brain with Butch Keeling, Bruce Carswell and Larry Pfaff adding one each.

The game was close only in the first period, which saw Bulldogs to take a 4-2 lead. They poured in seven goals in each of the final two periods.

In Chatham, the Maroons fashioned their victory on a five-goal splurge in the second period. They led 2-0 after the first period, and scored the only two goals of the third.

Five hundred fans watched three-goal performances by Ted Power and Bob Polo spark the Maroon attack in their final home game of the season. Singletons were tallied by Elmer Skov, Jack Douglas and Dave Lucink.

For Woodstock, Gord Sampson, with his first goal of the scorers.

The Athletics were without goalie Ron Salter and defenceman Bernie Lawrence, due to weather conditions.

Al Biancorin, sub-goalie for Chatham, guarded the nets for Woodstock. He had a busy night, making 41 saves.

Mays Joins Select $100,000 Circle

Williams, DiMaggio, Musial Made It

NEW YORK (AP) — "This Willie Mays, he does everything."

And gets rewarded accordingly.

San Francisco manager Al Dark paid the compliment and the National League champion Giants will be paying Mays approximately $100,000 for the 1963 season, a plateau reached before by only Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio and Stan Musial.

Mays, who has become baseball's highest salaried active player, agreed to terms Wednesday for an estimated increase of $10,000 following a season in which he led the National League in homers with 40 and drove in 141 runs while batting .304.

"The thing that impressed me most was the way he could rise to the occasion in the latter part of a ball game," said Dark at the signing ceremony. "When you had to get a base hit, he did all the right things to get it."

Dark figures to get the most out of Mays this season, despite Willie's collapse in a game at Cincinnati during last September's pennant chase. Mays complained of being tired, but was pronounced in superior shape when he took a post-season physical.

"He will play every game if he can make it," said Dark. "If he stays stepped into the Giants' fold, World Series opponent Ralph Terry—the pitching hero who shut out San Francisco 1-0 in the deciding game—agreed to terms with the world champion New York Yankees.

The 27-year-old righthander posted a 23-13 record last season and received a $12,000 raise to $35,000.

Terry said: "The enlarged strike zone should help me. I'll take another year like that 1962 anytime."

Most pitchers would. He made the most starts and had the most victories in the league, wound up with a 3.19 earned-run-average and then won two games in the series. Terry, however, gave up a league-leading 40 homers.

Another player expressing satisfaction was Jim Lemon, the slugging outfielder, who swung freely for the first time in two years as Minnesota Twins opened training.

"I'm free from pain in the left shoulder," Lemon said. He underwent surgery in December for torn muscles and a blood clot in the left shoulder. He hit 33 homers in 1959 and 28 in 1960, then slumped to 14 in 1961 and managed only one last season after injuring the shoulder when he ran into a fence in Kansas City.

Besides Terry, a host of other pitchers signed, including Roger Craig of New York Mets, Ray Herbert of Chicago White Sox, Carl Willey of Milwaukee Braves and Ernie Broglio and Bobby Shantz of St. Louis Cardinals.

Heat On, Sweater Off, Works For Young Curler

GUELPH (CP) — If John Hammond's luck should ever fail, he may shock the curling world some night by showing up for a game in undershorts.

Shedding clothes helps John win games.

Hammond is riding high in the Canadian schoolboy curling championships. After Wednesday's round, his Quebec team from Montreal High School was unbeaten in five starts.

But John had to resort to an old trick to keep his record intact.

In Wednesday night's game, a winless New Brunswick rink held a 6-1 lead in the fourth end. It was a crisis for Hammond and there was only one answer.

He took off his heavy curling sweater and went the rest of the way in a short-sleeved white shirt.

The crowd shivered as it watched him work. But not John. He suddenly became hot. Quebec made a great comeback to win 9-7.

Said Ja m m ond with a chuckle: "This is the fourth time this season that it worked. In our provincial playoff we were tied 5-5 going into the last end and I took my sweater off."

The result? He made a double takeout with his last rock in the 10th to count four and win the game.

BRIBER SENTENCED

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Green, 37, was scntenced Wednesday to six to seven years in prison for bribing a Columbia University basketball player to shave points in two games in the 1960-61 season. Green, a Bronx resident, was the last of 10 "fixers" to be sentenced in the basketball scandals. He had pleaded guilty to paying bribes of $2,000 to Fred Fortnoy of the Columbia squad.

But Always Wanted Tigers

Sazio Realizes Coach Dream

HAMILTON (CP) — Ralph Sazio has signed a three-year contract as head coach of Hamilton Tiger-Cats after 10 years as assistant coach.

Sazio admitted that for years he wanted to coach his own team, but turned down offer from other teams because he didn't want to move from Hamilton.

Finally Jim Trimble's move to Montreal allowed Sazio his wish.

Announcing Sazio's appointment Wednesday, less than 24 hours after Trimble's transfer, Tiger-Cats president Jake Gaudaur said he never considered anybody else for the job.

"He knows all of our personnel, many of whom he himself has recruited and signed, and we are looking forward under Ralph to a continuing success that seems to be part of Hamilton's football history," Gaudaur said.

"It was a case of my accepting the head coaching job or getting out of football," Sazio said. "I wouldn't have stayed on as an assistant coach under a new coach, although I have continued as an assistant to Jim."

Sazio, a handsome 40-year-old, will give up his insurance business to devote all his time to the Ticats.

He came to the Ticats in 1950 as a tackle and played two years, under coach Carl Voyles before becoming assistant coach. He was born in South Orange, N.J., and played at William and Mary University under Voyles, who brought him to Canada.

He is married and has two children.

Hail Goalie Quebec Hero

QUEBEC (CP) — "It's the nicest present I could give my host," said young Jean-Charles Groulx.

The 12-year-old goaler was talking about his 2-0 shutout of Toronto Ted Reeve in the Quebec International peewee hockey tournament, one of the big burst of shutouts in Wednesday's play.

Groulx led his team from Verdun, Que., by making spectacular stops, he drew a wild ovation from the nearly 13,000 people watching the game in the Quebec Coliseum. It was one of the rare occasions when a Quebec team beat one of the powerhouses from the Toronto area.

The host that Groulx mentioned is Lieutenant-Governor Paul Comtois. The players from the 64 teams that come to Quebec each year are billeted with Quebec residents, and Groulx is one of those who live at the lieutenant-governor's residence.

In another upset, Quebec City Castors beat Toronto Olympics 4-0, but the Toronto area teams made their power felt in other games, most notably a 17-0 drugging of Cranston, R.I., by Toronto's Humber Valley.

Nine of the 12 games played Wednesday in the week - long tournament were won by shutouts and officials were certain that is a record.

Don Mills, a Toronto suburb, shut out Boston 2-0 despite a fine effort by Bruce Dumart, son of former Boston Bruins great Woody Dumart.

North York Knights thrashed London, Ont., the only team with a woman coach, 7-0, and Toronto Shopsy's beat Ottawa 4-1.

Peterborough, last year's champions, easily disposed of Montreal St. Jean de Matha 6-0.

Can't Break Those Old School Ties

CHATHAM (CP) — Chatham Collegiate and Ridgetown High School played to a 1-1 draw Wednesday night in high school hockey action.

The result surprised no one. The clubs have met seven times this season and tied each time. There have been four 1-1 scores, and scores of 2-2, 3-3 and 4-4.

Their two-game totals-point playoff series is tied, naturally, and the clubs meet again next week to decide a winner — maybe. Lack of ice time usually prevents overtime.

COACH FINED

TORONTO (CP)—Eddie Bush, coach of Hamilton Red Wings, learned Wednesday he has been fined $100 for an incident in Peterborough last Saturday in which a timekeeper was struck and Bush went on to thnlc. The fine was announced at a meeting of officials of the provincial group of the Ontario whockey Association's Junior A League.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three goals in less than five minutes sealed the fate of Vancouver Canucks Wednesday night as they went down 4-2 to the Seals in a Western Hockey League game at San Francisco.

Danny Bellisle, Nick Mickoski and Len Hanley accounted for a third-period San Francisco outburst.

Edmonton Flyers fought to a 4-4 overtime tie with Portland Buckaroos, Southern Division leaders.

Norm Corcoran, Bo Elik, Don Chic and Doug Messier scored for the Flyers. Bill Saunders, Doug Anderson, Tom McCarthy and Gord Fashoway shared the Portland scoring. Fashoway's goal was his 544th in professional hockey.

San Francisco, Bob Kabel and Larry Popein scored for the Canucks and Ed Panagabko got the other goal for the Seals.

Young Gets 3-Game Suspension

By BILL MacDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

National Hockey League referees can relax a little for a while. Howie Young, Detroit Red Wings' rookie defenceman, is taking a rest, courtesy of the league brass.

Clarence Campbell, NHL president, Wednesday handed the 23-year-old rearguard a three-game suspension for a second-period outburst Sunday night in a game at Detroit against Montreal Canadiens.

"This type of conduct cannot and will not be tolerated," said Campbell. The hot-headed Detroit defenceman threw a glove at referee Frank Udvari and apparently tripped to manhandle him.

Despite the displeasure of Campbell, the heat in the Red Wings camp over Young's latest disappearing act seems to have eased. Coach Sid Abel said in Detroit no action is planned against him by the club.

Abel called the suspension "a little harsh," but added that "we and Howie will go along with the president's ruling."

BLAKE WON'T TALK

In Toronto, coach Toe Blake of the Canadiens declined comment on the suspension. But the penalties Young received Sunday night were described, said the Montreal coach.

Young, who was not available for comment, practised Wednesday after a one-day absence from workouts that Abel called "much over-publicized."

"Check all the other clubs in the league and you'll see they all have a player skip a practice every once in a while," Abel said.

Last season the Wings sent Young to the minors because of his off-the-ice antics. Last month he disappeared for three days in Chicago.

Abel said he didn't ask the Toronto native what made him miss Tuesday's practice. The club did not plan to fine or suspend him.

With Sunday night's 27 minutes in penalties, including a major, a misconduct and a game misconduct, Young now holds the record of most penalties in one season—210.

In his outburst Sunday night, Young started by high-sticking J. C. Tremblay, causing an injury to the Montreal player. Then he was tagged with a minor for spearing.

The Detroit defenceman made threatening gestures at Udvari. The referee then signalled a misconduct and Young threw his glove at him, striking him on the side of the head. Young went after Udvari again as the referee signalled a game misconduct, but was restrained by his teammates.

The suspension means Young will miss a game in Detroit against the league-leading Chicago Black Hawks tonight and games in Chicago and New York Saturday and Sunday respectively. The Wings have called up the most penalized player on their Pittsburgh farm club in the American Hockey League to replace him.

He is Roger Lafreniere, 20, who has 80 minutes in penalties in 49 games.

Czech Nats Nip Smoke-Eaters

BRNO, Czechoslavakia (AP) — The Czech national hockey team defeated Trail Smoke Eaters 3-2 in an exhibition hockey game Wednesday night.

The Canadians took a 2-0 lead in the first period but the Czechs stayed one in the second period and added two goals in the third.

Right winger Gerry Pemner put Canada ahead in the fifth minute on a pass from Hugh McIntyre and nine minutes later centre Howie Hornby made it 2-0.

The Czechs rallied in the second period and Jirik put the team on the scoreboard. In the third period Kasper tied the score at 2-2 and Pryl got the winning goal with five minutes remaining.

CTK said that clever body play by the Canadians kept the enthusiastic home team at bay.

They were playing a good team and we still haven't got our full team here yet."

Forward Jackie McLeod of Saskatoon Quakers will join the club later.

Germans, Yankees Rough It Up

Same Old Act, New Cast

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—The old European charges of rough play and North American claims of poor officiating swirled around the touring United States amateur hockey team today.

"In my 30 years of hockey I have never seen a worse job of refereeing," U.S. coach Harry Cleverly complained after his squad dropped a 6-4 decision to a German team Wednesday. Both officials were German.

A crowd of about 4,000 booed the U.S. team throughout the game, apparently for rough play, and precipitated a brief scuffle with U.S. players afterward.

"The German team received a couple of two-minute penalties while we spent 17 minutes of the game with five men," Cleverly said. He also complained that the fans kept throwing snowballs and grabbing his arm throughout the battle on the outdoor rink.

The game-ending fight began when Don Norquail of the U.S. team was struck on a bottle and suffered a small cut over the right eye.

Police quickly broke up the skirmish and cleared a path for the U.S team to its dressing room.

Letourneau Says He's Resigning

QUEBEC (CP)—Gene Letourneau, 65, says he is resigning as national commissioner and chairman of the rating committee of the Canadian Professional Boxing Association.

In a letter Wednesday to association president, Sam Kramer of Moncton, N.B., he said "I have no alternative than to resign as your national commissioner and chairman of the rating committee." His resignation is effective at the end of the month.

Letourneau said statements made at an association meeting in Moncton were false.

The association said after the meeting that Letourneau was interested in sanctioning bouts of fighters under suspension and with lifting the suspension put on Bob Cleroux, Canadian heavyweight champion, for failing to fight a scheduled bout with Toronto's George Chuvalo.

Letourneau said he never lifted Cleroux's suspension nor approved of him boxing in Quebec. "But I was against the idea of taking away his title.

Schoolboy Curling

Alberta, Quebec Still Tops

By PAUL RINSTEAD

GUELPH, Ont. (CP) — Five something supposed to be a western show, the Canadian schoolboy curling championships have taken on an eastern flavor.

Going into today's gruelling three round schedule, Alberta, with five wins in a row, was still a top-heavy favorite.

But sharing the lead after Wednesday's round was a rink from Montreal high school which had originally hoped for a 5-5 won-lost record.

Powerful teams from the West such as Saskatchewan, Manitoba and British Columbia were down the list and out of the picture.

The third ranking rink was a foursome from Prince Edward Island which had won four games and lost one, sharing fourth place with British Columbia's was Nova Scotia, both with 4-2 records.

Quebec and Alberta won one game apiece Wednesday.

Alberta's Wayne Saboe didn't have much to worry about in the fifth round. He blasted Newfoundland 19-4, Quebec's 97 win in the sixth round was a comeback effort against New Brunswick, which held a 6-1 lead at one point.

QUEBEC RESPECTED

Nobody is selling John Hammond's Quebec rink short.

"We've had the breaks," said Hammond. "But we're also surprised at the competition. We had expected it to be much tougher — especially the western rinks."

Hammond, 18, has been called the key to the Quebec rink. He can make the big shot under pressure and his strategy has been impressive.

If Quebec and Alberta keep up the pace in the 11-round, round - robin competition, they could provide a big windup in the event. They don't meet until the final draw Friday night.

Both clubs had three games scheduled today — Quebec against Ontario, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and Alberta against British Columbia, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

British Columbia's rink from Salmon Arm won two extra-end games yesterday and both losers lost their opponents.

16 PLAYERS BARRED

MOSCOW (AP)—Sixteen football players on a collective farm team have been barred from the game on grounds they were professionals getting high pay.

The players, supposed to be amateurs, were accused of receiving 200 rubles a month in salaries and expenses for food and travel. The average industrial worker in the Soviet Union gets 80 rubles a month.

The Communist party news paper Pravda, reporting on the player disqualification Wednesday, also said the chairman of the collective farm had been reprimanded.

Hornets Bow To Indians, Bisons Win

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Springfield Indians have moved into a challenging position for a playoff berth in the American Hockey League.

The Indians, who have won the Calder Cup the last three seasons, beat the hapless Pittsburgh Hornets 8-1 Wednesday night while Buffalo Bisons defeated Rochester Americans by the same score.

Springfield climbed within four points of Providence Reds and Quebec Aces, tied for second place in the Eastern Division. The first three teams in each division qualify for the playoffs The Indians are only six points behind Hershey Bears, the division leaders.

Bill Sweeney scored two goals for Springfield as Pittsburgh lost its seventh straight game. Wally Boyer, Dennis Olson and Jim Anderson were the other Indian marksmen. Vic Stasiuk produced the Hornet goal.

Buffalo, pace-setters in the Western Division, opened up a 19-point lead as Rochester lost its fifth straight game at the Bisons' rink this season. Art Stratton, Doug Robinson, Billy Dea, Eddie Kachur and Cliff Schmautz were the Bison goalgetters. Gerry Ehman scored for the Americans.

Minor Hockey

The Maple Leafs dropped a tight 3-2 decsion to the Black Hawks last night but still hung on for a 7-6 victory on the round in the BMHA's Bantam playoffs.

Quinte and Bruins play the second game of their semi-final series Saturday morning at nine o'clock.

B. Long scored twice for the Hawks last night with R. Day assisting on both. Barry Hanley potted the other Hawk goal unassisted.

J. Boyle and J. McCreary tallied the Maple Leaf markers with B. Bishop and T. Doran drawing assists.

Composing With One Hand Minor Hazard For Grofe

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Composing with one hand is only a minor hazard for Ferde Grofe, hard at work on another of his famous suites despite a stroke that paralyzed his right side.

The 71-year-old composer is on schedule with his New York World Fair Suite; commissioned by the fair president, Robert Moses. Losing the uses of his right hand hasn't stopped the flow of music that Grofe has provided in 56 prolific years.

"I am getting more use out of my right hand all the time," he said, moving the fingers slightly. "In another few months I'll be normal again. Then I'll have to learn to play the piano with two hands all over again. I wonder how I'll be."

Grofe was stricken last September. He had returned from one of his conducting tours and was getting ready to start the New York commission.

He and his wife had dinner one night and stopped by a hotel in Santa Monica for a nightcap. He struck up a conversation with a man who asked for an autograph for his daughter.

FINGERS FAILED

Grofe wrote the first few letters, then his fingers wouldn't move. He couldn't speak, and his wife steered him out of the place and took him to their nearby home.

The composer spent two weeks on his back with his right hand and leg useless. Gradually he began to recover. With the aid of a therapist he has learned to walk up and down stairs. Now the most crucial test was to see if he could compose again.

"It was very difficult at first," he recalled. "I am right-handed, and learning to write notes with my left hand was difficult. It took me hours to do what used to take minutes. But I am getting better. I am almost through with the first movement of the suite, which is based on the theme of the fair, world peace."

The completion of a suite is old stuff to him by now. In the last 30 years he has written more suites than he can remember.

NAMED SOME

He rattled off a few of them: Broadway at Night, Mississippi, Hollywood, Knute Rockne, Aviation Suite, Death Valley (for California's centennial), San Francisco, Niagara, and his best known, The Grand Canyon.

He credits Paul Whiteman with his start.

Grofe was born in New York City. He came to Los Angeles at six months. He began playing in bands at 15 and says he played "in cafes and every bawdy house" all over the west.

He worked for the Whiteman organization for 12 years, his most notable achievement being orchestration of George Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue.

"It was Whiteman who convinced me to try some serious composing of my own," he said. "He told me: 'You've been writing for everyone else, why don't you write for yourself.'"

Grofe took the hint and has been pouring out music ever since.

Sport Snapshots

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

The year was 1954.

British Columbia Lions were invited into the Western Interprovincial Football Union. Eddie LeBaron, Washington Redskins' No. 1 quarterback jumped to Canada to join Calgary Stampeders.

Al Sherman, former player with New York Giants, was named coach of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, succeeding tough George Trafton. Pop Ivy took over as coach of Edmonton Eskimos from Darrell Royal. Annis Stukus coached the Lions.

Arthur Chipman of Winnipeg, on the administrative side of football for more than 20 years, predicted that in 10 years Canada's pro teams would be made up of Canadian players coached by Canadians. American imports had given the game a great impetus, but they were on their way out, he said.

Billy Vessels from Oklahoma Sooners and Canada's outstanding player with the Eskimos in 1953, returned to the United States. Normie Kwong and Johnny Bright were the scourges of the Western Conference in Edmonton's split-T formation.

Dobbsville lost its founder. Saskatchewan Roughriders announced that Glenn Dobbs, 33-year-old Oklahoma quarterback who helped create a boom in Regina football, didn't figure in the Roughrider plans.

MADE THEM FORGET

Edmonton city council approved expenditure of $350,000 to increase seating capacity of the city's football park to more than 20,000 compared with approximately 15,000.

That year, too, Jackie Parker, a gangling, shuffle-footed import from Mississippi, was signed to take Vessels' spot in the Edmonton backfield. He soon made Eskimo fans — and and the rest of the country forget about Vessels.

He led the Western Conference in touchdowns with 10. He had scored the big ones in their fight to the Western title and the Grey Cup.

His biggest touchdown came in the final two minutes of the Cup classic at Toronto. Montreal Alouettes, the team that finished last the Eastern contenders had been saying about this six-footer who can't walk and run in the field without specially built inlays in his shoes.

BEST IN CANADA

Carl Voyles, coach of Hamilton Tiger - Cats when Parker was wrecking the East in the mid-'50s at Cup time, called him the best quarterback in Canada as far back as 1953. Voyles, who had most practically all of his adult life in football, went a step further.

Parker, he said, was one of three great players he had seen. The others were Ace Parker, an all - American at Duke University before the Second World War, and Charlie Trippi of Georgia, then with Chicago (now St. Louis) Cardinals.

Now, after nine years with Edmonton and at 41 years of age, Parker has been traded to Toronto Argonauts, a team that hasn't appeared in a Grey Cup final since 1952. It was a five-for-one player trade with some cash thrown in.

Parker is the boy Argonauts now can count on to lead them out of the wilderness and, incidentally, to fill their park.

And Chipman's prediction? Well, Canadian pro football fans are scrambling for players in the American market along with the National and American League clubs. And the Canadian coach went out with Stukus in 1955.

ENVOY ARRIVES

KINGSTON, Jamaica (CP)—Graham Campbell McInnes, Canada's new high commissioner to Jamaica, arrived here by plane from Toronto Wednesday to assume his duties, McInnes succeeds the Canadian trade commissioner, Roy Blake, who had acted as high commissioner since Jamaica attained independent status last August.

To Consider Fish Hut Removal

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government has legislation under consideration which would require ice-fishermen to remove their huts at the end of the season, Lands and Forests Minister Roberts says.

Mr. Roberts said Wednesday during debate of his department's spending estimates, that the act had been passed, but would not be officially proclaimed until after it had been studied by the standing committee on fish and game.

Leo Trey (L-Nipissing) had asked the minister whether there was any legislation which would require that ice fishing huts be removed from resort area lakes in the spring.

Mr. Trey said a Timagami area tourist resort operator had complained that garbage left by ice fishermen was polluting the lake and huts left standing were an eyesore for summer residents.

TO HELP NEGROES

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department said it is prepared to co-operate with other countries in helping African Negro students who have left or are leaving Communist Bulgaria. The Bulgarian government banned an all-African student organization. The students said they were subjected to racial discrimination.

TV—Movie Column

Victor Borge Fans Divided On Type of Show to Present

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Some Victor Borge fans wish he'd stop fooling around with long-hair music and stick to the comedy. Some Borge fans deplore that such a fine pianist wastes all that time on funny stuff.

Borge doesn't mind the wails. He realizes that both groups like to watch him. He also realizes that the largest group of all — between the extremes — thinks his curious, special blend of good music and comedy is just great.

"You can't satisfy everybody," he shrugs. "And I have to do what I feel happy and comfortable doing."

Borge, who has been through the television mill, will be seen in one of his infrequent specials Sunday night on ABC.

TALENT WASTED

"Television uses up talents and too many talents have fallen by the wayside," the Danish-born performer says. "Some things remain the same—the sponsors, first and last, the westerns and the comedys, unless somebody finds a way to handle it differently.

"Most comedians develop a television specialty and the public always expects them to do the thing that made them famous in the first place. And then the public complains the comedian is 'always the same.'

"I don't want that. I'd rather wait, and do a special television show that is a real special — not something that's 'cooked up in a week'."

Borge's Sunday special is unique. It was taped in Philharmonic Hall of Lincoln Center — first time the precincts have been used for anything approaching comedy, and it enlists the talents of pantomimist Marcel Marceau and classical pianist Leonid Hambro.

URGES ABOLITION

MONTREAL (CP) — Vice-Admiral E. Rollo Mulagny of Toronto, President of the Great Lakes Waterways Development Association, said Tuesday any increase in tolls on the St. Lawrence Seaway would have severely adverse effects on many segments of Canada's economy. He urged outright abolition of some of the tolls.

GARBAGE CAN GAG — Health Inspector Norton Whitaker is encouraging Pembroke, Ont. housewives to wrap their garbage in plastic bags to stop flies from infesting garbage cans. Whitaker, holding a sample of the plastic, is also promoting a Golden Garbage Can Contest with a candlelight dinner for two for the housewife with the tidiest garbage can. (CP Photo)

Pembroke Health Inspector Wages War Against Skeeters

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP)—Flies thrive in terror when Health Inspector Norton Whitaker strolled down Main Street spraying insecticides from an old Nazi flame-thrower.

Residents remained calm. They have become accustomed to Mr. Whitaker's unorthodox anti-pest campaigns.

This good-humored official's most famous battle is against mosquitoes. He believes the female lures males by singing an especially tender love song.

Whitaker wants to catch a female, tape-record her song and then use it to lure the town's male mosquitoes to his tape-recorder where he will be waiting with that flame-thrower.

The female mosquitoes are the ones that bite animals and vacationers but the theory is that when they die of old age or a broken heart without having found a mate it will result in fewer young mosquitoes to take up the attack next season.

STAY-AT-HOMES

Other Whitaker tricks are less macabre. After three years of failing to lure the insect siren song, he has managed nonetheless to reduce the Pembroke mosquito population by routing the stagnant pools where they breed with oil, smothering the eggs.

"Mosquitoes never travel far from their birthplace, except when wind-borne," he says. "Interfere with the life cycle and you destroy the local mosquito population."

Green plastic bags are Mr. Whitaker's latest weapon against disease - carrying flies. He's trying to persuade housewives to wrap their garbage in them, rejecting the old-fashioned garbage cans as fly-catchers.

The bags, introduced in Waterloo, Ont., two years ago, are designed to hang in the basement with the top loosely knotted until full. Then the housewife tightens the knot and wrestles the bulging sack to the sidewalk.

USED FOR LAUNDRY

Mr. Whitaker's subtle selling job for the bags, which his department sells at five cents each, has an unusual reverse twist. He makes people interested by laughing at the bags.

In press releases and in a five-minute daily radio program, Mr. Whitaker delights in detailing the strange uses people are finding for the bags. They have he says, seen service as laundry bags, Christmas wrapping paper and raincoats. Occasionally he reminds listeners they are for garbage too.

ASKS A CONFERENCE

TORONTO (CP) — Neither diplomacy nor science seem capable of averting nuclear war, Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the United States Atomic Energy Commission, said Tuesday night. He told a meeting of Holy Blossom Temple Brotherhood that he feels an alternative hope might be an international conference of thinkers.

WINS MASSEY MEDAL — Graham W. Rowley, an Arctic specialist with the federal department of northern affairs, has won the 1963 Massey Medal. Mr. Rowley, shown here as he is now and as he was during a trip to the Arctic in 1937, has been involved with the Canadian north for 25 years. (CP photo)

Arctic Specialist Awarded 1963 Massey Medal, Will Get Award From Vanier

OTTAWA (CP) — The 1963 Massey Medal has been awarded to Graham W. Rowley, an Arctic specialist with the federal department of northern affairs.

Mr. Rowley, has been involved with the Canadian north for 25 years as an explorer, traveller, scientist and administrator.

The medal is awarded annually by the Royal Canadian Geographical Society to recognize outstanding personal achievement in the exploration, development or description of Canadian geography.

Selection of Mr. Rowley was announced at the society's annual meeting Thursday night.

Formal presentation of the medal, named for former governor-general Vincent Massey, will be made Friday by Governor-General Vanier.

A native of Manchester, England, Mr. Rowley won honors in natural science at Cambridge University and joined the British Canadian Arctic Expedition of 1936 which investigated the northern parts of Hudson Bay and the lands adjoining Foxe Basin.

The young archeologist and explorer spent most of the next three years in the Canadian north, exploring unmapped regions and excavating at the site of an early civilization near Igloolik, a community on the northern part of Foxe Basin.

He was the first white explorer to cross the mountains of northern Baffin Island, travelling by dogsled with Eskimo companions, and discovered new islands in Foxe Basin.

An Arctic river and island have been named after him in recognition of his work as an explorer.

In May, 1938, he wrote a report on his visit to Repulse Bay, N.W.T. of London in which he described the generosity and hospitality of the Eskimos. He also told of a visit with an Eskimo tribal queen, "a remarkable old woman who had been obliged to eat her first husband and three of her children after they had died of hunger in the interior of Cockburn Land."

Writing of the rigorous daily routine, he reported: "Every night the building of the igloo, unpacking the sled, burying most of the dog food and cutting up the next occupied exasperating hours. But, once inside the igloo, with the door blocked up, thick caribou skins on the floor and the candlelight flickering on the white snow wall, we were living in a fairy tale."

Mr. Rowley was at Igloolik in September, 1939, when a visiting mission ship reported the outbreak of the Second World War two weeks earlier. He boarded the ship for his first voyage to Quebec City and enlisted in the army.

He served overseas with the 1st Canadian Division, returning in 1946 to command the advance party for Excercise Muskox, a rugged 2,900-mile trip across the Arctic which tested war-developed army equipment. His group set up an airfield, weather station and advance base at Baker Lake in the eastern Arctic.

Muskox, which lasted eight months, proved theories that a force equipped with snowmobiles and tractors and supplied by airdrops could operate in severe winter conditions.

After retiring from the army with the rank of lieutenant-colonel, he joined the Defence Research Board as director of Arctic research.

In 1953, Mr. Rowley joined the department of resources and development — since renamed northern affairs and national resources—to co-ordinate federal activity, in the North. He now is secretary to the advisory committee on northern development.

He is a former chairman of the Arctic Institute of North America, and former president of the Arctic Circle, a club for Arctic veterans.

Kennedy Warns U.S. Will Blast Ship Attackers

Castro Denies Jets Fired on Shrimp Boat

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has warned that U.S. firepower will blast any Cuban-based warships or planes that attack U.S. vessels or aircraft.

But Kennedy indicated Thursday that, for the time being at least, U.S. jet fighters and navy craft will be restrained from chasing attackers back to Cuba to punish them.

If Wednesday's MiG strafing of a disabled shrimp boat develops into a pattern of attacks, the president may then give the signal for "hot pursuit."

Several hours after Kennedy made the warning public at a press conference, the Cuban government rejected and denied categorically" the charge that its jets fired near the disabled shrimp boat Ala in the Florida Straits Wednesday afternoon.

Premier Fidel Castro was expected to have something to say about it in a televised address tonight.

RECALLS U-2

Once before, when a U-2 was shot down at the height of the Cuban crisis last fall, a U.S. warning apparently deterred Russian anti-aircraft missile firing on U.S. reconnaissance planes operating over Cuba.

Congressional critics were not stilled by Kennedy's orders that "all necessary action" be taken by the military forces to prevent any more attacks like the strafing of the shrimp boat.

Several suggested the incident discredited the administration's contention that the Russian-built MiGs are in Cuba for defensive, rather than offensive purposes against the United States. Kennedy said he saw no reason to change his view.

Kennedy said he had instructed the Pentagon to make "any necessary revisions in standing orders so as to ensure that action will be taken against any hostile aircraft" which strikes at a U.S. ship or plane in Caribbean international waters.

He didn't elaborate, and defence officials refused to discuss either the standing orders or the changes.

BROADENS FIRE RULES

But congressional sources said it was clear the president is broadening the present rules governing when U.S. coast guard and navy vessels are empowered to open fire on approaching aircraft or warships if they appear bent on attacking U.S. territory.

Boy Admits Setting Fire To Father's Bed

HAMILTON (CP) — A coroner's jury was told Thursday how a six - year - old boy described setting his father's bed ablaze with a birthday candle. The fire killed three persons.

Police said they were told by Lawerence Bertin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bertin:

"I was with my brother Danny. I had a candle and I lit it from the kitchen stove. I then lit my dad's bed on fire in the front room of the house. I didn't tell anyone I lit the fire. I ran out the back door."

The Bertins occupied the first floor of the rented home and the victims the second.

Evidence was that the house had been illegally converted to a multiple dwelling, contrary to the city's zoning bylaw. Fredrick Staunton, chief of the fire prevention bureau, told the jury there are at least 2,000 houses in Hamilton occupied illegally by two or more families.

Fire Captain Bronte Malek said he felt the absence of a fire escape was a contributing factor in the death Jan. 28 of taxi driver John Lawrence Nicholson, 30, and his children, Susan, 6, and John, 4. The jury ruled all three died of suffocation.

Mr. Staunton said the Nicholson house was illegally converted because the second and third floors did not contain fire escapes. The jury recommended improved house inspection and that the 30-day warning period for meeting municipal bylaws be reduced to seven days.

Teaching Staff Pay Higher Than Year Ago

OTTAWA (CP)—Average salaries being paid to the full-time teaching staff of 17 Canadian universities in the 1962-63 academic year show small increases over the previous year, the bureau of statistics said today.

The 1962-63 average for deans is $18,031, a gain of 2.9 per cent; professors $12,972, up 2.8 per cent; associate professors $10,858, a rise of 1.8 per cent; assistant professors $7,778, an advance of 4.6 per cent, and for instructors and lecturers $6,226, up 3.1 per cent.

For all teaching staff at the 17 institutions, including a small group of unspecified professors, the 1962-63 average is $8,884, an increase of 2.9 per cent compared with a year earlier.

Say Loaded Questions Are Used To Reduce Claims by Unemployed

TORONTO (CP)—The Unemployment Insurance Commission is using loaded and leading questions to disqualify unemployment insurance applicants, says the Ontario Federation of Labor.

Today's Chuckle

A scientist has crossed a potato with a sponge. It tastes terrible but it sure holds a lot of gravy.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: A gradual decrease in wind strength is likely to continue in Ontario. A slight moderation in temperatures is expected today and tonight.

The federation, in a memorandum to the Toronto and District Labor Council, cited the following as what it called an example of one of the commission's loaded questions:

"How much would you expect to earn if we can get you a job?"

The memorandum said that if the claimant mentioned a specific wage rate, he was usually disqualified by the commission for restricting his availability for work.

"We have generally found that the commission has adopted a get-tough attitude and is looking for reasons to disqualify as many claimants as possible," the federation said.

STRONG TRADE DELEGATION TO BE TAKEN

Trade Minister To Go With P. M.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker is taking a strong trade delegation with him to London tonight for talks with Prime Minister Macmillan.

Defence problems are being rated as of secondary importance, according to the lineup of officials who are to be aboard the Prime Minister's RCAF Yukon transport aircraft.

Trade Minister Wallace McCutcheon and Defence Minister Gordon Churchill are accompanying the prime minister.

Also aboard will be Senator Allister M. Grosart, retired national director of the Progressive Conservative party, who has been working on Mr. Diefenbaker's two speeches for Monday in London when the prime minister will be made a Freeman of the City.

The defence minister told a reporter Thursday he planned no formal engagements in London and any talks he had with British defence authorities would be "entirely informal."

WANT SUGGESTIONS

London reports said Mr. Macmillan would be looking to Mr. Diefenbaker for suggestions on the next move Britain and the Commonwealth should take, following the rejection by France of Britain's application to join the European Common Market.

Mr. Diefenbaker has proposed, and other governments now are moving towards, a trade conference later this year involving the Common Market countries and Britain, Canada, the United States and Japan. So far he has not spelled publicity of any more detailed proposal.

After the City of London function Monday, the official party is to attend a reception given by Mr. Diefenbaker's friend George Drew and Mrs. Drew at 6 p.m. Monday.

They will return to Ottawa immediately.

U.S. Awaits Election Vote Ere Renewing Arms Talks

WASHINGTON (CP)—A well-informed source says the United States government has decided to await the outcome of the April 8 Canadian election before entering any serious new negotiations on the provision of U.S. nuclear warheads for Canadian troops.

This, it was stated, is the general U.S. government reaction to reports overtures by Canadian Ambassador Charles Ritchie who conferred with State Secretary Dean Rusk for 30 minutes Thursday.

Ritchie was understood to have conveyed a request by Prime Minister Diefenbaker for resumption of the nuclear negotiations that collapsed when Diefenbaker's previous proposals were found unacceptable by the Kennedy administration.

While the U.S. government still believes the question of getting U.S. warheads into the hands of Canadian defence troops is a matter of some urgency, there is a reluctance by U.S. diplomats to become enmeshed in what has developed into a major election issue.

Diefenbaker said in a Toronto speech last Tuesday that "we're negotiating to make readily available and accessible atomic warheads if and when an emergency takes place."

Mr. Ritchie - Rusk meeting, held at the ambassador's request, was the first formal one between them since Ritchie's return from Ottawa consultations Feb. 5.

Perhaps in an indication of the continued coolness between the two governments, the state department said:

Singer Shot, Wife Charged

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country music singer Ira Louvin was shot six times with a .22-calibre pistol early Thursday in what police said was the climax to a drinking party.

The other half of the singing Louvin Brothers, Charlie Louvin, swore out a warrant charging the victim's wife with assault with intent to commit murder.

Louvin, 39, was reported in satisfactory condition. His wife was held in a security ward of a hospital.

The Louvin brothers have sung on the Grand Ole Opry program for 17 years and made many records. Their latest album is Keep Your Eyes on Jesus.

Socred Leader Says Nuclear Issue Will Cost PM Votes

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson predicts that if Prime Minister Diefenbaker uses nuclear weapons as anti-Americanism in a federal election issue, "he's not going to get away by just bull; he'll go down even further than that."

Mr. Thompson, in a press conference which kicked off a series of four speeches Thursday criticized Mr. Diefenbaker's Toronto statement that the Bomarc missile has lost its effectiveness.

Western areas of Canada place their defence dependence on United States bases and the U.S. although the Bomarc might be outdated soon, is depending on it at present, he said.

In an address to the University of Western Ontario's United Nations Society, Mr. Thompson, who says he has yet to open his April 8 election campaign formally, attacked what he called "shameful cries of anti-Americanism."

Responsible co-operation with neighbors and friends was necessary for Canada to provide leadership in the developments of the world for freedom-loving joining the Organization of

Russia Stands Fast by Offer

Rejects Talks on Ban Control Details

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union held fast today to its "take it or leave it" offer of a three-power nuclear test ban and moved to block direct negotiations on a nuclear test ban at this time.

Vasily V. Kuznetsov, Soviet deputy foreign minister, accused the United States of bad faith by suggesting at one time two to four on-site inspections a year and then reneging on this offer.

The American and British delegates at the 17-nation disarmament conference have denied repeatedly that any such offer was made by the Western side.

Kuznetsov brushed aside the American offer earlier this week to negotiate the number of on-site inspections if the discussions were broadened to include the entire control arrangements.

"This would sidetrack the conference into secondary issues, Kuznetsov declared, adding:

"If we cannot get agreement on the main issues, discussion of secondary matters will prolong reaching an agreement."

Canada and Italy called on the disarmament conference to take immediate action to reach an early nuclear test ban agreement.

The Italian delegate, Francesco Cavalletti, called for a meeting this week of delegates of the three-power test ban subcommittee of the conference.

The subcommittee has not met since the conference resumed Feb. 12 after a two-month recess. The United States and the Soviet Union have shown no eagerness to revive the subcommittee without a prior understanding of the quest, was the first formal one between them since Ritchie's return from Ottawa consultations Feb. 5.

Perhaps in an indication of the continued coolness between the two governments, the state department said:

WILL OVERHAUL OSC SAYS CASS DURING DEBATE

New Chairman To Be Named

TORONTO (CP)—The organization and practices of the Ontario Securities Commission may be overhauled during the current legislature session, Attorney-General Cass says.

He said during debate Thursday night on his department's spending estimates that consideration of appointment of a new chairman to succeed the late OSC Chairman Oswald Lenz "has caused me to review the commission's organization and operation."

Mr. Cass is being undertaken with "the object of providing more efficient and speedier methods of processing matters coming before the commission, such as registrations, reviews, hearings and investigations," Mr. Cass said during the Legislature's first night session this year.

Mr. Cass said OSC practices which "have given me concern and which will be the subject of legislation at this session" were the role of the chairman as "executive head of the commission's administrative and "quasi-judicial" functions, and revisions in amendment where necessary of the Ontario Securities Act's provisions for registrations.

CAN SUSPEND, CANCEL

He said present legislation authorizes the chairman, acting by himself, to investigate and suspend or cancel securities registrations. An appeal against a decision by the chairman is heard by the full commission, including the chairman.

Although no injustice may have resulted, "this procedure has not the appearance of a fair and impartial hearing which should exist," Mr. Cass said.

Elmer Sopha (L — Sudbury) said the public is afraid to invest in stocks because of suspicion of speculative promotion and demanded more control by the OSC over stock exchange operations.

Economic development depends largely on the operation of the stock exchange, but the government "emerges in its responsibility in this area of public importance," Mr. Sopha said.

Earlier, Mr. Cass denied allegations by M. Sopha that he has already received an OSC report on an investigation into the af-

Stocks Worth Millions Stolen

NEW YORK (AP) — The 17-month-old theft of some $3,500,000 worth of gilt-edged stock certificates from a widow's home came to light Thursday with news that some of the certificates had turned up in Europe.

The FBI said the stock certificates were stolen Sept. 29, 1961, from the New Rochelle, N.Y., home of Mrs. Theresa McSweeney, widow of lawyer Henry McSweeney.

12,000 Homeless Town Of Barce Is Shattered

State of Emergency Has Been Declared

BENGASI, Libya (Reuters)—More than 500 persons were killed and more than 12,000 left homeless by an earthquake that shattered the town of Barce, 60 miles from here, Thursday night.

Latest reports from the scene said hundreds of injured were being attended by U.S., Air Force, British Army and Libyan doctors.

Emergency hospitals have been set up and the homeless housed in buildings still standing. Roads were littered with rubble and cut by deep ruts.

The death toll mounted to about 500 as more bodies were found in the ruins of the town of more than 10,000 people.

One report reaching Tunis in neighboring Tunisia said a state of emergency had been declared in Libya.

People fled into the streets in pouring rain when the earthquake shook the town and the surrounding area. Barce has a population of about 50,000, the report said.

Aircraft from the big American base at Wheelus swung into action immediately after the quake and were joined by British troops based in the area.

TRANSPORT MEDICINE

Eleven U.S. transport planes from Wheelus base took off for Barce loaded with food, medicine, doctors, two ambulances and a 36-bed field hospital as soon as News of the disaster reached the base.

From Nicosia, Cyprus, the RAF flew a load of medical supplies and personnel to Barce from a similar team was dispatched from El Adem in Libya.

Barce was an Italian base during the Second World War and changed hands several times in the desert fighting between the British Eighth Army and Axis forces.

The town, with a population of 10,745, is on a high desert plateau crossed by a mountain range. It is a resort and agricultural centre.

RESCUE 20 REFUGEES

KEY COLONY BEACH, Fla. (AP)—An 18-foot Cuban refugee boat, with standing room only on its overloaded decks, was towed to the Florida keys today by a charter fishing craft which found it adrift 115 miles out in the Atlantic. George Lauder, mate of the fishing boat Hazel V., said: "It was packed like sardines. "They couldn't even sit down."

Pope Calls on Writers to Help Unite Mankind

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — Pope John today called on journalists to help unite mankind.

Addressing executives of the Italian Press Federation and the Foreign Press Club at a special audience, the pontiff said: "the moment comes for all when they must . . . give account of their work.

"May each of you be able to say: 'I have not dug furrows of division or mistrust. I have not acted against my immortal soul with suspicion or fear, I have been open, loyal and trusted, I have treated with brotherly understanding those who did not share my ideals, in order not to hamper the realization in its own time of the grand design of providence which, over its long slowly, must bring men closer to the divine area . . . and command of Jesus—'ut unum sint' (that they may be one)."

Doctor Sane When He Bathed Bride in Acid

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Geza Dekapiany was sane when he fatally bathed his bride in acid in a jealous rage Aug. 28, a jury decided Thursday.

The same jury of 10 men and two women will next again Monday to decide whether the Hungarian refugee should be executed in the gas chamber or sentenced to life imprisonment.

The doctor, 36, pleaded guilty to binding his beautiful 25-year-old bride, Hajna, maiming her with a surgical knife and pouring acid over her body because he thought she was unfaithful. She died 32 days later, denying his accusation.

He pleaded he was not guilty because he was insane at the time. Defence psychiatrists said the murder was committed by Dekapiany's alter ego, an evil self — proclaimed journalist named Pierre La Roche.

Soviet Defence Minister Warns Attack on Cuba Would Mean War

MOSCOW (AP)—Defence Minister Malinovsky warned the United States today that an attack against Cuba would mean a third world war. He said the Soviet Union will be in the first line of those who would go to Cuba's aid.

Malinovsky spoke at a Kremlin meeting marking the 45th anniversary of the Soviet armed forces. Seated near him was Premier Khrushchev, making a rare appearance in uniform. He is generalissimo of the armies of the general with several rows of decorations on his chest.

Malinovsky said:

"We would like to warn the aggressive circles of the United States that an attack on the Cuban Republic would mean a third world war. If such an act back is made, the peace-loving forces of the world will not confine themselves to protests and demonstrations. They will rise in defence of the victim of aggression and the Soviet Union will be in the first ranks of those who will come to its assistance."

Malinovsky also warned that a war involving Cuba "will not be waged only in the territory of the United States, but in the territory of the United States; too."

Touching on a recent speech by U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara, Malinovsky said:

"It maintain emphatically that it is unfounded to build missiles with which Mr. McNamara is threatening us, we shall deal a simultaneous blow of several times more missiles and such a powerful counter yield that it will wipe off the earth all targets, industrial and administrative-political centres of the United States, will destroy completely the countries which have made available their territories for American war bases.

"We once again firmly remind the Western leaders that the Soviet Union cannot be intimidated and that a retaliatory blow will be more than enough to make the aggressors burn in the very first hours of war.

"Therefore, they can be only advised not to lose their heads and keep their hands as far as possible from the push-buttons, which if pressed, may lead to the unleashing of a nuclear catastrophe."

Schools Not Preparing People for Labor Force

"Present day schools in many cases are failing to prepare young people for the labor force of the future."

This is the feeling of George A. Whitman, welfare director for Belleville, who, in his annual report views with great concern the extent and nature of unemployment across the province at the present time.

He says that in some cases, skills being taught today have little present day use in industry with result that jobs are difficult to find.

Also he feels that many high school students are being urged to go on to university when in fact, their families cannot afford to send them on to higher education.

Mr. Whitman says Belleville needs what he terms a "mayor's advisory committee" to assist in implementing the Canadian Vocational Training Program No. 5.

But such training should be done in Belleville without the necessity of sending trainees to Toronto or some other centre for 40 weeks.

"Apart from the added cost of having to keep up two households for the person in the training course, a family man having to be away from his family for 40 weeks is not good," says Whitman says.

He suggested there should be more attention given to directing trainees into courses which would hold a better guarantee of their obtaining jobs on completion of training.

During the last quarter of last year, 32 welfare recipients in Belleville were enrolled in vocational training and re-training programs for periods of up to 40 weeks.

Deserting husbands were a considerable headache for local welfare officials last year with 51 such cases going before the family court.

Mr. Whitman said the family court had been of "inestimable benefit to the municipality in maintaining decency and responsibility.

In Belleville, as in most centres across the province, there has been a stepped-up attempt to locate deserting husbands and forcing them to accept family responsibilities.

When a deserted wife makes known her situation to welfare authorities she and her family are provided full welfare assistance, with later payments by the husband being received by the municipality.

Social welfare in the city last year cost a total of $458,276.72 with direct relief of $271,529.45 being handed out.

Of the above amount $41,586. went to children's aid societies, $28,000. for indigent patients, costs, and $28,949 to nursing homes.

Despite the high costs, the welfare department stayed well within its budget of $446,206 for the year.

Most categories of municipal welfare are subsidized by senior governments to the extent of 80 percent.

'Y' Cage Loop

Next week the Satellites and the Stealers will meet for the first game of a two-nit, total points playoffs series to decide the championship for the 1963-63 season of the YMCA Youth Basketball House League.

This week the league leading Satellites squeaked by the third-place Globetrotters by a 60-59 score to consolidate their playoff slot. The Stealers swamped the basement-dwelling Celtics 97-54 to reserve the remaining playoff opening.

Murray Swan led the Satellite attack with a 22-point effort, closely followed by teammate Ron Walsh with 20 counters. High man for the losing Trotters was Jack Jury with 16 points.

The Stealers march over the Irish was led by Larry Campbell who came back out of retirement with a 36-point effort. Second high man for the winners was John McKibbon with 26 points. Jim Hurst's 22-point effort was best for the Celtics.

PUC Reverses Its Stand, To Continue to Thaw Pipes

TRENTON — After "taking a long look" at the situation, members of the Trenton Public Utilities Commission yesterday rescinded a motion made at last month's commission meeting to get out of the pipe-thawing business, and decided to continue the service, with certain modifications in charges. Trenders, quoting prices for the commission's thawing machine, will be returned unopposed.

Commission chairman Clifford A. Baker said that any member of the commission would feel "pretty darned helpless," if he called a private enterprise and had his pipes to thaw his frozen water pipes turned down. While there was no indication that the would ever happen, should the thawing service be taken over by a local plumber, there was also no guarantee that it would never happen, he said.
